Amvets Down Lockbourne

By Maude Jackson

The Hilltop Amvets defeated a big Lockbourne Army Air base heavyweight football team 12-0, under lights at Central High School last Saturday night.

Within the first five seconds of the game, Right End Ray Stinson of the Hilltop team galloped over for a touchdown, but was called back to the 20-yard stripe on an offside horn.

The first quarter of the game was scoreless, and penalties for both sides were much in evidence.

In the second canto of the game the Amvets hit pay dirt when Pat McDonough went over for a touchdown, giving the Amvets six points. Carl Hosler's conversion was wide.

Amvet Paul Schlosser received a dislocated shoulder in the game, but was treated at Mt. Carmel Hospital and will be able to play the rest of the season.

The Lockbourne boys seemed easy play for the Amvets after their initial scoring, and only twice after that did the Airmen penetrate farther than the Amvets' 30-yard line.

About 15 seconds before the game ended, the Hilltoppers scored another six points when Jim Herold heaved a long pass to "Dutch" Thum, who caught it on the one-yard line and fell across the goal line, giving the Amvets a 12-0 win.

West Distance Runners Drop Close Meet

The West High School cross-country team dropped a one-point contest to Mansfield in a triangular meet run at Newark last Thursday. The scores were Mansfield, 27; West, 28; Newark, 25.

Vogt of Mansfield finished first over the two-mile course with the fast time of 10 minutes, 27.2 seconds. Fred Harper of West was only a few paces behind him to place second. Jim Dennis, also of West, finished third.

The meet was so close that the changing of positions of any West runner over a Mansfield entry would have given the event to the Cowboys. Coach R. C. (Rufe) Glass feels that Harper can defeat the Mansfield runner. The two schools are to have battled it out on the distance course at Ohio State University in a dual meet Wednesday afternoon.

Vogt was the district champion in the Mansfield area during the past year.

Alert Cowboys Run Over Big Reds

The West High Cowboys played "heads up" football to win its fourth straight victory from Cincinnati Hughes Big Reds by a before approximately 4500 fans score of 33 to 6 at Magly Field Friday night.

Taking advantage of numerous Big Red fumbles, the Cowboys had to be on their toes to come out on the long end of the count. The Cincinnati forward wall was big and tough, putting up a formidable defense especially when their backs were against the wall. West had its hands full all evening in stopping Heimkreiter, the Big Red fullback, but the Cowboy line out-charged the visitors.

Tomorrow night West plays host to Aquinas in the second City League contest for the Cowboys. The game is set to get under way at 8 p. m. under the Magly Field lights.

Joe Hostetter recovered the first of five Cincinnati fumbles on the Big Red 38. Six plays carried the ball to the 11-yard stripe but West was penalized 15 yards for holding, putting the ball back on the 36. A pass, Slager to Chinn, put the ball down on the 6-yard marker and Sterling Hutt scored on the next play. A poorly centered ball made it necessary for Thrush to run with the ball but he failed to make the extra point.

Weeks Scores

Again in the same quarter, a fumble by Nedelman of Cincinnati on his own 35 was costly. West tackle, Chuck Weeks, grabbed the pigskin as it squirted from the arms of the Big Red halfback and ran 65 yards to score the second West touchdown. This time Jack Thrush's kick was good and the score was 13 to 0.

As the second quarter opened, Cincinnati was forced to punt. Jim Slager took the ball on his own 35 and raced to the visitor's 31 in one of the nicest runs of the evening. Jerry Chinn picked up 16 yards, taking it to the 15. But here the Big Red forward wall could not be dented and Cincinnati took over on their own 20.

After another nice punt by Chinn, West took over on the visitor's 40-yard stripe. Chinn picked up 13 and Hutt added 26, going to the Big Red 9. Two plays later, Bobby Smith scored from the 5 yard marker. Thrush added the extra point and the score was West, 20; Cincinnati, 0.

60-Yard Run

After returning the kickoff to their own 40, Heimkreiter went around his own left end on a beautiful 60-yard run to score for the visitors. The try for extra point was blocked and the half ended, West, 20; Cincinnati, 6.

Midway in the third canto Walter Hicks barely prevented another Big Red tally after Heimkreiter had passed to Wiggerhaus on his own 45. The runner was downed on West's 12. Three plays later the same Chuck Wiggerhaus slipped through the line to score from the 6-yard stripe but the play was called back when the Big Red line was offsides.

It was shortly after the start of the fourth period that Bobby Smith snagged onto a pass that was intended for Chinn and scored standing up. Slager threw the pass from the Cincinnati 20-yard line, intending it for Jerry Chinn. Jerry was covered and both he and his defensive man attempted to get their hands on the ball without avail. Smith caught the ball before it touched the ground and added the six points. Thrush's kick was good and the score stood, West, 27; Cincinnati, 6.

Gene Brown, a fast and shifty substitute halfback for West, helped set up the final tally as he and Danny Miles carried the ball from the Cincinnati 36 to pay dirt. Miles scored from the 2-yard stripe following two Big Red offsides penalties. Thrush's kick was partly blocked and the score was West, 33; Cincinnati, 6.

Bowler of the Week

Our bowler of the week is Francis Patridge, who bowls in the Friendship and Hilltop Ladies' Leagues at the Hilltop alleys. In the Friendship League Francis bowls for Hilltop Van and Storage, who is in second place. Francis holds the high series with 522 and has the second high single game of 221. She is in first place in average with 167.

In the Hilltop Ladies' League she bowls for S. C. Stewart Drivers, who are in first place. She is in third place in average in the league with 161.

Bowling Bits

Our bowling gem goes to Joe Hildrith, who, while bowling for Wilson Floors against Hilltop Van and Storage, missed the "4" pin when a spare would have meant the game. The final score was 806 to 806. This is the same Hilltop Van and Storage team that beat Seiller's Department Store by four pins when "Lefty" Seiple missed the "5" pin.

It looks as if that Hilltop Van and Storage team has a four-leaf clover on the score sheets!

Our honor roll this week is: Women, 500 or better — Doris Shaw, 539; Dorothy Amore, 530; Dip Shaw, 527; Billie Warden 527; Helen Neeshan, 518; Edith Levengood, 506; Billie Stevens 504.

Men, 600 or better — Frank Heath, 639; Al Fisher, 613; Carl Clous, 609; Paul Kauderer, 604.

Some splits turned in this week were: Dick Distelhorst, 4-6-10; Helen Reynolds, 4-7-10; Rose Meyer, 5-7-9; and Ruth Perry, 6-7.

Nice going, keglers.

Former West Gridders Again Play For Rose

Capital University Coach Dale Rose huddles with some of his former West High School grid stars as he explains some of the fine points of the Lutheran attack. Standing, left to right, are Clarence Baker, Noble Allen, Jr., and Tom Vincent.

Kneeling on the ground are Coach Rose, Jack Buckingham and Gene Shade.

* * *

A quintet of local gridders, four of whom played under Coach Dale Rose when he coached at West High School, are playing a big part in the Capital University football picture this fall. Two others are working out with the freshman squad, being ineligible for competition this season.

On the varsity squad are Clarence Baker, 54 N. Chase-av, center; Jack Buckingham, 171 S. Terrace-av, end; Noble Allen, Jr., 2456 W. Broad-st, No. 1 replacement at tackle; Gene Shade, 737 Heyl-av, halfback (all graduates of west); and Tom Vincent, a South High graduate now living at 462 S. Terrace-av. Vincent is making a strong bid for a starting berth as a guard.

Bob Schlegel and Ernie Dahlen, likewise former West gridders, are working with the freshman squad.

Buckingham and Shade have been regular starters with the Purple and White. Both are said to be fine competitors; both are sophomores. Vincent and Allen are freshmen and Baker is a junior.

Baker stands six feet in height, weighs in at 190 and is 20 years of age. Buckingham is five-10, weighs 170 and is 19. Allen goes three inches over the six-foot mark, weighs 197 and is 20. Shade stands at an even six feet, weighs 175 and is 20, while Vincent just barely misses the six-foot mark—being five-eleven. He is 21 years of age.

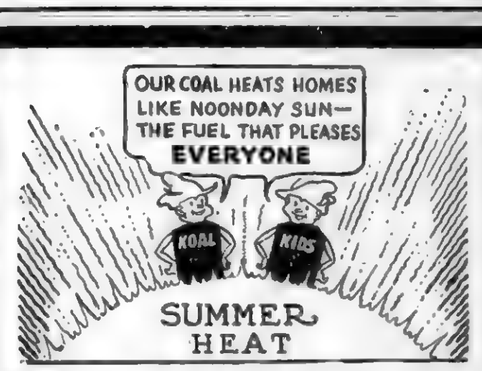
The Old Publicity Game

Considerable space was given by the city's daily papers last week to a grandiose program of street and sewer improvements as outlined by Mayor James A. Rhodes. No doubt it made us all feel good to think that at last some of the needed street repairs were to be gotten under way.

However, a check into the files will reveal some interesting things about some of these same "proposed" improvement projects. As early as last Jan. 23, The Hilltop Record carried a story about the plans to repave (1) Hague-av from Broad-st to Sullivant-av; (2) Mound-st from Wayne-av to Binns-blvd; (3) Sullivant-av from Hague-av west to the corporation. These same three projects are prominently mentioned in the schedule of 37 streets to be improved. Right now it doesn't particularly impress us as "hot" copy.

It should be evident to Hilltoppers by this time that whenever it seems convenient, some of these projects can be dragged from the files, dusted off and with a few more items added it becomes news again. With an election just a month off, it is not surprising that many proposals for city improvements will be fed to the voters with little in the way of promise as to when they are to be fulfilled.



Street improvements are not the only "propaganda" items fed to the public in this manner. Reams of copy on improvements to parks and playgrounds have been printed in the past year with little to show in the way of results—particularly on the Hilltop.

Sure we're in favor of all these improvements. They're badly needed. But what we would like to see first of all is a sincere effort made to carry out some of them before we get too "slap happy." If prices, manpower shortages, scarcity of materials, etc., prevent these projects from becoming a reality—that's understandable. But let's not get too enthused over the same copy, especially just before election time.

Beauty Spot

Among the many central Ohio beauty spots, none offers more in the way of scenic beauty than Mt. Pleasant, overlooking the City of Lancaster. It's one of the few spots in Ohio where one can look directly down on a town as well as affording a never-tiring view of the Fairfield County hills and valleys. It's more than worth the energy required to climb the hill for a look around now that Mother Nature has been wielding her paint brush. Day by day the colors of autumn will become more intense until a riot of color will be visible over the surrounding landscape.

Beautiful Rising Park, at the foot of the mountain (junior grade), is in itself worth a visit for one who has never been there. It is one of the most beautiful in this part of the country. Unadorned by artificial plantings of flowers, nature itself gave the park all that it needs in the way of a natural picnic spot. The City of Lancaster has kept it spotlessly clean. Columbus could learn much in the way of park care from this beautiful park.

Broadcasting Scholastic Athletic Events

For several years now Radio Station WCOL has attempted to get permission to broadcast some of the outstanding athletic events in the City League without avail. It is understood that high school officials frown on such a venture although Central Buckeye League has long ago given its permission.

Statistics prove that in most cases radio broadcasts of sports events help to build attendance rather than cut it down. It sounds logical that the same thing might happen in the city league. Certainly many persons would develop an interest in the doings of the high school loop who are not now attending. Few games in the city league play suffer for lack of paying customers anyway.

Harvest Moon

The setting for the "Harvest Moon number put on by the West High Band was perfect in every respect at Magly Field last Friday night, even to the calendar. It was the night for the official Harvest Moon, described by Webster's Dictionary as follows:

"The moon near the full at harvest time, or just after the autumnal equinox, when, by reason of the small angle between the moon's orbit and the horizon, it rises only a few minutes later each day."

Things I've Learned

Homing pigeons have been known to carry messages more than 800 miles . . . In spite of the fact that they have been protected from hunters for many years, the quail population in Ohio is at its lowest point in history . . . A pinch of snuff will kill a fish or snake almost instantly and will anesthetize a turtle for several hours . . . The humming bird makes up to 200 wing strokes per second, while the wild duck makes only eight . . . Male ants live but a short time in the adult state. The worker exists only a few months. The average life of a queen is not more than 12 months although some queen ants have been known to live six or seven years.

This happened in a local grocery store some time ago.

An elderly gentleman came into the store, picked up several items and then began wandering about the store, scanning every shelf carefully. Asked if there was anything further, he nodded and proceeded to study his grocery list again thoughtfully.

"There's just one more item on my list and I've forgotten what it is. The initials T. P. are all my wife wrote down.

"Seems like it comes in a bottle," he added minutes later as he continued to scrutinize the shelves again.

After spending almost a half hour wandering up and down the aisles of the store, his face suddenly lit up as the missing item flashed into his mind.

"Three rolls of toilet paper, please."

SMILES

Father—Who broke that chair in the living room?

Daughter—A few minutes after I came home last night it collapsed, Dad, but neither of us was hurt.

Man—So now you and your son are carrying on the business together?

Owner—Not exactly, I run the business and my son does the carrying on.

Man—Whom do you consider the greatest man this nation ever produced?

Friend—I used to think it was either Washington or Lincoln, but now I am convinced it was my wife's first husband.

Purchasing Agent—How much do you take off for cash?

Saleslady—Sir?

Woman—Have you ever awakened with a jerk?

Friend—Heavens, no! Why, I'm not even married.

THAT WAITING AUTUMN WIND

The corn is in the shock and pumpkins in
The shed, yet summer holds upon each hill
Her green-leaf citadels against the wind—
The autumn wind that will impose its will.
This autumn wind will wait and watch for death;
It knows that summer's citadel will fall
When frost has pierced them with its lethal breath.
Then will this autumn wind be lord of all,
And it will toss the falling leaves again
To skyward as a melancholy jest.
But they will fall, at last, like colored rain,
And they will find, at last, mill-dewing rest.
Oh, autumn wind will have its way, I know,
When summer's loveliness is all laid low.

Will Evans, in his book, THE BITTER BREAD.

A COAL DIGGER PAUSES

The power that bound
Earth's treasure chest
Deep underground
Is manifest.

To only kith
Of coal and rock,
Who tamper with Its trusted lock.

In this black deep
Each hammer blow
Disturbs the keep
But eons know;

And lifts my face
Begrimed with dust,
For sanctioned grace
To mar that trust.

John Minnich Wilson, in his book, BLACK DIAMONDS.

WHERE X DOESN'T MARK THE SPOT

X-ing out prices is a favorite pastime of many retailers. This is how you do it: Take a fresh price tag; mark a fictitious high price, then X it out, and mark your new lower price in. This way, people think that they are saving the difference between the higher and lower price . . . Simple, isn't it?

DON'T BE AN EASY MARK FOR MARK-DOWNS. COME TO WHITE'S WHERE QUALITY FURNITURE IS PRICED RIGHT . . . RIGHT FROM THE START.

We invite you to compare the prices of the local independent Hilltop food merchants and see for yourself where you can save by shopping through Record ads.

An all-day amateur pistol and rifle shoot will be held on the Police Pistol Range, just off McKinley-av, on some date early in November, it was announced this week by Emile Reiss, 98 N. Oakley-av, chairman of the event. The exact date will be announced in a few days but applications from amateurs will be accepted at any time. No entry fee is to be charged but contestants will be expected to provide their own firearms and ammunition.

The event is for amateurs only and proof of amateur standing will be required. Contestants must be 18 years or older.

Sgt. Glen Hoven, formerly in charge of the pistol range, will be technical director and advisor. Mayor James A. Rhodes is expected to be honorary chairman.

Reiss, a Republican candidate for sheriff, said that the event was being planned to promote interest in the proper and safe use of firearms. Many prizes will be given.

Golf "Round-up" Set For Sunday

The first annual Hilltop Golf "Round-up" will be in full sway at Beacon Light Golf Course at noon, Sunday, Oct. 12.

The prize list continues to swell and more than $300 worth of prizes have been assured by Paul Leighninger, head of that committee. The food arrangements will be handled by George Kanavel. "Red" Dolby will be in charge of starting times and registrations.

Foursomes are asked to report from 11:30 to 2:30 p. m.

Examination Set For Police Officers

A civil service examination for new police officers will be held at Central High School Saturday, Oct. 18. The deadline for filing applications is noon on Oct. 11. It is hoped that a large group of candidates will plan to take the examination.

Glenwood Players Go To Hilliards Wednesday Night

The Glenwood Players Guild, amateur dramatic organization, will present its latest production, "Adam's Evening," in the auditorium of the Hilliards High School the evening of Wednesday, Oct. 15, under the sponsorship of the Avery Fellowcraft Club.

Originally presented at Mother Hall, where it received a most favorable reception, a repeat performance was given on request before members of Eastgate Lodge in Masonic Hall at the annual family night.

The lead, Adam Adams, a man-about-town who in his wife's absence has neglected to come home until 4 o'clock in the morning, will be played by Emerson Harlow. His wife, Anna, whom Adam tries to convince that his return was at 10 o'clock, will be played by Ethel Galloway, and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Bean, who definitely complicates the situation, by Marie Gildersleeve.

Others in the cast are Casper, the colored servant, played by Tom Bohanan; Gertie, the maid, by Marina Bohanan; Dr. Frazon, the family physician, by Howard Moon, and Rosita, his wife, by Betty Moon. Elmer Green, a man who has an urge to commit suicide, will be played by Harold Remington. Jack Galloway will take the part of Mr. Cokes, who ought to be dead but isn't, and his wife, Mrs. Cokes, who wishes he were dead so she could collect his insurance, if the premiums have been paid up, will be portrayed by Dorothy Finley.

The entire production will be under the direction of Annis Turner, assisted by Merle Earle.

Curtain time is 8:15 p. m. and tickets are available at 60c for adults and 40c for children.

Fire Chief C. W. Ogborn Reviews Cost Of 40-hour Week For City Firemen

What is to be expected in the way of increased costs if the 40-hour week for city firemen is passed at the Nov. 4 election was outlined recently by Fire Chief C. W. Ogborn in a letter addressed to Joseph R. Jones, president of Columbus City Council.

The letter reads as follows:

"The time has come, I believe, when your Honorable Body should be informed as to the cost that will be involved in putting into execution the 40-hour week that will be voted on at the November election. I think this should be given serious consideration for, if the issue passes, and I think it has a very good chance to do so, in order to give the same service as we are giving today, it would require an additional personnel of 247 men, requiring an outlay of $612,066, over and above our present payroll.

"In addition to the above, six new engine houses, for which a bond issue was voted about two years ago, is in the process of having locations selected which will best serve the citizens of Columbus, and this would further increase the personnel 144 men and require an outlay of an additional $356,832.

"This would mean a total increase of $968,889 or the equivalent of 2 mills on all real estate and would be in addition to the regular payroll which, at present, is $37,622, making a grand total of $1,849,422 for salaries alone.

"Further, if this issue passes and the city would be unable financially to meet such expense, and I would be required to put the 40-hour week into execution, it would necessitate the closing of seven engine houses, and as we now stand the number of engine houses is far insufficient to meet the recommendations of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, which board is responsible for the fire rates throughout the United States.

"There is also another fact which must be taken into consideration. At the end of two years, firemen so employed would receive full salary and this would require an additional amount of $50,000 to meet such automatic pay increases."

News of Rome

By Mrs. E. C. Sheets

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Lappe, formerly of Rome, now of S Roys-av, have just returned from a three-week trip through the West. They went on down to North Hollywood, where they visited with Bill Howell (formerly of Pasadena-av, Rome) and family. Bill by this time is really located in the West, having purchased a home in which they expect to be living by Christmas. Mr. Lappe also visited his sister who lives in North Hollywood.

Apostle of Better Things

Lesson for October 12, 1947

THIS lesson opens, Hebrews 3:1-6, with the explanation that Jesus Christ is the minister of better things in that he is the apostle and high priest of our profession, perfectly faithful to him that appointed him. The comparison is made with Moses, who was also faithful, but within a very small circle as contrasted with the Son of God.

Called to God an high priest after the order of Melchisedec, Christ, the author of eternal salvation, dealt no longer with symbols, but offered himself as the perfect lamb to take away our sins. "And for this cause he is the mediator of the new covenant (testament), that by means of death, for the redemptions of the transgressions that were under the first testament, they which are called might receive the promise of eternal inheritance," Hebrews 9:15.

• • •

Jesus and the Bible

JESUS is introduced in Matthew 4:1-4, as he quotes the Old Testament to Satan in the wilderness temptation. Having been reared by a God-fearing mother, Jesus was familiar with the Bible as a child.

What is the best thing any parent can do for his or her child? I would answer without hesitation: Teach them to hide God's words in their hearts in the impressionable years of youth. A Bible verse learned in youth will serve through all life's testing situations.

"I will not forget Thy Word," Psalms 119:16.

He Helps Us Use the Bible

THE better ministry of Jesus is reflected in the fact that, "We have a great high priest, that is passed into the heavens, Jesus the Son of God. . . . For we have not as high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin. Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need," Hebrews 4:14-16.

Study the example of Jesus in his answers to Satan in the wilderness temptation, and He will teach us when and what to say to Satan. We are not dependent upon our wisdom and words. Our great high priest will supply wisdom and words to match any situation that Satan ever presents.

I think of a story of a junior boy recently accused of stealing. The boy was the victim of a wicked man who sought to turn circumstantial evidence upon him to cover his own sin. The boy told me that he was innocent. I went with him to the juvenile court. The judge asked him if he was guilty. He looked straight into the eyes of the judge and said:

"Sir, I have not sinned. Who convicteth me of this charge?"

The man dropped his head, and said:

"Your honor, I ask for the privilege of withdrawing the charge."

His Laws in Our Hearts

"I WILL put my laws on their hearts, and upon their minds also will I write them," Hebrews 10:16. Jesus declares, "I do always the things that please him," and he enables us, by his grace, to do the father's will by his indwelling in our hearts. Thus, his will becomes the law of our lives, through the grace of Jesus Christ.

It is impossible for us to keep the law perfectly, but Christ, the better Christ, becomes our righteousness, and then his law is kept by his grace. In the olden times, man claimed to keep the letter of the law, without the spirit, as in the case of Moses. Now, through the offering of Christ, we are enabled to satisfy the spirit of the law.

The Sufficient Christ

THIS lesson should enhearten every trusting child of God, since it makes clear that, "He is able to save unto the uttermost them that draw near unto God through him," Hebrews 7:25.

He is not only able, but yearns to save unto the uttermost. He wills to save everyone. God has done everything he can do to save every sentient soul on this earth. Those who go to hell do so because they decide to go to hell. It is not the pleasure of God that any should perish, but that all should repent and be saved.

Scenes From The Sidelines At Cincinnati-West Game

By Elizabeth Downing

When the West High band played "Harvest Moon" at the half last week in the game between West and Cincinnati Hughes, the setting was like something out of a storybook. With the lights out, a clear, cool evening and a full moon shining directly on the gridiron, it was like being in a different little world all by yourself. The lights on the band members' hats shone here and there and reminded one of little glow-worms.

When the final gun sounded at the game, the scoreboard read, West 53, Huges 6. That's a wonderful score, but so is the 33-6 count which is the correct one. Something happened to the board after West's final t.d. and it read 93, 53, 23, and everything except 33.

We tested the bleachers on the east side of the field Friday night. It wasn't planned that way, but when we arrived at the gate around 7:20 most of the West bleacher seats were taken. For temporary seats they were quite the thing.

The Hughes coach, Paul Bowers, resembles William Bendix of movie fame. In fact, from where we sat he could well have doubled for the star.

Danny Lowe is an ardent West Hi fan at 22 months of age. He has been to all the West games this year, and shows his loyalty by standing up and cheering and clapping his hands. He almost missed last week's game but when he heard the band playing, he urged his mother, Mrs. Donald Lowe into going to the stadium. His grandfather, Dan Russell, accompanied them.

Contrary to the common belief, there was quite a number of Cincy fans, who followed their team, and when the Hughes team ran out onto the field before the game the entire CH aggregation rose to its feet and cheered.

Sitting where we were, directly behind the Cincy players, we could see the result of the West offense. Three times in particular when dazed Hughes men were taken from the game they looked as if they couldn't figure out what hit them. One big boy who was plowed under in the second quarter sat out the rest of the game.

The Cincy-Hughes cheerleaders (the girls, that is) wore scarlet pedal-pushers with maroon jackets. The girls led one yell, while the fellows did pyramid building. The top fellow was riding for a fall, however, because when the yell was over they simply dropped him on his head in the dust and continued to watch the gridiron players.

Two Hughes rooters sat behind us. They couldn't figure out why they were losing, so decided it was the "gas pipe" the West players carried in their pants pockets. When right-guard Thumberg (W) had the wind knocked out of him, they concluded that his buddies had konked the wrong guy. Then when the end of the game was near, one of the C. H. rooters slipped through the bleachers and had to be daringly rescued by his cohorts.

Curt "Stubby" Westerman was captain of the West team for the Hughes game.

One fellow on our side of the field brought his plastic bubble blowing equipment, so before the game began we were entertained with a half-way bubble-ball game.

The West High fans really cheered for the C. H. leaders at the half. It's a custom for the cheerleaders to change sides at least once during the evening, and lead the opposing fans.

To briefly go over the band exhibitions (I say briefly because they changed formations in the dark with just the "lights of their hats" showing and being on the wrong side of the field to receive all the benefit of their show, I'll probably leave something out), they were "Hi" to Cincy, the map of Ohio accompanied by "Beautiful Ohio," "CH" for Cincinnati-Hughes, a quarter moon accompanied by "Harvest Moon," a chorus of "Moonglow," "W" for guess who, and the Alma Mater. The Cowboy twirlers followed the band onto the field.

Next week it's Aquinas at West, and the following Friday that ever-exciting West-North game, at North.

Short, Short Stories

A police officer was out instructing the John Burroughs School patrol boys in safety procedure, among other things, advising them never to let a youngster cross in the middle of the square. On completion of his lecture he walked out of the building and directly across the street in the middle of the square, only to be reprimanded by one of the patrol boys, "Hey, why don't you practice what you preach?"

Ohio State touchdowns on Saturday were about as scarce as blind men in a nudist camp.

At least Mr. Truman hasn't experienced any cut house shortage. His predecessor took care of that.

Share the Broadcast

Proprietor Ed Witherspoon of the Better Home Center in the Hague and Broad district did his good turn of the day last Sunday afternoon. Forced to catch up on his paper work at the store, he had tuned in on the FM Cleveland Browns broadcast. Thinking that other citizens of the area might be interested, he placed a new FM equipped Bendix radio in front of his store for public enjoyment. Cars were soon lined up on both sides of the street and a large crowd surrounding the radio on the sidewalk. Ed says that he has many times received calls from friends asking if he would give them a special showing of his FM models on "Browns Sunday."

Petitions Are Filed For West Side Branch "Y"

39 Endorsements Accompany Request

A petition asking for the establishment of a branch "Y" for the Hilltop was presented to Harry Spyker of the Metropolitan YMCA Committee Tuesday afternoon by Dr. C. O. Cramer, chairman of the Hilltop Recreational Committee.

It is understood that the matter will be presented to the YMCA committee for consideration at an early date.

The petition was accompanied by letters of endorsement from 39 prominent Hilltop residents and business people.

Below is the text of the petition as submitted:

October 10, 1947

Mr. Harry Spyker,
Metropolitan Committee
YMCA
Columbus, Ohio

Dear Mr. Spyker:

During the past several months, a committee appointed by a representative body of Hilltop organizations, has explored the possibility of pro-

3 War Dead Are Returned To Hilltop

Bodies of three Hilltop men who gave their lives during World War II were scheduled to reach the Columbus General Depot this afternoon from San Francisco, where they arrived last Friday aboard the funeral ship Honda Knot.

Arrangements for services and burial of the deceased men are incomplete pending information by the army as to when the bodies will be distributed to funeral homes as requested by relatives. An official at the Columbus General Depot said distribution would probably begin early next week after arrangements for transportation are completed.

The bodies of the three neighborhood men are among seven from Columbus and 136 from throughout Ohio which are due to arrive at the depot today from the West Coast.

The three neighborhood men are:

Pvt. Robert O. Ardle, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Ardle, 185 S. Huron-av, a member of the 37th Division, who died some time between Nov. 15 and Dec. 10, 1942, in the South Pacific. Jerry Spears Funeral Service will handle the arrangements.

Pvt. Robert W. Lieb, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lieb, 1309 Rome-Hilliards-rd. who was taken prisoner by the Japanese and died in a Jap prison camp in May, 1943. Arrangements will be made by the Jerry Spears Funeral Service.

Phar. Mate 3/c Richard R. Loomis, 18, son of Mrs. Elsie R. Loomis, 91 N. Burgess-av, who was killed in action while serving with the navy in the Pacific area, Feb. 8, 1944. Arrangements are being made with the Schoedinger Funeral Home. Burial will be at Sunset Cemetery.

West Booster Crowd To Attend Game At Cleveland Sunday

A large delegation of Hilltoppers will boerd a special train for Cleveland Sunday morning to take in the Cleveland Browns-Chicago Rockets football game.

Coaches and faculty managers at West High School and their wives will be going as guests of the West High Boosters Club. At least one car will be made up of the Booster group and their wives.

The local football fans will leave Union Station at 9:30 a. m. They will return the same day following the game.

Boosters Top 1,000 In Membership

The Boosters have done it again.

Scarcely had last week's Hilltop Record gone into the mails than it was announced that the membership for the West High Boosters Club had gone over the 1,000 mark for 1947. At the last report, 1,050 memberships had been sold and more are expected before the end of the week.

Richard (Dick) Francis, president of the club, announced that an election of officers will take place next Tuesday evening at West High School. All old and new members are invited to be present when new officials are named to carry on the work of the organization. Motion pictures of the West-Central game will be shown by Joe McDonald.

And there is plenty of work ahead. Already Phillip Stout has made extensive plans for the community-wide waste paper drive to be conducted on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 26.

In keeping with the Cowboy hats worn by members at football games and other traditions, this drive is labeled "the round-up," Francis said this week. The following firms have already donated trucks but more are needed to complete the Hilltop clean-up in good time:

David Davies (3), Indianapolis Paper Co. (2), Huttig Sash & Door Co. (1 or 2), Powell Transfer Co. (1), Jones Lumber Company (1), C. F. & L. Truck Lines (L. H. Gossett, 2), Ohio Cartage Co. (1).

Trucks Needed

Anyone who has a truck that he would be willing to donate for the afternoon is asked to get in touch with Francis, RA. 0725, or Stout, RA. 4690. Money realized from the sale of the paper is expected to be used for blacktopping some volleyball courts for use by the girls at West High School.

Sensenbrenner was elated over the results of the membership campaign. He expressed his thanks to all who helped by selling memberships and by joining the organization.

Congressman Tells Of Trip To Europe

"With cool heads, willing hearts and high faith, we in America can assume the position of leadership thrust upon us in this present day."

Thus the Hon. John M. Vorys, congressman from the 12th district, described the role of this country in world affairs as he addressed a meeting of the Hilltop Business Association held in the basement of the Westgate Methodist Church Tuesday evening. A capacity audience turned out to hear the congressman tell of his recent trip to study conditions in war-ridden Europe.

"I can best sum up the position we should take in the words of Mayor Brower, Americanized citizen now serving his native country as mayor of Hamburg," Mr. Vorys said. "Our job is to put down barbarism and give mankind a new chance. And with the help of Almighty God in whom we MUST have faith, we can do it."

Vorys stressed the need for

He pointed out that as fire losses increase, rates increase. The Springfield was second with 47 points. Osborne-Bath third with 82, and Dayton Fairview was fourth with 101. Harper was the individual winner.

Board Refuses Parking Lot Request Here

Approximately 40 Hilltoppers appeared before the City Planning Commission Tuesday afternoon at a hearing on a request for permit to create a huge parking lot between Olive and W. Broad-st in the area bounded by Powell-av on the east and Roys-av on the west.

The request was believed to have been stymied when the commission maintained it had no jurisdiction in the matter. This stand was taken after an attorney for the Powell estate, original owners of most of this property, said that deeds issued specifically restricted that area for residen-

Alumni Drive For Members To Continue

The West High Alumni membership drive is well under way and the night of the Linden McKinley-West football game (Oct. 23) memberships will be available at tables located at both ends of the stadium.

Memberships are 75c each and entitle the holder to both the homecoming game and dance on Nov. 14, when West will be host to Jackson High School.

George K. Hardy, president of the group, explained that this is not the Booster Club and that Booster tickets will not admit a person to the dance in the school gym following the homecoming game (Booster membership will admit the holder to free admission to the homecoming game.)

Any graduate who is desirous of becoming a member of the Alumni Association can secure them at the Chatter Box, Hague and Broad-st, or by calling Alyce Buzzard or Hardy.

Community Chest Drive To Start On Hilltop and West Side This Morning

Volunteer workers were to begin house-to-house solicitation today for the 25th annual Community Chest campaign for Columbus and Franklin County. The first report meeting in the effort to raise $1,247,200 for the support of 66 health and welfare agencies in the county will be held at noon Monday, Oct. 20, at the Southern Hotel.

Chest campaign workers from the 17 solicitation divisions will attend the meeting and will hear Roy B. Weed, general campaign chairman, speak. Rabbi Harry Kaplan, director of the Hillel Foundation at Ohio State, will give the invocation.

On Tuesday afternoon women of the Valley group assembled at Gladden Community House, where they received their instructions from Mrs. Charles Hull, 247 S. Gift-st, colonel of the group.

Hilltop women volunteers met Wednesday afternoon at the Hilltop Teen Canteen, W. Broad-st and Burgess-av, to receive their instructions before the campaign opened. Mrs. E. Walter Dillow, 710 S. Richardson-av, is the colonel of this group.

The Hilltop and Valley groups make up the West Residential Division. The division is under the chairmanship of Mrs. Ray Cave, 2036 Olive-st.

Included in the groups to benefit from the Community Chest is the Hilltop Teen Canteen. The Canteen, which will assist in the drive, will realize $2,320 for the benefit of West Side youth if the total quota is met.

Goal Is Higher

This year's Chest goal is 14.63% higher than the one set last year, but Mr. Weed, a veteran of 16 previous Community Chest campaigns, pointed out, "it costs a lot more this year to do as much as we did last year." He said that Columbus Chamber of Commerce figures show an increase in costs of 18.7 per cent from May, 1946, to May, 1947, and that the increase in this year's Community Chest quota is "not out of line."

Last year agencies supported by the Community Chest aided more than 20,000 families through day nurseries, foster homes, community gardens, maternity homes, and other kinds of services. The 27 Red Feather youth agencies reached more than 30,000 boys and girls in the community through the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, and other youth groups.

1,591 Adult Tickets Are Sold At West

The Hilltop promises to be a deserted community tomorrow night as loyal fans of 1947 West High School football team trek to North High to see the clash between the Cowboys and the Polar Bears.

An indication of the local interest shown in the grid battle may be seen in the fact that by Wed. noon, 1,591 adult tickets had been sold at the West High office, and, according to Irvin F. Young, principal of the school, business was still "brisk." Student tickets will not go on sale until today, but it is expected that virtually all of the student body will be there.

North High officials have been adding to their seating facilities in anticipation of a record crowd. The stadium normally seats 7,200 persons and 300 more seats were added this week. Gates will open at 6:30 p. m.

Aside from the fact that rivalry has always been keen between the two schools, tomorrow night's game may have the city grid title at stake. West is undefeated in five starts while North lost to Central High last week. A win by the Polar Bears could throw the city loop race into considerable confusion.

In addition to the struggle on the gridiron, there will also be the battle of the bands. The snappy 70-piece West High Band is all prepared to put on its usual good show embellished with lights for "black out" numbers. The North band will be giving its first "black out" performance, having only recently gotten the band hat lights.

The West band will leave the Hilltop by special bus around 6:45 p. m., arriving at the Polar Bear stadium in time to take to the field by 7:30. Game time is 8 o'clock. A novelty number by the local musicians will be an igloo with one player in a Polar Bear costume. One of the West cheer leaders will endeavor to rope Mr. Bruin. The two bands will join forces to play "The Star Spangled Banner" before the start of the game.

Tickets for the football game between West and North to be played on the Bulldog field tomorrow night may be obtained in advance at the West High senior office.

Dailey To Speak At Dem Rally Here On Oct. 22

W. Herbert Dailey will be the principal speaker at a rally to be heard Wednesday, Oct. 22, at the VFW Hall at Wayne-av and Broad-st, over Isaly's Store, at 8 p. m.

Mr. Dailey promises to reveal some very interesting statements on present city financial conditions.

Oscar F. Dildine, the Tenth Ward Democratic Committeeman, is arranging the meeting and wishes to announce that everyone is welcome.

Dinner Meeting Is For Past Matrons And Patrons Only

The past matrons and past patrons of Robert Morris Chapter 327, OES, will meet tonight (Thursday) at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Colburn, 1502 W. Sixth-av, for a dinner at 6:30 o'clock.

Due to an error, a story appearing in last week's Hilltop Record failed to mention that the meeting was for past matrons and past patrons only. The Record regrets this oversight.

Leo McComb, proprietor of Rosebud Floral Co., was removed from the hospital to his home at 351 N. Burgess-av Saturday. His condition is much improved since he was seriously injured in an auto wreck several weeks ago. Rosebud Floral Co. has continued business as usual.

Season Tickets For Philharmonic Are Available At Spears

Season tickets for the 10 subscription concerts of the Columbus Philharmonic Orchestra may still be had from Mrs. Jerry Spears, Jr., chairman of ticket sales for the Hilltop. Tickets may be had for $10, $15 and $20 and may be secured at any time at the Jerry Spears Funeral Home, 2693 W. Broad-st. Student tickets may be had for $6 upon presentation of a university fee card.

The Columbus Philharmonic is now in its second year as a full-time organization. Its music director, Izler Solomon, has achieved nation-wide acclaim as a guest conductor in other cities. Recently he was guest conductor of the NBC Symphony Orchestra on two network broadcasts.

Four of this year's programs will be all-orchestral, including the opening concert at Memorial Hall, Tuesday, Nov. 4. Guest artists who will appear with the orchestra this year include Arthur Schnabel, pianist, Nov. 17; Byron Janis, pianist, Dec. 16; Joseph Knitzer, violinist, Jan. 6; Joseph Schuster, cellist, Jan. 20; Carol Brice, contralto, Feb. 3; and Erica Morini, violinist, March 2. All-orchestral programs will be presented Dec. 2, Feb. 17 and March 16, in addition to the opening concert.

Because of the popularity last year of the Saturday night "Pop" concerts, the number of these concerts has been increased to 20 this year as against 11 held last year. In addition there will be 10 free school concerts during the 1947-48 season. Once again a dance orchestra will replace the Philharmonic on the stage after each "Pop" concert. Dancing, soft drinks, sandwiches and candy will be available to the audience.

Check
Your Present Home Mortgage Costs Against These Vital Points

In light of today's higher living costs, a review of your present home financing arrangements may indicate a decided savings is possible by means of the following factors:

☐ How old is your mortgage?
(Can it be re-financed at a substantial monthly or total saving?)

☐ Is it an old-style mortgage?
(What advantages can you gain by streamlining with a modern type of loan?)

☐ Will a shorter term save money?
(Oftentimes, readjustment of the term of the loan will result in real total savings on interest cost)

☐ How much has been paid off?
(Do you still owe too much considering the age of the mortgage?)

Western Horse Show "Round-up" To Be Sat., Sun.

Western horse owners and followers of the community will be on hand at the State Fair Coliseum Saturday and Sunday when one of the most spectacular shows of its kind will be staged in the fall "round-up." The show will open Saturday night at 7:30, continuing on Sunday afternoon and evening.

Highlight of the state championship finals will be the grand champion classes to be seen on Sunday evening. Observers will see the most expensive and outstanding array of horses and equipment that Ohio has to offer. Several silver mounted saddles worth over $3,000, horses valued over $5,000 and colorful costumed riders will vie for top honors in a total of 45 classes in the three sessions.

The horses of the reserve champion section and grand champion section are picked by a point system whereby the horses shown over the past show season were given points each time they placed among the first five places. The 16 high point horses in each class are selected for the grand champion section only. The next 16 highest are eligible for the reserve champion section. The balance are entered in the open section.

Well Represented

The West Side will be well represented. Emett Seely of the Seely Hardware Company will be riding his Creamello stallion, "Victor," high point horse in the state in the grand champion section of the plain colored class. Outstanding in conformation, he is cream in body color with a snow-white mane and tail and blue eyes. He is said to be the only stallion of his kind in Ohio. Evidence of his past laurels is on display at Seely's Hardware where many trophies and ribbons won at horse shows over the state the past season may be seen.

Ernie Hendrix and his Palimino stallion, "Colonel Sappho," will carry his high point laurels to the stock horse class of the grand champion section. His Palimino stallion, "Golden Poncho," will try for the coveted blue in the Palimino class.

Roy Redifer and his horse, "Silver," will be among the contenders in the plain colored class. The horse will be ridden by his son, Billy, in the children's western class.

Other Hilltoppers entering competition in the open section of the show are Fred Martin on his spotted stallion, "Lucky M"; Bill Coon will be showing "Flash"; Harold Hughes, "Apache"; and Harold Dixon, "Cheyenne."

our forces to stand pat in situations where Russia threatens to expand in Europe. He pointed out that where a force of arms was displayed, the Soviet has not seen fit to advance against our orders.

"Food, fuel and currency are Europe's biggest problems today," the speaker told his audience. "It's going to require sacrifices from our people here at home to do our share in feeding hungry Europe although these sacrifices may not be as great as some have led us to believe."

Russians Fear Bomb

Pointing to some of the dangers in the economic and political situation in Europe today, he said that Russia has forces enough to overrun all of the continent at will but thus far has not seen fit to do so. He believes that fear of the atomic bomb might be one reason for this reluctance.

Congressman Vorys said, "There are just two alternatives for us in this situation. (1) We must stop Communistic aggression, or (2) a situation will develop where we will have to defend ourselves."

The Columbus lawmaker spoke approximately 45 minutes without a single reference to notes. He admittedly refrained from direct comment on the Marshall Plan, stating that Republican leaders had agreed among themselves to withhold judgment until further study and consideration has been given to the proposal.

"While we all look with anxiety on the situation abroad there is also a bright side to it. There is a possibility of our entering an era of undreamed of prosperity ahead," he said.

Trade Possibilities Good

He enumerated some of the possibilities for export and import trade with countries badly in need of our goods.

A representative of the Community Chest spoke briefly on the 1947 needs of that organization. This talk was followed by a short business meeting.

Phillip Stout reported that the date of Nov. 25 was being considered as the night for the annual football banquet. This dinner annually honors members of the team and coaching staff at West High School.

Dr. E. E. McNamee announced that tickets at $1 per person are now on sale for the HBA Hallowe'en Hard Times Dance to be held at the Oak Grove Dance Pavilion on the night of Oct. 29.

H. G. Deems, Joseph Briggs and Edgar Planck were appointed to serve as a nominating committee. They were asked to submit a list of names for officers for the coming year. The election of new officials will take place at the December meeting.

Dr. William Kontras, dentist, and White Chef Restaurant were voted into membership.

Burned In Rubbish Fire

Edith Kidwell, 45, 1011 Bellows-av, was reported in "fair" condition at Mt. Carmel Hospital after suffering second and third degree burns on her face, arms and hands. tial building with the exception of the W. Broad-st frontage. The matter was referred to the city attorney's office for further check on the validity of this restriction.

Request for the permit was brought by Westgate Ways, Inc., a firm in which Ken Dickerson, local builder, and Stewart and Neff realtors are said to be interested. During the course of the hearing it was revealed that Westgate Ways, Inc., represent a "big business" interest that would require extensive parking facilities. The nature of this concern was not divulged.

Repeated attempts to contact members of the Westgate Ways, Inc., for comment were to no avail at Record press time Wednesday.

Appearing in opposition to granting the special permit were Irvin F. Young, principal of West High School, Rev. Harold Dutt, pastor of the Westgate Evangelical United Brethren Church, and about 40 property owners in the neighboring areas. Joseph Briggs and Jerry Spears, Sr., attended as representatives of the Civic Committee of the Hilltop Business Association.

Last week Ken Dickerson announced plans for the erection of a 12-unit apartment to be built on the northeast corner of Olive and Powell-avs. The apartments would be available to veterans of World War II only, it was said.

Dr. R. J. Miller

present tendency is toward a considerable increase.

"In case of fire, call the fire department first," Mr. Shingledecker said. He said that many times persons wasted valuable time by trying to extinguish the blaze themselves. He further stated that 75 per cent of the fires could be prevented by what he termed "good housekeeping."

At today's meeting members are to hear reports on the recent district convention. Ed Melvin and Dr. Miller are in charge of the program. Edgar Planck, president of the group, will introduce the delegates.

A final report on the Kiwanis sale of drivers' licenses showed that a total of 8,859 was issued. Of this number 8,680 were regular permits, 109 were temporary, 44 were first permits issued, while 26 were duplicates.

Two West Grads Now At Wittenberg

Another Hilltopper who is also a freshman at Wittenberg is Jim Heiland, also a June, 1947 graduate from West. He is a pre-theological student and was assigned his first pastorate last week.

He will serve as student pastor at the Odd Fellows Home, conducting services there every Sunday. He is a pledge to Lambda Chi Alpha.

Bob Thompson Hurt In Jump From Car

Bob Thompson, 847 S. Harris-av, received minor injuries last Friday evening, when he jumped from the running board of a moving vehicle, causing the wheels to pass over his right foot. The accident took place in front of the Teen Canteen.

He was treated by Dr. C. O. Cramer for torn ligaments and a badly sprained foot.

Thompson, a junior at West High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Thompson. He works after school and on Saturdays for The Hilltop Record.

viding better recreational facilities for the people of this community.

After having considered various plans in communities of similar character, the committee has come to the conclusion that in order to secure better facilities, insure continuity of trained leadership, and in general to provide the highest type of character building program for our youth, we should seek the advice and help of some established organization experienced in this type of community service.

On the basis of this conclusion the committee has conducted a survey among the community organizations, as well as business and professional people, and has found unanimous interest for the establishment of a YMCA branch similar to, or approximating the South Side Branch.

In view of this survey, and the generous response from the community as a whole, we hereby formally petition the Metropolitan Committee of the YMCA to conduct such additional survey as may be essential, and to take whatever further steps found necessary to establish such a branch in the section of the City of Columbus known as the Hilltop community.

The committee offers its continued cooperation and will be pleased to give such additional service as may be found desirable by your board.

Respectfully submitted,
Hilltop Recreational Committee

Play Yard Seen As Good Safety Factor

The pre-school child is by no means too young to be instilled with a wholesome regard for the dangers of motor traffic in these modern days of high speed automobile travel.

They should be cautious at an early age, about the dangers of the street, for the little toddlers some time have a way of wandering off the front lawn that strikes fear into the hearts of many parents.

Best precaution against any such tendency is the development of the backyard of the home, whenever that is possible, into a delightful play spot for small children.

A sand box over which a gay umbrella is poised to keep the glaring, burning sun off the child, is an essential bit of backyard equipment for the small child.

ROGUE RIVER, ORE.—(LOOK Photo) Lovely Ginger Rogers, clever business woman as well as talented movie star, is the proud owner of a 1,062 acre farm in the rich Rogue River valley of western Oregon. Community Hallowe'en Party To Be Held Here On Oct. 31

The Hilltop will again lead other sections of Columbus in its celebration of All-Saints Day, better known as Hallowe'en.

Charles Reichelderfer, chairman of the special events committee and vice-president of the Hilltop Community Council, announced the plans at the regular monthly meeting last Thursday.

The store window decorating contest, with prizes to be awarded to grade school and high school students, will start the festivities a few days before Oct. 31. The Hilltop Kiwanis Club will again sponsor this portion of the program. Woody Clark, owner of Westgate Pharmacy, will be in charge.

The Hallowe'en Night party will be held at West High School, the doors opening at 7:30. The Hilltop Business Association, William Coon in charge, will supervise the dancing, jitterbug contests, costume award, and election of Hilltop Hallowe'en Queen in the gymnasium.

The program in the auditorium will include a dancing show under the supervision of Eddie Walker; movies by E. B. Graham, principal of John Burroughs School; and awarding of prizes in window painting contest.

Fortune telling, one of the biggest attractions of the previous two Hallowe'en celebrations, will again be sponsored by the West Unit Blue Star Mothers' group, Mrs. Clyde Dennison in charge.

The ever-popular fish pond and cake walk attractions will be sponsored by the Highland Avenue, John Burroughs, West Broad and Mound Street School Parent-Teacher organizations. Those in charge are Mrs. Edward Bradfute, Mrs. P. M. Walton, Mrs. Ron Hastilow and Mrs. Harold Beard.

The West High Parent-Teacher group, under the direction of Mrs. C. C. Saylor, will have charge of the refreshments and the cafeteria.

The Air and Sea Scouts, under the leadership of Vern Sanford, will act as ushers during the evening, while a number of members of the West High Boosters Club will assist in the supervision of the entire program.

The West High football team plays East High this same evening at West, with those girls and boys who attend the game having an opportunity of enjoying dancing to a good orchestra following the close of the game.

Mrs. Brogenhardt, Charter Member Of News Group

When the 45th annual convention of the Ohio Newspaper Women's Association is held in Columbus, this month, Mrs. Clara Brogenhardt, 1925 Fairmont-av, will be the only charter member to attend the meetings. Mrs. Brogenhardt believes she is the only charter member now living.

This Hilltop lady was the first woman to become a member of the Columbus Citizen staff. After being society editor there for several years, Mrs. Brogenhardt later worked on The Press-Post, The Ohio State Journal and The Columbus Dispatch. Thus it was that her background had prepared her for the appointment as Associated Press correspondent at Cedar Point for The Cincinnati Enquirer.

In 1926 she returned to Columbus from New York and since that time has been active in social work, now being acting director of the Hannah Neil Mission.

Deviled Egg-Noodles Casserole Tasty Dish

"Folks will be asking for the recipe after they've tasted this deviled egg and noodle casserole," says Marjorie Griffin, rural home editor of one of the leading farm magazines.

"You'll tell them there's no trick to making it," she writes in the magazine read by 1,300,000 farm families.

Deviled Eggs and Noodles

2 c. uncooked noodles
6 hard-cooked eggs
2 tbsp. mayonnaise
1 tsp. vinegar
¼ tsp paprika
½ tsp. dry mustard
Salt and pepper
4 tbsp. butter
4 tbsp. flour
1 tsp. salt
2 c. milk
1 c. cheese cracker crumbs
2 tbsp. melted butter

Drop noodles into boiling salted water and cook until tender. Drain in strainer and rinse with cold water. Place in buttered casserole or six individual baking dishes. Cut eggs in half. Remove and mash yolks, mix in mayonnaise, vinegar, paprika, mustard, salt and pepper. Fill egg whites and place on top of noodles. To make white sauce, melt butter, blend in flour and salt. Add milk and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Pour sauce over eggs and noodles. Top with crumbs mixed with melted butter. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 20 minutes. Six servings.

Glace Apples

Pare three washed apples one-third way down and core them. Place in baking pan and cover with a syrup made of one cup sugar and 1½ cup water which has been boiled 5 minutes. Cover and cook until tender, but not out of shape. Remove from oven and put lump butter in center. Sprinkle generously with sugar (brown if preferred) and put under flame in broiler until sugar is melted and browned; baste often. This gives the apples a bright varnished look. Fruit may be cooked in the apple centers, such as bananas, raisins, stewed figs, etc. Serve with the jellied sauce left in baking pan and whipped or plain cream. Brown sugar and sprinkle of spices and raisins make a good combination.

Prune Whip

To the beaten whites of 4 eggs add 1 cup of finely chopped prunes, previously cooked and stoned; ½ cup sugar; ½ cup chopped nuts, and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Pour in baking dish; bake slowly till well set. Serve with whipped cream.

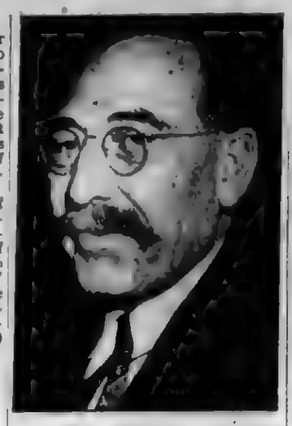
David C. Warner Had A Vision

Conservation Of Ohio's Water Supply



By Paul Wichterman

In a dust-filled fourth-floor room in the annex to the Ohio State Capitol Building, surrounded by hundreds of maps, books and filing cabinets filled with geological data, works a man whose work is little known to most Ohioans but whose influence has been far-reaching in the field of water conservation and the elimination of stream pollution.

On the payroll of the State of Ohio he is listed as David C. Warner, water conservation consultant for the Ohio Department of Public Works. To those who know him well he is plain "Dave" Warner, an "evangelist" in the cause of conservation of the water supply for the state and nation. He makes his home at 250 Pasadena-av in Rome.

"Dave" Warner had a vision for the need of planned control of the runoff from the Ohio River watershed years before the disastrous 1913 flood, but it took the more disastrous drought of 1930 to bring to the attention of Ohioans the need for action.

Formation of the Muskingum Conservancy District back in the '30's and the more recent organization of the Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy District as well as the master plan of federal flood control projects for the Ohio River Basin, recently drafted by United States Army engineers, owes much to this pioneering spirit who has preached the "gospel" of conservancy almost since the turn of the century.

David C. Warner

Political interference and deliberate attempts to stifle his work have not discouraged this modern pioneer. He stayed on the job without salary for more than five years when the Davey administration cut off the appropriation for his work.

Mr. Warner, now 75 years of age, was born at Standfordville, Duchess County, New York, on Dec. 5, 1872. His father was a preacher in the Christian Church. He later began the practice of medicine in Morrow County, Ohio, in 1879. After graduating from West Liberty High School in the class of 1894, young Warner began teaching school in Cataraugus County, New York, at a salary of $26 per month. Later he attended Buffalo State Normal School and in 1900 joined the Buffalo Police Force where he was stationed on the Pan-American Fair Grounds. He was helping to handle the crowd just outside the building where President William McKinley was shot.

Received Knee Injury

Warner was superintendent of construction for the million-dollar Delaware Park Art Gallery in Buffalo. In the summer of 1906 he worked for the LaClede Electric Power Co., then engaged in digging a tunnel under the Mississippi River to get water for the condensers for the first steam turbine installed in St. Louis. While working on this project he received a knee injury in which the water was lost from his right knee.

Returning to Higginsport, Brown County, Ohio, to recover his health at the home of his father, he organized and superintended the building of the Higginsport Independent Telephone Co. While building a line up White Oak Creek Road toward Georgetown, he observed the excessively steep gradiant of White Oak Creek where there were eight old abandoned water mill sites.

Realizing that the water power had been there at one time, he resolved to reclaim it and so on Oct. 8, 1908, in company with M. D. Burke, naturalist and engineer, they made a survey of White Oak Creek with the idea of locating a hydro-electric plant. It was not until he had invested all the money he had that he learned that a power utility had no right of eminent domain to acquire land for the three large reservoirs that would be needed in the valley.

Formed Conservancy Group

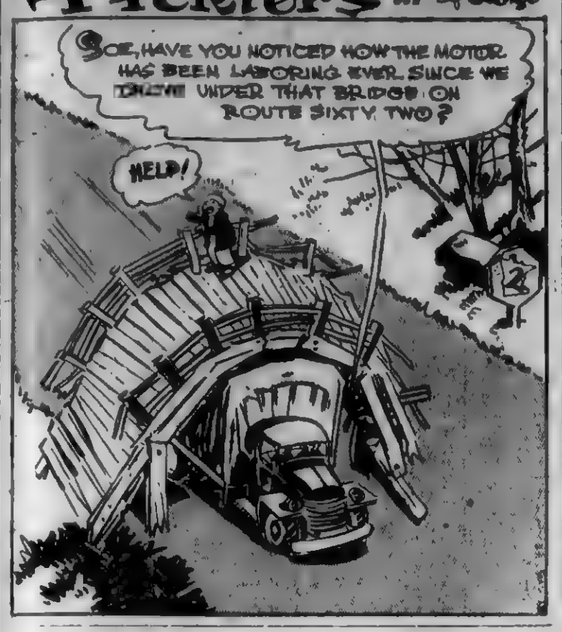
This experience led him to organize what he called a conservation district for Brown County for the conservation of the flood waters of White Oak Creek to help rehabilitate this submarginal section of the state. This venture was short-lived when it was found that there was nothing in the state constitution authorizing such a group.

After drifting about from one job to another until 1912, he joined the Columbus Police Department. That was an eventful year for David Warner for it was that year that the Ohio Constitutional Convention met in Columbus. He began talking water conservation to the delegates while still on the police force and obtained a hearing before the public works committee of the convention. In that meeting he asked that laws be passed that would make possible the conservation of natural resources, especially water, and the organization of conservancy districts.

In the fall of 1912 a law was finally passed. Two years later Supreme Court Judge Wanamaker, looking back on the disastrous flood of 1913, commented: "It (the law) reads almost like a prophecy of Jeremiah as to the terrible floods that visited various portions of the state in March the following year."

Judge Wanamaker did not know that the pen of David Warner was much in evidence in drafting this first state statute of conservation. Following the passage of the first conservancy law Warner entered Ohio State University as a freshman to prepare himself to work in this conservancy program.

Progress Slow



Progress in the field of conservation was slow and tedious until the summer of 1930 when damage from the great drought was counted at $150,000,000 instead of the mere $80,000,000 that resulted from the 1913 flood. In 1931 he was able to persuade the General Assembly to create the Water Conservation Board. Governor George White appointed David Warner executive secretary of the board for study and preparation of a water conservation program for Ohio.

With and without pay, he has stuck to the job religiously and his work has been used not only by the State of Ohio but by government engineers in mapping the plan for the Ohio Watershed.

In 1900, David Warner was married to Thankful Crandall of Machias, N. Y. They have three children, Henry, who operates his own engineering laboratory in Columbus; John, a teacher at South High School; and Helen Warner, a graduate nurse, now employed by the Clark Grave Vault Company.

Although conservation has always been his mission, Mr. Warner has found time to devote some of his energy in the field of music. He has written several musical compositions.

TO ANTON LANG

They say that you will nevermore appear
As Christus in the wondrous Passion Play;
Will never again up Calvary's Hill bear His dear cross,
Nor wear upon your brow His crown of thorns.
It may be so; yet, in a larger, higher sphere
Still shall you act; for to the hearts of men
Fast bound with grief or some unutterable loss,
Your face—His face—once seen, shall come each bitter day.
With God's own peace to comfort him that mourns

Auf Wiedersehen. Yes, till we meet again—
Or here or there — oft shall I think of thee,
And thinking, see the Christ who died for you—and me.

Hilltop Golf Round-up Draws 140 Sun.; Many Prizes Given

The first annual Hilltop Golf Round-up exceeded all expectations Sunday and was pronounced a success by those in charge of planning the affair. About 140 golfers toured the nine-hole Beacon Light Course during the afternoon and evening with a few getting caught by the darkness. The course was in perfect condition and the weather was even better.

The prize list exceeded the $300 figure originally set and every golfer who participated and waited for the distribution of prizes received some prize ranging from a 15-pound ham to a necktie.

The committee awarded the grand prize to the Hilltop's "Golfer of the Year," Jack Kidwell, local pro and operator of the local course. The award was based on the biggest contribution to golf on the Hilltop during the past season.

Bill Wilhelm edged Paul Leighninger and J. Hyatt by one stroke with a 71 net to win the West High Booster trip to Cleveland.

Ryan Was MC

Jimmy Ryan handled the master of ceremonies job and did a nice job of dishing out some choice humor along with the many prizes. The food and refreshments were served throughout the noon and evening in abundance.

The committee in charge consisted of "Squire" Lewis, Stan Russell, Leighninger, Dick Murray, Emmet Martin and George Kanavel. A short business meeting was held after the "round-up" and it was agreed by all present that this should be a yearly event from now on.

Prizes went to the following in the various classes of competition: low gross for nine holes, tie between Barney Hunt and Cal Richards; low net, Troy Brown; low "two-ball" team, Don Myers and Bill Wilhelm; most birdies, Bob Metz; most pars, Barney Hunt; longest drive, Jay Hyatt; most sixes, Chuck Worthington; tallest golfer, Glenn Golden; accuracy contest, Jack Fox, B. Casto, Stan Russel; best dressed golfer, Emmet Martin; most sevens, George Phillips; closest tee shot on No. 3, Beryl Taylor; low putts, W. McCracken, Bill Hayes, George Kanavel and Earl Carper.

West Runners Lose to Mansfield

The Mansfield distance runners scored a second victory over the West High Cowboys in a dual cross-country meet held at Ohio State University Thursday afternoon. Again it was a nip and tuck affair with Mansfield and West runners alternating at the finish line. The score was Mansfield, 25; West, 30.

Pete Vogt, who finished first for Mansfield in the triangular meet at Newark the week before, again finished in the No. 1 position with a still better time of 10.21.5. Fred Harper came in second.

Here's the way the other boys finished: Dave Stethen (West); Sheets (M); Dennis (W); Rehm (M); Hamm (W); Poorman (M); Van Atta (W).

The West team time was better than in the former event. The Cowboy runners were to compete against Springfield and Osborn on Tuesday of this week and then enter the district meet at Springfield on Saturday.

The city meet is slated to be run on Oct. 22, Coach R. C. (Rufe) Glass, announced this week.

Business Men's League

Runing a close second as the "fastest" men's league to roll at the Hilltop alleys is the Business Men's League, which bowls on Thursday evenings. The league rolls from scratch with all eight of the teams averaging over 800.

Dick Ardle

At the present time Shank and Saunders and Esquire Men's Shop are tied for the league lead with 14 wins and 4 losses. Shank and Saunders have the highest average, 897.

Frank Health is leading the league in averages with 197, followed by Carl Breckenridge of Shank and Saunders with 193 and Milt Banning of Esquire with 185. Bus Motts holds the high single, a 289 game; Frank Health is second with 258, one pin ahead of Loren Heselton's 257. Heselton of Machine Products has the high series 658; Frank Health is second with 639 and Dan Wolf is third with 638. Shank and Saunders has the high team game, 1021. This was the first team game over 1000 to be rolled at the Hilltop alleys this year. Since then, Wilson Floors of the Wednesday Night Suburban League has rolled 1009. Shank and Saunders also hold the high team three games with 2847. They are followed by Schroeck's Service Station, with 2803 and Esquire Men's Shop with 2794. Last year the league was won by Shank and Saunders with a record of 72 and 33.

The won and lost record, and team averages for this year are:

Team	W	L	Avg
Shank and Saunders	14	4	897
Esquire Men's Shop	14	4	886
Schroeck's Serv. St.	10	8	851

 * * Bowler of the Week

Our bowler this week is Carl Breckenridge, who has really shown great "stuff" in his bowling this year. Carl bowls in three of the best leagues at the Hilltop alleys. He rolls in the Recreation League on Monday nights, the Suburban League on Wednesdays, and the Business Men's League on Thursday nights.

On Monday night Carl bowls with Esquire Men's Shop and averages 176. On Wednesday nights he rolls with Wilson Floors and holds the highest league average, 188. On Thursday he is second highest averager with 193. In this league he rolls for Shank and Saunders, who lead the league. Carl turned in a feat of his own last week in two series of better than 600. On Monday he rolled 637, including a 258 game and Thursday he rolled 626, including 254. Nice going, Carl.

 * * Bowling Bets

Our bowling gem of this week was told me by Tom Wolfe. While bowling in the Riverview Summer last year, he saw two teams go into the 10th frame all evened up in score. As each bowler took his turn he matched his opponent pin for pin. As the anchor men stepped up to take their turns with the score still tied, the game looked as if it could be anyone's. Earl Emerson, the first anchor man, rolled three strikes in a row and it seemed to be over. Joe Baigini tried vainly to tie it up and after he threw two strikes it looked as if he might do it but "lady luck" looked the other way and he lost one pin, giving the others a victory by one pin.

 * * Honor Roll

Men 600 or better—Dick Knipper 641, Carl Breckenridge 637 and 626, Paul Kauderer 612, and Bob Barok 602.

Women 500 or better — Edna Latscha 564, Dot Amore 543, Frances Patridge 541, Doris Shaw 524, Marge Liston 521, Kate Ceil 512, Edna Staley 501, Helen Neeshan 501, and Babe Kumel 500.

Cowboys Will Be Target In All Future City League Games

By Paul Whitehouse

The West High School 1947 football schedule is half way completed and already many Cowboy fans are talking about a city championship. The team has won all of its first five tilts.

On paper the championship not only looks like a possibility but a "sure thing." However, comparative analysis of any grid team based on past performance is always a dangerous thing. What is a "great" football team today may look mediocre tomorrow. Ohio State fans well remember to their sorrow the glowing prospects of this year's team—before the season started.

"A good example of how a team can be "inspired" might be seen in the Central Pirates. West knocked off the Pirates handily. Out at Magly Field it didn't look as if the downtowners had much on the ball. Last week they upset the "dope bucket" and gave North a trouncing. The Polar Bears will be on the rebound this week. They want nothing more than a chance to take the Cowboys.

Coach Mack Pemberton has a good football team this year. The boys have good spirit, they are tackling and blocking reasonably well and for the most part they are executing plays smoothly. They have demonstrated that they can come from behind to overcome what looked like a sure win in the opening game with Springfield. But the 1947 West aggregation is not a great one.

Liberal use of "black ink" on the part of downtown papers in describing West victories so far may work against the Cowboys in any of their future City League tilts—particularly in the North contest tomorrow night. Mike Hagly, Polar Bear mentor, likes nothing better than to knock off the favorite and that is the role that West must occupy this week.

West has been a lucky team thus far in some respects. The old injury bugaboo has not handicapped the Cowboys too much this season. A serious injury to any one of several first string boys might pose a definite problem for Coach Pemberton. In some spots he has first class replacements. In others he is definitely weak on replacements. Thus far he has not had to rely on replacements very much. That situation might crop up at any time.

The Cowboy second and third string material has played considerable ball in the first five games. For the most part the boys have not looked too good. There are, of course, some noteworthy exceptions but for the most part the replacements would not stack up too well against a first class opponent.

Then, too, there is always the problem of over-confidence. Regardless of what a coach may try to do to "deflate" team ego, it is hard to convince a winning bunch of boys that they are not good. That has already been evident. There was a tendency to take Aquinas lightly last week. As it turned out, the Terriers were not too tough when they came to Magly Field although a few changes in the breaks might have made it a first class struggle.

Drawn Many Penalties

West has drawn excessive penalties in most of its games to date. Should they continue, the Cowboys might find themselves in plenty of "hot water." Eighty-five or 90 yards in penalties can very easily lose a ball game if they come at crucial stages of the contest.

These are some of the pessimistic possibilities of things that might happen in the final half of the season. We hope that none of them materializes. The 1947 squad is made up of some wide-awake boys. They like to play hard football. They have gained a reputation throughout the city for being a rough team on the field. Several "unnecessary roughness," "clipping" and "holding" penalties have been called in the first five games. They are one of the team's biggest obstacles as we see it from the sidelines.

West is a good team but it has four hurdles to cross before hanging up the 1947 grid crown. As Coach Pemberton has remarked in the past, "We'll play 'em one at a time."

Blackwell Scores Four Touchdowns

Ira Blackwell, former West High School grid star, ran wild Sunday afternoon to score four touchdowns for 740 AC as his team coasted to an easy 41 to 0 win over Kit-Kat Grill in the Columbus Middleweight football loop. The win gave the AC's two victories in as many starts.

West Side Merchants romped all over the Timber Wolves to the tune of a 31 to 0 win in the Columbus Lightweight League in a game also played on Sunday afternoon. The victory gave the West Siders a record of two wins and one defeat.

In the Independent League, Sullivant Gardens piled up 33 points to shut out the Hilltop Eleven.

Helps Save Daily Slice of Bread

American housewives can take a conservation tip from Gloria Whalen, popular Walter Thornton pin-up model, who carefully recloses the waxed paper wrapper on a loaf of bread immediately after preparing her "between exercise" snack. Reclosing protects the freshness of the loaf, prevents waste, and lends support to President Truman's "Save Food for Europe" program. One slice of bread saved by each housewife, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture, means a national saving of one million pounds of bread daily.

The latest thing for duck hunters is a recently patented wing-flapping, head-shaking decoy. The decoy is moored to an anchor. Resting on the bottom the anchor weight causes the wings to flap as the body rises and falls with the waves, while a ball-bearing arrangement turns the duck's head.

Support The Community Chest

Bright and early today the 1947 Community Chest will be launched with a goal of $1,247,200 for Franklin County. This year new emphasis is being placed on the residential divisions with sectional competition expected to be keen between the various division colonels.

In the past many Hilltop housewives have apparently failed to take the residential solicitation seriously as indicated by the small sum realized from the community-wide canvass. Of course it is understandable that in most homes the husband has already made a contribution at his place of employment but there are few homes that could not spare at least an additional dollar to aid in this worthwhile work.

If every home on the Hilltop and West Side would give one dollar in this way, this residential division could be assured of a good showing against other sections of the city.

The work of the Community Chest covers too wide a scope to attempt to describe it here. It fills a needed place in the life of Columbus and Franklin County. It deserves the support of all of us. The residential solicitors, like all the others, are contributing their time and their efforts to aid this needed program. When a Red Feather representative knocks at your door, treat her with the respect due one who is doing her bit for her neighbors all over the city.

The goal for this residential division is set at $5,000. There are approximately 15,000 families or more in this area. The goal for all residential areas totals more than $100,000—no small part of this year's quota for the entire county.

Our Readers Say

Dear Editor:

Greetings from some former Hilltoppers. We receive the Record every week and share it with parents and other friends who are former Hilltoppers, too.

We enjoyed especially the big Anniversary number; getting the Record each week makes us remember all our old friends back there even though we have been gone several years.

Mr. Freeman is assistant to the chief radar engineer at San Francisco Naval Shipyard and we now live in San Carlos, a suburban community of San Francisco. We have recently become parents of our first-born at Mills Memorial Hospital on Sept. 12. She has been named Joyce.

Her maternal grandparents are also former Hilltoppers, having resided there for about 25 years. They are Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Cassidy of 449 S. Terrace-av until two years ago. They now reside in Redwood City, Calif.

We probably won't know the Hilltop when we make our next visit as it is changing and growing so fast but it will always be home to us since we grew up in the schools and churches in the community.

Sincerely,
Grace Freeman

OUR SIDEWALKS

The writer took an afternoon stroll Sunday afternoon walking east on W. Broad-st from S. Ogden-av to Terrace, south to Sullivant, west to Burgess, north to Olive, then to Ogden and back to West Broad.

There were very few sidewalks in that area that were not in bad condition and much in need of repair. Yet here we are with freezing weather not far away, leaves and refuse of all kinds cluttering up the sidewalks on the Hilltop. These facts call for immediate attention before we have several elderly folks injured by slipping and falling on the sidewalks, causing broken hips and other portions of their bodies as was the case a few years ago when about six elderly women in various parts of the city suffered broken hips just that way.

Of course similar conditions exist over the city, but we of the Hilltop are prone to take pride in our community spirit, and we should not permit these conditions to mar our otherwise model community.

Columbus should by all means have a regular "Sidewalk Inspection Service" and such conditions should be duly reported, the offenders given notice to remedy the defects, and if not done within a specified period, the city then should have the work done and charged to the property owner, and added to his taxes to be paid the next semi-annual payment date. Other cities in the past have allotted that kind of work to public contractors and have had bonds issued to provide payment to the contractors.

Some years ago our City Solicitor advised the writer that the law is that the property owner is liable for any damages arising from a defective sidewalk, as it is the duty of that owner to keep the walks in repair, and not the duty of the municipal corporation.

So, you who own property had better give the matter careful attention before it is too late.

Chicken Chatter

All this governmental confusion over whether we should cut down on egg production, conserve on an already overstocked egg supply, or get out of the poultry business altogether even has the hens mixed up. Time was, when the "little red hen" would cackle victoriously every time she laid an egg, feeling she had made a worthwhile contribution to the breakfast table, but any more well informed cacklers merely lay their eggs and sneak out of the hen house furtively, not knowing whether to be proud or ashamed.

The situation has some of us big (?) poultry raisers on the proverbial fence. Down at the Wichterman, Poultry Ranch, for instance, we've even discussed selling off our laying stock (all four of 'em). It all boils down to this. If our hens don't lay, we lose money what with feed at close to $6 per hundred. But if they do produce fresh cackle berries with factory-like precision the situation becomes even more complicated. If we eat the eggs ourselves on Thursday, we're unpatriotic. If we sell 'em to someone else, how do we know but what they will be consumed on eggless Thursday, thus making us a party to the crime because of having "aided and abetted" the criminal. Then, too, if we dump our eggs on the market at the currently high prices, we aid in the constantly inflationary trend. Mr. Truman says that's bad, so to prevent inflation, the government offers even higher prices to buy them up to send to Europe. The European peoples who don't have "the dollars" anyway can't buy them at our prices. Where do we go from here?

Maybe we should sell only the lower grade of eggs that can be produced without so much feed. The Department of Agriculture says it's wasteful to feed livestock into prime marketing condition. Of course we will still lose money if our eggs are not equivalent to the best on the market but it looks as if that would be far less complicated and far more patriotic than trying to show a profit anyway.

I believe the old fellow down in Monroe County knew the poultry business better than any of his neighbors gave him credit for. He never fed his chickens anything, working on the theory that a hen that was worth her salt should have enough ambition to go out and scratch for a living. The only capital investment he had in his flock was an old ramshackle poultry house where they were permitted to roost. The hens set when they felt like it and thus kept his flock replenished with new stock without his having to turn a hand.

He worked on the theory that any money he took in from eggs or poultry was pure profit, since he never tied up his money in feed or fancy equipment used by poultry growers. When egg production went down, he didn't make much money but he never stood to lose any like we poultrymen doing business in this complicated age.

So Mr. President, we're leaving it strictly up to the hens. If they wan'na lay, we'll let 'em lay. If not we'll go right on losing money. We can always mark it off on our income tax report.

This and That

Wanted! One Pied Piper.

You've no doubt heard of the woman who had bats in her belfry. Well, here at the Record office we also have another problem.

It's rats in the paste pots.

Every night we have visits from the hairy rodents who seem to have taken a fancy to the paste in the office paste jars. It started one morning about 10 days ago when I discovered paste smeared profusely over the top of my desk and the brush from the paste jar missing.

I accused every one around the office but all denied the misdemeanor. Then the paste brushes began to disappear from paste pots on some of the other desks. Now it is almost a daily occurrence. Seems the rats like the taste of the paste. Being unable to crawl down into the jars, they pull out the brush when they can and lick the past out of the bristles or carry the brush away altogether.

To culminate their activities they are making model houses of the grass and mud houses found in Africa, the igloo of the Eskimo; the stone house of the people of Ireland; the wigwam of the Indian of North America; and a modern cement and frame house on the pattern of our own American home is also on display. The children also have a table of dolls dressed in the clothing found in the countries mentioned above and also of the people of Spain and China.

The eighth grade was first in neatness of stacking, but the weight of their paper was 1500 pounds less than that of the winning seventh grade. The ninth graders swept the pavements of their territories where paper had been stacked, leaving the community in excellent condition. The seventh grade will be awarded a play period tomorrow.

Teachers supervising the stacking of papers were Mr. Walsh, Mr. Brula, Mr. Hicks, Mr. Naylor, Mr. Helphrey and Mr. Peck. Pupils not going on the drive met in room 13 under the supervision of Miss Ganghran and Mrs. Woodin. Other teachers used their cars to bring in amounts too large to be carried.

The committee on judging neatness consisted of Miss Miller, Mr. Pace and Mr. Cheadle. The Hi-Y boys, under the direction of Mr. Brula and Mr. Pittenger, had charge of protecting the wagons during regular school periods.

Cowboy Capers

By Edith and Jean

Is ELLA MAE OESTRICKER losing her mind? We wonder as we find her pointing her finger at LOIS BOWER across the table the fifth period and yelling "BANG! BANG!"

Is NICK MANOS the only 12A boy who has any courage? It seems that he is the only one who takes advantage of the fact that we have a senior dining room.

We are wondering why it is that ROY ZIGLER likes his fourth period English class so well. We won't mention any names.

Have you noticed LENA STARKEY laughing herself sick during reg. period? Could it be because one of the business staff can't sing?

Why is it that MARILYN HOELCHER insists on coming into seventh period study not once but at least six times during that 45 minutes?

You've never seen a more studious person in study hall than LOIS WATERS. You'd think the Newsweek she was reading was an exciting mystery.

A strange sight in the library every day is ROBERT WHALEN and HAROLD CARTER. It couldn't be because MR. WASHBURN asked the simple question, "What happened in 1803?"

Congratulations to our beautiful queen, PAT PERRY, and the four lovely girls on her court: DONNA BECK, TEDDI HILL, JEANNINE GEORGE, ANN GUIDO. They will reign at the homecoming game when West goes all out to meet Jackson.

Did any one see the look on BILL BUCKINGHAM'S face when he was told that Central won the game?

We sometimes wonder if JEANNIE MOORES ambition is to be a poet? It seems she wrote a lot of slogans for the queens. She did a good job of it.

What's this we hear about JIM McCARTY corresponding with Newsweek?

Advice to JIM DENNIS: Try getting up five minutes earlier; you might get to school on time.

BETTY WESTKAMP should take a course in mechanics. She seems to have a terrible time getting a typewriter to work.

Here's hoping we all make it to North Friday night, and good luck to the team.

Troop 103 Elects Officers For Year

They elected the following officers: Carolyn Dobbs, President; Shirley Girbert, Scribe; Suzanne Richards, Treasurer; Wilma Kenworthy, Reporter; Jocella Bargars and Shirley Deitchle, Junior Planning Board members.

Mrs. Deitchle is the leader of the troop and Mrs. Griffiths is the assistant.

Rabbits Pay Off

By Arlen Watson

Bob Guyton, 11B, has an interesting and profitable hobby—raising rabbits.

He has from 250 to 300 various kinds and sizes. The largest, a Flemish Giant, weighs 19½ pounds. "They are fed on clover, corn, oats, pellets, and water," Guyton says.

The most important factor in this hobby is the money involved, which is acquired by selling the rabbits alive and dressed.

Bob started raising rabbits about four years ago and although they are on his grandfather's farm he spends as much time as possible with them.

The band couldn't get along without him. Bob plays a mean bass horn. His favor[illegible] is music and his favorite sport is football. Incidentally, girl, Bob has dark hair and dark eyes and is 16 years old.

THE ABOVE MAP shows the number of babies born in each State during 1942, according to Modern Medicine Magazine; table shows relative "productivity" in each State.

In spite of the largest number of births in the history of the U. S. during that year, 97.5% of white babies were delivered by a Doctor. Of total births, 92.6% were attended by a Physician. This remarkable record, in spite of war-time shortage of civilian Doctors.

Increased prenatal care, attendance at birth, and supervision the first few years by the Doctor, is definitely and constantly saving lives and improving the health of mother and child.

Worship In Churches Of The Hilltop

Immanuel Baptist Church Recognizes Services Of Lay Leaders And Teachers

By Rhoma Van De Mark

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first in a series of articles attempting to catch the spirit of worship in various churches of the Hilltop. They are written by Miss Rhoma Van De Mark, former employe of The Hilltop Record, now a student in the School of Journalism at Ohio State University. Other similar stories will follow from week to week.

Immanuel Baptist Church was the scene of an impressive recognition servcie Sunday when deacons of the congregation as well as the many church and Bible School workers were honored for their diligence to duty during the past year.

Although the board of the church has not yet had an opportunity to meet and select those persons to fill these jobs during the forthcoming year, it is expected that there will be few changes in personnel.

In keeping with the occasion, W. Howard Schoof, pastor at Immanuel Baptist, chose as his sermon tpoic, "Servants of the Lord," stressing that those persons so honored Sunday had fulfilled their tasks as "servants of the Lord" to the best of their ability.

A stranger in the audience at Immanuel Baptist Church undoubtedly notices several things about the service and congregation, the atmosphere of friendliness, the informality of the service, and how closely the church's policies parallel those written of in the Bible.

As Rev. Schoof stated, six deacons are chosen in his congregation after an interpretation of scripture in the New Testament to the effect that there should be in each church (or "body of believers") one to give general oversight, in this case, Rev. Schoof. In addition, according to verses in Acts 6, the early Apostles felt that there were so many tasks to fulfill that they could not adequately perform them all without aid. The deacons are elected for this reason.

Rev. Schoof's sermon doscribed the relationship between a "servant of the Lord" and (1) the Lord, (2) other servants, (3) the untaught ones, and (4) those who openly oppose workers of Christ.

He prescribed that the servant's relationship with the Lord is like that of a bond slave. No other god should be ahead of Christ. He should have an absolute priority and have first call upon an individual's life.

In a servant's relationship to ther servants of the Lord, there should be no strife. Theirs should be a two-fold priority to the Lord and to each other.

To the untaught ones, Schoof stressed patience and an aptitude for teaching, remembering at all times the unlearned one's limitations.

Finally, to those who openly oppose the word of Christ, he interpreted the Bible as saying that servants of the Lord should be "non-antagonistic, and in meekness, instruct those who oppose."

The zeal and enthusiasm of the Immanuel Baptist congregation is noteworthy. Members bring their own Bibles and follow the scripture as the pastor reads, in addition to attending Bible study prior to the regular worship hour.

The church architecture is unique in that the building resembles a residence outwardly with a wine-red metal canopy over the door. Inside, individual chairs are used instead of pews.

Predominating feature of the sanctuary is the arch centering the wall behind the pastor, where the baptismal font is located. A lovely mural of flowing river decorates the wall seen through the baptismal arch.

St. John Lutheran Church To Enlarge Basement Soon

Plans were outlined Sunday for an addition to the basement portion of St. John Lutheran Church, W. Broad-st at Hague-av. At the same time it was announced that a new oil-burning furnace was being installed. It is expected to be completed in four or five weeks.

According to the pastor, Rev. C. T. Langholz, the basement of the church will be extended south to add space approximately 43 by 92 feet. The financial campaign to raise funds for this work was launched Sunday. The basement enlargement project will cost approximately $32,000. Work is expected to start some time next year.

The new addition will be designed primarily for Sunday School use. It will provide an assembly room, space for a new kitchen and class rooms. The present basement will then be re-arranged to provide a lounge room for the ladies and a choir room.

Rev. Langholz explained that the addition to the building was just a step toward the ultimate enlargement of the worship auditorium that is expected eventually to extend over the new and old portions of the basement.

Revival Services To Start Sunday

A revival service will start at the Whitethorpe Church of Christ in Christian Union Sunday. Rev. G. H. Helyer, pastor of the church, will be the evangelist, with Rev. and Mrs. Frank Hunter of Portsmouth providing special music for all services.

Services are held nightly at 7:30. The public is invited.

Poster Contest Helps Publicize Holy Name Rites

Winners in the poster contest to publicize the Holy Name ceremony honoring "Christ the King" were announced today by judges who selected winners of first, second and third places in classifications for elementary and high school students. More than 1000 pupils entered the contest, conducted in parochial schools of the Diocese of Columbus.

In the high school group the winner of the $5.00 first prize was William Berks, 12th grade, St. Thomas Aquinas School, Zanesville. Second prize of $2 went to James Flynn, 12th grade, St. Vincent de Paul, Mt. Vernon, and third prize of $1.00 to Frances Jean Morock, who attends Sacred Heart Commercial in Columbus.

Preliminary contests were held in each of the schools of the Diocese. Three entries in each classification were forwarded for the final competition at Holy Name headquarters in Columbus where the winning posters are on exhibition. Posters forwarded to the Diocesan Union for judging which did not receive awards were sent to parishes and chapels not having schools, for the use of pastors who are publicizing the exercises at Red Bird Stadium Oct. 26.

Prizes of merchandise will be offered by various sporting goods stores, including a shotgun carrying case donated by the Hilltop Sporting Goods Co., 2461 W. Broad-st. The meet is scheduled to promote the safe and proper use of firearms by civilians of the county.

The Hilltop Record can be mailed to a friend, $1.50 per year anywhere in Franklin County.

Hilltop Hymn Sing To Be At Immanuel

Immanuel Baptist Church will be host to the bi-weekly Hilltop Hymn Sing Sunday evening at 9 o'clock.

Sponsored by the Hilltop Ministerial Association, the song service is held in a different church on the Hilltop every other week. The service follows the regular evening church program and is open to anyone who enjoys singing the old hymns.

Family Sunday Is Planned At Hillcrest

The Hillcrest Baptist Church, W. Broad-st at Eldon-av, has designated Sunday as family Sunday, the third Sunday in its Church Loyalty Month program. At this service every member of every family is asked to be present. Families are also being asked to sit together as a family.

The pastor of the church, Rev. J. Herbert Goewey, is announcing as his subject for this 10:30 o'clock service, "Building The Home With Christ." At this time Mr. Goewey will also have a story-sermon for the children.

MINISTERS TO MEET

The Hilltop Ministerial Association will meet Monday, Oct. 20, at 10 a. m. at the Hoge Memorial Church for the regular monthly business meeting.

Westgate Anniversary Will Be Sunday

Rev. Dutt

Westgate Evangelical United Brethren Church

Scheduled to address the 10:30 a. m. service is Dr. J. Gordon Howard, president of Otterbein College. Special music will be furnished by the choir. Rev. Harold Dutt is pastor of the church.

A fellowship anniversary dinner will be held in the basement of the church at 12 o'clock, followed by a note-burning service at 2 p. m. The Dorothy Humphreys Glee Club of 30 voices will sing for that service and Rev. C. D. Osborn, founder of the church, will be the speaker.

Regular evening services will be held at 7:30 o'clock.

Former Resident Seeks Place On School Board

Mrs. Jugel

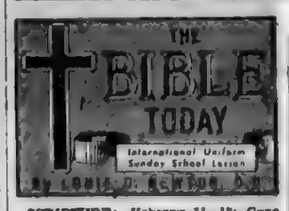
Running as an independent candidate for one of the places on the Columbus Board of Education at the Nov. 4 election is a former Hilltopper, Mrs. Mary K. Jugel.

At present she lives at 271 Brighton-rd. While a resident of the community she was active in PTA and other school affairs at West Broad Street School, where her daughter, Marcia, 14, was a pupil. She also has another daughter, Mary Franke, age 6. Her husband, H. N. Jugel, is manager of the mercantile claims division of Dun & Bradstreet, Inc.

At present Mrs. Jugel is a teacher in the Powell High School.

She has entered the race for school board because she feels she understands the problems of the parents; has experience in the school as a teacher, and is interested in the children. It is her belief that it is a challenge and a duty for a woman to serve in such a capacity.

The growing school population, says Mrs. Jugel, necessitates more buildings and smaller classes in order that we may get away from our present tendency to teach too much for average intelligence and allow more time for the individual needs of the fast or slow learning pupil.



Edgewood Chapel To Have Revival

The United Brethren Edgewood Chapel will hold revival services beginning Sunday, Oct. 19, and lasting through two weeks.

Rev. H. E. Harwood is the pastor of the chapel, and Rev. Herbert Householder will be the guest evangelist.

A Utah youth of 16 became discouraged trying to color a glossy photograph. He devoted all his spare time for two years to research. Now he has been granted three patents for photo-coloring chemicals, according to National Patent Council. His color solution is said to obtain exceptionally good results.

Creative Power of Faith

Lesson for October 19, 1947

Dr. Newton

THIS lesson takes us to the Westminster Abbey of the Bible—Hebrews, eleventh through the thirteenth chapters—to meditate for a season upon the valiant souls in the long ago who obtained a good report as they stood at the passage of destiny and sounded the trumpets of triumph, even the trumpets of faith.

The reader will be richly rewarded to stop right here and open his or her Bible and read these three chapters. Your attention will be riveted to the word, faith.

"Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen. For by it the elders obtained a good report. Through faith we understand that the worlds were framed by the word of God, so that things which are seen were not made of things which do appear." Hebrews 11:1-3.

A Journey to a New Land

I WANT the boys and girls to look at the passage which describes how Abraham, "when he was called to go out into a place which he should after receive for an inheritance, obeyed; and he went out, not knowing whither he went."

How could Abraham leave his pleasant situation in Ur? Through faith in God, and that alone. A memory verse is here suggested: "I will trust, and will not be afraid," Isaiah 12:2. Abraham might well have been afraid of unknown enemies, of disease, of poverty. Men do become afraid of these things, unless their faith is in God. But Abraham believed in God—had faith in God. And he went forth, holding the hand of God.

There is creative power in such a faith. Abraham discovered that every step he took was accompanied by God. He built altars. He talked with God, and God talked with him. Such will be the experience of every boy and girl who stakes his or her all upon implicit faith in God.

• • •

What Faith Can Do

INTERMEDIATES are considering what they will do with their lives. It is the vitally important period when they are wistfully considering a life career. This lesson would seem to clearly indicate that God has a purpose and plan for each life. He will reveal that plan to those who trust him for guidance. Faith in God at this point is absolutely essential if we are to live victoriously.

Read again the eleventh chapter of Hebrews and see how these heroes of faith in the long ago cast themselves wholly into the will of God for their lives. We can have no doubt about their ultimate success.

Parents and teachers are here reminded of their solemn responsibility in pointing intermediate boys and girls to the truth of Sunday's lesson. Life is too valuable, too fleeting, to be frittered away in purposeless drifting.

Faith is the bright shaft of God's presence and power to guide young people into his will. It is the unfailing light to direct their steps daily. It is the creative power to sustain them each step of the way.

• • •

This Power at Work

TAKE any one of the characters portrayed in these three chapters of Hebrews and see how faith in God produced men and women who changed the course of history.

Young people are interested in biography. I would commend to you the lives of the great men and women of modern times, who lived in the creative power of faith in God.

John Wesley, for example. There was a man whose life, when strangely warmed by the spirit of God, lifted England from the depths of secularism and set her feet once more on the highway of worthy achievement.

Martha Berry is another splendid example. Miss Berry devoted her life to God's will and purpose to open doors of opportunity to the under-privileged boys and girls of the southern mountain areas. Today, at Mt. Berry, stands a school with the largest campus in the world—a school which reveals what one life can accomplish when that life is built by the creative power of faith in the Living God.

"Take my life and let it be, Consecrated, Lord, to Thee."

Cowboys Down Aquinas 21 To 0; Face First Test At Polar Bear Field Friday

West Holds First Place In City Loop

The West High Cowboys made it five wins in a row by defeating Aquinas 21 to 0 at Magly Field Friday night before an estimated crowd of 6,000 fans. The score might easily have gone higher had Coach Mack Pemberton elected to play his first team more, but at the half he started his second stringers and did not use any of the first team during the last two quarters. West now occupies undisputed first place in the City League.

Of course Coach Pemberton had good reason for keeping his first team on the bench as much as possible. The all-important game with the North High Polar Bears is to be played at the North High field Friday night and the Cowboy mentor was taking no chances on additional injuries before that time.

The game took on something of an all-Hilltop color because of the large number of local boys on the Aquinas squad. It also came near setting a record for passes thrown. After it became evident that their running attack could not successfully penetrate the West forward wall, the Terriers took to the air. Aquinas completed 13 out of 29 passing attempts for a total of 152 yards. Three were intercepted.

Cowboys Complete 5

The Cowboys threw 17, completing five for a total of 90 yards, two touchdowns and three interceptions.

Aquinas held a 10 to 9 edge on first downs, but all but two of them were made against second or third team players. Fumbles were costly for the visitors.

The first Cowboy score came near the end of the first quarter after Bill Buckingham recovered Melchiorre's fumble on the Aquinas 25. Hutt went to the 29 but West was set back 15 yards for clinging. Walter Hicks picked up nine yards and then Jack Thrush dropped back from end to heave a forward that was completed to Buckingham in the end zone. Thrush kicked the extra point and the score was West, 7; Aquinas, 0.

The second score came shortly after the opening of the second canto. The Terriers were forced to punt when Curt Westerman got through, blocking the kick on the visitors' 15. Wilbur Ehlers went to the 12 and then failed to gain on a second try. Quarterback Jim Slager then threw to Buckingham in the end zone for the second West touchdown. Again Thrush's kick was good.

Weeks Blocked Kick

After failing to gain from their own 30-yard stripe, the Terriers again were forced to punt and this time big Chuck Weeks went in to block the kick, giving the Cowboys the pigskin on the 13.

Danny Miles made it first down on the 2 and then on the second try Jerry Chinn scored the touchdown. It was his first touchdown in almost three years of varsity ball. Again the toe of Jack Thrush was responsible for the the extra point and the score was West, 21; Aquinas, 0.

The pass defense set up by the West second and third stringers in the second half was ineffective as the Terriers took to the air to pile up yards and downs, thus always losing the ball short of the goal line. Penalties, intercentions or fumbles always rose to stop the advance. By the same token the Cowboy offensive looked as if it were ready to roll several times but always bogged down short of pay dirt.

Outland, DeCarlo, Allen, Cardi and Sweeney all took turns at throwing them in the final two periods. The game ended with West in possession of the ball exactly in midfield.

30 Scouters Take Training Course

Approximately 30 scouters of the Southwest District attended a one-night training course held last Wednesday night at the West Park Methodist Church.

Cy Rawlings was in charge of the affair, which was designed to be of help especially to new members of scout troop committees. The program was concluded with a dramatization of how a typical troop committee might conduct a meeting. It stressed the participation of various members of the committee in presenting reports of the work in their departments.

Coffee and donuts were served at the close of the meeting.

Overloading an electric circuit is poor practice for you burden the lines and choke off a measure of the electricity needed at each outlet. There should be a lighting branch circuit for every 500 square feet of floor area of the house.

Scenes From The Sidelines At The Aquinas-West Game

By Libby Downing

A black cat is supposed to bring one bad luck, but the little black Scottie dog that played around the field Friday night had the opposite reaction, because West won handily with Aquinas, 21-0.

Just before the game began, the senior and junior high bands came onto the gridiron, jointly forming a USA and playing the National Anthem.

The Bulldogs won the toss and received. George Hardy had put his "down marker" on the 36 yard line awaiting completion of the first play, and as luck would have it the play ended on the 36. He must be psychic!

Jerry Chinn's t. d. was his first in three years of varsity football. His teammates were as happy as he.

Harry Zulauf, West High business manager, and Irvin Young, Cowboy principal, were sporting their 10 gallon toppers Friday evening.

Bill Buckingham, brother of former West Hi athlete, Jack Buckingham, was captain for the night. Speaking of brother combinations, Jim Slager plays the same position and uses the same jersey (44) as his brother Dick, now q. b. for Ohio State. Johnny Masdea also handles the same position with the same number as his brother, Bruno, who played h. b. on the '46 squad, the only difference being that Johnny is on the Aquinas line-up!

The baseball stands again were put in use Friday, when bleachers on both sides of the field became crowded. Hundreds of persons encircled the fence for a better view.

At the half the West band formed a shamrock and played "Wearin' o' the Green" for the guests, along with their regular formations.

Never A Dull Moment Dept.—Friday night found us sitting rather "nervously" under the press platform. The stands were crowded, so down on all fours we went and crawled under the supporting side boards to a seat on the 50 yd. line. Every now and then the boards above us gave a tired sigh, but we were really lucky. The people behind us, in the higher rows, couldn't stand up, in fact they had to sit bent over, but the rafters above us were just right.

Some of the alumni present—Bob Schlegel and Ralph Watts, of last year's football squad; and John Prose, Ken Dickerson and Jaret Baker of the '46 Occident Staff.

Hilltop fellows on the Aquinas lineup were Falter, Sweeney, O'Neil, Hocker, Outland, Masdea and Murnane. (The game could almost be listed as Hilltop vs. Hilltop).

Here's hoping for next week's West-North game.

Basketball Gets Start At West

Although the football season is only half completed there is already much basketball activity on the agenda out at West High School. Last week three complete courts and one extra basket were installed on the playground just west of the school building where physical education classes can play out of doors.

The work of installing the baskets was done by C. F. Bateman and boys in his woodworking classes.

George Williams, basketball coach, said this week that basketball practice would get under way next Monday for all candidates not out for football this semester.

Approximately 120 boys took part in the intramural games just completed this week. Teams were made up from the group at large after captains were first selected rather than one room competing against another. Reserve lettermen from last year served as referees while student managers worked as scorekeepers.

None of the football or cross country candidates was eligible for the intramurals.

Legion Post Installs Officers

The Batdorf-Smith-Collins Memorial Post No. 667, American Legion, installed officers for the coming year Tuesday, at 8 p. m. in the Joyce Building, 245 N. Third-st.

William Harper is the new post commander. Vice commanders are Lowell Rinehart and William P. Wood. For chaplain, James R. Willis was installed. Post surgeon is Dr. William G. Meyer. Mary Tracey has been appointed the post adjutant. Several Hilltoppers are members of the post.

Water of 6 to 8 grains hardness was employed. Identical cloth swatches were impregnated uniformly with carbon black, tallow and various oils. Three washability tests were run on each machine and averaged. The ratio of washability to soap consumption was also determined for each machine.

And HERE'S HOW WE'LL PROVE IT TO YOU --
Starting Monday, Oct. 20th, WE WILL WASH YOUR SOILED CLOTHES ABSOLUTELY FREE, and we'll furnish the soap, too. This offer will be limited by our facilities and to one such demonstration per family. Call RA. 7965 now for appointment.

"Dio, Salva L'Italia"

By Mason R. Smith
(Copyright 1947 by the Author)

Rome, July 28

One of a series of government posters promoting investment in bonds for reconstruction shows a picture of a little girl in her night dress kneeling on her bed beside an open window, praying. The legend beneath the illustration reads "God, save Italy."

From Rome, with all its ancient monuments (of which the Romans are ever-conscious, with deep respect for history), the comfortable living in its excellent hotels and the abject poverty of its working people; to Naples with its parks, museums and pickpockets, its bus tours to Pompeii and Amalfi, and the amazing rehabilitation of its bombed-out hotel and harbor facilities; north again to Milan in Italy's industrial area with its reconstructed factories, its wealthy industrialists and its poverty-stricken working classes; the picture is fundamentally the same.

Indicative of the confusion resulting from the war, the dissolution of Mussolini's fascist state and the development of a republic are the 30 political parties, none of which has anything like majority support, and all of which —although their aims are similar —are suspicious of the others and hesitant to combine with any for fear of betrayal of their own principles.

In general, the people of Italy in all walks of life and of all political faiths except Communism, concede that Premier Alcide de Gasperi's government is a group of sincere men, genuinely interested in the rehabilitation and development of Italy and the welfare of her people. But it is a weak government — so weak that in spite of federal controls and rationing the black market flourishes as openly—and without apparent government interference—as any legal business enterprise in America.

Cigarettes — U. S. Navy sea stores and Army P. X., as well as packages bearing the U. S. government revenue stamps—are sold openly on little table stands on the sidewalks everywhere in Italy, at approximately 75c per pack. Theoretically the government controls the manufacture and distribution of tobacco and imposes a revenue tax. Under the open black market, however, the government is reputed to be losing 700,000,000 lire per day in potential revenue from cigarettes.

This is only one example. There are, theoretically, food controls which ration bread, meat, flour, etc. But the rations are so small that the average Italian buys on the black market, at highly inflated prices. This is true also of cloth used for making children's and adults' clothing—and most of that is home made, because ready made clothing is far too expensive.

The visiting American lives luxuriously because his dollars are worth anywhere from 500 to 700 lire—purchased again on an open black market. An American is constantly and openly approached on the streets with offers to buy dollars, always "at a good price." The legal rate of exchange, for commercial purposes, is 225 lire to the dollar, with a somewhat higher legal rate for tourists. The black market rates are published daily in the newspapers.

Thoughtful and well-informed Italians say that the government cannot "crack down" on black market operations in food because the present system of national food distribution, developed with the fall of fascism, the German occupation and the post-war period, is the black market. If this system folded up, it might mean starvation.

There is also the question of cost—to a government which, already overstaffed with personnel, cannot afford uniformed police and inspectors to check black market operations.

At the same time, a weak attempt is made to control food prices at the source. The controlled price for wheat at the farm is 4500 lire per quintal (200 pounds). But the cost of production is nearer 8000 lire per quintal—and the farmer can sell all he can hide from the government inspectors, at 30,000 lire per quintal on the black market. And France, Switzerland and Yugoslavia are in the black market, buying wheat for secret export. Thus government crop predictions, however accurately made, usually are high. The farmer always has a "poor crop."

In comparison with the cost of living—which means using the black market — wages are extremely low. Italy has been for years a three-class country, with a wealthy upper class, a reasonably well-to-do middle class, and a poor lower class. Now the upper class—represented by the industrialists (some of whom keep two sets of books, one for themselves, another for the government—some, indeed, who contribute privately to the Communist party in the hope that if Communism eventually takes over Italy, their own place will be secure) and the black marketeers—is very rich "with stacks of money," as several informed Italians told me; while the middle class is severely pinched between high living costs and low wages—and the working classes are reduced to the utmost poverty. It is a strange picture, this postwar Italy, with all its beauty and high living on the one hand, and working class families with no hope of relief—except that which comes from friends and relatives in America, through such agencies as C. A. R. E., the American Loyola Society, and the other U. S. relief organizations.

There are thousands of beggars, of all descriptions. In Rome one night I saw a grizzled man with almost sightless eyes, his clothes tattered and patched and patched again, carrying the still form of a child in his arms through the streets, begging for money. On the sidewalk near my hotel in Naples lay a woman, part of her face apparently blown off, the nose area red, infected and badly bandaged, her hands outstretched for money. These are only a few of the thousands of people, now professional beggars, pickpockets and thieves who have to resort to this kind of practice to live.

The reason for it is obvious when one realizes that the average Italian laborer receives as wages only 45,000 lire per month, plus one meal a day assured by his employer. A suit of clothes costs him 6,125 lire, a pair of shoes, 4,500 lire. A furnished room rents at 1,500 lire per month. One meter of woolen cloth—to be used for a coat or a suit—costs him 1,000 lire while cotton is priced at 250. He pays 750 lire for one kilogram (about two pounds) of sugar, 700 for one liter of olive oil. His living costs, all told, are so high that the 50 lire (less than 10c in American money) which he spends per day for bus or auto transportation is so large an expense that he goes without food and clothing to pay it. His average food consumption is about 1500 calories per day (2300 are essential to health).

The housing situation—serious because of normal population increases—has been aggravated by the war, which reduced a large number of housing units to complete ruin. Bombed out families which sought refuge in natural caves near the Roman Forum are still living there as squatters for lack of other accommodation. Some have even developed vegetable and flower gardens. In a pre-war resettlement project developed by Mussolini, I visited one typical working class family, nine in all, living in two rooms plus a small kitchen. One of these rooms was an addition to the house, constructed by the tenants themselves. No running water, no heat, no floors—a community lavatory and laundry for all occupants of the project.

The penury of the working classes provides good soil for Communism — "anything would be better than this."

Business is hampered by government restrictions, particularly in the export-import trade, for which federal licenses are required. In addition, business men developing dollar credit in the United States, by means of exports, are required to ear-mark 50 per cent of this for expenditure in Italy. The credit must be used within 60 days. Unless the business man is a large operator, handling various kinds of merchandise, he cannot use this credit. He can, however, sell it to the government or the other private firms—usually at a loss. The result is that the small business man is being forced out of the export-import market because he cannot afford a 50 per cent risk.

The paradox in the whole Italian situation is the amazing amount of reconstruction which has been completed. One sees it everywhere, and while the scars of war, bombed out buildings, shell holes, concrete building fronts chipped by gunfire, are still to be seen all over Italy, repairs and reconstruction are under way throughout the country. So much so that an American GI with whom I visited Anzio was unable to find his way around in this former battlefield which, after four months' living on the scene, he thought he knew well.

At the same time—in this country in which so many people seem to be interested more in their own profits than in the future welfare of the nation—there are some amazing examples of personal sacrifice. Among these is a former school teacher, injured in a bombing raid, who now conducts an orphanage set up by herself—and with little outside help—on the Tiberise Island in Rome, where she cares for some thirty little girls age one to five, all war orphans.

In this "Piccola Casa di San Antonio," as it is called, the children are well cared for—after being accepted in a near-starved condition, seriously affected by rickets, malnutrition and poor care. The average four-year-old child is undersize and underweight — more like a two or three-year-old in appearance.

Some assistance to Miss Cecilia Medici, the founder, is provided through public contributions in Italy; other aid comes from various American relief agencies. But she is constantly in need of funds. Disqualified for the teaching profession by reason of her injury, she contributes her own services—as she did the original funds to start the orphanage—because of her abiding love for children.

What Wendell Willkie called the "reservoir of good will" for America is running over at the brim in Italy, in deep appreciation for our part in a war of which most Italians did not approve, for our gifts of food and clothing, and for the efforts of our government to help in the rehabilitation of Italy, with no expectation of "something in return."

They like the "openness" of the Americans, the kindness and generosity of American GI's for small Italian children. They admire our productive capacity to "make anything", recalling that most of the coal burning locomotives now in use on Italian railroads were made in and transported from the United States.

In comparison, they dislike the British, whom they regard as snobbish, treacherous and out to get something for themselves in everything they do for other people. They dislike the French for their attempt to "parade as conquerors" when Italy fell, "while everyone knew the French themselves threw down their arms and fled before the Germans."

One young middle class Italian who works in an airlines office in Rome discussed politics with me for hours at the ocean beach one Sunday afternoon at Fregene, near Rome. We talked about fascism and Mussolini and the present republic. Finally, he said: "You see, I was born under fascism and grew up under it. You are an American. Please tell me, what is democracy?"

Four Stores On The Hilltop

Columbus Plastics Products Company One Of Hilltop's Newest Industries

Located in a beautiful wooded section on the south side of Mound-st, just west of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks, is one of the Hilltop's newest industrial firms. It is the Columbus Plastics Products Co., located at 2625 W. Mound-st.

Still considered in the small factory class (it employs about 150 persons), the plant is the latest word in scientific design. This modern trend carries over into the program of personnel relations.

Walking back through the well-lighted manufacturing area, a visitor may be surprised to hear soothing music come from loud speakers scattered throughout the plant. Cleanliness is in evidence everywhere, it being essential to the manufacture of colored plastic items.

The manufacture of plastic items is an interesting operation to watch. Plastic raw materials in small crystal form are fed into a hopper over the large injection molding presses. Here the material is heated to a liquid. At the proper temperature, the liquid is forced (injected) under pressure into the molds. A cooling device quickly reduces the temperature and the molded item is lifted out of the press. Finishing operations are required to remove rough edges on some items. Others are ready for the shipping crates as they come from the presses.

Keny Heads Firm

George Keny, president of the company, in conducting the tour, said that these presses range in price from $6,000 to $25,000, depending on the size of the machine. At present 12 presses are in operation and they are worked a full three shifts. A 13th is to be installed soon. Other departments work only one shift per day.

The firm had its beginning back in 1938 when the first plant was started with only three employees. A graduate of Harvard University, Keny had worked for another plastics firm before going in business for himself. During the war there was a tremendous demand for plastic items and the firm expanded as much as quarters permitted. It was formerly located on Dublin-av.

The present plant was just occupied a few months ago. It provides 50,000 square feet of floor space, including offices. Mr. Keny, who lives at 2070 Wilson-rd, said that the seven-acre tract with all improvements is valued at between $400,000 and $500,000.

The finished products go into every state and Canada, in addition to some export trade. About 75 per cent of the plant's production goes into finished merchandise. The other 25 per cent is devoted to custom molding for other manufacturers.

Right now one of the items most in demand around Columbus is a plastic egg tray for storing eggs in the refrigerator. Other finished items include clothes hangers, silverware trays, clothes pins, clothes line reels, mixers, measuring cups, napkin holders, bathroom fixtures, towel racks, etc.

George Kelly, 3292 Wicklow-rd, is plant superintendent.

Model Builders Eligible For $65,000 In Prizes In Craftsman's Contest

An expanded program for young model builders, with added emphasis on the designing and building of miniature automobiles, was announced this week by the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild for 1948.

The Guild, now in its 18th year, will devote the 1948 program entirely to creation of what youths of today believe a motor car should be. Heretofore youths have had a choice between building a model car or a Napoleonic coach. Officials revealed, however, that the coach is being eliminated this year on recommendation of school superintendents who constitute the Guild's advisory board.

Archer announced that a total of $65,000 in awards will be offered to youths throughout the nation who build the best model cars. This includes eight university scholarships for national winners and 686 awards for state winners. In addition there will be 40 trips to the national Guild convention for regional winners. Competition again will be in two age classifications, 12 through 15 and 16 through 19, with identical awards in each.

The top university scholarships, one senior and one junior, are $4,000 each. The other six are $3,000, $2,000 and $1,000. Top state awards in each division are $150. Second and third places in each state receive $100 and $50, respectively, and there are also four honorable mention awards of model builders' tool chests in both age groups.

In order to give more youths an opportunity to attend the national Guild convention and compete for the scholarships, the country is being divided this year into 20 regions, with the junior and senior regional winners from each receiving expense-free convention trips. Last year there were nine regions.

The competition will close next July 1.

Council Refused To Consider New Amendments

The following remarks of George Tarbutton, candidate for city council, were made before the Property Owners' Association in a meeting Oct. 10:

"The present city council will solve the city's financial problem by just one method. Their only answer is new taxes upon the citizens of the City of Columbus. This is apparent from their refusal even to consider the proposed charter amendment to place all fiscal controls and operations, except those now vested in the city treasury, in a single department to be administered by a director of finance.

"This charter amendment was proposed by the independent and non-partisan Citizens' Tax League. The proposed amendment would abolish the office of city auditor, and establish a department of finance, and place all fiscal controls and operations of the city under the new department. The proposed amendment was not even considered by your present city council upon the flimsy pretext that it was not submitted in time for council to consider it fully before permitting the voters of the city of Columbus to vote upon the amendment in the coming municipal election.

"City council saw that the abolition of the office of city auditor would destroy all too soon the soft political jobs in that branch of the city administration. City council refused to pass a law that would require efficiency and economy in the operation of city government and prefers waiting until after the fall election when it will pass new tax levies that will bring in greater revenue and thereby eliminate the present financial problem. We all know that new tax levies are no solution to the problem. More revenue to the city means that the city will have increased expenditures. There will be a new tax levy right after election unless the present members of city council are defeated in November."

Harvey Maxwell, 25, of 88 N. Yale-av, and William Crowell, 26, of 795 W. Rich-st, were injured last week when the motorcycle on which they were riding collided with an auto. Thomas W. Parlett and his wife, Mary, 44, of 794 S. Sixth-st, occupants of the car, received minor cuts and bruises.

The accident happened at Livingston-av and Sixth-st.

Better Roads Group Favors Gas Tax Money for Highways

The Ohio Committee for Better Roads and Streets, a group of far-sighted business and professional men, has banded together with the sole purpose of helping maintain and improve the state, county and township road and street system. In so doing the committee is of the opinion that nothing should be permitted to interfere with holding the post-war tourist trade, an important segment of Ohio's economy.

"In colorful travel folders, Ohio may not be listed as one of the greatest vacation spots in the nation, but it does rank fourth in retail expenditure of the travel dollar," James G. Daly, past supreme councilor of the United Commercial Travelers, said today.

"The United States Travel Bureau estimates that Ohio stores, hotels, garages, filling stations, restaurants and professions receive annually some $366,000,000 from the tourist trade," he said.

1500 Conventions

Then on top of that Ohio acts as host each year to some 1,500 conventions, a third of which are of national scope. Each of these attracts from 200 to 25,000 visitors who spend an estimated $40,000,000 in between passing resolutions and attending to other official business.

Ohio's geographical position with relation to the Great Lakes and the mountains to the south causes its roads to be a channel for practically all of the East-West automobile traffic. At the same time the four principal U. S. routes crossing the state from north to south with their points of origin in the heavily populated industrial and resort centers in the Great Lakes basin cause a continual flow of up and down state traffic.

Large and medium cities in Ohio are located almost uniformly over the state, requiring high usage of the road net. However, a state highway traffic flow map shows the heaviest traffic on U. S. 30 from Ashtabula to the Indiana state line and on U. S. 40 from St. Clairsville to Dayton.

With the ravages of war taking its toll on the Ohio highway system, the state will be hard pressed to maintain its position as "Gateway to the West" unless its road net can be maintained, repaired and rebuilt along with a vast amount of new planned construction, according to highway officials.

However, with costs mounting almost daily for highway construction, these same officials are sorely pressed for means with which to hold the tremendous tourist traffic. Today it costs 62.8 per cent more to construct a mile of paved road than it did in 1941. This does not take into consideration the cost of bridge construction, and Ohio has 9,691 bridges of which number 2,488 need immediate rebuilding. By the same token there are 87,106 culverts in Ohio, half of which are considered too narrow for present day traffic conditions.

The Ohio Committee for Better Roads and Streets, realizing full well the strain on the coffers of the state highway department in improving and maintaining the roads and streets, is following in the footsteps of 19 other states in sponsoring a constitutional amendment at the coming November election which would prohibit the use of gasoline and motor vehicle license taxes for any other purpose except for highways and streets.

The committee's sole thought is that taxes paid by users of highways and streets should be used wholly for the maintenance and improvement of those same roads and streets.

4th Mum Show Attracts Many

Mayor James A. Rhodes will formally open the city's Fourth Annual Mum Show on Friday, Oct. 17. This will be the largest mum show the city has yet had. More than 15,000 plants are being planted in the flower beds around the city hall and many new varieties are being shown, among them being two varieties which will have their world premiere.

Among the many features of the show will be an indoor flower show in which more than 40 local florists will participate, with elaborate displays of cut and potted flowers and outdoor landscaping displays by more than 20 of the better nurseries in and around Columbus.

Mayor Rhodes said that while the chrysanthemum had its origin in the Far East, today Ohio is the leading state in the growing and propagation of mums and it is only fitting that Columbus, as Ohio's capital city, should give recognition to this fact by its mum shows, which are already famous through the country and attract visitors from all over Ohio. The mayor added that invitations to attend the show are being sent to nearby cities.

In addition, there will also be the annual art exhibit sponsored by the Columbus Art League.

Annexation Plan Dropped By Council

Columbus City Council last week repealed a recent ordinance calling for annexation of seven industrial areas adjacent to the city. One of the areas affected was a section directly west of the city, including the Fisher Body-Ternstedt plant.

The action followed a Common Pleas Court enjoinder on the Board of Elections from holding an annexation vote Nov. 4. Council decided not to fight court action any further.

The court ruled that annexation proceedings do not begin until after a favorable vote has been taken and issued a temporary restraining order against the Board of Elections banning a vote under the old law, which required only a majority approval in the area to be annexed. The new law specifies that all voters in a given township shall vote on annexation of any part of that township.

Still pending in the area west of the Hilltop is the matter of a special election to determine the preference of residents there on whether or not a separate Village of Camp Chase shall be set up. Backers of this plan have been trying unsuccessfully to get the township trustees to call for the special election. Township officials have contended that it is not within their jurisdiction to call for such a vote. The matter is now in the Franklin County Common Pleas Court after having once gone to the Ohio Supreme Court.

For Snug Skirt Fit

If your skirts droop at the back and you've tried to find a way to compensate for the hollow in your back, here's the remedy:

Take an extra nine-inch length of belting and pin it firmly to the center of the back of your skirt belting. Baste the belting toward the side seams, gradually tapering the double piece until it is flush with the skirt belt. Machine-stitch the two pieces together at the edge and cut away the surplus belting.

Legality Of City Acts Challenged By W. H. Dailey

The "Clem Owens incident" and the attempted illegal annexation are typical of the Rhodes administration, declared W. Herbert Dailey, Democratic candidate for mayor, in a blast this week at current laxness at City Hall.

"That bunch at City Hall makes a mistake like letting a police officer go on leave to work at Beulah Park and at the same time they are crying about our undermanned police department. Then they don't correct it until the press points out that it is wrong," Mr. Dailey, former president of City Council, asserted.

"When Democrats were in Council, we checked the legality of an act before we moved. We used the city law department. We got their opinions. The Rhodes gang knew this annexation violated the law — but they went right ahead anyway," Mr. Dailey asserted.

This has been the policy of the Rhodes administration from the very start—go ahead illegally until the press, public opinion or the courts call a halt, he said

"The voters will put a halt to this entire illegal operation when they elect me mayor Nov. 4," Mr. Dailey declared.

Pressure Saucepan Saves Time And Fuel

In a comparatively short time the pressure saucepan has won an assured place in farm kitchens, according to Laura Dailey, in an article in one of the best known farm magazines.

It saves time and fuel. Many different foods may be prepared in a pressure saucepan: It is particularly good for those which need long cooking. "Pressure cooking," Miss Dailey says, "preserves food value, color and flavor."

A few rules of operation are important:

1.—Never fill the pan more than two-thirds full.

2.—Be sure that steam flows steadily from vent before you close it.

3.—Wait until weight or pressure control jiggles or hisses or cooking indicator is at right position to your directions before you start counting time. Then reduce the heat and let cook for specified time.

4.—Reduce the pressure as each recipe indicates.

5.—After pressure is reduced, be certain to remove the weight, or lift the pressure control, before removing cover.

Some farm women are doing a limited amount of canning in their pressure saucepans, Miss Dailey points out.

Ice Box Raids Sure With Fruit Punch

You can be sure that the refrigerator and cookie jar will get raided often if you keep frosty fruit punch and crunchy cookies on tap.

Here is a recipe for a tangy, thirst-quenching fruit punch:

Minted Ade

½ c. light corn sirup
¼ c. water
6 stalks fresh mint
3 tbsp. lemon juice
2½ c. grapefruit juice
2 c. ginger ale

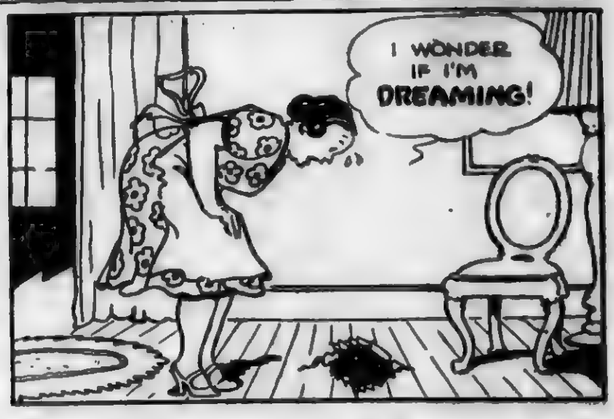
Boil corn sirup and water together for three minutes. Remove tips from mint stalks and crush the stalks in the hot sirup. Add tips and let stand for 30 minutes; strain. Add lemon juice and grapefruit juice; chill thoroughly. Pour over ice in tall glasses. Add ginger ale just before serving. Garnish with mint. Serves six.

Foot Mat Also Rings Door Bell

An Ohio mushroom grower worried about the mud and dirt carried into his plant on the shoes of employees and visitors. Scientific growing of mushroom requires meticulous cleanliness.

So he invented an automatic contrivance that wipes your shoes for you! When you step in front of someone's front door it will clean the soles of your shoes, turn on the porch light and ring the door bell.

The door mat is installed flush with the porch floor. It goes into operation when pressure is applied to the grill work. The pressure, which can be regulated to wipe even Fido's feet after his outdoor romp, starts a quarter horse-power motor which sets in motion the wipers protruding above the grill. Dirt wiped from shoes sifts down through the grating into a receptacle connected with the sewer.



A heating unit and thermostat keeps the gadget free of ice and snow during the winter.

Legality Of City Acts Challenged By W. H. Dailey

The "Clem Owens incident" and the attempted illegal annexation are typical of the Rhodes administration, declared W. Herbert Dailey, Democratic candidate for mayor, in a blast this week at current laxness at City Hall.

"That bunch at City Hall makes a mistake like letting a police officer go on leave to work at Beulah Park and at the same time they are crying about our undermanned police department. Then they don't correct it until the press points out that it is wrong," Mr. Dailey, former president of City Council, asserted.

"When Democrats were in Council, we checked the legality of an act before we moved. We used the city law department. We got their opinions. The Rhodes gang knew this annexation violated the law — but they went right ahead anyway," Mr. Dailey asserted.

This has been the policy of the Rhodes administration from the very start—go ahead illegally until the press, public opinion or the courts call a halt, he said

"The voters will put a halt to this entire illegal operation when they elect me mayor Nov. 4," Mr. Dailey declared.

Underman Gets First Ride

Jack Underman, 212 S. Burgess-av, basketball star, seriously injured in an auto accident last summer, gets the first ride in Jerry Spears' brand new 1948 Packard straight ambulance. Jack is shown being loaded into the ambulance at his home to be taken to Children's Hospital for heat treatments. He makes this trip every other day.

Underman had both legs badly crushed two months ago when an auto crashed into the back of his stalled car that he was attempting to push after the battery had failed. He is reported to be showing satisfactory recovery.

Spears Buys New Ambulance

The first 1948 model ambulance of its type was put into service two weeks ago by Spears Funeral Home, 2693 W. Broad-st. Built by the Henney Motor Car Co., it is powered with a 165-horsepower Packard engine.

It is described as offering a new high in riding comfort for the patient and is completely equipped with inhalator and first aid facilities. It is designed to handle two stretcher cases at a time by removal of chairs at the side.

Rear windows are constructed of a material that permits the patient to look out but is protected from the stares of passersby who cannot see into the ambulance. Windows are hydraulicly controlled.

Telephone facilities will be installed in the very near future.

Municipal Court Cases Increasing

Oct. 7 set an all time high with 73 new cases filed in the municipal court, according to P. W. Spence, clerk. Eviction cases filed in September represented an increase of 29 per cent over the number filed a year ago and 74 have been filed up to Oct. 7. There seems to be no decrease in this type of cases.

Account cases have increased 34 per cent over the same period of last year and for the first week in October, 97 such cases have been filed. Damage cases are showing an increase of 50 per cent over the same period of 1946. In the criminal division there has been the least change, according to Spence. In September, 1946, there were 1436 cases in which fines and costs collected were $19,725.00 and in September, 1947, there were 1511 cases with fines and costs of $20,841.00. The efficiency in the office has been greatly improved by changing the filing of case records from the old pocket envelope system to the flat file system, this system of filing being considered the latest and best method of filing court records, and is being adopted by all the leading courts, Spence says.

Since installing this new system, Mr. Spence has been highly complimented by the court and members of the Bar Association.

In spite of the increased business of the office, it is operating with four fewer employes than in 1945 when he assumed office, and all records are up to date.

Buttons Produce Pretty Effects

Do it with buttons. You can add a decorative note to your pretty hand-made dresses by using buttons skillfully. Sleeves are adorned with tiny buttons to all attention to interesting new designs. When you make leg-of-mutton sleeves—full at top and tapered at the wrist—use several tiny buttons to make the wristline tight and attractive.

If you're making a shirtwaist dress reminiscent of the early '20 fashions, buttons will come in handy again. Tiny sparkling white pearl buttons may be used up and down the front in a series of two's or three's. Try this effect and notice how much enchantment buttons will lend to the front of your shirt-waist blouse or frock.

Just as they did in the early Gibson-girl days, buttons are being used to grace the longer hemlines. What a foil this can be! For example, if you own a dark woolen skirt that just isn't long encugh to meet this year's length standards, try this rejuvenating trick. Let the hemline down and face it. To hide the crease of the old hemline, use rows of small matching buttons.

The color thread you use to sew the buttons can add a decorative touch too. If you are using four-hole buttons, use a color thread that contrasts with the color of the dress. And crisscross the treads or parallel them for more distinction. Sew the threads in the four-hole buttons so as to give a flower effect. Do this by radiating the threads from one hole to the other three holes.

Newest Hat Styles Raise A Question

The question most women are posing to fashion experts this fall is: "How shall I wear my hair?" And they have a right to ask that question too. The new head-hugging hats demand a new hair-do, if not a new hair length.

If you're smart, you won't be too hasty about abbreviating your hair length. At least not for a while, don't cut it. Fashion might change her mind again soon. Meanwhile, arrange your hair-do so it will look shorter.

A twist of the wrist can make a long page-boy bob appear as a stylish bun. And don't raise your eyebrows about the bun idea. That's just another fashion of yesterday being adopted by today's fashion experts.

Apply Make-Up Sparingly

Thick coats of make-up are not in order during a heat wave. Apply make-up sparingly. A thin smoothly applied coat of make-up gives a fresh appearance.

Can You Have Gas Heat?

We quote from the present restriction order issued by the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio:

"Present users of gas heating equipment may replace it with new equipment through a dealer, heating contractor or utility, providing the new equipment does not exceed the gas consumption of the equipment replaced. If the dealer or heating contractor is satisfied that these conditions are met, he need not secure the approval from anyone."

Hilltop Will Get Local Branch 'Y'

Approval Of Local Center Voted By Metropolitan Board Tuesday

The Hilltop is to have a branch YMCA.

This was decided at a meeting of the Metropolitan YMCA Committee held Tuesday noon. The action came only a week after the petition was submitted to Harry Spyker, executive secretary of the central YMCA, by Dr. C. O. Cramer, chairman of the Hilltop Recreational Committee. It bore the endorsement of 39 organizations and prominent individuals in the community.

Mr. Spyker's statement following the Tuesday meeting was as follows:

"The board passed a resolution that the general board record its approval of the establishment of a West Side Branch "Y" and that the general executive and chairman of the program committee be authorized to work with the West Side committee in conjunction with the Council of Social Agencies and the Community Chest to get this branch established."

According to Mr. Spyker, the board was impressed with the thoroughness with which the local committee did its work in laying the ground work for "Y" officials.

Turn to Page 4B of today's Hilltop Record and read the editorial entitled "Y" Is Citywide in Character. This editorial was written before the central board had voted its approval of the local project.

The need for some type of recreational center on the Hilltop was first brought to public attention almost a year ago by The Hilltop Record. At a meeting of the Hilltop Business Association in December of last year, Jerry Spears, Sr., presented a brief outline for a community-wide center and recommended that a committee be named to explore the idea further. First steps in this direction were taken by the Civic Committee of the association.

Meetings Held

After considerable discussion among business and civic leaders it was thought best to discuss the matter publicly as a recreational group with no direct affiliations with any local body but representative of all Hilltop interests. A series of general meetings finally resulted in the naming of the Hilltop Recreational Committee for the purpose of studying the matter with the idea of recommending a course of action. Named to this group with Dr. Cramer as chairman were Rev. Al J. Weld, pastor of Hope Memorial Church; H. G. Deems, secretary of the Hilltop office of the First Federal Savings & Loan Association; Jerry Spears, Sr., of the Spears Funeral Home, and C. Carlton Hartley, publisher of The Hilltop Record.

Conferences were held with Mr. Spyker concerning the possibility of a branch "Y" that eventually resulted in the committee's recommending that course of action. The idea has met with almost unanimous approval of Hilltop groups as expressed by letters of endorsement that were sent to the committee in recent weeks.

Just how rapidly the project will move from now on is not known. Mr. Spyker said that meetings would follow with the Council of Social Agencies and officials of the Community Chest. The Chest budget for the new year, now being raised, does not provide for the local branch.

Suburbs Will Get Sewers And Water

Plans to extend sanitary and water services to areas surrounding the Hilltop are rapidly taking shape, it was learned this week from county and city officials.

George Matson, 87 N. Warren-av, one of the county commissioners, said that residents of Josephine-av, just west of the city limits, have petitioned that board for a sanitary sewer to be tied into the new trunk sewer line on Sullivant-av. The petitions bore the names of 78 per cent of the property owners on the street, Matson said.

The commissioners have ordered the county sanitary department to make a complete survey of the sanitary needs of the area west of the city possibly extending north of W. Broad-st in an effort to formulate a program for that section. They have suggested that other groups in that area prepare petitions for the service.

Frank Fitzgerald, an engineer in the county sanitary department, said that a public hearing would be called to discuss the matter after the survey has been made. Any persons objecting to this improvement will have an opportunity to be heard at that time.

Fitzgerald said the proposed sanitary line would take care of pollution now getting into the lake in Westgate Park and a stream that drains that section. He said that once the sewer becomes available, the county board of health would take steps to compel all dwellings in the district where septic tanks or cleanable vaults are now in use, to make use of the sanitary facilities.

Rome Project Being Figured

Matson said that an accurate cost estimate is now being made on the Rome Sewer Project, placed before county officials several weeks ago. This estimate will show the exact cost, above all easements to be paid by the county, to every property owner in the area west, including Rome New Rome and other subdivisions. This will show every one concerned just how much his share of the project is to cost.

"You can quote me as saying that the Rome Project is going through," Matson told The Hilltop Record in an interview this week.

Opposition to the plan thus far has been spearheaded by Judge Edward Turner, owner of considerable acreage through which the proposed sewer would have to run. He has maintained that cost of the improvement would be "confiscatory."

Extension of city water mains was being completed in the Brown Road sector this week. Lines were already down from the Greenlawn Cemetery office south on Brown-rd to Garling-av; along Garling-av and Withers-av. A line will also go west on Humphrey-av.

Two large water mains, one running southwest along the Harrisburg-pk to Big Run-rd, and another south on Brown-rd to Hart-rd, are now being planned and it is believed that work will be under way in time for completion by early next summer, Fitzgerald said. Engineering on this project is now under way and a public hearing will also be set for residents of that area as soon as the study is completed.

A large sanitary sewer will service the same general area but its course has not yet been determined, according to county officials. This trunk sewer will be constructed with money taken from the bond issue passed in 1945.

West Coaches, Wives Off To See Browns

Pictured in Union Station Sunday morning just before they boarded a special train for Cleveland were the above members of the West High School coaching staff, other faculty members and their wives. They were among the Hilltoppers who made up a special West High Boosters' car for the trip to see Paul Brown's pro football team defeat the Chicago Rockets in the Municipal Stadium.

Shown in the picture are Irvin F. Young, West Principal, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Pemberton, George Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Randall, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Heischman, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Glass, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Lehman, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bateman, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bennett, Miss Ellen McCormick and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Deubner (not members of the faculty).

The faculty members and their wives were guests of the West High Boosters Club. Money for the football party for those connected with the athletic program at West was raised by selling ads on a special football page that appeared in The Hilltop Record and was not taken from the general treasury, officers of the club said.

Plans Program For Anniversary At West Gate

Dr. Turner

A burning of the mortgage of West Gate Temple, 2925 W. Broad-st, will highlight the 34th anniversary celebration tonight of the founding of West Gate Masonic Lodge No. 623.

Dr. L. B. Turner, 1530 W. Broad-st, one of the 37 charter members in 1913 and the first master of the lodge, is chairman of the anniversary celebration. Carqil Vance is the present master.

A dinner at 6 p. m. will be held for all the charter members and the present officers of the lodge. This will be the first chance in several years for a reunion of the remaining charter members, and Dr. Turner hopes that all who are able will come.

The regular meeting for all lodge members will begin at 7:30. In addition to the mortgage burning ceremony the Third Degree in Masonry will be conferred on Jack Fox, son of Dr. T. S. Fox, a charter member of the lodge.

Past officers of the lodge and present state officers have been invited to the anniversary celebration and will be called on to speak.

The West Gate Lodge was chartered on Oct. 28, 1913. Other groups at the West Gate Temple include West Gate Chapter No. 216, Royal Arch Masons; West Gate Council No. 129, Royal and Select Masters; and Robert Morris Chapter No. 272, Order of Eastern Star.

Gilbert Buckingham, 171 S. Terrace-av, was elected president of the West High Boosters Club at an election of officers held at the school Tuesday night. He succeeds Richard (Dick) Francis.

The Boosters are currently preparing for a paper drive on Sunday afternoon. Phillip Stout, attorney at 2502 W. Broad-st, is serving as chairman of the drive. Workers are asked to report to West High School at 11 a. m. to get assigned to a crew of workers.

Serving as dispatchers of the truck will be Gilbert Buckingham and Dave Randall. The food committee is headed by Harry Hershberger with Harold Beitel, Christy Cromwell, Wes Edstrom and K. M. (Slim) Elder assisting.

Stout pointed out that all Booster members are invited to come out and lend a hand during the afternoon. Several more trucks could also be used to good advantage, he said.

Residents of the community are asked to have their waste paper (tied in bundles) at the curb or on their porch ready for one of the trucks to pick up.

Other Booster officers are Lee Weigand, vice-president; Phillip Stout, treasurer; and Robert Case, secretary.

An important meeting of Boosters is called for Tuesday night at 7:30 at Room 101 at West High School.

Those elected to the board of directors were Bob Chrisman, Bill Coon, Paul Leighninger, Newt Francis, Jack Sensenbrenner, Ed Walker, Harold Beitel, John Kuhn, Jack Buckingham, Charles Weigand, Ray Maxwell and Dick Francis. Two members of the West faculty will be selected by this board.

Butler Insurance Is New Business On The Hilltop

One of the newest businesses on the Hilltop is the Butler Insurance Service at 2334 W. Broad-st, which opened less than one month ago.

The business, owned and operated by Charles Butler, a former Hilltopper and retired police patrolman, is a continuation of the same work which he had operated in his home for eight years previously.

Butler served on the Columbus Police Force for eight years, retiring in 1941 through disability. He is active in the Sportsmen's Club.

"Flowers of the Week" To Be New Weekly Feature Carried in Hilltop Record

The Hilltop Record, in cooperation with the Rosebud Floral Co., 361 N. Burgess-av, is pleased to announce a new weekly feature for the Record to be known as "Flowers of the Week."

Effective today and each week thereafter a special gift of a beautiful bouquet of flowers will be given to the person or organization designated in the "Flowers of the Week" department of the Spectator column on page one of the Record.

The flowers will be a gift from the Rosebud Floral Co., in cooperation with the Record, and will go to the organization or person deserving of special recognition, as carried in the news of the week.

Leo McComb, manager of the Rosebud Floral Co., is rapidly improving from severe injuries received in a recent auto accident, and is now devoting his time to his business again. He assures the public his firm is in a position to give good service and finest flowers for all occasions.

Watch for "Flowers of the Week" each Thursday in the Spectator column.

Forsythia Bloom In October

Unseasonal Indian Summer weather continued to bring forth flowering shrubs on the Hilltop this week. Photographer Ray Gaugler caught this picture of Mrs. T. S. Fox examining a forsythia bush that is blooming for the second time this year in her back yard.

Others in the community reported iris, violets, fruit trees and other shrubs in bloom in recent days.

Window Decorating Will Feature Hallowe'en Party

A mammoth Hallowe'en party will be held at West High School on Oct. 31, the night of the West-East football game. The party will be sponsored by the Hilltop Community Council with Charles Reichelderfer, chairman of the special events committee, in charge.

The community-wide Hallowe'en celebration will start a few days before Halloween with a store window decorating contest sponsored by the Hilltop Kiwanis Club, under the leadership of Woody Clark, owner of Westgate Pharmacy.

Grammar school and high school students will be furnished with the necessary materials to decorate the windows, and prizes will be awarded for the various classes.

Practically all business houses on the Hilltop have already put in their bids to have their windows decorated.

200 Took Part Last Year

Last year more than 200 youngsters entered this contest, with prizes awarded, to Robert Janes, Dorothy Robinson, Dick Cosgray, Dorothy Swartz, Marlyn Gauggle, Betty and Mary Earnest, and Dorothy Yon.

Entry blanks are being distributed to all of the schools.

Jerry Jeroux and Betty Rush, supervisors at the Glenwood Shelter House, will assist the Hilltop Community Council at the celebration on Halloween Night. Glenwood will be closed on that evening.

Dancing, jitterbug contests, costume awards, and election of a Hilltop Halloween Queen will feature the night's festivities in the gymnasium. William Coon, Hilltop Business Association member, will supervise these events.

Movies To Be Shown

A program in the auditorium will include movies, a dancing show, and the awarding of prizes in the window painting contest.

The West Unit Blue Star Mothers' group will again sponsor fortune-telling, which has proved to be one of the biggest attractions of the past two Halloween celebrations.

Parent-teacher organizations of the Highland Avenue, John Burroughs, West Broad and Mound Street schools will sponsor the popular fish-pond and cake walk. Refreshments will be served by the West High PTA.

Assisting in the supervision of the entire program will be members of the West High Boosters Club.

TRANSYLVANIA STUDENT

Howard W. Ditrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allyn Ditrick, 125 N. Wayne-av, has enrolled at Transylvania College, Lexington, Ky., as a senior. Ditrick, a graduate of West High School, is majoring in religion.

Judge Cecil J. Randall will be chairman of the meeting and will introduce the candidates and speaker.

Numerous door prizes of considerable value will be provided and each person attending will be given free tickets on the prizes. No admission will be charged. A full program of entertainment features is being lined up and will be announced next week.

An invitation to the public to attend this meeting is being extended by Henry Koontz, 10th Ward committeeman, and George Sinclair, 11th Ward committeeman.

Two more report meetings are scheduled for next week. They will be held at 12 noon Tuesday and Thursday at the Southern Hotel. The Thursday meeting has been designated as Women's Day and will honor the 1500 women workers of the Chest. Women from all five residential divisions are urged to attend.

"Y" Approval Is Good News For Hilltop

Announcement this week that the Central YMCA has approved the establishment of a Hilltop YMCA is good news for this community.

There has long been the need of a program of properly supervised recreation and instruction for both young people and adults. It is our sincere belief that the establishment of the "Y" is the answer to that problem.

Approval of the project by the central committee, however, is merely the beginning. To determine the need of the project and to have the public say they will support it is one thing. To get this support in effort and financial contributions is another.

In the months ahead there will be lots of work to be done and many hours of voluntary services on the part of Hilltoppers will be required. It is hoped there will be a ready response to this appeal when it is made.

The committee will now take up the task of organization and in weeks to come there should be some wheels turning in the direction of the realization of a "Y" program here.

We believe we are safe in extending to the central committee a big "Thank you," from the Hilltop public, and a further pledge that this community stands ready to back this program 100%.

Koontz Closes Out Pharmacy Business Here

Koontz Drugs, corner of Eureka-av and Sullivant-av, is closing up shop following an auction sale held at the store Tuesday morning.

Henry Koontz, 485 Hilltonia-av, a member of City Council, has operated the store. He explained that loss of his lease and inability to find a new location for his business led him to close out his stock of merchandise and quit business. He would not reveal his plans for the future although he did admit that he had offers of five different positions.

The sales tax agency held by Koontz will be continued at 2334 W. Broad-st in the name of Mrs. Georgia Daugherty. That phase of the business was transferred to the W. Broad-st address last week.

Koontz formerly managed drug stores for the Mykrantz Stores on the West Side and later at the corner of Wayne-av and W. Broad-st prior to purchasing the store on Sullivant-av.

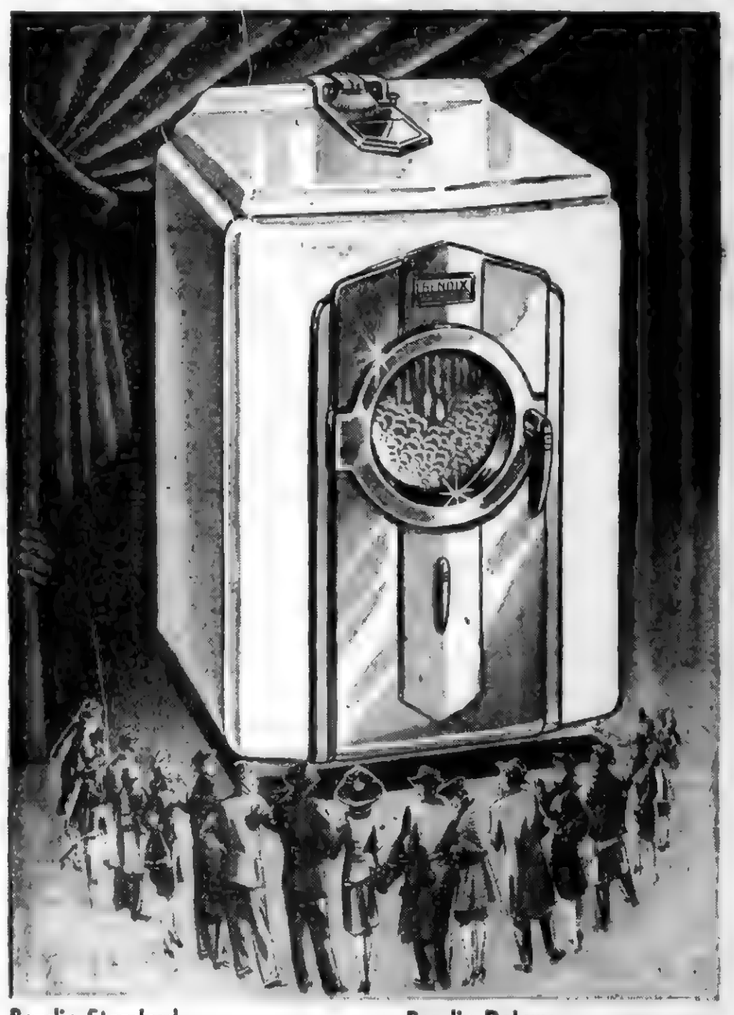
Ladies Auxiliary Works With Blind

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Lion's Club was organized in 1925 for the purpose of supporting the Lion's Club of Columbus in civic and welfare work among the blind. Membership is composed of women from the families of Lion's Club members. They work in conjunction with the Ohio Commission for the Blind. Their purpose is to bring the blind the greatest service, entertainment and happiness possible insofar as the available time and authorized money will permit.



Each member has adopted one or more "little sisters" from the Blind School. Many give time each week to visit the school and read to the children. Parties are given nearly every month for the children at the school. One of the pet projects of the Auxiliary is its work at Monett House.

The last two years the Auxiliary has completely rebuilt and refurnished the kitchen. The big undertaking this year is a plan to establish a rotating loan fund similar to a scholarship. The Auxiliary stages one large event each year to raise money to continue its work with the blind. This year a dance will be held Oct. 31 at the Seneca Hotel. For those not interested in dancing, rooms for cards will be available. Patrons' tickets or dance tickets or any further information may be obtained from Mrs. Earl Gheen, club president, or Mrs. B. F. Michels, general chairman of the dance.

The marriage service was solemnized before an altar adorned with fern and two seven-branch candelabra, Saturday, Oct. 11, at 4:30 o'clock in the Hoge Memorial Church with the pastor, Rev. A. J. Wold, officiating.

The bride's street length gown of aqua silk crepe featured a high slit neckline and full side drape with cape sleeves. She wore a feathered hat and white mitts. Her veil was of white net and her white rose corsage, which topped her mother's white prayer book, was centered in green lily leaves. Her pearls were a gift of the bridegroom, who brought them with him from Japan recently.

Miss Jane Farcasin was maid of honor for the bride, in a dress of chocolate brown silver threaded crepe. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Mr. Robert L. Zulauf, brother of the bride, attended Mr. Fenner as best man.

A new type of rotating engine exhause valve will appear on some of the 1948 cars. It will reduce carbon deposits to the point where miles per gallon will be increased, and it will cut repair bills markedly. The valve provides an incessant wiping action which removes carbon deposits by fuel combustion.

HERE'S WHY OUR MEAT PRICES ARE LOWER
According to statistics released by the Dept. of Agriculture, as published in the Ohio Labor Review, the farmer now gets Seventy Cents of every Beef Dollar compared with Fifty-one Cents in 1939. The other thirty cents of your present beef dollar is divided between the commission agent, the packer, the wholesaler, and the retailer.
When you buy at Hoover's that part of your dollar which would ordinarily go to the commission agent, the packer and the wholesaler is eliminated and these savings are given to you in the form of Lower Meat Prices.

For The Teenagers

By Virginia Jones

The progress of the "Teen Canteen" under supervision of Mel Griggs, is coming along splendidly, although we would like the help of more teen agers.

On Oct. 10, a group of members had a Clean Up Party. Those who took part now appreciate the clean canteen, and really feel they are a part of the swell place.

Many activities are planned for the future, and at present we find October filled with all sorts of events for the teens to enjoy.

Oct. 21, according to the calendar is a board meeting; Oct. 22, Scout meeting; Oct. 23, of course will be devoted to the Linden and West game. On Oct. 24, we find a free night, but at the Canteen the records of your favorite musician and singer will be flying fast. Why not meet your friends at the Canteen?

Saturday is the big night at the Old Homestead this week, a hayride is planned. You can meet at the Canteen at 7:30. I know you boys are wondering just how much it would cost you and your favorite girl, and it's only $1.50 per couple. Just think of all the fun, food, and O yes, the ride will be on a wagon with real hay. You say you have hay fever, well you can still have fun Saturday, and suffer on Sunday.

Now to finish out the calendar for October. The 28th, or most every Tuesday, there is a board meeting; Oct. 29, Scout meeting; Oct. 30, Camera Club; Oct. 31, is the East and West game with bright lights and all the other things that go with the new night games at West.

You can see for yourself that the Canteen is just like a beehive if there isn't a West football game. Why don't you come down and join in the gay times? You're always invited. Week days it is open from 3:30 till 10, and Saturday from 1 till 11 p. m.

Recently members of the Teen Club elected new officers. Their new president is Bob Oldfield, a 12B student at West. If he isn't at the Canteen you'll find Larry Oliver.

I suppose you're wondering who keeps the records and bookkeeping up to date. Marilyn Bonnet is the secretary of the club. Personality is what counts in Marilyn, and she rates A plus. This doesn't count her blonde hair, blue eyes and a smile for everyone. She is a 12B at West.

The members of the club agreed on them, and we're sure you will too, if you come down and meet them. Hope we'll see you soon.

Students Plan Senior Party

Plans for the West High Senior Party next month were being discussed by these students this week.

Elementary School Happenings

John Burroughs

The John Burroughs School has a new electric milk cooler, which will hold 500 half-pint bottles of milk. Since 235 bottles are needed each day, this cooler will supply the needs. The pupils of the school thank the PTA for purchasing it.

The PTA also plans to assist with the fish pond at West High on Hallowe'en night.

The PTA study group held its annual meeting Wednesday, Oct. 15. "Suppose They Don't Like School" was the topic for discussion. Mrs. Shade acted as leader. Tea was served afterward.

The cookie sale kept everyone busy, taking orders and filling the sacks.

The school nurse, Grace Buttler and Dr. Hutchinson have made an inspection of the entire building. They report that this school rates well from a health standpoint.

Miss Schart, who is in charge of sales tax collections, says that almost $1236.00 in stamps have been collected thus far, approximately $200 each week. This is equal to $40 in actual cash.

Between 90 and 100 children ride bicycles to school these fine days.

About 100 pupils remain at school for their lunches. There may be an overflow on a rainy day.

All of the teachers and janitors are giving to the Community Fund again this year.

Six new swings have been put up at the West Mound Street School.

Highland

The following pupils from Room 1 at Highland School took home report cards with perfect records in spelling. Allen Bartholic, Virginia Clark, Elizabeth Foster, Arleen Ross, Madelon Zoeller, Freddie Jackson, Charles Judson, Bertha Lewis and Barbara McKinley.

Room 13 is making a flower garden. The children collected the dirt for it and are now getting plants and seeds.

Wilson

Wilson School sold 700 dozen cookies in the sale which was conducted last week. Elzie Radcliffe, principal of the school, reports that by Tuesday of this week Wilson had 80 per cent of its goal in the Community Fund drive and that by the end of the week Wilson expects to be well over the top.

West Seniors Plan Get-acquainted Party Nov. 20

Starling News

PTA MEMBERSHIP
By Ralph Bruckman

Starling's PTA membership race among home-rooms was an exciting event. The membership race takes place each year. The membership costs 25c. The winning home-rooms were 8 and 16. Honorable mention was given to rooms 13R, 33, 7 and 18. The reward for the two winners was a party, Oct. 13, after school. The number of memberships was 365

RED CROSS BOXES
By Robert Caldwell

Members of the Red Cross are now sending boxes to the children overseas. These boxes are very small, but they hold a surprisingly large number of items such as pencils, paper, soap, tooth brushes, tooth paste, balls and games, but no food or glass. These boxes bear the words "Greetings from the American Red Cross." Each classroom packs these boxes. Foreign countries are in need of things to cheer them up.

In the boxes we included a blank letter, bearing the names of all the pupils. Sometimes the receiver writes on it thanking us. Here is a letter we received from a regional administration:

"Your gifts have brought great joy and gladness to many children who might otherwise have felt lonely or forgotten."

BAND
By Barbara Taylor

Starling Junior High School will have a band this year along with its regular orchestra. The uniforms of the band members will consist of sweaters with a Starling emblem, white pants and Starling beanies. The band plans to play for various elementary schools in an attempt to interest more children in music.

Cowboy Capers

By Jean and Edith

Well here we are back again with the gags and gossip of good old West High.

Did you hear RUTH HOELCHER scream in 240 the 4th period Monday? Could it be because VERNON KNOWLTON had a friendly little animal we all know as a snake?

Notice: Any one who has a good solution for paying attention in class, please pass it on to JIM COCHRAN and DON LITTLE. They have a terrible time in English.

Have you seen that bright look on DOROTHY FISCUS' face? Could it be the sparkle from her left hand? Her face never used to be that bright.

Any one who saw GENE ALLEN and BARBARA WEIMER together over the week-end wasn't seeing things.

Seen at the dance:

Seen at the game:

JANIE PRIOR worrying for fear her new raincoat would get dirty. It did.

We find WANDA GETREU trying her best to convince people that the seat next to her was taken.

How long does it take North High to find out that there is a West High fan on their side of the field? HARRIET WORTHINGTON was the victim Friday night.

What was all that excitement? It was just HELEN BRAUN hunting someone to go with her to the concession stand to buy a coke.

Advice to ANN HOOD: How about learning a new song? Poor Ann knows only one tune, and it's too short.

The sixth period dances can be a success only if the seniors attend. Not only be there, but dance.

DICK BORROR exclaiming, "Don't people look funny?" He was looking at a 1929 annual.

Could any one tell us why LEROY HOOD never ties his shoes?

It seems CURT WESTERMAN is very popular the seventh period. You can always hear voices calling him from outside.

We wish to extend a welcome to a new girl who hails from Upper Arlington. Her name is NANCY MERRICK. We hope she likes it here.

SEE YOU AT THE GAME.

Route Change Suggested By Trolley Co.

A proposal by the Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co. to change the downtown routes of two trolley bus lines is currently before City Council.

The Sullivant-Cleveland line would be routed southward in Third-st from Spring to Town-st, instead of in Front-st where it now runs.

The other change would be in the Oak-Summit line which would be routed in High-st between Chestnut and State-st, instead of over its present route in Third-st on its southbound trip.

Morgan L. Evans, vice-president in charge of Rail-Light operations, said the changes would lessen southbound traffic in Front-st and help eliminate congestion at Front and Town-st. Additional service would also be provided on High-st through the downtown area.

City Council failed to act on the company's request at its meeting Monday. The proposal will probably come before them again next Monday, however.

Scenes From The Sidelines At The North-West Game

By Libby Downing

"The Battle" is over and West came out on top of a 10-7 score in the West-North game last Friday evening before a crowd estimated at about 10,000.

People were standing about 25 deep around the gate at 6:30. The crowd we were in kept sliding down hill (off the school yard) and nearly crushed those entering the field. Your reporter got her skirt caught between the gate post and several "bodies" and without exaggeration nearly lost it! At 6:40 p. m. we sat down in North's bleachers on the 47-yard line. The West stands across the field were filled almost to capacity at that time. By approximately 7:20 there was no vacant seat to be had.

Before the beginning of hostilities, the schools' bands came onto the field and joined to play "The Star Spangled Banner." Charles Bennett of West directed.

With a few seconds remaining in the first half West was making a stand for a L d. A north fan behind us said to his buddy, "Aw, you don't have to worry now. they can't do anything." Evidently he wasn't at Springfield for. before his last words were out. Walter Hicks had the pigskin and was racing down the field for the goal line, Hicks had the honor of being captain Friday evening and did things up right.

The North End people living across the street from the stadium certainly had ringside seats. They were on their porch roofs, hanging from upstairs windows and standing on the porch railings.

Three battles were waged Friday night: team vs. team, band vs. band, and cheerleaders vs. cheerleaders.

The North cheerleaders fell to their knees when the team came onto the field before game time and also when North made its touchdown, saying "Allah" and practically touching the ground with their heads.

The West Hi Band performed first. The highlight of the show was when Lee Koontz, in a new role as a polar bear, ran onto the field chased by a cowboy with a lasso. The West High fans accompanied the chase with the ditty, "Who's Afraid of the Polar Bear?" Just then the cowboy lassoed the bear and Mr. P. Bear was a goner. The North band played "This Is My Lucky Day," after forming a horseshoe with the outline of an N in the middle

After the game one of the buses carying West Hi players broke down, so it was "share the ride" as the fellows doubled up in the other bus and the buses occupied by the band.

Bob Smith of West received a cut on the ankle during the game which required treatment.

The public address system cordially invited all North fans to attend the North-Aquinas game "next Friday night, Nov. 23." A few minutes later, realizing this was still October, a correction was broadcast.

Thumberg, of West, received quite a jolt Friday evening. Before the battle when he went to the dressing room the bench he was sitting on collapsed, throwing him to the floor. The West team decided they had been booby trapped!

Irvin Young, West principal, sat high in the West bleachers at the North stadium. "What won't people do to see a football game?" thinketh he. The boys who didn't have seats climbed up under the bleachers to the top row and watched the game over the spectators' shoulders while hanging onto the rafters. When the half ended they wearily climbed down to rest but when the whistle blew, guess what . . .

Dale Rose, former West Hi football coach, spoke to the student rally at West on Thursday.

Ten years ago West played North High at North on Oct. 16. West had five straight victories but North was a powerful and feared team. However, West left the field with a 25-0 victory for its sixth win in as many starts.

When leaving the stadium Friday, the gates were about as crowded and jammed as going in. Suddenly someone screamed "There's a woman down! Stand back, give her air." A hole opened in the jam of bodies and we looked down where the victim lay to find that a lady had dropped her umbrella and merely tried to bend over to pick it up!

First Units Of Shopping Center Are Half Completed

Work is halfway completed on two units of the massive shopping center being built on the northwest corner of Broad-st and Dwight-av, one-half mile west of the city limits.

The design and construction of the entire shopping center is being done by the F & Y Building Service, 328 E. Town-st.

The first unit which is ready to be roofed comprises five small stores. The Old Trail Theater will be under roof in about 30 days, and work is scheduled to begin on another unit housing a drug store, super market, auto accessory store and furniture mart by Nov. 15. Another unit will be started in late winter or early spring.

Already completed is the National Auto Theater, which has been in operation at the west end of the proposed shopping center for more than two months. The Old Trail Theater, which will seat 1500, will follow the Chinese architectural motif used in the auto theater.

The shopping center will have an 1100 foot frontage on W. Broad-st. Accommodations for parking 1000 cars will be made at the rear of the center. Limited parking facilities will be available at the front of the development.

Among the establishments planned for the center are a bowling alley, bank, department store, hardware store, restaurant and grill, men's haberdashery, dry cleaning plant, electrical appliance store, and a beauty salon.

Record Want Ads Are Success Stories

Nothing succeeds like success, and every week there continues to be a flow of little success stories from satisfied users of Hilltop Record want ads.

For example, last week, Mrs. Randall Borror, 713 S. Ogden-av, advertised nine items for sale and sold them all but one and this week will have another want ad.

And Mrs. Fred W. Clark, 2091 W. Broad-st, also reports success from her ad and is repeating with another ad this week.

These are just cases at random of the pulling power of Record want ads.

If you haven't been convinced yet, just call Ra. 1125 and ask for the classified department and see how easy it is to get results at a very low cost.

Engineering For 2 Local Streets Ordered Monday

The City Engineering Department was ordered to go ahead and draw up plans for two street improvement programs on the Hilltop, one of which was authorized by the $650,000 street bond program in 1945.

The two Hilltop projects were Mound-st, between Wayne-av and Binns-blvd, and Hague-av, from Broad-st to Sullivant-av.

The Mound-st improvement was included in the 1945 bond issue while the Hague-av project will be financed out of 1948 gasoline tax funds. The Hague-av project was among four of a list of 37 that City Engineer Paul W. Maetzel ordered to the drawing board, now.

Maetzel also reported to Council that progress is being made on plans for the Sullivant-av improvement project, named last year for completion in 1947. He said the prospect of completing plans for additional projects throughout the city during the winter months had brightened with the hiring of additional personnel after recent wage raises granted by Council.

James Demorest Is Being Held For Grand Jury

Charged with burglary of an inhabited dwelling at night and accused of attempting to enter another house on the Hilltop, James Demorest, 27, 391½ Whitethorne-av, was bound over to the grand jury, Monday, in $3,000 bond.

Demorest was captured by police early last Wednesday morning after being chased and fired upon by two cruisermen, called to investigate a prowler.

Fred Robinson, 256 Cypress-av, called police at 5:15 a. m., after being awakened by a prowler attempting to pick a door lock at his home. When he went downstairs the intruder fled, leaving a small metal lock-pick behind.

Shortly afterwards a man entered the home of Tarlton Barfield, 491 Belvidere-av, by placing a ladder against a porch and entering an unlocked door. Mr. Barfield surprised the prowler, who fled down the front stairs and into the street.

While he was telling his story to Cruiserman Paul Knight a few minutes later, Mr. Barfield spotted a man walking down the other side of the street who looked like the prowler. Knight chased him but he got away.

Knight called for help and Cruisermen George Watts and Henry Taylor joined the hunt for the suspect. They spotted him in a nearby alley and Watts said he fired a shot into the ground in an effort to scare the man into halting. The man again fled but Watts and Taylor spotted him a short time later in an alley near Nashoba and Sullivant-avs and took him into custody.

Betty Boyland, 456 Belvidere-av, reported someone tried to get in through her bedroom window about 6:14 a. m., and police said it may have been the prowler seeking a hiding place.

Week-end traffic accidents in Columbus resulted in the death of a 74-year-old W. Mound-st man and injury to a number of Hilltoppers.

Charles W. Kirkendall of 632 W. Mound-st, was killed Sunday night when struck by an auto driven by John Iacovette, 232 Southwood-av, as he was crossing the street in front of his home. His death was the 31st fatality in Columbus this year as against 39 deaths for a similar period in 1946.

Other Hilltop residents who suffered injuries in traffic accidents Saturday included Floyd E. Hopkins, 26, of 1967 Fairmont-av; Myrel Mercer, 26, of 68 N. Burgess-av; Pearl Kauffman, 31, of 1954 Fairmont-av; Clarine Belcher, 27, of 149 Nashoba-av; and Harold Rowley, 32, of 484 Wilson-rd.

While working in a basement at 10 E. Main-st last Thursday, Pryer Huges, 53, of 383 S. Oakley-av, was overcome by carbon monoxide fumes from a gasoline motor. He was treated at St. Francis Hospital.

After grinding valves, take great care to see that all grinding compound has been removed from the valve, valve seat, intake port and cylinder block.

Thrush's Last-minute Field Goal Brings West 10-7 Victory Over North Friday

Cowboys To Tangle With Linden Today

An exhausted but happy crowd of Hilltoppers, some 5,000 strong, returned to home soil Friday night after watching the Cowboys snatch a split second victory from the hands of the North High Polar Bears at the North gridiron. The score was 10 to 7, thanks to Jack Thrush's field goal kicked with only 20 seconds of playing time remaining.

A record crowd for a City League game, variously estimated at between 9,000 and 10,000, saw the nip and tuck battle which, up until the final minute, looked as if it would end in a 7 to 7 tie. Thrush's boot split the uprights in perfect form as he kicked from directly back of one of the posts from the Polar Bear 18-yard stripe. The win was the third in the city loop and the sixth consecutive victory for Mack Pemberton's boys.

West will play host tonight to Linden McKinley at Magly Field in another league encounter. All City League games are being played tonight instead of Friday because of a teachers' convention in Columbus tomorrow. Gates will open at 6:30 p. m. Tonight's game will start the final series of four games for the Cowboys, all played on home soil. The season will close on Nov. 14 when Jackson comes to the Hilltop for the annual homecoming event.

Thrush also figured in the other Cowboy score in Friday night's win. With only 15 seconds remaining in the second period of the game, he dropped back to his own 20-yard line and shot a long forward pass to Walter Hicks on the North 40. Juggling the ball momentarily, Hicks wheeled and took down the west sideline like an express train to score. Thrush made good the try for extra point.

Again Hicks crossed into pay dirt in the closing minutes of the game but the score was not allowed when the referee ruled the ball dead at a point where the Cowboy back had fumbled and recovered.

North was playing an inspired type of ball, and, according to some of their followers, played "by far" their best game this year. The team moved fast, which was something of a surprise to the Cowboys, who were expecting that if they stopped the Brothers Clark in the backfield they would have the Polar Bear offense "bottled up."

Starling Hutt played his best game to date for West. Given new opportunities to get through the line on the offense, he played a fine defensive game, crashing through to nail Bear ball toters in their own backfield on several occasions. Wilbur Ehlers, in a substitute role, likewise contributed some good line backing.

Fred Thumberg and Curt Westerman, West guards, played nice ball against a tough North line.

Polars Score In 3rd Period

The Polar Bear touchdown came in the third period after Capt. Dick Backus intercepted Jim Slager's pass on the North 45 and ran to the West 12. A clipping penalty set the Bears back to the 37. Don Wiper threw a pass to Lafe Dodds that was good for 8 yards and then Fullback Eddie Clark ran off tackle for 29 yards and the touchdown. Paul Barnett made good on the placement and the score was knotted 7-7.

Coach Pemberton had to gamble at times to try to keep possession of the ball. There was the time, for instance, late in the second period, when his boys elected to pass on fourth down with 4 yards needed. The pass was incomplete and North took over on the West 30. The Cowboy line held at that point and Thrush's touchdown pass followed shortly afterward.

West outgained North in spite of many hectic moments when it looked as if touchdown plays were being set up. The Cowboys made 11 first downs to 7 for the Polar Bears and completed five passes that were good for about 140 yards and the one touchdown.

Jim Slager sparked the West running attack from his quarterback spot, making at least one nice kickoff return of 20 yards and picking up all-important gains on the quarterback sneak when first downs were needed.

STATISTICS???

Statistics on the North-West game usually carried in this spot are missing this week due to the lack of cooperation on the part of North High School officials.

In spite of suitable identification and after having obtained a field permit plainly marked "Sideline Privileges," this reporter was "chased" from his usual "sideline beat" and was forced to watch the game from the West bench where it was impossible to report the play accurately. The lack of suitable field markers made it impossible to see where the ball was much of the time and the crowd noise prevented our hearing much of the information that came over the loud speaker system.

West Cross Country Team Wins Meet At Springfield

A group of West High School athletes stayed home from the all-important West-North football game Friday night, voluntarily, so that they could be in top shape for the district cross-country meet at Springfield the next day. Their sacrifice was rewarded by their winning the meet with the low total of 67 points against a field of runners from all over central and western Ohio.

Fred Harper, Cowboy ace harrier, came in second to finish less than a second behind Dayton Dunbar's Lynn Owens, the individual champion. Harper was the only West runner to place in the first 10 but an excellent team average pulled the Hilltoppers to the fore.

Five West runners qualified for the state meet to be run on Saturday. In addition to Harper they are Dick Ham, Dave Stetham, Ken Evans and Bill Vanatta.

The first 10 finishers and the top five runners on the first four teams qualified for the state meet.

The Cowboys were scheduled to run in the city meet at Ohio State University on Wednesday.

West Reserves Trounce Aquinas

By Dick Wray

West Senior High's reserve football players seem to copy from their big brothers (the varsity team) in one respect. Monday, Oct. 13, they smacked down the Aquinas reserves, 18-0. If they had made the three extra points, the score would have been the same as the varsity score. Frank Carson and Eugene Brown divided the scoring, Carson scoring one touchdown and Brown getting the other two.

Hilltopper Seeks Clerk of Court

P. W. Spence, 559 Columbian-av, is a candidate for clerk of the Municipal Court, an office to which he was appointed upon the death of Arthur J. Blosser under whom he served as chief deputy clerk for 10 years.

In his rather long service as a public servant he has at all times been conscientious and courteous and has given the public the kind of service which they had a reasonable right to expect. The office handles all records of the Municipal Court, which is referred to as the "poor man's court," as many of the litigants who appear in this court do so without the benefit of legal counsel. To them, as well as to everyone having business with the court, he personally and all his deputies have been sympathetic with their problems.

Mr. Spence has made many improvements in his office since becoming clerk. He has installed a new and complete filing system which has met with the approval of all attorneys. As a further evidence of his ability, he has the endorsement of the five Municipal Court judges for election.

HERE'S HOW THE TESTS WERE MADE
Each machine was loaded and operated according to its manufacturer's recommendations. The washing tests were run with standardized materials and procedures deemed by them to be sufficient to make a fair comparison and consistently applied to each machine tested. Every step in the tests was under close scientific control. On each machine a direct reading meter was installed to measure the amount of hot water used—also a thermometer to indicate and control uniformity of water temperature. Identical cloth swatches were impregnated uniformly with carbon black, tallow, mineral oil and vegetable oil. Three washability tests were run on each machine and an average taken over-all for each machine to measure resulting cleanliness of clothes in Detergency Units. The ratio of washability to soap consumption was also determined for each machine, the same brand soap being used in all tests. Water of 6 to 8 grains hardness was employed.

Esquire Men's Shop

The newest business man to sponsor men's bowling teams is Bud Worley, owner of the Esquire Men's Shop. This is Bud's first year at sponsoring teams and already he has produced two good ones. He sponsors three teams, two at the Hilltop alleys and one at the Riverview alleys. His teams at Hilltop are in the Monday night Recreation League and the Thursday night Business Men's League. The Monday night team is in first place with 16 wins and two losses. The team started the season with two losses and now has won 36 games in a row. They hold the second highest team game for the season with 2814, while their leadoff man, Carl Breckenridge, holds the high single game of 254. All of the team members hold averages of better than 180. Carl Breckenridge has 182, Dan Wolf 180, Tom Wolfe 182, Hube Seitz 183, and George Kanavel 183. Plans are being made to send this team to the ABC tournament to be held at Detroit next year.

Dick Ardle

On Thursday night the Esquire Men's Shop was tied with Shank and Saunders for first place, each team owning a record of 17 wins and seven losses. This team consists of Carl Clous, who averages 181, Bill Frasure 176, Bud Worley 146, Frank Heath 194 and Milt Bunning 184. This team turned in a game of 1029, which is the highest team game to be rolled at the Hilltop alleys this year. Plans are being made to send this team and the Monday night team to the City Men's Tournament next year. Nice going, Bud!

 * Bowler of the Week * ***

Our bowler this week is Rita Dawson, better known around the Columbus bowling alleys as Rita Wolfe. Rita was just married recently and is now living at 90 Midland-av. She bowls in the leadoff position with Warden Drugs on Thursday night and carries an average of 145. She also bowls in the Women's All Star League at Riverview on Monday night. She carries a 160 average in this league. Rita also holds the title of being the youngest bowler ever to win the Women's City Tournament. She did this in 1945 while only 16 years old. She had a score of 690, and last year finished second with a 641. We call this nice bowling, Rita. Keep up the good work.

 * Bowling Bits * ***

Our bowling gem goes to Milt Banning who, while bowling with Esquire Men's Shop on Thursday night, rolled a game of 277, which was high, not only for the Hilltop alleys, but also for the city. Milt started off with five strikes in a row. He then spared and then struck out. Nice going, Milt.

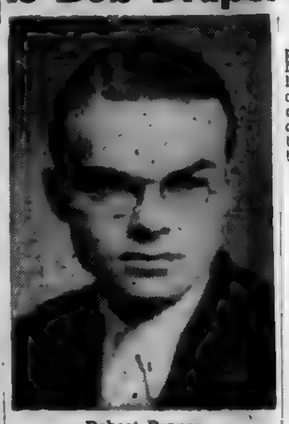
Firemen Present Annual Minstrel Starting Today

The annual Firemen's Minstrel Show will be presented today through Sunday at the Hartman Theater. Proceeds will go to the Firemen's Benevolent Association to provide death benefits and continuing care for widows and orphans of firemen.

The show this year will include such veterans of the stage as Freddy Washburn, formerly of Vogel's Minstrel; Homer Meachain, former Al G. Field star; the O'Hara Sisters, Habb and Denton, Al Kern, Freddy Hawkes, Dewey Martin and Harry Masters.

Originating in 1903-04, the minstrel aided in providing burial funds for firemen who died during smallpox typhoid epidemics which struck Columbus at that time. It was only four years ago, however, that the show became a full-scale production.



Evening performances are scheduled at 8:15 p. m., Thursday through Sunday, with a matinee being held at 2:15 p. m., Sunday. Franklin County orphans will be guests at a special show Saturday afternoon.

Tickets may be obtained from any fireman or engine house or by calling EV. 9039.

"Schools For The Children" Is Bob Draper's Platform

Robert Draper

Schools for the children.

That in a nutshell explains the platform of Robert M. Draper, 74 N. Roys-av, president of the Columbus School Board and a candidate for re-election to a place on the board. He is the only candidate in the field of 10 seeking the four vacancies who lives on the Hilltop or West Side.

Draper explains it this way:

"The buildings, teaching methods and recreation program should be attuned to giving children an education so that at the end of their career they will be equipped for a job if they don't feel they want to go to college or have not the means to do so. A part of education is good mental and physical habits. Every student should take some vocational training so that he or she will not graduate without any equipment to go out and make a living."

Referring to the eight years he has spent on the board, Draper pointed out that board members have kept up to date on changing trends in employment possibilities for high school graduates. Today mercantile and industrial job possibilities are about 50-50, he said. This is in contrast to a time when 65 per cent of the job possibilities were with mercantile business establishments.

The board has taken this into consideration in formulating the school curriculum, he said.

During the eight years he has been a board member, Draper, who is an attorney by profession, has been president of the group twice. According to tradition, a new president is selected by the board each year.

The Hilltop will receive approximately $170,000 from the seven-million-dollar school improvement fund voted in 1945.

Included in the local improvements will be expansion of vocational training facilities at West High School, to cost approximately $35,000; modernization of Highland Avenue School, to include an auditorium, modern toilet facilities, etc., $50,000; modernization of West Broad School at a cost of $35,000; modernization or replacement of the West Mound Street portable buildings at a cost of approximately $50,000. (The exact nature of the improvements at West Mound Street will depend on the prospects for school enrollment at the time the work is started.)

Program Held Up

The entire building program is being held up because of the difficulty of getting contractors to bid on the work, Draper said, but it is expected that much of the seven-million dollar building program will be under way by 1949.

Mr. and Mrs. Draper have two children, Nancy, 7, and Deborah, 4. He is Sunday School superintendent at the St. John Lutheran Church and is active in Masonic circles. He has always been active in the affairs of the Democratic Party.

The candidate expresses surprise at what "the four" (referring to four other candidates who have banded together) have labeled "the Roudebush plan."

"The present board and its predecessor have worked with Supt. George Roudebush in formulating the present policies that govern the school system in Columbus. I never knew until I read it in the papers recently that there was such a thing as a 'Roudebush plan'," he said.

The four candidates who have banded together to run as a group are Charles B. Mendenhall, 2552 Olentangy River-rd; Donald L. Littell, 1259 E. Hudson-st; Mrs. Dorothy Jones, 219 17th-av, and Rev. William H. Holloway, 399 Hamilton-av.

Molesting Mail Boxes Violates Postal Codes

The Post Office Department this week cautioned would-be pranksters that the tearing down of rural mail boxes on Hallowe'en is a federal offense and violators may be punished by fine or imprisonment.

A letter from the inspection service of the Post Office Department in Cincinnati to all postmasters calls attention to Section 2342, Postal Laws and Regulations of 1940 which provides for the prosecution of persons found guilty of destroying mailboxes.

Postmaster Nathan A. McCoy cautioned parents and children this week against any tearing down of mailboxes in the hope that destruction of this kind may be kept to an absolute minimum this year.

Hysell Counters Opposition With Hawkes' Charges

Verbal brickbats were continuing to fly in the race for municipal clerk of courts being waged between Ted Hysell, Independent Republican, and Hilltopper P. W. Spence, Republican, now serving in that office by appointment.

Hysell's World War II record has been attacked in statements credited to Fred Hawkes, now chief deputy in the clerk's office.

In that regard, Hysell issued the following statement this week:

"I have been purposely quiet during this campaign because the objectionable practice of mud-slinging is frowned upon. But I now charge that while many of Columbus' veterans were serving their country, Fred T. Hawkes, now chief deputy clerk, was indicted and found guilty in federal court of dealing in black market tires . . . according to the municipal charter Fred Hawkes would succeed the present clerk of courts should he resign or pass away during his term of office."

Dress Baby Carefully For Winter Nights

Don't let the room get too cold. It shouldn't go below 50 degrees. Air the room before putting the baby to bed and then keep the window closed. Very cold air irritates the nasal passages and makes a baby more likely to catch cold. The crib should be in a corner of the room or screened.

In the coldest weather, dress your child in shirt, diapers, rubber pants and a warm sleeping suit that covers his feet but not his hands. If it is really freezing weather put a cap and sweater on him besides. Let him start the night without bedclothes. Dressed this way he won't need a blanket during the evening, but before you go to bed cover him lightly. With this arrangement both you and the baby will sleep more soundly.

"Y" Is City-wide In Character

Machinery has already been set in motion that should lead to the ultimate establishment of a Hilltop Branch "Y." We believe this would be a significant step in the direction of filling a definite community need. While being largely local in character, having its own board of directors, the "Y" would nevertheless be a part of the Metropolitan YMCA Committee. We feel that this will be a good thing for at least two reasons.

In the first place, supervision by the broader Metropolitan Committee assures qualified leadership and the backing of a substantial organization. This will in no way detract from the local character of the community center. Local money will be needed eventually to provide facilities that will be located on the Hilltop for the use of Hilltop and West Side people. A local board will have direct supervision.

Then too, if a branch "Y" is established here it will in all probability be another in the large family of Community Chest-supported agencies. That is to say certain of its activities will receive at least partial financial aid. This adds a metropolitan aspect that should not be overlooked by residents of the community.

To be quite frank, the Hilltop has never responded to the appeal of the Community Chest in the way it should. Many women have given generously of their time and worked hard at their task but much of their appeal has fallen on deaf ears. The West Side and other sections of the city have many times gone "over the top" before our own section. Our local workers have many times become discouraged because of the seeming lack of interest in the cause among those on whom they were asked to call.

We believe that the Hilltop generally has not felt it needed the services of the Community Chest, consequently has not been enthusiastic about it. At the present two local agencies profit directly from the Chest. They are the Teen Club (still comparatively new to the community) and the Friends Rescue Home, whose benevolent work is little known by many people.

On the West Side there are the West Side Day Nursery and Gladden Community House, both widely used by West Siders. Our contention is that people living there have a more personal interst in the Chest. By the same token we feel that once more Hilltoppers take part in the activity where the Chest is involved it will be easier for volunteers to put the Hilltop "over the top" in the yearly fund drives.

As we have said before, it's fine to have a community spirit. But that spirit should not be to the exclusion of interest in other things of a city-wide character. We can continue to have a fine residential area on the Hilltop without divorcing ourselves from the problems of the city at large.

A Hilltop Branch "Y" would have something to offer for persons of all ages. We believe that Hilltoppers will support it with their pocket books even as they have been enthusiastic in their approval for it in letters of endorsement.

Our Readers Say

Editor, Hilltop Record

I have been more and more impressed recently with the excellence of The Hilltop Record in both makeup and coverage. I would appreciate it if you would please have my address changed from 444 Binns-blvd to Miami University YMCA, Oxford, Ohio.

Though it is a bit late, I should like to add my piece to the other individual groups and people who favor a Community YMCA on the Hilltop. The Hilltop is a thriving, vigorous community and one in which a YMCA could serve a very real need, both in terms of service and activities.

One of the strongest reasons for a YMCA is because of the unique contribution which a YMCA can fill in a community such as ours. In some respects, a community Y could do many things better than they are now being done by other agencies in the community, and in like manner could supplement and give support to activities now being carried on by other groups. A community Y is primarily interested in the growth and development of Christian character, and the fostering of a strong social consciousness on the part of its constituency. A YMCA stands as a strong right arm of the community churches, and is the forefront of vigorous and forward looking thinking of various social, political and religious issues.

The organization of a community YMCA is another indication of the fine spirit and attitude of the community toward the development of the best possible environment for both young and old alike.

HIRED MAN

You fired Jim because he loved me, Pa.
You said no hired man was good enough
To marry me. You wanted "better stuff"
When you were ready for a son-in-law
I watched him leave. The northeast wind blew raw
And the creek road was frozen, hard and rough.
You saw me cry and ordered me right gruff
To go on in the house and stay with Ma.

Jim owns a forty now and married Flo,
Judge Perkin's girl. They're doing well, they say.
I've stayed with Ma since then—six years ago—
But bitter feelings choked me up the day
You plumb forgot and said "That bottom land
I bought when I was just a hired hand."

Several Hilltoppers witnessed their first professional football game Sunday when they saw Paul Brown's Cleveland Browns defeat the Chicago Rockets 31 to 28. Reactions to the sport, as the "pros" play it, were varied.

Asked if he got any new ideas for his football team, Coach Mack Pemberton said: "I still like the old rules better."

A close observer of the all-girl Brown Band, West Band Leader Charles Bennett remarked: "I'm afraid some of our boys would look a little odd in their costumes."

George Hardy couldn't understand how the team could play so long behind a post that blocked his vision of the field . . . Mr. and Mrs. Richard Francis had to move three times before they got settled to watch the game . . . Paul Leighninger, who carried all of the tickets for coaches, faculty members and their wives, was a much discussed individual until he put in his appearance at Union Station Sunday morning. (Coaches and their wives were guests of the West High Boosters Club for the day.) . . . Leighninger did not return to Columbus with the car load of Hilltoppers but stayed over in Cleveland . . . The Hilltop car was the most comfortable one on the "all special" train . . . Visitors from other coaches wanted to trade seats . . . A fight followed every time either team kicked an extra point or field goal for there was a mad scramble to get the ball . . . The "pros" do everything on a big scale. To signal the end of quarters, a gun that sounded like a small cannon was fired, scaring a flock of pigeons up into the stadium. . . . All agreed that the only disappointing thing on the entire trip was the stale popcorn they sold in the stadium.

Those Ingenious Rats!

Someone's always trying to get into the act.

This time Donald Dildine, handyman around the Record after school hours, tops our rat story of last week.

Down at the Dildine residence (according to Donald), the rats have become proficient at unscrewing the lids from glass jars to get at the contents. He says they can go through a jar of tomatoes in record time.

Incidentally the rats have continued to drag the brushes from the paste pots around the Record office. If our plan works we may have some exclusive pictures of Mr. Rat making his nocturnal rounds. Photographer Ray Gaugler is working on equipment to catch the culprit, at least on film.

Poor Singing

I've noticed in recent weeks the small number of people who join in the singing of school songs here at West High School and at Ohio State University. Sitting in the midst of the student section at the stadium, I was surprised to hear so few of them even attempt to join in singing "Carmen Ohio" which is to me one of the most beautiful school songs ever written.

Likewise at West High School football games the singing of the alma mater has often been discouraging in spite of having an excellent band to sing with. Students join in heartily at West but the old grads don't enter into the spirit of things with much enthusiasm. Maybe they keep quiet so they can hear the band.

Both numbers, in addition to being beautiful in harmony, are easy to sing. Crowds such as have been present for games this year ought to make the Hilltop ring.

• • •

Every time I see the West High School band put on one of its colorful numbers, I recall four years I spent with the West Virginia University band several years ago. I can honestly say that the local band would out-perform any college band we came up against at that time. The faster marching tempo would have made our outfit look slow and drab by comparison, to say nothing of snappier uniforms and generally good playing ability.

One of many amusing incidents sticks in my mind. It was on the occasion of the first Mountain State Forest Festival held on the campus of Davis and Elkins College at Buckhannon, W. Va., about 1930 or '31.

Our band was marching up a driveway on the campus a little too narrow for our regular marching formation. In order for the group to stay on the drive at all it was necessary for the extreme right and left flanks to walk in a leaf-filled ditch. One of the marchers in the right flank was a tuba player. All of a sudden he stepped into a deep hole where the ditch drained down into a sewer opening. Down he went, horn and all. It took several minutes to extricate him from the badly bent and dented bass horn.

Oct. 27 Set For Navy Day

A three-day celebration will mark observance of Navy Day, Oct. 27 in Columbus. A pre-Navy Day program will begin Saturday, Oct. 25, with a dinner-dance at the Army and Navy Club at Fort Hayes. Principal speaker at the dinner will be Rear Admiral Alfred M. Pride, chief of the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics.

At 2 p. m., Sunday, Oct. 26, the Navy will put on an air show at Port Columbus, while on Monday night, Oct. 27, the Naval Reserve will sponsor a ball at the Seneca Hotel.

Churches here have been asked to dedicate a portion of their services, Oct. 26, to the memory of Navy men who died in service. Industrial plants have been requested to fly Army-Navy "E" awards and to display the flag.

Observance here of Navy Day will be under the auspices of the Columbus Council of the Navy League of the United States and affiliated Navy and Marine Corps organizations. Included on the special Navy Day committee is Commander Irven H. Cammarn, a teacher at West High School.

Preparation Of Children's Milk

Liquid milk—Milk sold in cities rarely has more than the average amount of fat (3½ to 4 per cent) and therefore can be used whole; that is, without skimming. Where especially rich milk is used, as that from Jersey or Guernsey cows, it may be necessary to remove a small part of the cream for the younger children. More children are upset by milk that is too rich than by milk that is not rich enough.

Milk should never be given to children raw. If raw milk must be bought or if there is any question as to whether the milk has been properly pasteurized or not, it should be boiled. For children over two years all milk should be pasteurized, even certified milk, and for children under two years all milk should be boiled. Boiling milk not only kills all disease germs but it also makes it easier to digest.

Either of the following methods may be used to boil milk for children.

1. By direct heat—Place milk in a deep saucepan and set over a flame. Bring milk to a boil, stirring it constantly. Boil one to three minutes, remove it from the stove, and cool it rapidly.

2. In double boiler—Place milk in the top of a double boiler and cover it tightly. Put cold water in the bottom of the double boiler and put the double boiler on the flame and allow it to remain there 10 to 20 minutes after the water has begun to boil.

SCRIPTURE: James 1—2; Matthew 25:34-46.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Matthew 7:15-27.

Religion in Practice

Lesson for October 26, 1947

SUNDAY'S lesson takes us to one of the practical Christian preachers of the New Testament. Please open your Bible to the Epistle of James, and read especially the first two chapters. James was a man of great faith, but he realized, as we must realize, that faith is best expressed in works.

Dr. Newton

Then read Matthew 25: 34-46, and for the devotional lesson, read Matthew 7: 15-27.

When you shall have read these passages, you will then be ready for the consideration of religion in everyday life.

• • •

A Cup of Cold Water

WHAT, someone will be asking, can I do to show my desire to be of actual service, in the name of Jesus. Jesus tells us. He says that whosoever shall give a cup of cold water in His name is doing the will of God.

We live in a world that poignantly waits for a cup of cold water. I have just returned from another trip through Europe. I was there in 1946, and I felt then that life in Europe had reached the last possible expression of need. But this past summer I was startled to witness a still greater need.

The question that immediately came to mind as I observed conditions in Germany and England and other countries this past summer was this, What can we do to meet such need? And the answer was ready at hand—give them what you have, in the name of Jesus.

• • •

Doers of the Word

JAMES makes much of practical religion in everyday life. He tells us that we are to be doers of the word and not mere sayers of the word, or hearers of the word.

And here he means the Word of God—the will of God.

Is there a misunderstood boy in your block? Is there a girl in your class at school who suffers from some bitter criticism? This lesson would suggest to every Christian boy and girl to go in sympathetic understanding to such neighbors and help them to overcome these handicaps. Thus we become doers of the will of God.

• • •

Living Our Religion

WHAT we are determines what people think of our religion, not what we say about our religious life. James tells us in Sunday's lesson that faith without works is dead. It is that very truth that our generation so much needs to get hold upon.

We have many perplexing situations in our world. Racial differences, differences regarding capital and labor, and so forth and so on.

How are these problems to be solved? By resolutions? We know that many very pious resolutions have been adopted concerning these problems, but still the problems remain.

One Christian in any given community who applies the teaching of James to everyday life will start a train of events that will add up to the solution of any problem, social, economic or what not. We must translate our beliefs into action.

• • •

The More Excellent Way

JAMES goes on to assure us that when we undertake faithfully to live our religion, we may confidently claim the promise of God that if any man lack wisdom, let him ask of God who giveth liberally unto all men, and upbraideth not.

The conclusion of the whole matter, therefore, is to face life as we find it, taking into account the actual facts, and boldly and confidently tackling the job in the assurance that the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ is always sufficient for any and every situation.

The more excellent way of the Golden Rule is the answer to the whole matter. But the Golden Rule is impotent until it is translated into action.

And the best of it all is that it actually works. When someone asked Morrison what Christianity was doing for China, he replied: "Christianity is changing China into a community of God." That is precisely what this lesson will do for your community, if you apply its teachings to life as you find it.

Hilltop Ministers Plan Fall and Winter Program

Plans for cooperation in the city-wide religious census, a ministerial banquet and the annual Union Thanksgiving service were discussed at a meeting of the Hilltop Ministerial Association Monday morning at Hoge Memorial Church.

The annual banquet of Hilltop ministers and their wives will be held at the Burgess Avenue Evangelical United Brethren Church Nov. 17. The dinner is scheduled for 6:30 p. m.

Dr. Raymond L. Bailey, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will be the speaker. He will report on conditions in Europe as he found them on a recent trip as a delegate to the Baptist World Congress at Copenhagen, Denmark.

Serving on the committee arranging the affair are Rev. W. Howard School, Rev. Denver Smoot and Rev. J. Herbert Goewey.

A committee representing all denominations on the Hilltop was named to study the possibilities of a community-wide revival campaign. Rev. School was named chairman of the group, with Rev. Harold Dutt, Rev. James F. Lorenz, Rev. A. J. Woid, Rev. J. W. Crumrine, Rev. Ray Ferguson, Rev. F. Heard, Rev. J. L. Dean, Rev. Harris B. Anthony, Rev. C. T. Langholz, Rev. Paul Gorden and Rev. Enoch Smith.

A report of this committee is to be made at the next regular ministerial meeting.

Rev. C. F. Lutz, pastor of the Burgess Avenue Evangelical United Brethren Church, is in charge of the Union Thanksgiving committee. Other members of his group are Rev. Crumrine, Rev. Harold Dutt, Rev. Smoot and the pastor of the host church. The place where the service will be held has not been announced as yet.

Territories have been assigned to each of the local churches participating in the religious census to be taken on Nov. 8.

Glenwood WSCS Plans Special Prayer Week

The week of prayer and self-denial will be observed at Glenwood Methodist Church under the leadership of Mrs. L. E. Gatten, beginning Monday, Oct. 27, and continuing through Friday, Oct. 31. Services will be held in the church parlor from 10 to 11 each morning except Tuesday, when it will be held in the sanctuary from 9:30 a. m. until 12 m. The following will participate in the week of prayer services:

Monday, Mrs. C. H. Witherspoon and Mrs. F. C. Edwards; Wednesday, Mrs. Alva Brown and Mrs. G. Heffron; Thursday, Mrs. H. C. Weiler and Mrs. Ralph Kimes; Friday, Mrs. J. G. Dill and Mrs. L. E. Kline. Mrs. L. E. Kuhlwein will be in charge of the music for these days.

On Tuesday, which is the "quiet day," Mrs. Gatten will be the conductor and Rev. J. B. Shellhaas, Mrs. C. E. Hill, Mrs. Irene Hoyt, Mrs. A. R. Fox and Mrs. E. G. Cockfield will present meditations on Love, Dependence, Sacrifice and Vocation. Mrs. Clyde Moore will be at the organ and special music will be furnished by the trio, Mrs. Lawrence Earle, Mrs. H. F. Remington and Mrs. Roger Jones.

"This is an important week in the program of the Women's Society of Christian Service, affording as it does an opportunity not only for spiritual rededication but also for sharing material gifts with those institutions which are fostering Christian living in this and other countries, a spokesman for the group said.

Some manufacturers of cars point out that the shortage of steel has been a good thing, in a way, for it has brought into use more high tensile steels which have added strength to body and other parts.

Detroit reports a few of the new 1948 cars will appear soon after the first of the year. But some will not be on the showroom floors until mid-summer. In the matter of styling, Ford is the only company to announce its cars will be completely new from bumper to bumper.

To Address Missionary Group

Rev. Breaden

Rev. Howard

The annual missionary convention of Cocherl Memorial Alliance Church will be held Thursday and Friday nights, Oct. 23 and 24, and Sunday, Oct. 26, at both morning and evening services.

The missionary speakers will be Rev. George Breaden of Palestine and Rev. E. P. Howard of French West Africa. In addition to the speaking there will also be motion pictures of missionary work. Rev. C. C. Dutt, pastor of the local church, explained that all services are open to the public.

Rev. Howard started his missionary work in French West Africa in 1925. His work in that field has included opening of Bible schools in various areas. He has been almost continuously on the mission field and is now on furlough.

Rev. Breaden's term of service in Palestine started in 1923. He has been instrumental in bringing about the conversion of many in the lands described in the old and new Testaments. He uses color slides and color movies with his sermons.

Hilltop Parents' Assn. To Launch Membership Drive During November

The Hilltop Parents' Association is launching a membership campaign beginning Monday, Nov. 31, and continuing through Nov. 20. The association is promoting a program that is helping people of all ages on the Hilltop to make good use of their leisure time. It is now operating a kindergarten at the Wheatland Avenue Methodist Church five days a week. Two teachers are employed and 35 pupils are enrolled.

The teachers are Mrs. Elizabeth O'Neil Reid and Mrs. Ruth Perkins. Both of these women are graduates of Ohio State University, where they specialized in kindergarten work.

Classes in sewing and knitting are being taught each Wednesday evening. Classes in dramatics have been formed as well as classes in music, which include piano and voice. A class in drum and two or three wind instruments is in the making also. A workshop is being headed by Prof. H. H. Wood, a former teacher of State Teachers' College, Montgomery, Ala.

All persons ranging from the age of seven to 80 or more are welcome to enroll. Many interesting trades will be taught. These classes will be held Monday through Friday from 6:30 to 7:30 p. m. and Saturdays from 1 to 7 p. m. All these classes are being held at the Wheatland Avenue Methodist Church.

A varied recreational program is being planned for people of all ages also.

All persons can help by becoming contributing members of this association. On the above dates there will be at least 100 volunteer workers who will call at the homes of the Hilltop to take memberships for a year. A membership costs a dollar and up. The goal is at least 600 members. Mrs. Delbert Fullerman, Sr., is president of the association.

102 Are Present At Song Service

The bi-weekly Hilltop Hymn Sing was attended by 102 persons Sunday night at the Immanuel Baptist Church. Six churches were represented and the attendance banner was won by Glenwood Methodist Church.

The next song service will be held on the evening of Nov. 2 at the Glenwood Church.

Volunteer Nurse's Aide Training Course To Start

A Red Cross volunteer nurse's aide training course will be given starting Tuesday, Nov. 4. The 80-hour course consists of six weeks of classroom work, followed by 45 hours of hospital training.

The class will meet twice weekly on Tuesdays and Thursdays and is open to women 18 years of age or over. Volunteers who have already registered for the class are asked to get their physical examination reports in as soon as possible.

The neecssity for Red Cross to train more nurse's aides is due to a request from hospital officials for this service. If all requests are met by the Red Cross, 200 more women are needed. There is still a shortage of nurses and a request for this service is also being met at the Columbus Cancer Clinic.

More than 20 Red Cross nurse's aides are working with the polio patients at Children's Hospital.

To enroll in this volunteer nurse's aide class, call the corps chairman, Mrs. George C. McConnaughey, 2179 Fairfax-rd; vice-chairman Mrs. Frank J. Connor, 1663 Bryden-rd. or Red Cross headquarters, MA. 6841. Arrangements will be made for a personal interview.

SUNFLOWER

Your dark heart speaks of conquest won
For it was watered by pioneer blood,
Your petals, dauntless as the sun,
Marked a strong and vivid trail
Across a bitter wilderness
Cut by neither road nor rail,
You are the vanguard of a state,
The passionate outstretching of a nation,
The incarnation of the prairie's fate.

Come—Bring A Friend

Briggsdale and Brown Road

By Mrs. Harry Downing

Mrs. E. C. Horn, Miami, Fla., sister of Mrs. John B. Briggs of Briggsdale, has returned to her home following a month's visit here with relatives and friends. Her son, Victor Horn, and wife of Parkersburg, W. Va., were also guests last week-end at the Briggs home

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Arnold, 1721 Brown-rd, are the parents of a son born Oct. 15 at Mt. Carmel Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Stevenson, Jr., 2276 Harrisburg-pk, accompanied by their children, made a business trip to Cleveland a week ago yesterday.

Mrs. E. E. Swain, 45 Midland-av, was hostess yesterday to the Briggsdale WCTU. Newly elected officers are Mrs. W. E. Langdon, president, Mrs. W. S. Williams, vice-president, Mrs. Mary White, secretary, and Mrs. Logan Watts, treasurer.

Harley O'Day, 2066 Eakin-rd, was among the Columbus Shriners who attended the dedication of the new Shrine home in Gallipolis last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Ryan of Briggsdale announce the birth of a daughter, Oct. 17, in White Cross Hospital.

Briggsdale PTA met Oct. 14. A Hallowe'en party was held for both children and adults. Cider and doughnuts were served. Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Haughn, Clime-rd, won the prize for the best adult costumes. Joe Yates and Beverly McNabe were winners among the youngsters. During the business meeting plans were discussed for the magic show and cookie sale to be held soon. A paper drive, yesterday and today, is being conducted by the PTA.

Don Gerling, 789 Brown-rd a polio patient in Children's Hospital, is slightly improved and is able to spend very short periods of time outside the iron lung.

Mr. and Mrs. Oakey Bapst and sons, Chamters-av, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shilling, Harrisburg-pk, attended the Ohio Western Horse Show Sunday afternoon at the coliseum. "Flash", owned by Mr. Shilling, won fifth prize in the exhibit.

The W. W. Class of Briggsdale Church held a wiener roast Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Harry Shilling.

Mrs. L. E. Wells, 1153 Brown-rd, is recuperating in Doctors' Hospital from a recent operation.

The new Brown Road Community Church bus will probably be used next Sunday morning to pick up members of the congregation in the vicinity of Brown-rd, Harrisburg-pk, Frank-rd and Jackson-pk. The orange and black converted school bus was bought through free-will offerings. The bonded driver will be Fields Watson, a member of the church. Each passenger will be covered by insurance. The purchasing committee was composed of Rev. E. C. Anderson, pastor of the church the past five years, L. E. Wells, Brown-rd, and Charles Fannin, Jackson-av.

Mr. and Mrs. Don McNichols, Greenleaf-rd, spent the week-end in McArthur with Mrs. McNichols' grandmother, Mrs. Henry Meadows.

Mr. and Mrs. George Goodrich, 1905 Jackson-av, entertained Saturday evening with a birthday dinner in honor of their son, Richard, who celebrated his 16th birthday that day. Guests included Mrs. Mary Goodrich, 1901 Jackson-av, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Whiteman, Grove City, and Byron and Larry Goodrich, brothers of the guest of honor. The Goodrich family and Mr. and Mrs. Whiteman made a trip Sunday to Ash Cave and Jackson, Ohio.

Mrs. Walter Spanable, Hart-rd, Mrs. Charles Martin, Harrisburg-pk, and Mrs. Homer Grant, Alkire-rd, attended the Parent Education Study Group meeting of the PTA which was held a week ago Monday at the board of education building, 270 E. State-st.

The Wilson Study Group met a week ago yesterday at the school house. Thirteen ladies were present for the first meeting of the year. Refreshments were served following the discussion. The next meeting will be held in the evening of Nov. 12 at the home of Mrs. George Goodrich, 1905 Jackson-av. Mrs. Walter Spanable, Hart-rd, is the study group leader.

News of Rome

By Mrs. E. C. Sheets

Mr. and Mrs. Russel Broyles, who recently came from Detroit and lived at 246 Hilliards-Rome Road, are now located in their new home, 400 Smith-rd.

The community is glad to welcome back Mr. and Mrs. Forest Daugherty and three sons, who have been living for the past few years on Harrisburg-pk. They will be remembered as Pauline and Bud. It seems that Bud has never been away, as his work brought him back quite often. It was good to see Pauline (Reibel) at the piano for PTA meeting Thursday night.

According to information received from Delmar Kunz, Maple-dr, during the past week two properties have exchanged owners. The Smith property, 150 Buena Vista, has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. Beaucamp and the McBride property, 141 Buena Vista, was sold to Mr. and Mrs. Hoskinson.

The Rome Study Club was delightfully entertained Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Joe Stormont, Pasadena-av. The highlight of the evening was the very interesting talk given by Mrs. Robert Richards, who has traveled quite extensively. She had a collection of more than 100 dolls in native costumes as well as work-a-day clothes. The assisting hostesses were Mrs. Oscar Baker, Mrs. Frank Calland and Mrs. Floyd Armstrong.

Reva Jean Nichols, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. T. Nichols, W. Broad-st, has been chosen by Mary Kohler, her home economics teacher of Hilliards' High School, to represent that school on the Lazarus high school sewing board. This project is under the direction of Kay Allen, fabrics stylist at the F. & R. Lazarus Co. Several garments will be made throughout the year and each will be modeled at a style show to be held at the Lazarus Center. While being an active 4-H Club member was not necessary for this achievement, in Reva's case her ability in sewing is a good background.

The WSCS meeting was held at the Columbia Heights Church on Oct. 15. It was the regular pot-luck luncheon. Mrs. O. J. Bailey, district Sunday School worker, was the afternoon speaker.

The Young Married Class of the Columbia Heights Church held its regular meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kings. It was a masquerade affair, in keeping with the season. Those who attended masked were Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Lamb, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Norton-rd, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Glass, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Denman, Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Schroeder; also Rev. and Mrs. Elwood Rose, who arrived a little late, but in good time to enjoy the delicious refreshments.

The auction and square dance put on by the PTA Saturday night was a big success. When the call for a square dance is made in a community such as Rome, practically every one turns out. It looked like a big family reunion. Every one knew every one. In some "sets" a father would be teaching and guiding his daughter through the calls, while in another set, a daughter would be telling her father just what to do.

The Rome PTA put on a very good program at its regular meeting Thursday evening. Harry Eberhard was in charge. Dick Glass, scout leader of Troop No. 131, had a very impressive service for two of his new members. Mrs. Foresman gave a review of the work of her 4-H Girls' Club and Virginia West, who has the Girl Scouts, had a good representation of members. In this number was a song by Nancy Growdon, Fisher-rd, done in costume, entitled "Fussin', Feudin' and Fightin'." She had her rifle to make it more real.

The first Saturday of December is the date for the Young Married Class to have its Christmas bazaar. Members are working very diligently every other Friday afternoon and expect a good crowd to purchase their gifts. The supper will be served cafeteria style.

At the Hilliards Jamboree, to be held Nov. 14, when barber shop quartets will really try for honors, there will be four quartets from this community. They will represent the Rome School, Rome Study Club, four men from Columbia Heights Church and another of younger voices.

Mr. Reeves and Dr. T. E. Nichols of W. Broad-st attended the K. of P. ceremonial in Nelsonville last week. Mr. Reeves is a charter member of Champion Lodge of Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fast, Pasadena-av, entertained the Sunday School of Franklin Township Friends Church Saturday evening. Mrs. Fast's brother, F. R. Carson, is superintendent of this Sunday School. There were about 75 on hand to enjoy the wiener roast.

Mrs. Sarah Bayles, Cleveland, is spending several days with Mrs. Fred Fast, Pasadena-av.

Saturday night will be the Men's Forum. All the men of the community who are interested in "Labor and Inflation" are invited to be present to hear Dr. George S. Lackland, pastor of Indianola Methodist Church. Although he is a native of England, he has always been interested in labor activity during his pastorates in Denver, Meadville, Pa., New Haven and Columbus. The forum dinner will be served promptly at 6:30.

West Y-Teen Club Officers Will Meet

Officers of the Y-Teen Club at West High School will be among those from all over the city who will attend the Y-Teen Cabinet Training Course at the YWCA, 65 S. Fourth-st, Friday, Oct. 24, from 1 to 3 o'clock.

They include Patty Wolfendale, Harriett Worthington, Marion Martin, Shirley Bailey, Donna Beck, Marilyn Bonnett, Barbara Clarkin, Joan Duffy, Jeannine George, Ann Herbert, Ann Hood, Billie Lombard, Carol Mielke, Cherry Moss, Janie Prior, Shirley Thurell, Mary E. Willer.

The program will open with singing and introductions. There will be discussion groups concerning leadership of every phase of club program, and the meeting will close with a social hour. Margaret Galbeck, director for teenage program at the YWCA, a member agency of the Community Chest, will be in charge.

Shadeless Windows, Leaky Roof Characterize Living Quarters of City Firemen

By Bob Wiener

"We want to spend more time with our families than we are able to do now. Everybody else in the country has a 40-hour week, why not the firemen?"

That is the concensus of firemen at Engine House No. 17, Wheatland-av and W. Broad-st, in regard to the proposed 40-hour week for firemen which Columbus voters will have a chance to vote on in next Tuesday's election.

Initiation of such an ordinance by voters' petitions was made by Local No. 67, International Association of Firefighters (AFL). City Council last July 7 ordered the question put on the ballot so the voters could decide the issue.

Under the present system firemen work one 24-hour shift and then have 24 hours off. Every two weeks they get one whole day off. This averages out to a 72-hour work week. The firemen at Engine House 17 were unanimous in endorsing the proposal for a shorter week. They cited the fact that even though they did get 24 hours off at a stretch they are away from home almost every other night. They said it is an irregular way of working and induces a certain amount of hardship on their families.

Just to see how firemen "live" when on duty but not fighting fires, I visited Engine House 17. This house was built in 1913, shortly after the flood. It has two engines—a pumper and a ladder truck. A full company of nine men, including a captain, is on duty each shift. The shifts change at 7:55 each morning.

When not putting out fires firemen may be out making building inspections to check for violations of fire laws, or making recommendations to increase a building's protection against fire. All types of buildings except private homes are inspected in this manner once each month.

At other times they may be cleaning the engines or the fire house itself, and much of the time they have nothing to do. In summer they must inspect all fire hydrants once a week. In winter when freezing weather comes the hydrants must be checked once every 48 hours, and any water between the surface and the underground water main must be pumped out.

Build Own Pump

To do this job the department provides a small hand pump which requires about 100 strokes and about 10 minutes to clear out a hydrant. The men at Engine House No. 17, however, have built themselves a one-cylinder electric pump from parts they gathered themselves. This does the job in about four minutes without any effort being expended.

In the back of the fire house, on the ground floor, is a kitchen where two meals a day are prepared by one of the firemen who acts as cook. The cook gets no extra pay for this and must perform his regular fireman's duties besides. He must buy food each day he is on duty. At the end of the day each fireman pays him his pro-rated share of the cost of that day's two meals. Equipment in the kitchen was all obtained by the firemen except for the refrigerator which came from another engine house when it was closed down.

Also on the ground floor is the most important part of any fire house—the place where the fire apparatus is kept.

In one corner of this main garage is a telephone booth which links the house with central fire headquarters downtown. Here is kept the official log of all calls coming over this phone. The city provides no clock for the fire house so the two clocks are owned by two of the men, including the one from which the time is entered on the official log. As the city provides no other telephone than the one linking the house with headquarters the men chip in each month to pay for a private phone of their own.

In a separate garage attached to the main fire house is an auxiliary pumper. When big fires call out both of the regular pieces of apparatus for any length of time, the firemen who are off duty are called back to man this truck so the Hilltop will still have some fire protection. They stay on duty till the regular apparatus comes back. Firemen receive no extra pay for this but are allowed an equivalent amount of time off duty.

No Shades On Windows

On the second floor is a large dormitory-style sleeping room extending across the front of the building. There are no shades on the windows and firemen must undress in the dark as people living across Broad-st can see in their windows. That's why the two electric fixtures, with four sockets each, contain only one bulb apiece. When a fire comes in the middle of the night, however, a fireman steps on the platform surrounding the brass pole down which they slide to the engines. This automatically turns on the lights so they can see as they dress hurriedly and dash for the pole.

There is no heat in the sleeping room. The captain on duty sleeps by himself in a room off the main sleeping room. He has a tattered shade on the window and one radiator, scarcely enough to heat the whole second floor.

There are two bathrooms on the second floor, containing four sinks, two toilets, and one bathtub. Firemen can use the tub only when every man assigned to the house on a particular shift is at the house. However, they have installed a shower downstairs which they can use at any time.

Roof Leaks

Because the roof leaks, four pails are kept on the attic floor to catch rainwater and prevent it from going through to the sleeping room. Other leaks are evident around the sidewalls of the attic.

The department furnishes each man with two sheets and pillowcases and one hand towel which must last him for two weeks before they are laundered. The city pays for cleaning these at a private laundry. It has been only recently that the city began furnishing such items as soap and toilet paper, however.

All in all the firemen at No. 17 live in pretty bare surroundings. Though they are employed primarily to fight fires, they must spend many hours at the fire house. The city fails to provide them with a number of essential items which they have had to supply themselves. The routine is dull until that alarm rings. Then the hustle and excitement pervades the house. Men dash for the engines and grab their boots and helmets. The doors are opened and the trucks speed away as the firemen prepare to fight another destructive fire.

You Have A Duty To Perform Next Tuesday

With discussions of Communism taking the floor everywhere one goes these days, it will be interesting to note how many individuals in the city of Columbus exercise their right to cast a ballot at the election next Tuesday.

Former Mayor of Cincinnati, James G. Stewart, speaking at the Kiwanis Club meeting last Thursday, pointed out that every city in the United States has just the kind of government it deserves. A do-nothing attitude on the part of the public will result in a sloppy city government.

While it is a fact that there are no major issues before the voters this time, it nevertheless should not be overlooked that this is your opportunity to have your say in the city government.

The Record has never made it a policy to endorse any large slate of candidates but we do feel that some very special attention should be called to certain offices to be filled.

While four vacancies on the Columbus Board of Education are to be filled we feel that by all means Robert M. Draper should be returned to this body.

Mr. Draper is president of the board and has served on the board for eight years and is well acquainted with the needs of our schools. He is a Hilltopper, living at 74 N. Roys-av, father of two children. The Hilltop will have a direct representative on the board only if Mr. Draper is returned. We feel his services have been such that he is deserving of a fine vote of confidence from the public.

With four posts to be filled in city council it appears likely that the Republicans will have a complete victory by sending their four candidates to this body thus making it 100% Republican.

We have long felt that city council should never be a body of "yes" men, which is generally true under a one party council. One or more Democrats should be placed in that body.

Of the candidates running this time the Hilltop can do well to throw its support to George Tarbutton, attorney and newcomer to politics.

It has appeared for some time that the Democratic organization was willing to concede this election to the GOP in full and thus their candidates have been fighting an up hill battle with little organization help.

Even in the face of this fact Tarbutton has entered the race with a genuine interest and a type of leadership that has been so noticeably lacking in his party.

He has a good background and is respected in many circles in Columbus. A vote for him from both Republicans and Democrats will be one for a progressive city council and not a willingness to adhere to whatever demands the Republican organization may make.

Take some time now to study these matters out. Take a stand on the Ohio Bonus, the gasoline tax question, the shorter hours for firemen . . . and then go to the polls next Tuesday and do it the American way . . . VOTE!

HCC Halloween Party To Be Held Tomorrow Night

A night of gala fun and merrymaking for Hilltoppers of all ages will again be the order of the day as the Hilltop Community Council sponsors its third Halloween party, Oct. 31, at West High School.

Charles Reichelderfer is chairman of the special events committee in charge of the party, which will begin at 7 p. m. and run simultaneously with the West-East football game.

It was stated this week by Irvin F. Young, principal of West High School, that the party in the school will end at the conclusion of the football game. Because of the large crowd expected at the party, as well as at the game, spectators at the game will not be admitted to the school, Mr. Young said.

Last year's party drew approximately 3,400 celebrants and the first Halloween party two years ago had 4,200 persons packed into the school. It is expected that another overflow crowd will attend the party this year despite the competition from the football game.

Two Programs

Simultaneous programs will be conducted in the gymnasium and the auditorium. Dancing, jitterbug contests, costume awards and election of a Hilltop Halloween Queen will take place in the gymnasium.

In the auditorium seven pupils of Edward Walker, dancing teacher at the new American Legion Hall, Broad-st and Burgess-av, will put on a show featuring soft shoe, rhythm and tap dancing. Participating in this will be Vicky Sue Hannish, David Fisher, Ronnie Southall, Carol Ann Kauder, Brenda K. Menz, Judy Jester and Florence Compton.

Also on the auditorium program will be several cartoon movies and short subjects and the awarding of prizes in the Hilltop Kiwanis Club window decorating contest.

Approximately 400 entrants are taking part this year in this contest, Woody Clark, chairman, said this week. About 300 stores have been decorated. Altogether 24 prizes will be awarded to winners. First prize in each of the three groups of competition will be $10; second prize, $5; and third prize, $3. In addition, five honorable mention prizes of $1 will be made in each group.

The prizes will be awarded by Ed Planck, president of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club.

Shelter House Closed

Assisting the Community Council at the party will be Jerry Jeroux and Betty Bush, supervisors at the Glenwood Shelter House, which will be closed on Halloween night.

One of the most popular events of the past two parties has been the fish-pond and cake walk. These will be sponsored by the Parent-Teacher organizations of the Highland Avenue, John Burroughs, Mound Street and West Broad Street schools.

What's In A Name? Residents Of Three Local Streets To Find Out

Two streets on the Hilltop will have their names changed and Terrace-av will become that officially for its entire length, the City Engineering Department said this week.

The two streets are Highland-av, which will become Chardon-av, and Westwood-dr, which will be known as Woodside-dr, if the name changes proposed by the City Engineering Department are approved.

Terrace-av is listed officially by the city as Terrace-st north of Sullivant-av and as Terrace-av south of Sullivant-av. A few years ago it was unofficially made Terrace-av, but the city failed to change it by an appropriate ordinance.

The changes are among 70 to be made throughout the city before new street signs are erected. Paul W. Maetzel, city engineer, recommended the new names in a letter last week to Mayor James A. Rhodes to eliminate the confusion which now exists over streets bearing the same names.

No Duplications

Hereafter, no streets in Columbus will have the same names with different endings. In other words, such duplication as Highland-av and Highland-st will be eliminated. The only exceptions will be in numbered streets and avenues, the designations of which will not be changed.

Before the new street names come into effect they must be approved by City Council and an ordinance designating the changes must be passed. A public hearing on the new names will be held before council acts.

Altogether about 1200 new street signs will be placed on street intersections throughout the city. Streets that are undeveloped or which have no traffic will not receive the new signs.

The new markers have a white background with black letters three and one-half inches high. They will not bear the words "street or "avenue." A sample of the new signs may be seen at Broad and Front-sts. The whole project will cost about $50,000, the City Engineering Department said.

Wife And Mother Of Lt. Butte To Join Him At Italian Station

Two Hilltop women left Columbus, Tuesday, for New York where they will board an army transport this week-end for a year or more stay in Italy.

They are Mrs. Velma Butte and Mrs. Hazel Butte, 180 N. Powell-av, who are going to Anzio to join Lt. Charles D. Butte, stationed there with Headquarters Co., American Graves Registration Service. Mrs. Velma Butte is the wife of Lt. Butte and Mrs. Hazel Butte is his mother.

They are driving to New York and will report to Ft. Hamilton, Brooklyn, to await departure of the transport. The ship will carry 13 wives of service men and four children, all going to join their soldier husband-fathers in Europe.

Lt. Butte, a graduate of West High School in 1938, is commanding officer of the Anzio detachment of the graves registration service. At present his company is searching that area in Italy for isolated and unmarked graves of American service men killed there during the war.

A five-room apartment awaits them in Anzio. They are taking such things as a stove, refrigerator, radio, and washing machine with them.

Enlisted In 1943

Lt. Butte enlisted in the army in February, 1943, and was stationed in Germany, Belgium and France with the graves registration service for 22 months before being discharged in December, 1945. He re-enlisted in the army in November, 1946, and was sent to Italy last February.

Before entering the army he attended Indiana University, where he played on the freshman football team; Wittenberg College and Ohio State University. He has been married five years.

Mrs. Hazel Butte, formerly a cashier at the Sparks-Kent Market on W. Broad-st, intends to stay in Italy about a year. Her daughter-in-law will stay with her husband until he is discharged, probably in 1950. The two women received notification only last Friday that they had to be in New York today and ready to leave by the week-end. They have been planning the trip since April.

Lt. Butte's address is Hq. AGRS, MTZ, APO 794 c/o Postmaster, New York, N. Y.

Central Ohio Football Fans Are Asking

Who Is This Guy Pemberton?

By Paul Wichterman

Who is this guy Pemberton?

That's a question that has been on the lips of many city gridiron fans as the West High School team rolls forward in the direction of a city championship. Rating scant attention in the early phases of the season, the Cowboys are now rated sixth in the state with an unlied and undefeated record of seven wins for the season.

Still a comparative newcomer to city high school athletics, Mack Pemberton was named head football coach at West a year ago last summer following the resignation of Dale Rose, now grid mentor at Capital University. His first team finished fourth place in the city race but just missed a three-way tie for second by the margin of one tie game.

None of the sports writers gave his team serious consideration

Cowboys Face East Tomorrow

West faces its biggest challenge for city gridiron supremacy tomorrow night when East High invades Macky Field at 8 o'clock. Advance ticket sale for adults started on Monday of this week and will continue up until Friday evening. They may be purchased at the West High senior office and at East High School. A capacity crowd is virtually assured.

this year until after the first three or four games were played. His boys looked as if they were going down to defeat in that opening game with Springfield. They had been outplayed almost most of the first three periods, then something happened that was the turning point in that game and possibly had a strong bearing on the entire season.

Penalized 15 Yards

The officiating was poor to say the least. Finally, unable to take more of the same, Mack rushed out on the field to protest. His protest cost his boys a 15-yard penalty but it was the spark they needed to catch fire. The team began to click and in less than 10 minutes' time had scored three touchdowns to down Springfield 20 to 12.

I heard one of the boys say after that game, "The coach is alright. He was out there to see that we got a square deal. I'll play for a guy like that."

The whole team has kept playing like that all season; for the most part showing some improvement each game. The big test will, of course, come tomorrow night when Mack will have to match wits with Ralph Webster, one of the craftiest mentors in the business.

The West High coach makes no bones about it. He's superstitious. The first eleven boys he started in that Springfield game came through. He hasn't changed his starting lineup since that night and won't unless, as he puts it, "someone breaks a leg and can't stand out there on the field for the opening kickoff. Last week Starling Hutt had not recovered fully from an ankle injury suffered in the North game. He went out for the opening kickoff and then directly to the bench. He was never put back in the game but he was the starter.

All that fuss about playing with a white or brown ball tomorrow night is another one of his superstitions. Mack doesn't give a hoot whether the ball is white, brown or purple. The fact

Record Advertisers Get Good Results

Mrs. Robert R. Fisher, 2654 Valleyview Drive, vouches for the efficiency of Record Want Ads. Advertising a washer in last week's Record, at the cost of 36c, she sold it on the first call at the price she wanted, and received thirty-four other calls later.

Paper Drive Sunday Netted $468 In Cash

The West High Boosters Club paper drive conducted on the Hilltop Sunday afternoon netted $468, Phillip Stout, chairman of the drive, announced this week.

Ed Witherspoon Hurt When Grandview Bleacher Seat Falls

One Hilltopper will not soon forget the widely heralded grid struggle between Grandview and Bexley last Thursday night.

He is Ed Witherspoon, 172 Lechner-av, laid up in Mt. Carmel Hospital with a fractured right ankle and foot. He received the injury when a top row in the temporary bleachers gave way, hurling eight or 10 persons to the ground.

The local electric appliance dealer was the only person reported seriously injured. He was taken to University Hospital for x-rays and later transferred to Mt. Carmel where he is expected to be confined for several weeks. Dr. C. O. Cramer is the attending physician.

Witherspoon operates the Better Homes Center, 2775 W. Broad st. Other members of the firm will continue to operate the business during his absence.

Sing For GOP Rally Tonight

Hilltop's Garbage Dump Quickly Closed By Mayor

That garbage you threw out in the can yesterday may not be very far from you today even though the garbage men have collected it.

A Record reporter visited the city's newest garbage dump this week at McKinley-av, just north of Fisher-rd, and found trucks dumping the stuff over an embankment on the east side of McKinley-av, and a bulldozer pushing cinders over it to make a track for more garbage trucks to dump more garbage.

This method of disposing of city garbage has been in effect down on the city farm for some time it was learned this week.

Elmer Keller, city service director, when contacted Tuesday afternoon, stated he did not know the garbage was being dumped in this section of the city and that "if it is going on, it will be taken care of in the best possible [redacted] It is a temporary measure because of repairs being made to the city incinerator."

Questioned about the progress of the city garbage plant authorized by the voters when they approved a $200,000 bond issue in 1945, Keller stated that the project is in the planning stage.

Mayor James A. Rhodes advised the Record Tuesday that he had issued orders that no more garbage is to be dumped in this fashion at the McKinley-av spot.

Former Hilltoppers Win Blue Ribbons For Fine Cattle

Three former Hilltop children, who have been living on a farm near Basil for little more than a year, won first places in two classes and the grand champion award for their bull and two heifers at the recent Fairfield County Fair at Lancaster.

They are Charles, Howard and Wallace Wright, ages 13, 12 and 10, children of C. O. Wright, who formerly owned a grocery store at Highland and Sullivant-avs.

The animals were entered with the 4-H Club group and were the first entries in livestock competition the children ever made.

3 Local Men In Election

RALLY SPEAKER

Senator John W. Bricker will address the Republican rally at West High School auditorium tonight.

Republican Rally To Be Held Tonight

Three Hilltoppers and a Hilltopper-to-be will be central figures in the general election next Tuesday. Republicans will climax their campaign locally with a big rally in the auditorium of West High School tonight with Senator John W. Bricker as the principal speaker.

Local men seeking office in the Tuesday election are Robert M. Draper, George Tarbutton, P. W. Spence and Herbert Dailey (soon to become a Hilltopper).

The rally tonight is designed to pack the school auditorium with voters from the 10th and 11th wards. Big attraction in addition to the Hon. Mr. Bricker is an attractive list of prizes to be given those who attend the rally.

The prizes will include two tickets (railroad fare included) to the Michigan-Ohio State football game, eight turkeys, candy, electrical appliances and numerous door prizes. No admission will be charged but tickets will be given to all comers for the prize drawings. Judge Cecil J. Randall will be chairman of the meeting and will introduce the candidates and the speaker. None of the candidates will be permitted to speak.

Leo Uridil is in charge of the prizes. L. M. Parkins, president of the 10th Ward Republican Club, and Carl Lucas, president of the 11th Ward GOP Club, and Joe Enright are serving on the attendance committee. Agnes Cain, 10th Ward Republican committeeman, is chairman of the attendance committee.

Quartet To Sing

Jinx Witherspoon, 172 Lechner-av, and Frank Ongaro, 57 Letchworth-av, will appear on the entertainment program as will the "Spence-for-clerk" male quartet.

All registered voters in Precinct T of the 11th Ward will vote in the basement of 212 N. Terrace-av, instead of the voting house formerly located at the corner of Eureka and Steele-avs.

Among the special issues to be considered by voters Tuesday is the proposed 40-hour week for city firemen.

In Franklin Township voters will elect a trustee, clerk, constable and two members of the board of education. There are no candidates registered for the office of the justice of the peace.

Candidates for trustee are William J. Mock, 986 Whitethorne-av, and L. W. Hendershott, 1490 Arlington-av (the incumbent). Paul Wichterman, 1640 Reaverln, is unopposed for clerk of the board as is John L. Quelette, 1032 Harrisburg-pk, who is now serving as constable.

Two men are seeking re-election to the board of education in Franklin Township. They are Edward O. Clime, 4032 Climepk, and Robert A. Jahn, 701 Stimmel-rd. Leslie R. Graham, 953 Midland-av, is the third candidate for the office.

59% Of Goal Is Raised By Fund Workers

Community Chest workers were renewing their efforts to raise the total goal of $5,000 assigned to the West Residential Division. At the luncheon report Tuesday noon 59.7 per cent of that goal had been raised with approximately 40 per cent yet remaining. The victory dinner is to be held Monday evening at the Southern Hotel when it is hoped the $1,247,000, representing the county's 1948 goal, will be reported.

This 25th Community Chest will support 66 Red Feather agencies during next year.

The West Residential Division now stands in ninth place among all divisions and is last among residential groups in the greater Columbus area.

Following are the names of additional workers in the Community Chest campaign which the Record did not include in its list of workers last week:

Hilltop: Majors — Charles P. Maus, 70 N. Westgate-av; captains—Mrs. L. M. Rausch, 3008 Olive-st; Mrs. Howard Helwagen, 585 Columbian-av; Mrs. Leona H. Wills, 3007 Sullivant-av; Mrs. H. C. Booth, 646 S. Richardson-av; Mrs. R. J. Henkel, 762 S. Eureka-av; Mrs. Robert J. Trott, 574 Townsend-av; Mrs. Harold Beard, 635 Woodbury-av.

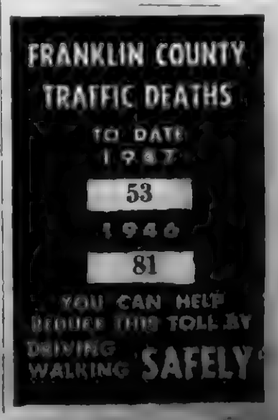
Aroused Public Essential In A Democracy



"If your city isn't as fine as you think it should be it's not the fault of the city hall. It's your fault as stockholders in the corporation."

Judge James G. Stewart, former mayor of Cincinnati, made this statement at the Thursday noon meeting of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club.

He pointed out that 16 years ago Cincinnati had one of the worst governed cities in the country and then the people were awakened and "got interested in city government for the first time."

"The things that make a city are the people who believe in it . . . those who are proud of it and believe they owe something to the conduct of their community," he pointed out.

Today's Kiwanis meeting will be addressed by Cmds. Thomas Langen, USN, stationed at Ohio State University. He will speak on "The Navy During War, Today and in the Future."

Vacation Trip Into Mexico Is Taken By Roushs

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Roush, 625 Napoleon-av, accompanied by their mother, Mrs. Alec Roush, 260 S. Warren-av, spent their vacation on a trip through the Southwest, going as far as Monterrey, Mex.

They report that the weather during their trip was ideal, with the temperature ranging from 80 to 100 degrees. The beautiful homes and flowers, and the contrast between the "palaces" and "shacks" impressed the Hilltop visitors, who said their trip would have meant more if they could have spoken the native language.

The Roush family was amazed at the preparation of corn in Mexico. The whole cob, "husks, worms and all," is put into a huge vat of boiling water setting on the sidewalk. The natives buy and eat the corn there in the street.

On the banks of a creek a native woman was seen doing her wash.

With all the things they saw, they were glad to get back to the Hilltop, "which is the best place to us, after all."

Who Is This Guy?

a brown ball this year, so brown is the team started winning with it's going to be from now on if he has anything to say about it—and he has.

The argument over what color ball should be used tomorrow night was taken down to Commissioner Harold Emswiler of the Ohio State Athletic Association. Coach Webster objected to a brown ball because, he contended, it was too near the color of the buff jerseys worn by the Cowboys. According to the rules, unless both coaches agree to use a white ball, it shall be a regular brown one. Commissioner Emswiler with Solomon-like wisdom finally got agreement by advising the use of a brown ball with white stripes. That's all right with Mack. It's still a brown ball.

Mack takes his football seriously. Before every game he always feels "bad." Not until a safe margin of victory is accounted for does he begin to "feel better." He makes no pretense of being a master at football strategy, for the most part playing a good conventional game. His offense is basically the T-formation with certain modifications. His passing game has not been outstanding over the season but passes have been completed at times when they have paid off in big dividends, like the one in the closing seconds of the first half of the North game for instance.

Consideration For The Boy

He will not play a boy whom he knows to be physically unfit for action. I have seen him sacrifice team strength at a time when it was needed badly and one player was begging to get back in the game.

"No ball game is as important as the health of one of my boys," is the way he explained it to me on the way home from the Springfield game this year. He sticks to that principle throughout the year.

Coach Pemberton has more patience with some of his players than the public. Last year as an example, Jim Slager was having a tough time filling the quarterback spot vacated by his brother, Dick, the year before. Dick had been an outstanding signal caller which made it double tough on Jim. But Mack believed Jim would make good with a little more experience. The fine manner in which he has run the team all this year showed that the coach did not misplace his confidence.

Mack is a native of Paulding County. He attended Bowling Green and Defiance Colleges. Before coming to West as an assistant to Rose in 1944, he taught and coached at Marengo and Sunbury.

The father of three children, he still finds it necessary to teach night school three days each week in addition to his daytime schedule of teaching and coaching. For several summers he has been park supervisor at Westgate Park while teaching forenoons at summer school. He is an active member of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club. He and Mrs. Pemberton and their children live at 176 S. Brinker-av.

Coach Pemberton has two capable assistants this year in the persons of Fred Heischman and Dave Randall. Heischman is quiet and, unassuming but figures much in backfield strategy. Randall, a local man, inspires a lot of enthusiasm in the team. He handles the line.

Student—I am awfully sorry. I really couldn't get back before. I was detained by most important business.

Professor—So you wanted two more days of grace, did you?

Student—No sir—of Gladys.

VFW Auxiliary To Present Flag

The Westway VFW Auxiliary 3441 plans to present an American flag to Boy Scout Troop 181 of Hillcrest Baptist Church on the evening of Nov. 10 at 7:30. The senior patrol leader, Harvey Binkley, will receive the flag for the troop. Edward Aufderheide (Blackie) is the scoutmaster. The patriotic instructor of the post, Jessie Egnor, will also take part in the presentation.

The regular business meeting will be held in the club rooms Nov. 7. On Nov. 12 a banquet for the department president will be given at the Neil House. Nov. 15 is the date set for the bake sale and bazaar at the Robinson Electric Store, corner of Wayne-av and W. Broad-st, and completing the month's activities is a meeting at the post hall on Nov. 21.

Each Thursday the sewing circle meets at the homes of various members of the auxiliary. Any member who would like to attend these meetings (a pot luck luncheon highlights each one) is invited to contact the president, Mrs. Madge Z. Weimer.

Football Dinner To Be Nov. 25

Whether or not the 1947 West High School football team wins the city championship this year, members of the squad and their coaches will be guests of the Hilltop Business Association at the annual fall banquet, Nov. 25 has been selected for the affair this year. The dinner will be held in the school cafeteria with turkey more than likely the number one item on the menu.

Rev. Lawrence Hall, associate pastor of the Christ Episcopal Church of Cincinnati, has been engaged to bring the address of the evening.

Heading the banquet committee is Phillip Stout. He is being assisted by O. H. Craft and William Southworth in charge of tickets and Ed Witherspoon, Ralston Westlake and Charles Reichelderfer are assisting with the program and other arrangements.

Because of space limitations, the dinner will be limited to 300 plates. It is scheduled to start at 7 p. m.

Sewer Project For Josephine-av Sector Only Engineer Says

Referring to a story on the extension of sanitary sewer service for the area west of the city, Frank Fitzgerald, engineer in the county sanitary department, said this week that his statement referred to the Josephine-av sector and areas north and west only.

Residents of Josephine-av have petitioned the Franklin County Commissioners to install a sanitary sewer connecting on to the Sullivant-av trunk.

Some residents of the Rea-Bow Addition interpreted the story to mean that similar sanitary sewer facilities would be available in their community. Mr. Fitzgerald makes it clear that he was speaking of the Josephine-av sector only.

Switzerland Is Relief From War-ridden Europe

By Mason B. Smith
(Copyright 1947 by the Author)

Geneva, August 2

After visiting Ireland, England, Portugal, Spain and Italy, it is a genuine relief to enter Switzerland, for it is the one country among this group which seems most like home. It is a land of sound money (the Swiss franc is second only to the dollar on the exchanges of Europe), and there is little poverty. In this two-class country, there are few rich people and very few poor. The major portion of the population is middle class. As my guide remarked in Lucerne (he had spent 23 years in the States as a mess sergeant in World War I and as a chef in San Francisco thereafter), "the only trouble is keeping up with the Joneses." But the real beauty of Switzerland, from the social standpoint, is that its people are thrifty, industrious and settled in their form of government. The whole country, as you traverse it from east to west, appears to have been put together with the same fine care and precision as a fine Swiss watch.

The analogy is, I think, an excellent one, for this is a land of many jewels of natural scenery. For the most part it is mountainous, with many magnificent views, and numerous beautiful lakes. A tourist paradise, it offers transportation of every kind to take you close to every view worth seeing. You can travel up and down the hairpin curves of the mountains in very comfortable buses, you can ride from peak to peak on aerial cable cars, and you can move from one place to another by train or steamer.

The precision is evident in the way the entire country is "kept up." Most of the farms are small, and the larger portion of the harvesting is done by hand scythe. Every available inch of tillable land is used, and not infrequently you see whole families cutting the hay on steep hillsides which in America we would consider uneconomic or impossible to mow. They live in an aura of extreme beauty, with tall mountains in the background, their own chalets and farm buildings nestled among the smaller hills. And once the haying is done, from a passing train the fields look as green and carefully mowed as a golf course in the States.

You see few farm buildings which look run down. In the cities the ancient monuments, instead of being allowed to fall into decay as they often are in other European countries, are kept in a perfect state of repair, the maintenance being done in the same way, and by the same methods, as the original. The cities are clean and neat, and there is a fragrance of cleanliness in the air. Automobile traffic —and this includes every known European and American car, in fact some of our newest makes—moves with reasonable speed and at a much slower pace than in the other cities I have visited. There is here—and it seems a bit unusual after Italy—some real regard for the pedestrian. You have the feeling that this is a disciplined people, but a free people, who have found a satisfactory answer to the question of government.

An ancient country, they celebrate their "Independence Day" with a genuine festival on Aug. 1, complete with fireworks and fiestas — there is similarity to America, in that Switzerland is made up of many different peoples, some of whom are native to the country, and others who have come here for refuge. An interesting feature of their government is the four official languages—German, which is predominant; French, principally in the West near France; Italian, in the area adjacent to Italy and Romansche, which is a kind of Germanic tongue, and the only native Swiss language. All four are spoken in the Parliament, which has a house comparable to our senate, and another similar to the house of representatives. Interpreters are assigned special places in these assemblies, to translate as required.

The Parliament House in Berne is a handsome domed building, and typically Swiss in that much of its decoration has been done in elaborately carved wood, most of it oak.

The people of the East and West differ, for in the eastern sections of the country, you do not find the same atmosphere of friendly cordiality that exists in say Geneva. The people are a bit more stiff in Lucerne, and the service in the hotels and restaurants is not as courteous or as efficient. In Geneva, the French influence provides the best in French cooking, and the best in hotel and restaurant service.

Although most foodstuffs are still rationed, there is plenty of food, all of it well prepared. As you enter the country, the immigration authorities supply you with ration coupons, when your visa is checked. You can get more when you run out. As a matter of fact, clearing customs and immigration in Switzerland —for an American at least—is very much like that between Canada and the United States, a very cursory, friendly, inspection.

To attract tourists, the government permits an American to cash up to $200 per week in travelers' checques, at a special tourist rate of 4.36 Swiss francs to the dollar. This would appear to work out advantageously to the traveler who is remaining in Switzerland only for a few days, because when you depart, you can change your Swiss francs back into dollars at the rate of 3.75 to the dollar. This procedure affords a profit of about $2.50 on every $20 you cash.

But the paradox is that prices are so high that your money goes very fast indeed. Costs here are very nearly the same as in the States, with the result that a visit to Lucerne or Geneva is about as expensive as a comparable visit to New York.

Living costs here, in fact, are about equal with those in America. The average workman receives 500 Swiss francs per month, plus a 100 franc cost-of-living bonus. The total amounts to about $150 per month. The cost of clothing and food here (and the only "short item" is sugar) is very close to ours and people here complain about the difference in wages and cost of living as in the States.

But there is no fear of Communism, because there is no good soil in which it can take root. The average Swiss is a solid type of citizen, who understands his obligation to his government as an obligation to himself, his family, his village, his canton and his way of life. He is, in essence, a capitalist, for the chances are he owns his own farm, or his own home, and he knows that he has freedom and a standard of living few other European peoples now enjoy.

The European ideal of self-sufficiency has come to full flower here in Switzerland, neutral through many wars which might have ruined her economy if it had not been for the determination of her people. Lacking coal for fuel and power, Switzerland had made admirable use of her potential hydro-electric power, and at the present time almost all her rail transport is powered by electricity, as are most of her few industries. The nation, during World War II, lived in constant dread that the rail tunnel to Italy, one of the great engineering triumphs of our time, might be bombed. She also feared invasion. And the reminders of war you see in Switzerland are all of a defensive nature: tank traps, posts set in huge rows in the field to ward off parachute troops, bomb-proof shelters for ammunition in deep mountain caves, hollowed out in the rock. It is refreshing to see a land with no bombed out buildings, no shell craters, no crumbling trenches.

It is an interesting fact that military conscription here is, and has been for years, an accepted fact. Most of the able-bodied men are held in a reserve status to the age of 60. There is no quarrel or discussion about it—it's just one of those things a good citizen must be willing to do in order to preserve his own freedom.

There are large numbers of people here from other nations, on business or as tourists. The French and British are in the greatest numbers, and it is hard to reconcile Britain's dire need for foreign exchange, with the large number of her people who are spending it over here in tourist travel. Not that the British don't deserve vacations—especially after all that they have been through in this war. But it seems strange that if foreign exchange is so short in Britain, the British should be expending it abroad, on the luxury of tourist travel.

Among the so-called tourist attractions here, as elsewhere on the Continent, are the "spectacles," concerts and theatrical revues, of which each country has its own specialty. The concerts in Switzerland are magnificent, provided by some of the world's best musicians. Their "spectacles" are comparable in plot to American stage revues, such as the stage productions at state and county fairs but while they are admirably conceived and rather well staged, there is something lacking in the way the show is performed.

In an American stage performance, the dancing is beautifully synchronized so that all the dancers move together in perfect rhythm. There is an attempt also at spontaneity, with smiles on the faces of the performers. It is a bit disappointing here to attend a stage show, heralded in huge posters as the greatest show ever presented in Switzerland—only to find that while the staging and costumes are magnificent, the dance routines are mediocre and poorly performed, by our standards, although the music is remarkably good.

After watching several European shows, one accepts them—until he visits a "cinema." Invariably, some part of the movie includes an American film, possibly a review of American dance bands such as one I saw in Geneva in a continuous newsreel theater. Then the comparison is unmistakable. One has the feeling that an American producer, with American theatrical experience, could come over here, engage European talent, train them according to American standards and stage a show which would bowl over any Continental audience. The fact that the American style is desirable is indicated by the strong popularity of American films. At least half of those on display in Geneva are imports from the United States, the balance being French.

Owner Of Hilltop's Smallest Business Establishment Has Many Friends Here

By Bob Wiener

"I guess I do have the smallest business establishment on the Hilltop," says Elpon Brown, "but I have lots of friends to keep me busy."

"Brownie," as he is known to his many friends and customers, is the proprietor of the shoeshine shop at the southeast corner of Hague-av and W. Broad-st, and has been doing business at that location for the past 12 years.

What few people probably know is that "Brownie" was a printer for 26 years until he was seriously injured in a composing room accident at the Columbus Dispatch in 1930.

"Brownie" started as an apprentice printer at the Southern Novelty Co. in 1904 when he was 18 years old. Two years later he got a job with the Columbus Citizen, then located on E. State-st. He was with the Citizen when they moved to their present location on N. Third-st.

During World War I he worked at the Jeffrey Manufacturing Co., and shortly after the war got a job with the Fred Heer Printing Co. He stayed there for several years before going to the Columbus Dispatch.

Hurt In 1930

It was Oct. 2, 1930, as "Brownie" vividly relates, that he was injured. While walking between two rows of steel tables on which page forms laden with type are placed, his foot caught in some brass galley trays that were standing on the floor, throwing him into the sharp corners of one of the tables. He suffered a smashed lumbar vertebra and a twisted spine as well as injury to his nervous system.

That ended his career as a printer. But a year later, with Harry Young, a friend of his, he founded the Tri-Community News, a weekly newspaper serving Gahanna, Shepard, Blacklick and Johnstown. The two partners did all the writing and sold their own advertising. They had the paper printed in Johnstown. After several years Young left the business and "Brownie" sold the paper.

"Brownie" knows the Hilltop from the days when W. Broad-st was only a two-lane gravel road. He was born in West Jefferson and moved here with his parents when he was seven years old. He went to Camp Chase School and later to the Highland School, which burned down subsequently.

Went To Central

Later he went to old Central High School on E. Broad-st. It was while he was playing quarterback on the football team in a game against West Jefferson that he got both knees knocked out of joint. That ended his football playing career. Today, however, he maintains an interest in the gridiron fortunes of West High and Ohio State University. He says he hasn't missed an Ohio State game on the radio in many a year.

"Brownie" lives at 85 S. Harris-av in a house his parents built. He recalls vividly that it was the fifth house to be built on Harris-av.

He likes to reminisce about the way things used to be on the Hilltop. He remembers playing ball in a field on the northwest corner of Hague-av and Broad-st, and he also remembers going to a medicine show in a tent on the southwest corner of the same intersection.

Sang in Quartet

But his fondest memories are of the days when he used to sing in quartets. "I've missed many a meal for a good quartet," he says, and then adds, "I'd rather sing than eat."

A number of years ago he was a member of a group that called itself the Barber Shop Quartet, Inc. They managed to get a booking to go on Keith's eastern circuit, but the quartet never left Columbus. One of the members had just gotten married and his wife wouldn't let him go!

"Brownie" doesn't do much singing any more. However, once in a while he gets a chance to harmonize with some of his friends. Singing is still his "hobby," he says, and he likes nothing better than to listen to a good quartet on the radio.

He remembers when he used to harmonize with his buddies on the corner of Broad and High on a Saturday night. "People don't sing on street corners any more," he says, and his eyes show a wistful look.

"Brownie" has a deep voice and a pleasing personality. And he'll talk to anyone about by-gone days.

"People just don't know or care about the history of the neighborhood in which they live," he says. "I've watched the Hilltop grow and I love it." He especially likes the corner of Hague and Broad, because, as he puts it, "something is always going on out here." His shop is only about 15 feet by three feet and has a front of glass panel doors. When he isn't busy waiting on a customer he usually sits and looks out at the traffic going by.

George Tarbutton In First Race For Office

Tarbutton

George Tarbutton, 2917 Crescent-dr, seeking the election to a seat in City Council, stated today that although this has been a long and arduous campaign and his first experience at seeking office, he nevertheless had found the campaign interesting and stimulating as well as educational in many respects.

From the time that he was first invited to become a candidate of the Democratic Party and urged to run, he stated that he has found municipal affairs of more vital interest than ever before and that he has done everything in his power to stimulate interest on the part of citizens of Columbus in the issues of this campaign and city affairs generally. Tarbutton says that he was surprised and a little chagrined to learn that so few citizens actually have a basic understanding and appreciation of the problems of municipal government or for that matter so few citizens who actually know the identity of the officials who operate the city government. He found very soon that not one citizen in 10 can name even the present members of the City Council. This fact in itself is a little appalling when you stop to consider that the members of City Council are in fact the board of directors who operate the municipal corporation in which all residents of the city have an interest and can be compared to stockholders of a private corporation, he says.

George Tarbutton is an attorney who lives on the Hilltop and takes part in Hilltop community affairs. He is a war veteran, with 32 months spent overseas in Africa and Italy, where he was in charge of criminal investigation and prosecution of criminal cases.

Upon being discharged from the army Tarbutton returned to live on the Hilltop and resume his civilian law practice. He is a member of many civic and community organizations, including the Hilltop Kiwanis Club, in which he has been very active as a member of the program committee. In addition to Kiwanis, Tarbutton takes an active part in boys' work and serves as a district commissioner of the Boy Scouts of America and teaches a class of boys at the Hoge Memorial Presbyterian Church, where he is a member.

In his campaign for election Tarbutton has advocated three improvements in our city administration. They are: adequate street repairs and maintenance, with attention to traffic problems arising on main thoroughfares; improvement of existing facilities at our city parks and playgrounds with a program for recreation based upon overall needs; adequate housing for veterans. These three topics have been discussed at all of the meetings and rallies and Tarbutton has stated that he feels these improvements will cover three of the city's most urgent problems. For financial relief Tarbutton feels that the charter amendment advocated by the Citizens' Tax League offers the best solution.

Starling News

Starling Gives Play

Starling Junior High School will present a play, "Out Our Way," at the PTA meeting Tuesday, Nov. 18, at 7:45 p. m.

This play was written by the dramatics classes and includes talent from the entire school. It takes place in the Allens' barn as a group of teen-agers are making the last-minute preparation for a barn dance.

The two older Allen children are played by Ralph Hight and Virginia Southard. Two of their friends are Bonnie Stimmel and Don Lynch.

There are several vocal musical numbers in the play, under the supervision of Mrs. Gertrude Woodin, and instrumental music under the supervision of Robert E. Rocky.

The three dance acts are presented by Shirley Huntsberry, Nancy Koch, Deloris Dennis, Johnnie Jones, Pat Winer, Florence Ramey and Patricia Munson.

There is also a skating act, made up of Dorothy Dailey, Pat Hawley, Elizabeth Roesch, Don Huber and Don Tucker, an acrobatic act by Joan and Juanita Sells, and an actual barn dance.

The play is open to parents and friends of Starling.

Y-Teen

By Mary Snyder

The Y-Teen Club of Starling Junior High School is now taking in new members. The officers remain the same as last year. They are as follows:

Barbara Emmitt, president; Patricia Blair, vice-president; Deloris Dennis, secretary; and Donna Jean Loudermilk, treasurer.

Miss Casey of the YWCA spoke at the last meeting about privileges and responsibilities of members of the Y-Teen.

Dance

There was a PTA dance Oct. 17 from 7:30 to 10:30 in Starling Junior High School auditorium. The admission was 35 cents. Pop, potato chips and candy were sold. Everybody seemed to be having a good time. Quite a few pupils and teachers were there to enjoy the fun.

They Head Teen Club Work

Teen Talk

By Virginia Jones

A Halloween party will be held at the Canteen Thursday night. The affair will be hard-times, since so many feel they are now too old for costumes. Those on the committee and completing plans are Gloria Bievins, Martha John, Van Johnston and Dick Cormany. The activities of the evening will be dancing inside and a wiener roast outside. So all you gals don your overalls and dad's shirt and the boys will come as they usually dress and everyone will have a fine time. See you there.

A paper drive is planned for Sunday, Nov. 2. If you wish to take part, be at the Canteen at 1:30 Sunday. Those taking part usually find a swell time in store.

Something new is going to be tried at the Canteen. Dancing lessons are going to start on Nov. 6. The reason is due to all the boys you find forming a stag line or just sitting on the sidelines. All those wishing to take part or help teach are asked to get in touch with Marilyn Bonnet or Bob Oldfield.

Sadie Hawkins Day

You know, of course, girls are always chasing boys, only this time it will be legal. The Sadie Hawkins Party, to be held Nov. 15, is the top secret around the Canteen. The plans are so secret that even the secret committee doesn't know just what is going to happen. Maybe by next week I shall be able to bribe someone to get the inside story, that I'm sure you will be interested in.

We found many old faces around the Canteen Friday night. Maybe you know who they were. Just a few include Ed Sparks, Johnny Lehner, Ned Moore, Helen Braun, Deloris Raymond and many others who haven't been around for sometime.

Those wanting to cut the rug or jitterbug to fast records found it hard to do last week, because we found Jerry Jewel playing very moody records. We're wondering just what caused that mood.

We find that Earl Parlette enjoys practicing piano in the presence of a crowd. We all agree he does a fine job even if he does claim it's only practicing.

The photography room has taken on much glamor in recent weeks due to the fine pictures of Francie Wideman and Betty Barber.

Watching in on a ping-pong game the other night we found the champion and still undefeated Bill Arledge.

Have you noticed Norm Spellman in a stew? Would you like to tell us what it is all about, Norm?

See you soon; if not, let me know why.

Cowboy Capers

By Jean Williams and Edith Wilkins

Well, here we are again with the news and notes of all the dust and dirt that is flying around the old corral.

It pays to know the "cops" at the game, says VIOLA RITZMAN as she rushed around trying to find the "cop" she gave her cider to so she could get into the game.

We wonder why BILL GARDNER brings so many books to seventh period study. They looked nice stacked up on the arm of his desk.

"Three cheers for Ohio State," yells MARY ALICE EDWARDS and her "LITTLE SHADOW". Could it be because they went to Pittsburgh Saturday for the game and had such a good time on the train?

If any one should happen to notice that MARY ELIZABETH WILLER is beaming with joy, ask her what happened over the week-end. She'll be glad to tell you.

At the game Friday night it seemed that the West kids sort of liked the Linden side. Some seen there were JOANNE PALMER, PAT CLUM, LENA STARKEY, VIOLET WARD, LOIS BOWER.

Advice to BOB JONES: Next game bring an extra coat, maybe you'll be warmer.

Anyone needing a couple of tickets to the Ohio State game Saturday just get in touch with TOM WILSON; he has a way of getting them.

JIM VICKERS wishing that they would bring the Linden Queens over to the West side of the field so he could get a better look.

Needing a private secretary is DON WOODLAND. Any one who can fit these requirements please notify him.

In 381 we hear a commotion. What is it, some one asks. Why it's none other than BILL BROWN and EUGENE McGURR discussing in a friendly way who can make up the best advertising page for the paper.

Why is it CARL NAUMOFF seems to be the most willing and ready person to recite in P. O. D.? How do you do it, Carl?

Has anyone heard the beautiful singing coming from the auditorium the sixth period? If you look into the matter you will find that it is ROSEMARY SHOEMAKER and JANICE HILL.

Well, this is all for now. See you at the East game.

Elementary School Happenings

John Burroughs

The Junior Red Cross is working hard filling Christmas boxes to send to boys and girls overseas. Thirty-six boxes have been filled so far, but the school hopes to fill a few over 40 before the motor corps picks them up.

Collections are being made of comic books, magazines, scraps of material, beads, buttons, gadgets, playing cards and old hose. Cards and games have been made also. This material will be sent to the Veterans' Hospital in Chillicothe.

The PTA executive board entertained the principal, teaching staff and janitors with a wonderful chicken dinner Tuesday.

Oct. 27, 28 and 29 the PTA officials were in Cincinnati at the convention. Mr. Graham attended, also Mrs. J. W. Bower, Mrs. Fenstermaker and Mrs. Thompson.

The school has two new portable electric phonographs, an Emerson and a G. E. Now the first and second floor will each have one.

There are many new pupils enrolled in school this year from other schools. Some have come from Mt. Vernon, Clinton, Main-st, Eighth-av, Ohio-av, Indianola, Chicago-av, and some from out of the city—Washington Courthouse, Morton, Ill., Grove City, Plain City and even New York City.

Some John Burroughs children have gone to other schools also, West Broad, West Mound, Olentangy, First-av and Dana.

Highland

Most of the rooms at Highland School have planned Halloween parties for tomorrow. Room 8 has prepared a play, "Country Halloween," with the following cast: Clara Grabill, Janet Penny, Lois Schoenberger, Pat Henry, Beatrice Brown, Charles Sowers, Neil Brown and Delores Riffit.

The 6A's and B's in Room 4 have written a play, "Ghosts! Ghosts!", which will also be given tomorrow afternoon. The director of the play is Janet Hill and her cast is Robert Delph, Beverly Blogg, Mary Holmes, Marilyn Penny and Barbara Linscott.

The School Safety Council elected the following officers for the semester: Barbara Harrell, president; Rolland Bowman, vice-president; Jane Lloyd, secretary, and Jim Stone, treasurer.

Mrs. Fait, Room 16, and Miss Zinn, Room 9, have been absent from their classes this week due to illness.

Mrs. Booth's fourth grade class is presenting a play entitled "A Lucky Halloween." In this play every child in the room is given an opportunity to participate.

The hotel patron had waited fully an hour for a very slow waiter to serve his dinner:

Diner (to waiter) — Now, please, could you bring me my tomato salad?

Waiter (dryly)—Yes, I suppose so.

Diner (continuing)—And, while you are away you might send me a post card every now and then.

No Time For Vandalism

Parental responsibility does not enjoy a moratorium at Halloween time. Every parent should bear in mind at the season of the year when some young folk's idea of a good time is to see how much damage they can do.

On the Hilltop we are fortunate to have an organization like the Hilltop Community Council that is interested in providing a big Halloween party. Here under proper supervision, young and old alike can take part in good wholesome fun without running rampant through the neighborhood with the risk of getting into trouble. The parties held the last two years have been a success. Thousands of Hilltoppers have gone there to entertain and be entertained at little or no expense to themselves.

This year the party will again be held in West High School at the same time the East-West football game is being played at Magly Field. Many of the adults will go directly from the game to take part in the merry-making in the school building.

It takes a lot of work to put on a community-wide party of this kind but if it keeps kids off the streets and out of mischief it is certainly worth it. That's all the thanks members of the HCC ask for their efforts. If the kids let off steam at the supervised party they are not so apt to get in trouble on the way home.

Just to be on the safe side it would be well worth the time for parents to take their children to the party. Chances are they will enjoy it as much as the kids. After all, we're all kids at heart.

The HCC deserves a vote of thanks and the co-operation of all of us for staging this annual Halloween party.

The Nafzger Brothers have opened a new furniture store at 2365 W. Broad-st.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Henery, 179 N. Wayne-av, were surprised Thursday evening, Oct. 20, with a waffle supper.

C. Ralph Fletcher, 346 S. Harris-av, was appointed to the faculty of the Ohio State University in the architecture department last week.

The Glenwood Methodist Church Choir and the Hilltop Business Men's Choir, under the direction of Mary Riddle Walton and W. Haydn Jones respectively, will participate in the annual musical event, the Eisteddfod, at Jackson, Nov. 4.

10 Years Ago Today

Next week's game, West vs. South, will be played Thursday afternoon. Both elevens are undefeated. West won the West-North battle, 25-0, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Marlow, 689 S. Eureka-av, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Gail Helen, to Fred M. Marsch, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Marsch, 379 Wayne-av.

SMILES

Two men left a banquet together after they had dined too well. "When you get home," advised one, "if you don't want to disturb your family, undress at the foot of the stairs, fold your clothes neatly and creep upstairs and into bed. It's the undressing in your room that awakens the wife."

Next day they met at lunch. "How did you get along?" asked the one. "Rotten," said the other. "I took off all my clothes at the foot of the stairs, as you told me and folded them neatly. I didn't make a sound. But when I got to the top of the stairs, I found it was the L-station."

"What are you in jail for?"
"Merely for looking at a girl."
"On the street?"
'No, through a keyhole."

"How is your golf coming?"
"Goin' around in less every week."
"Yes, but how's your golf coming?"

The Knife and Fork League

Baseball is a grand sport but to me one of the nicest phases of the game is the Dinner Circuit, sometimes referred to as the Knife and Fork League, that follows the regular season. It was my good fortune to get an invite to the chicken dinner put on last week by Greer Cabs for the members of four of their baseball teams. Most of those attending were Hilltop boys and some of the coaches at West High School.

Max Glassman and Frank Kauffman do things up right when they feed their boys. This year the affair was held at the Excelsior Club out in Bexley. It honored the local boys responsible for winning one championship and tieing for second place in two other leagues. Speakers included Ben Ratner and Floyd Stahl, Ohio State University baseball coach, who also showed some OSU football movies after the dinner.

Heading the long list of guests was Mayor James A. Rhodes. Lou Berliner acted as master of ceremonies. Among the guests were Mack Pemberton, Fred Heischman, Dave Randall, George Williams, Dale Rose, Capital University football coach, Jerry Jeroux, Dick Davis, Mark Stephens, manager of the teams, Carl Hosler, A. H. Berliner, Frank Glassman, Jack Bloom, Ray Denny, John Timchex, Morris Glassman, Billie Henuk, Sam Schlonsky and Marvin Glassman.

Players who were honored included the following:

Trappers Agee and Skinner of the Record staff are now looking for a fur dealer. After several nights of laying traps for Mr. Rat, paste brush thief extraordinary, they finally made their first kill Tuesday night. The catch was made on Society Editor Libby Downing's desk. A piece of bacon, contributed by Frank Prince, is credited with aiding in the catch. Apparently Mr. Rat didn't realize it was Meatless Tuesday.

It Came In The Mail

Comes a beautiful 8-page rotogravure advertising piece on Philco Radios from an appliance firm in Cambridge, Ohio. If local appliance dealers won't take offense, I'll take a day off and run down there to see just how Guernsey County Philcos excel those sold here in Franklin County. Didn't realize competition in the business was so keen that dealers were reaching out as far as 90 miles for new customers.

From an air conditioning training school in Youngstown comes a few thousand glowing words on the golden opportunity that awaits me in that up-and-coming field. I don't know just how I happen to have been selected for this particular offer unless some one in that business happened to read this column and decided a little "air conditioning" wouldn't hurt. Thanks anyway, fellows, but for the present I'll just keep on "smelling up" the Hilltop with this sort of nonsense.

REST CURE
(To a boy on a cot)

No one remembers how it all began,
When even thoughts, light as milkweed froth
And casual as setting sun,
Became fatiguing body chains;
When days cried out for ending,
Fear crept through the panting heart.

Take from Time one little year—perchance more—
Lend your body to the sun for strengthening,
To the earth for sustenance;
Stifle wistful yearning, silence wild desires.
Hold but one:
To know another spring!

Mayor Rhodes Defends Record

Mayor James A. Rhodes, Republican incumbent, defended the record of his administration in the following statement to The Hilltop Record this week:

"No government can satisfy all citizens at all times. In a democracy we cannot expect perfection.

"We do believe that a city administration conducting its affairs honestly, efficiently and with proper vision for the future is entitled to support.

"The present city administration has demonstrated that notwithstanding terrific handicaps it has presented to the people of Columbus a debt-free administration and has projected plans for the future which include the New Hoover Dam; costing $8,000,000 for a better water supply for the city; new badly needed sewers costing $3,500,000, of which many are being installed in the Hilltop section; new fire houses, at least one of which will be installed on the Hilltop; more recreational facilities than the city has ever known, in which the Hilltop will share; a city-wide street improvement of W. Mound-st and Sullivant-av together with many other city-wide improvements which, although benefiting the entire city, also benefit this section.

"In this category would come the newly established crime laboratory, the health clinic, the stepped-up garbage and rubbish collection program, the building of a new incinerator, the flower shows, and other civic projects."

Ted Hysell is a member of the Southgate Lodge, Scottish Rite, Aladdin Temple Shrine, American Legion, AMVETS, and the Capital City DAV.

The candidate stated last week that he intends to keep the office open on a 24-hour basis if he is elected.

REVIVAL NOW ON

The Whitethorne Church of Christ in Christian Union is now in the midst of a revival campaign. Rev. and Mrs. Frank Hunter are the special singers. Rev. G. H. Hellyer, pastor of the church, is the evangelist.

LESSON HERE: James 3—5; Acts 4:1-10. DEVOTIONAL READING: Proverbs 13:13-22.

Christian Conduct

Lesson for November 2, 1947

CHRISTIAN standards of conduct must be understood as Christ's standards, not man's standards. Our lesson makes this quite clear when James declares, "My brethren, be not many masters (judges), knowing that we shall receive the greater condemnation," James 3:1. James goes on in this third chapter to emphasize the truth that man is by nature inclined to "run away," even as the horse when he is not bridled, or the ship when it is not controlled.

Dr. Newton

Which brings the first practical lesson—that of the tongue. "The tongue is a little member," says James, "and boasteth great things. Behold, how great a matter a little fire kindleth!"

• • •

The Words I Say

IN PROVERBS 8:7, we read, "My mouth should utter truth." And again in Proverbs 25:11, we read, "a word fitly spoken is like apples of gold in pictures of silver."

Which adds up to this: The words we say have much to do with what people think of our standard of conduct. If we speak words of truth and kindness, we need not be concerned what people will think of us.

Boys and girls who guard their tongues will have friends. Boys and girls who speak words of envy, prejudice and falsehood will be shunned.

• • •

The Right Words

WHAT is in our hearts determines what we say and do. Therefore, if we are to speak the right words, our hearts must be right—right with God.

I have just come from a playground where a group of junior boys and girls were having a picnic. I got there at the moment when a baseball game was in the decisive sixth inning. One of the junior boys was umpire. He called a pitched ball a strike, and the batter objected. Words followed—not altogether pleasing words. They saw me standing on the sidelines, and asked me to settle the matter. I had not seen the pitched ball closely enough to express an opinion.

The boy who had spoken most sharply went to the boy who was umpire, took his hand, and said, "It's okay with me. I am sorry I said what I did." That boy had the right attitude. He turned wrong words into right words, because his heart was right.

• • •

The Power of Words

"SPEAK not one against another," writes James 4:11. Two teenage girls were walking home from school. One spoke bitterly to the other of a third girl. They parted at the corner, and the girl who had spoken the bitter words of her neighbor slipped and fell as she passed the home of the girl about whom she had been speaking. The neighbor girl rushed to her side, helped her into the house where her mother dressed the ankle. Waiting for her father to come with the car, the girl who had spoken bitter words began to cry. Thinking that her neighbor was crying from the pain of the ankle, the girl who had been bitterly assailed spoke sympathetically to her neighbor.

"Will you forgive me?" cried out the distressed girl.

"Forgive you?"

"For the unkind words I spoke about you to Mary. O, I am sorry, sorry."

Forgiven, they became trusted friends.

• • •

Words Reflect Character

THIS lesson should summon every heart to utter the prayer of the Psalmist:

"Let the words of my mouth and the meditation of my heart be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, my strength, and my Redeemer," Psalm 19:14.

Our words reflect our character. Christ's standard of conduct calls for words wisely chosen. Longfellow put it well when he wrote:

I shot an arrow into the air,
It fell to earth, I knew not where;
For, so swiftly it flew, the sight
Could not follow it in its flight.

I breathed a song into the air,
It fell to earth, I knew not where;
For who has sight so keen and strong,
That it can follow the flight of song?

Long, long afterward, in an oak,
I found the arrow still unbroke;
And the song from beginning to end,
I found again in the heart of a friend.

Church Enlargement Plan Being Formulated Here

Churches of the Hilltop are planning to take part in the Church Enlargement Plan being sponsored by the Franklin County Council of Churches on a city-wide basis.

The first phase of the four-fold program will be the self study program to be held in each of the participating churches on Friday night, Nov. 7. Members of the church, together with the guest leader, will meet to study problems of that particular group.

On Sunday afternoon, Nov. 9, the religious census, the second part of the program, will be conducted on the Hilltop. The community has been divided up into sections that will be taken by the various participating churches. Census cards will then be turned in at the Hoge Memorial Church on Monday morning. Each church is asked to separate its cards by denominations with a further breakdown by churches. They will then go into the office of the Franklin County Council of Churches. Later each pastor will receive the cards where a particular congregational preference has been stated. Non-participating churches will get the cards where their church has specified. Denominational preferences without a congregational mention will be divided among the participating churches.

The third part of the program will be held on the following Tuesday night when fellowship cultivation will be the theme of church meetings. Cards will be referred to responsible church groups for visitation on Wednesday.

The enlargement plan itself will be the final phase of the program. Working on the various phases of the program on the Hilltop are Rev. A. J. Wold, pastor of the Hoge Memorial Church, Rev. Denver Smoot, pastor of the Hilltop Church of God, and Rev. Carl Driscol, youth leader of the United Lutheran Church.

Local churches taking part in the religious census are Sullivant Avenue Friends, Hilltonia Evangelical United Brethren, Sullivant Avenue Church of God, Oakley Avenue Baptist, Wheatland Avenue Methodist, Hoge Memorial Presbyterian, Hilltop Community, Brown Road Community, Church of Christ in Christian Union, Westgate Evangelical United Brethren, Hilltop Evangelical Lutheran, St. John Lutheran, Hilltop Church of God, Highland Avenue Friends, Hillcrest Baptist, Burgess Avenue Evangelical United Brethren, Hilltop Church of Christ and Franklin Heights Friends.

All except the following churches will take part in the enlargement program: Sullivant Avenue Friends, Hilltop Community, Brown Road Community, Church of Christ in Christian Union, Highland Avenue Friends and Franklin Heights Friends.

Starling Y-Teens

Ghosts and goblins, witches and pumpkins were abroad in the YWCA on Tuesday, Oct. 28, from 4 to 5:30, when junior high Y-Teens gathered for their annual Halloween Jamboree.

A house of horror and a Halloween skit were special features of the jamboree, which was planned by the Junior High Interclub Council. Each Y-Teen club was responsible for some phase of the party.

The following Y-Teens from Starling Junior High assisted with refreshments: Barbara Emmitt, Patricia Blair and Donna Loudermilk.

Don't Let A Luxury Mortgage Rule Your Home Forever

Here is a simple rule to measure the value of your home-financing arrangements.

Is my present home-loan helping me to pay for my home as quickly and economically as possible?

Or is your current home loan a burden because of out-moded terms and unnecessary carrying charges?

That is why we suggest you have First Federal analyze your present home-financing arrangements? Perhaps First Federal's more modern and less-costly manner of home-financing can provide a real savings for you.

Every family of the church and congregation is invited. Families will bring a covered-dish and their own table service.

Avondale Plans Dedication

Special services at Avondale Evangelical United Brethren Church Sunday will mark the dedication of the new educational unit and parsonage recently completed. Dr. E. E. Harris, associate editor of the Telescope Messenger, will bring the sermon in both morning and afternoon services.

Jerry Spears, Sr., will preside at the afternoon service when the new unit is dedicated together with the new parsonage. Rev. B. C. Rife, pastor of the Washington Avenue EUB Church, will be the speaker in the evening. Special services are being held nightly this week in a homecoming week program.

Expansion of the church facilities has included a property immediately north of the church and the remodeling of the old parsonage for use as Sunday School rooms and for use of other organizations of the church. The old parsonage is now connected to the church building. The new addition provides nine extra rooms.

Rev. D. S. Mills, pastor of the church, came there in 1927. During that time in addition to his ministry he has become a familiar figure over Radio Station WHKC, which has carried his broadcasts for many years.

The church boasts a membership of 977.

Included in the new facilities are an oil-burning furnace for the parsonage and oil-burning equipment for the church.

Dr. Corlett To Hold Meetings

A revival will begin Sunday morning at the Warren Avenue Church of the Nazarene, 648 S. Warren-av, with services each evening at 7:30 through Nov. 16. Dr. D. Shelby Corlett of Kansas City, Mo., will be the evangelist for this meeting. Dr. Corlett is the editor of the official paper of the Church of the Nazarene, "Herald of Holiness." He is the author of many books and is an outstanding Bible preacher.

Curtis R. Brown of Canton will have charge of the music during this meeting. He is a great singer and his services are in constant demand throughout the United States and Canada.

The pastor, Rev. Harris B. Anthony, extends a cordial invitation to everyone to attend these services.

Wheatland Church To Start Revivals

An old-time revival will open Sunday, Nov. 2, at 11 a. m., at the Wheatland Avenue Methodist Church, of which Rev. M. E. Nelson is minister. The revival will continue through Sunday, Nov. 16. Service will start each evening at 7:30 and some of the choirs of the city will sing on different nights.

Rev. C. T. R. Nelson of Indianapolis is the evangelist. He is the brother of the church and is executive secretary of the board of education of the Lexington Conference of the Methodist Church. Pastor Nelson announced that he will preach the first two sermons of the revival and the last two.

These brothers come from a long line of preachers on both sides of the family.

Hillcrest Plans Brotherhood Meeting

An organizational meeting for the formation of a Men's Brotherhood at the Hillcrest Baptist Church will be held Tuesday evening, Nov. 4. The meeting will start with a supper, to be served by the ladies of the Young Adult Class.

An invitation is extended to all men of the church and its congregation to be present. The supper will be served promptly at 6:30 p. m.

Hilltop Hymn Sing To Be At Glenwood

Glenwood Methodist Church will be host to the bi-weekly Hilltop Hymn Sing Sunday evening at 9 o'clock. The service is held in one of the local churches every other Sunday night following the evening worship service. A number of churches participate in the song service and an attendance banner is given to the church having the highest percentage of their evening church present at the sing.

West Hangs Up Win No. 7; Prepares To Meet Tough Bengal Team Tomorrow

Linden McKinley Is Outplayed

The West High School Cowboys completely outclassed the Linden McKinley eleven on Magly Field Thursday night as they hung up win No. 7 before a crowd of 6,500 persons. The final score was West, 27; Linden McKinley, 0.

Coach Mack Pemberton has been working his boys hard this week brushing up on offense and stressing a defense aimed at stopping the always clever East Tigers coached by Ralph Webster. The Bengals come to Magly Field tomorrow night in what promises to be the feature attraction in the City League.

East has met defeat only once this year so that victory over the Cowboys could result in a tie for first place.

West had little trouble with Linden Thursday night as it rolled up a total yardage of 294 against a scant 13 for the visitors. The Cowboys made 15 first downs to four for the Panthers. The Linden offense, consisting for the most part of a halftack by the name of Zoog, was kept bottled up all evening. The visitors failed to get into Cowboy territory at any time.

The first West score came at the end of five minutes of play on a sustained drive of 55 yards on 12 plays. Wilbur Ehlers hit pay dirt from the 4-yard marker but Thrush failed to make the extra point.

The Cowboys were forced to give up the ball on downs when the offense bogged down in the second quarter at the 12-yard stripe. A bad kick and a clipping penalty by West gave them the ball on the visitors' 48. Guyselman intercepted a pass thrown by Jack Thrush on the Linden 48 but after losing ground back to the 24, the Panthers were forced to punt, the ball going out on their own 27. Three plays later Jim Slager threw a pass to Bill Buckingham that was good to the 10. Walter Hicks scampered around his own left end to score with only 55 seconds remaining in the first half. The try for point was good and the score was West, 13; Linden, 0, as the half ended.

Pass Clicks

Another Slager to Buckingham pass from the 9-yard line was good for the third West touchdown late in the third period. Thrush made good on the extra point.

The final score came late in the final quarter after Naumoff, Miles, Smith and Theisen piled up a series of four first downs, starting from their own 38. It was Theisen who crossed the goal line from the 3-yard stripe. Again Thrush kicked the extra point and the score stood, West, 27; Linden McKinley, 0.

Again Curt Westerman got his share of tackles and several times was deep in the Linden backfield to break up running and passing attempts. Starling Hutt was kept on the bench all evening nursing a bad ankle that has had him slowed down ever since the North game.

Cowboy Cross Country Runners Win City Championship For '47

Although it is not in a major sport, West High School has already won one city and district championship this year. The boys on the cross country team, coached by R. C. (Rufe) Glass, easily won the city meet run last week after earlier winning the district meet at Springfield.

Fred Harper, who has sparked the Cowboy harriers this fall, then went on to place 11th in the state high school cross country championship run at Mansfield Saturday. He won a silver track shoe for placing among the first 19 runners, in a field of 110 boys.

The city meet score was 34, followed by Central with 67 points, and then East and South in that order. Harper finished third in the city race. In first place was Doug Merritt of East; second was Rancy Fox of Central. Dick Ham and Jim Dennis finished fourth and fifth, respectively, behind Harper.

After some tapering off work this week the cross country team will hang up its shoes until track time next spring.

Amvets Victors Over All-Stars

Columbus' Hilltop Amvets' football team scored a 20-to-6 victory over Indianapolis All-Stars Sunday. Art Miller ran 25 yards off tackle for the first touchdown, and Dick Ewing the second on an eight-yard plunge, while the final touchdown came on a 15-yard pass from Bob Barnhart to Ray Stone.

R. Reardon place-kicked for the two points after touchdowns for the Amvets.

Cowboys Face Crucial Test Tomorrow

The 1947 West High grid machine will face its last major obstacle in the City League tomorrow night when it comes up against the dangerous Tigers from East High at Magly Field. Pictured above are members of the Cowboy squad and coaches.

Should the Cowboys get by Coach Ralph Webster's Tigers tomorrow, they are almost sure of being undefeated in the City League play since only South and Jackson remain to be faced. The Bulldogs are yet without a win in the local loop and should not prove too serious an obstacle for Coach Pemberton and his boys. Jackson will be the homecoming opponent on Nov. 14.

Short On Calories? Don't Skip Breakfast

Breakfast's ready—but are you ready for breakfast? When the spiteful alarm clock jolts your soggy earthbound carcass out of bed, remember that only a good breakfast can rouse your spirit.

Breakfast is not just a quaint old custom handed down by your ancestors, it's an urgent human need, following sleep. Nutritionists agree that a "basic breakfast" fits the human interior as well as a smart costume fits the exterior. The "basic" elements are cereal, fruit, milk, bread and butter. Since it is pretty plain, most people perk it up with such accessories as eggs, muffins, breakfast meats, or other tidbits. And, naturally, no breakfast pattern will or should fit everybody. It has to be adapted to age and to activity.

Whether you dig ditches, ride bicycles or wax floors, you need those calories you burn up evenly spaced during the day, starting, of course, with breakfast. A bit more bustle in the bedroom makes less in the kitchen, for it's a wise and happy family that is ready for breakfast.

Your Doctor and Pharmacist are members of two of the oldest and most mutually dependent professions. They are both required by law, and rigid principles within their own organizations, to spend many years of preparation before receiving their degrees of "M. D." (Doctor of Medicine) and "R. Ph." (Registered Pharmacist).

All 48 states require standards of qualification before licensing Doctors and Pharmacists to practice. Like the Doctor, the Pharmacist has his definite responsibilities to the community.

Both Doctor and Pharmacist must understand the preparation and preservation of drugs, and be well qualified in prescribing and dispensing important and often dangerous drugs. Their mutual reliance is founded on realization of responsibility to each patient.

Hand in hand with the Medical profession, Pharmacy has helped in the development of new, life-giving drugs. Truly, throughout life, your Doctor and Pharmacist are important to the well-being of your loved ones. Keep the hands of politicians off these two guardians of your health.

Lights, Winning Team, Good Weather All Add Up To Record Grid Season

By Paul Wichterman

Without a doubt the 1947 West High School football team will play to more people this year than any other team in the history of the school. In six games to date approximately 50,000 fans have paid to see the Cowboys perform. Barring a bad break in the weather, the total for the season should run close to 65,000 for the 10-game season.

Four factors have helped to set this new attendance mark for the year. They are (1) prospects of a championship team; (2) installation of lights at West; (3) a 10-game schedule with six of them on the Hilltop; and (4) unusually fine football weather.

There might be some question as to which of the first two mentioned items has been responsible for bringing in the most cash customers. West has had championship teams before but with all of their home games being played in the afternoon, they never drew as they have this year.

There's something fascinating about a football game at night, especially on such beautiful nights as most of these have been this year. Many Hilltoppers (including many West graduates) had never before seen a football game played under the lights. They came to the dedication night game with Central—saw a good football game, a first class marching band that has color and a program that clicked like a professional entertainment. They enjoyed all this and now they are "dyed-in-the-wool" fans. Once the neighbors see the lights turned on and hear the band tuning up they are a cinch to lay their 75c on the line and crowd in to Magly Field.

10-Game Schedule

The 10-game schedule is one greater than is played some years and includes four non-league opponents. The East game (to be played tomorrow night) and the Linden McKinley games would ordinarily have been played on their fields this year but since East has no lights and Linden has no playing field the games were moved to the Hilltop where all three schools will profit by so doing.

Then too, in analyzing the record crowds we can't overlook the fact that the Weather Man has been more than good to outdoor sports promoters this fall. As we climbed aboard the bus to go to Springfield for that first game the rain was coming down in torrents and it looked as if it might be another one of those wet falls. But when we arrived at the field, everything was in good shape and something like 9,000 fans saw a good ball game.

The record crowd thus far was, of course, the North game at North when 10,500 fans packed the stadium and stood all the way around the field and bleachers .Perhaps as many as 2,000 more were turned away or had their money refunded and countless others made no effort to go, knowing there would be no seats.

Other games attracted the following crowds (all of these figures are estimates and are not given as official attendance figures: Arlington, 5,000; Central (dedication of Magly Field lights), 8,500; Cincinnati Hughes, 4,200; Aquinas, 6,000; Linden McKinley, 5,700.

The drawing power of the West team can be seen in the fact that at least two efforts have been made on the part of Springfield to have the Cowboys open their season there again next year. This year marked the end of the four-game series and West athletic officials were not anxious to renew it. To date Springfield has offered almost twice the guarantee paid during the past four years and has even offered a bonus on this year's game as added inducement. They like to see that big crowd that has accompanied the team to the western city each year. No answer has been given on the matter thus far as it is known that openers with Newark or Marion Harding could be negotiated.

Still to be played on the 1947 schedule are games (all at Magly Field) with East tomorrow night, South on Nov. 7 and Jackson on Nov. 14. Since East has a chance to tie for the championship that promises to be a sellout game if the weather is not too bad. The South game will not draw too strongly on the merits of the game but many will want to get another look at the champs or co-champs. The Jackson game is in the afternoon and should draw well since it is homecoming. There may be a reduction in price for grade school children as well to make sure the stands are filled.

The record attendance will go far toward paying off the debt incurred this year when the lights were installed. Another good year would clear off the indebtedness.

Here's The Law On The 1947 Hunting Season For Ohio Hunters

Saturday at 9 a. m., Nov. 15, will be a big moment for thousands of Ohio hunters who already have oiled the old "blunderbuss" and doubled rover's daily ration in preparation for the opening of the 1947 hunting season.

Although the weapon's ready and the dog is straining at the leash a hunter still isn't ready for shooting until he first acquaints himself thoroughly with the rules and regulations of the sport, so here's an abbreviated list of law direct from the office of Law Enforcement Chief Lester C. Bailey, of the Ohio Division of Conservation.

Open season on rabbit is Nov. 15 to Dec. 13 daily limit four and possession limit 4. Ring-neck pheasant open season Nov. 15 to Nov. 22; daily limit 2 cock birds and possession two cock birds. Ruffed grouse season, Nov. 15 to Nov. 29; daily limit two, possession 2. Raccoon open season Nov. 15 to Jan. 15 with a daily limit of two and possession limit two. For opossum the open season runs from Nov. 15 to Jan. 15, with no bag or possession limits. In the inland trapping district the open season on mink and muskrat is Nov. 15 to Jan. 15 and in the Lake Erie trapping district the season begins Nov. 15 and continues through March 15. There is no bag or possession limit for either district.

There is no open season on skunk or Hungarian partridge.

All dates are inclusive. Rabbits, pheasants and ruffed grouse may be taken only between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. each day of the open season, including opening day. Traps may be set at 9 a. m. on opening day. Raccoon shall not be taken with gun or dog or both before 6 p. m., Nov. 15, and thereafter during the open season only between the hours of 6 p. m. and 6 a. m. of the following day.

Resident hunting and trapping licenses may be purchased at designated agencies throughout each county for $1 plus the 25c fee, and must be displayed on back of outer garment while hunter is engaged in hunting or trapping. All persons, regardless of age, are required to secure a license to hunt or trap except owners of land who have been residents of Ohio for one year, or tenants or children of tenants, or manager, if having resided within the state one year, residing on such lands. These may hunt or trap on such owned or managed lands without a hunting or trapping license. All persons under 16 years of age using firearms to hunt must be accompanied by an adult.

By Dick Ardle

Although the champion bowler holds the spotlight at the Hilltop alleys, the average bowlers have their nights on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday. One of the better leagues in this class is the Tuesday Nighters, which bowls on the late shift, Tuesday evenings, at the Hilltop alleys.

At the present Francis Stinson Service Station is in first place with a record of 18 wins and 6 losses. They are followed closely by Home Bakery and Key's 5 and 10 with 17 wins and 7 losses. Home Bakery and Hilltop Sporting Goods have the highest average, 814, and Hobbs Engineers the lowest, 711. Joe Bogner is the highest averager with 179. He is followed by Darell Neff and Claud Bynner with 175 and 173 respectively. H. Leach has the high single game of 238 and Ed Harold, 16-year-old pin boy at the Hilltop alleys, and Norm Reeves each has 234. Home Bakery holds the high single team game of 984. The three-team game series goes to Hilltop Sporting Goods with 2604.

Darrell Neff had the high series last week with 604. He had single games of 234, 194 and 176.

The team standings, including this week, are:

Bowling Bits

In place of our bowling gem and bowler of the week I would like to read a poem written by a fellow bowler, Tom Wolfe.

A BOWLER

Bowling is a funny game,
A bowler is funny too,
With "600" he is pretty happy,
A week later "400" makes him blue.

He doesn't know how this can happen,
He cries and yells "Dead wood."
And then tells the manager
He's not getting the pins he should.

Steaming along with 8 in a row,
With thoughts of a "300" score,
He sticks, falls, then looks at his shoe,
And yells, "Who spit on the floor?"

When the night is over,
He laughs and jokes about it all,
Even if he had a few good hits
And all the pins didn't fall.

T. A. Wolfe.

Hilltop Veterans Who Served In World War II Urge Your Support Of The Ohio Bonus

Let's look the Ohio Bonus Bill right in the face and see what it's all about. Let's divest the Bonus Bill of all its verbosity and verbal garnishing, and dig into it with everyday wordage, so that the matter can be clearly understood.

Before we get down into the heart of the thing there is a point or two which we would like to bring out. In the first place, the bonus is not "pay" for services rendered. All citizens of this great state, having sound minds, realize that there can be no "pay" which would compensate the veteran for the particular type of services rendered by him. The bonus is nothing more or less than a token of gratitude, proffered by a grateful citizenry. It is a recognition and an acknowledgement by the citizens of Ohio that its World War II Veterans suffered a distinct economic loss, when compared with those remaining behind, during the years the veteran spent in the armed forces.

We have heard individuals, as well as some hybrid writers who palm themselves off as columnists, refer to the veterans as "treasury raiders" or "treasury robbers." We have also heard these individuals charge the veteran with putting a price on patriotism. How utterly ridiculous and foulmouthedly absurd. When any individual makes such charges or statements, it is well to do three things. Look to the person making them, look to that person's background, and look to what his purpose is.

As a matter of fact, those serving during World War II received roughly $50 per month and keep. When he was overseas, he was subject to duty twenty-fours hours a day. There were no three eight hour shifts in a twenty-four hour day, over there, believe me. There was no double time for overtime on Sundays. There were no bonuses or extra incentive pay for the soldier. There were no strikes or absenteeism, and there's no fooling about that. Just about all the service man did get was a lot of plain everyday hell and torment, both physical and mental. If he came back alive he was lucky, 100% lucky. If he came back maimed and disabled, his row was, and is, definitely much harder to hoe, and you can't laugh that off. Now generally, the citizens of Ohio acknowledging the economic handicap suffered by the veteran, will go to the polls on next November 4th and vote "yes" for the Ohio Bonus.

If the bonus is approved, it is officially estimated that the average payment will be $350.00. Payments will be computed at the rate of $10.00 per month for domestic service and $15.00 per month for foreign service. Application for the bonus must be made before July 1, 1950. To be eligible for the bonus a veteran must have served honorably in the armed forces of the U. S. between December 7, 1941 and September 2, 1945. The maximum payment will be $400.00. If a veteran is deceased, his next of kin can collect what would have been due him. If his death was service-connected, his next of kin can collect the $400.00 maximum.

WHAT WILL IT COST?

Bonus and administration	$300,000,000
Interest cost on Bonds (15 years—$275,000,000)	30,000,000
Total cost	$330,000,000

HOW WILL IT BE FINANCED?

(a) State-collected funds:
From postwar reserve fund	$25,000,000
From general revenues except gasoline and auto license taxes $1,000,000 per mo. for 15 yrs.	180,000,000
(b) County-collected funds:
Property tax levy	125,000,000
	$330,000,000

One out of every nine Ohioans is a veteran of World War II. Of course all citizens of Ohio, and that includes all veterans, will help to pay for the bonus. However, the veteran will pay only in proportion to the tax valuation of the real estate he owns along with his normal state taxes.

Official sources estimate that an increase of only eighty-seven cents per $1,000 of tax valuation will be necessary to pay for the bonus. How will this affect the average veteran? The tax valuation of the average veteran's home, including those bought at grossly inflated prices, is $4,500. At the eighty-seven cent figure, this means that the average home owner, and that includes the veteran, would have not more than $3.92 added to his annual real estate tax bill—a total of $58.80 for the fifteen years.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, Department of Ohio, is definitely interested in the proposed Ohio Bonus Bill. It was mandated by our 1946 Cleveland Encampment. Your Department Officers and Department Legislative Committee have worked ceaselessly and relentlessly in pushing a bonus bill through the Legislature. While the bonus bill does not contain all of the V. F. W. original provisions, it does embody most of this organization's proposals. The $5.00 per month differential for overseas service is definitely our baby and we claim official parentage. Most of you will recall the great howl of rage which arose from the V. F. W. when this provision was removed from the bill. However, due to the tremendous sentiment engendered by the V. F. W. for its return to the bill, this clause was hastily reinserted. The V. F. W. has invested a tremendous amount of sentiment, work and effort in this bonus bill. Now that the matter is just about ready to present to the voters, we again want to express our thanks and appreciation to our membership who gave us such a big lift by letters to the Legislators, to our Post Officers for their cooperation, to all Department Officers and District Commanders for their help and assistance. We extend our grateful thanks to our Legislative Chairman, Willis O. Hall, upon whose shoulders, by far, the biggest burden fell.

From a legislative standpoint, our job has been successfully completed. What is perhaps the most important phase of the job, yet remains to be done. That part of the job lays directly in your hands. By all means it is your duty and responsibility to see that your immediate family, as well as your friends, go to the polls and vote "yes" for the bonus. Earlier in this column I pointed out that one out of every nine Ohioans is a World War II Veteran. Therein lies the story. Veterans all—do your duty.

Cowboys Face Crucial Test Tomorrow

The 1947 West High grid machine will face its last major obstacle in the City League tomorrow night when it comes up against the dangerous Tigers from East High at Magly Field. Pictured above are members of the Cowboy squad and coaches.

Should the Cowboys get by Coach Ralph Webster's Tigers tomorrow, they are almost sure of being undefeated in the City League play since only South and Jackson remain to be faced. The Bulldogs are yet without a win in the local loop and should not prove too serious an obstacle for Coach Pemberton and his boys. Jackson will be the homecoming opponent on Nov. 14.

Short On Calories? Don't Skip Breakfast

Breakfast's ready—but are you ready for breakfast? When the spiteful alarm clock jolts your soggy earthbound carcass out of bed, remember that only a good breakfast can rouse your spirit.

Breakfast is not just a quaint old custom handed down by your ancestors, it's an urgent human need, following sleep. Nutritionists agree that a "basic breakfast" fits the human interior as well as a smart costume fits the exterior. The "basic" elements are cereal, fruit, milk, bread and butter. Since it is pretty plain, most people perk it up with such accessories as eggs, muffins, breakfast meats, or other tidbits. And, naturally, no breakfast pattern will or should fit everybody. It has to be adapted to age and to activity.

Whether you dig ditches, ride bicycles or wax floors, you need those calories you burn up evenly spaced during the day, starting, of course, with breakfast. A bit more bustle in the bedroom makes less in the kitchen, for it's a wise and happy family that is ready for breakfast.

Your Doctor and Pharmacist are members of two of the oldest and most mutually dependent professions. They are both required by law, and rigid principles within their own organizations, to spend many years of preparation before receiving their degrees of "M. D." (Doctor of Medicine) and "R. Ph." (Registered Pharmacist).

All 48 states require standards of qualification before licensing Doctors and Pharmacists to practice. Like the Doctor, the Pharmacist has his definite responsibilities to the community.

Both Doctor and Pharmacist must understand the preparation and preservation of drugs, and be well qualified in prescribing and dispensing important and often dangerous drugs. Their mutual reliance is founded on realization of responsibility to each patient.

Hand in hand with the Medical profession, Pharmacy has helped in the development of new, life-giving drugs. Truly, throughout life, your Doctor and Pharmacist are important to the well-being of your loved ones. Keep the hands of politicians off these two guardians of your health.

Lights, Winning Team, Good Weather All Add Up To Record Grid Season

By Paul Wichterman

Without a doubt the 1947 West High School football team will play to more people this year than any other team in the history of the school. In six games to date approximately 50,000 fans have paid to see the Cowboys perform. Barring a bad break in the weather, the total for the season should run close to 65,000 for the 10-game season.

Four factors have helped to set this new attendance mark for the year. They are (1) prospects of a championship team; (2) installation of lights at West; (3) a 10-game schedule with six of them on the Hilltop; and (4) unusually fine football weather.

There might be some question as to which of the first two mentioned items has been responsible for bringing in the most cash customers. West has had championship teams before but with all of their home games being played in the afternoon, they never drew as they have this year.

There's something fascinating about a football game at night, especially on such beautiful nights as most of these have been this year. Many Hilltoppers (including many West graduates) had never before seen a football game played under the lights. They came to the dedication night game with Central—saw a good football game, a first class marching band that has color and a program that clicked like a professional entertainment. They enjoyed all this and now they are "dyed-in-the-wool" fans. Once the neighbors see the lights turned on and hear the band tuning up they are a cinch to lay their 75c on the line and crowd in to Magly Field.

10-Game Schedule

The 10-game schedule is one greater than is played some years and includes four non-league opponents. The East game (to be played tomorrow night) and the Linden McKinley games would ordinarily have been played on their fields this year but since East has no lights and Linden has no playing field the games were moved to the Hilltop where all three schools will profit by so doing.

Then too, in analyzing the record crowds we can't overlook the fact that the Weather Man has been more than good to outdoor sports promoters this fall. As we climbed aboard the bus to go to Springfield for that first game the rain was coming down in torrents and it looked as if it might be another one of those wet falls. But when we arrived at the field, everything was in good shape and something like 9,000 fans saw a good ball game.

The record crowd thus far was, of course, the North game at North when 10,500 fans packed the stadium and stood all the way around the field and bleachers .Perhaps as many as 2,000 more were turned away or had their money refunded and countless others made no effort to go, knowing there would be no seats.

Other games attracted the following crowds (all of these figures are estimates and are not given as official attendance figures: Arlington, 5,000; Central (dedication of Magly Field lights), 8,500; Cincinnati Hughes, 4,200; Aquinas, 6,000; Linden McKinley, 5,700.

The drawing power of the West team can be seen in the fact that at least two efforts have been made on the part of Springfield to have the Cowboys open their season there again next year. This year marked the end of the four-game series and West athletic officials were not anxious to renew it. To date Springfield has offered almost twice the guarantee paid during the past four years and has even offered a bonus on this year's game as added inducement. They like to see that big crowd that has accompanied the team to the western city each year. No answer has been given on the matter thus far as it is known that openers with Newark or Marion Harding could be negotiated.

Still to be played on the 1947 schedule are games (all at Magly Field) with East tomorrow night, South on Nov. 7 and Jackson on Nov. 14. Since East has a chance to tie for the championship that promises to be a sellout game if the weather is not too bad. The South game will not draw too strongly on the merits of the game but many will want to get another look at the champs or co-champs. The Jackson game is in the afternoon and should draw well since it is Homecoming. There may be a reduction in price for grade school children as well to make sure the stands are filled.

The record attendance will go far toward paying off the debt incurred this year when the lights were installed. Another good year would clear off that indebtedness.

Here's The Law On The 1947 Hunting Season For Ohio Hunters

Saturday at 9 a. m., Nov. 15, will be a big moment for thousands of Ohio hunters who already have oiled the old "blunderbuss" and doubled rover's daily ration in preparation for the opening of the 1947 hunting season.

Although the weapon's ready and the dog is straining at the leash a hunter still isn't ready for shooting until he first acquaints himself thoroughly with the rules and regulations of the sport, so here's an abbreviated list of law direct from the office of Law Enforcement Chief Lester C. Bailey, of the Ohio Division of Conservation.

Open season on rabbit is Nov. 15 to Dec. 13 daily limit four and possession limit 4. Ring-neck pheasant open season Nov. 15 to Nov. 22; daily limit 2 cock birds and possession two cock birds. Ruffed grouse season, Nov. 15 to Nov. 29; daily limit two, possession 2. Raccoon open season Nov. 15 to Jan. 15 with a daily limit of two and possession limit two. For opossum the open season runs from Nov. 15 to Jan. 15, with no bag or possession limits. In the inland trapping district the open season on mink and muskrat is Nov. 15 to Jan. 15 and in the Lake Erie trapping district the season begins Nov. 15 and continues through March 15. There is no bag or possession limit for either district.

There is no open season on skunk or Hungarian partridge.

All dates are inclusive. Rabbits, pheasants and ruffed grouse may be taken only between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. each day of the open season, including opening day. Traps may be set at 9 a. m. on opening day. Raccoon shall not be taken with gun or dog or both before 6 p. m., Nov. 15, and thereafter during the open season only between the hours of 6 p. m. and 6 a. m. of the following day.

Resident hunting and trapping licenses may be purchased at designated agencies throughout each county for $1 plus the 25c fee, and must be displayed on back of outer garment while hunter is engaged in hunting or trapping. All persons, regardless of age, are required to secure a license to hunt or trap except owners of land who have been residents of Ohio for one year, or tenants or children of tenants, or manager, if having resided within the state one year, residing on such lands. These may hunt or trap on such owned or managed lands without a hunting or trapping license. All persons under 16 years of age using firearms to hunt must be accompanied by an adult.

Across The HILLTOP ALLEYS

By Dick Ardle

Although the champion bowler holds the spotlight at the Hilltop alleys, the average bowlers have their nights on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday. One of the better leagues in this class is the Tuesday Nighters, which bowls on the late shift, Tuesday evenings, at the Hilltop alleys.

At the present Francis Stinson Service Station is in first place with a record of 18 wins and 6 losses. They are followed closely by Home Bakery and Key's 5 and 10 with 17 wins and 7 losses. Home Bakery and Hilltop Sporting Goods have the highest average, 814, and Hobbs Engineers the lowest, 711. Joe Bogner is the highest averager with 179. He is followed by Darell Neff and Claud Bynner with 175 and 173 respectively. H. Leach has the high single game of 236 and Ed Harold, 16-year-old pin boy at the Hilltop alleys, and Norm Reeves each has 234. Home Bakery holds the high single team game of 954. The three-team game series goes to Hilltop Sporting Goods with 2804.

Darrell Neff had the high series last week with 604. He had single games of 234, 194 and 176.

The team standings, including this week, are:

Team	W	L	Avg
Francis Stinson	18	6	812
Home Bakery	17	7	814
Key's 5 and 10	17	7	803
Holliday Market	16	8	794
Hilltop Sporting G'ds	15	9	814
Heinsmans	7	17	720
Buckeye Awnings	3	21	718
Hobbs Engineers	2	21	711

Bowling Bits

In place of our bowling gem and bowler of the week I would like to read a poem written by a fellow bowler, Tom Wolfe.

A BOWLER

Bowling is a funny game.
A bowler is funny too.
With '500" he is pretty happy.
A week later "400" makes him blue.

He doesn't know how this can happen.
He cries and yells "Dead wood."
And then tells the manager
He's not getting the pins he should.

Steaming along with 8 in a row,
With thoughts of a "300" score,
He sticks, fails, then looks at his shoe.
And yells, "Who spit on the floor?"

When the night is over,
He laughs and jokes about it all.
Even if he had a few good hits
And all the pins didn't fall.
T. A. Wolfe.

Hilltop Veterans Who Served In World War II Urge Your Support Of The Ohio Bonus

Let's look the Ohio Bonus Bill right in the face and see what it's all about. Let's divest the Bonus Bill of all its verbosity and verbal garnishing, and dig into it with everyday wordage, so that the matter can be clearly understood.

Before we get down into the heart of the thing there is a point or two which we would like to bring out. In the first place, the bonus is not "pay" for services rendered. All citizens of this great state, having sound minds, realize that there can be no "pay" which would compensate the veteran for the particular type of services rendered by him. The bonus is nothing more or less than a token of gratitude, proffered by a grateful citizenry. It is a recognition and an acknowledgement by the citizens of Ohio that its World War II Veterans suffered a distinct economic loss, when compared with those remaining behind, during the years the veteran spent in the armed forces.

We have heard individuals, as well as some hybrid writers who palm themselves off as columnists, refer to the veterans as "treasury raiders" or "treasury robbers." We have also heard these individuals charge the veteran with putting a price on patriotism. How utterly ridiculous and foulmouthedly absurd. When any individual makes such charges or statements, it is well to do three things. Look to the person making them, look to that person's background, and look to what his purpose is.

As a matter of fact, those serving during World War II received roughly $50 per month and keep. When he was overseas, he was subject to duty twenty-fours hours a day. There were no three eight hour shifts in a twenty-four hour day, over there, believe me. There was no double time for overtime on Sundays. There were no bonuses or extra incentive pay for the soldier. There were no strikes or absenteeism, and there's no fooling about that. Just about all the service man did get was a lot of plain everyday hell and torment, both physical and mental. If he came back alive he was lucky, 100% lucky. If he came back maimed and disabled, his row was, and is, definitely much harder to hoe, and you can't laugh that off. Now generally, the citizens of Ohio acknowledging the economic handicap suffered by the veteran, will go to the polls on next November 4th and vote "yes" for the Ohio Bonus.

If the bonus is approved, it is officially estimated that the average payment will be $350.00. Payments will be computed at the rate of $10.00 per month for domestic service and $15.00 per month for foreign service. Application for the bonus must be made before July 1, 1950. To be eligible for the bonus a veteran must have served honorably in the armed forces of the U. S. between December 7, 1941 and September 2, 1946. The maximum payment will be $400.00. If a veteran is deceased, his next of kin can collect what would have been due him. If his death was service-connected, his next of kin can collect the $400.00 maximum.

WHAT WILL IT COST?

Bonus and administration	$300,000,000
Interest cost on Bonds (15 years—$275,000,000)	30,000,000
Total cost	$330,000,000

HOW WILL IT BE FINANCED?

(a) State-collected funds:
From postwar reserve fund	$25,000,000
From general revenues except gasoline and auto license taxes $1,000,000 per mo. for 15 yrs.	180,000,000
(b) County-collected funds:
Property tax levy	125,000,000
	$330,000,000

One out of every nine Ohioans is a veteran of World War II. Of course all citizens of Ohio, and that includes all veterans, will help to pay for the bonus. However, the veteran will pay only in proportion to the tax valuation of the real estate he owns along with his normal state taxes.

Official sources estimate that an increase of only eighty-seven cents per $1,000 of tax valuation will be necessary to pay for the bonus. How will this affect the average veteran? The tax valuation of the average veteran's home, including those bought at grossly inflated prices, is $4,500. At the eighty-seven cent figure, this means that the average home owner, and that includes the veteran, would have not more than $3.92 added to his annual real estate tax bill—a total of $58.80 for the fifteen years.

October

October, pangs of your passing
Bring to mind,
Balmy sunshine, falling leaves and
You were so kind,
I remember, by your uplifting
grace
You brought me to the place
Of heart's desire and ties that bind,
Now as you take your leave
You bid me go to a place
Of ice and snow,
Should I be gone when again
You pass this way
Memory hold for us a tryst
Forever and a day.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Seen From The Sidelines At The Linden-West Game

By Libby Downing

The West High Cowboys are slowly and deliberately taking on one city league team after another and pushing them from the championship race. Linden McKinley found out just how powerful the local team is, in the 27-0 verdict handed them Thursday evening by West.

The West Junior and Senior Bands, accompanied by Linden-formed USA, followed by "The Star Spangled Banner" just before game time. It was homecoming night for Linden. Their queen and her court, five lovely girls, were seated just inside the field along the fence in front of the Linden stands. They were introduced at half-time.

Co-captains of the West team were Al Andrews and Wilbur Fhlers. West won the toss and received.

Dick Slager was seen in the stands keeping an eye on his brother, Jim, the West quarterback.

The Maroon's Band performed first at the half. They presented a very cute number to the tune, "Feudin' and Fightin'". There was a shot and the drum major slumped to the ground, while the band members paced up and down the gridiron. Next they formed an anchor for Navy Day, Oct. 27.

The Cowboy Band presented several novel numbers, too. They formed a ship, playing "Don't Give Up The Ship," then played "Little Brown Jug" in a jug formation. "Yankee Doodle," and an anchor with "Anchors Aweigh." The Senior band formed the letters G-I-V-E while the Juniors formed a red feather. With the lights out they made an LM for Linden, W for West, and played the Alma Mater.

The stands at West High continue to draw a large number of fans, despite weather, opposition, etc. There were people sitting in the baseball bleachers again Thursday evening.

In a quiet moment during a tense situation, a voice boomed. "Yes, Grove City."

Bobby Ryerson, a John Burroughs student, helped the Cowboys along. Each time they got near pay dirt, he'd dig into his pocket, pull out a rabbit foot and rub it on a miniature football he carried.

Your reporter, sitting in the east bleachers, borrowed a man's raincoat to throw over her knees, and was quite amazed to find, to the enjoyment of the surrounding spectators, that the contents from the pockets had been sifting down through the bleachers during the course of the game

This week's game will probably tell the tale. West meets East on the home field on Halloween evening. No admittance to "Black Cats."

Conlon, resident manager of Fisher Body-Ternstedt Division, General Motors Corporation, announced today that the General Motors contest, "My Job and Why I Like It," conducted for the employees, is an outstanding success, with more than 100,000 entries already received and additional entries pouring in at the rate of 3000 daily. Among the entries already received at the contest headquarters in Chicago are letters from more than 50 per cent of the eligible employees of the Fisher Body-Ternstedt division of General Motors Corporation in Columbus.

Eligible employees have until midnight, Oct. 31, to enter the contest.

GM also announced that winners of the 40 top contest prizes, all GM automobiles, will be invited to visit Detroit as guests of C. E. Wilson, GM president.

Five Major Veterans Groups Work For Passage Of Veterans' Bonus

The five major veterans' organizations of Ohio are working together to insure a favorable vote for the World War II veterans' state bonus, it was revealed here today as the campaign entered the final stage leading up to the Nov. 4 election.

Commanders of hundreds of local posts and camps have received letters asking them to cooperate with the heads of other veterans' groups in promoting the bonus, to explain the issue in every ward, get veterans to the polls on election day, and work votes for the bonus in every precinct.

The letters were signed jointly by the following state organization commanders: Aaron J. Halloran, Springfield, American Legion; William B. Howard, Willard, Veterans of Foreign Wars; Albert L. Croy, Ohio City, Disabled American Veterans; Frank C. McCaslin, Bedford, AMVETS, and George E. Walsh, Columbus, United Spanish War Veterans.

Calling for "united action—from top to bottom," the letters urged that speakers be furnished for meetings of all kinds, including political rallies, to explain and promote the bonus, and that each veteran assigned speak in behalf of all five organizations.

A spokesman for the groups stated that the agreement to work together, under the name of "Veteran Organizations of Ohio for the Bonus," was reached at a recent meeting of representatives in Columbus.

News of Rome

By Mrs. E. C. Sheets

It was a very beautiful forty-ninth wedding anniversary that was observed Saturday afternoon at the home of Rev. and Mrs. T. M. Patterson, Maple-dr. Although Mrs. Patterson has been bedfast for several months, she was able to make her own plans, which were carried out in detail. She greeted each guest by name as they came to her bed to extend congratulations. Their daughter, Mary, was assisted during the afternoon by Mrs. A. E. Lavely, Mrs. Bertha Kauffman and Mrs. R. G. Barnecut (Mrs. Patterson's niece). She received many beautiful flowers from her friends who called between the hours of 2:30 and 4:30 p. m. Those who called were Mrs. Monford Smith, Mrs. William Unglaub, Mrs. Russell Brooks, Mrs. Joe Felton, Mrs. W. A. Dyer, Mrs. Carl Dellinger, Rev. and Mrs. Frank Throop and Frank 3rd, Mrs. Marshall Hall and son, Hadley, Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Day, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Barnecut, Rev. and Mrs. David Schnatle, Mrs. W. J. Stormont, Mrs. Oscar Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Clements, Mrs. A. E. Lavely, Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Kunz, Mrs. W. G. Lamb and sons, Tad, Tim and Rex, Mrs. Frank Calland, Mrs. O. G. Riebel, Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Wold, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Sheets, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Sheets, Jr., and son, E. C. the 3rd, Mrs. Elton Kaderly and children, Robert, Caroline and Rebecca, Dr. and Mrs. Earl Knisley, Mrs. G. H. Nole and daughter, Cheryl, Mrs. Jerry Spears, Rev. and Mrs. Kuenzli, Chester Armentrout, and Mr. and Mrs. John David Sheets and son, David William.

Owen Irvin, Kenny and Eddie Eberhard, Billjean and Jim Lamb spent Friday night in Glass's Woods, Norton-rd, observing scout rules. In the morning about 9 o'clock, Ralph Vancill, Robert Thompson and Herbert Weisenberger joined the "outdoor" speelers and under the leadership of Keith Montague went to Camp Cline, where Billjean passed two scout tests and Herbert Weisenberger passed three.

The Junior High Youth Fellowship of Columbia Heights Church attended Wesley Chapel Sunday night to see the picture "The Kindled Flame" put on by that church.

About 35 guests were entertained Friday night by Miss Marjorie Krohn, when she had a shower for Miss Martha Breckenridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Breckenridge, Maple-dr. She will marry Charles Coulter of Pasadena-av upon completion of their house on Oak-st. She received many worthwhile gifts and after delicious refreshments were served, the guests left at a late hour, wishing the bride-to-be many best wishes.

The family night at the Rome Lutheran Church was in the form of a masquerade party. It was well attended and games and stunts provided entertainment. The prize for the most attractive outfit went to Mrs. Luther Walz, 286 S. Richardson-av, and her seven-months-old baby. Mrs. Walz was costumed as a big white bunny, with pink ears and a real bunny tail, and her baby was very sweet with a white bunny outfit and a real bunny tail.

In observation of the 25th anniversary of St. Paul's Lutheran church, of Rome, Rev. Schu was the speaker at the morning service. In the evening there were speakers who had been former pastors. Professor Reichert, a former pastor of the church, brought along some pictures that were taken some time ago, showing the eight horses dragging out the dirt at the "excavation party," also pictures taken at ladies' meetings. The pictures were shown by Elmer Weber and explained as best as could be interpreted by Prof. Riechert. They were thoroughly enjoyed by the older members. As Prof. Ricchert remarked, the ladies' styles of today are much the same as those of 25 years ago. Rev. Lang and other former pastors sent their sincere greetings. It was under Rev. Clamfoth, who was pastor of the little brick church on Fisher-rd, that the idea for a new church in Rome originated. A recording of this 25th anniversary was made to be enjoyed many years from now.

A pot-luck family dinner was enjoyed by 33 guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geyer (John Riebel), Walcutt-rd. It was the birthday of Mrs. Geyer.

Mr. and Mrs. George Barrett of 268 Lennox-av have returned from a week's visit in Detroit at the home of their daughter.

The chili supper put on by the Young Married Class of the Columbia Heights Church was very good and a success.

Mr. and Mrs. South (Virginia Clements) celebrated her birthday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Clements, Saturday night.

The Charles Evans family of Buena Vista-av are leaving this community to live in their new home on the Hilltop.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shaner, daughter, Cookie, and son, Ray, spent the week-end in Detroit. Don Hammond of Buena Vista-av accompanied them on the trip back home.

Mr. and Mrs. Broyles of 400 Smith-rd have returned from a vacation in Detroit and southern Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Barnecut of Oakland-av, who have spent several winters at the Patterson home, while they have been in Florida., have purchased the property at 288 Maple-dr, owned by T. M. Patterson. As soon as the Barrett family, who are now living at 288 Maple-dr, vacate, the Barnecuts will be living in Rome.

The Men's Forum was well attended Saturday night and the chicken supper was heartily enjoyed by those who attended.

Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Richey of Pasadena-av have returned home after spending some time in London. They looked after the farm, while her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sesslar, visited in Kansas City.

3 Escape Injury In Garage Fire

A Hilltop man and three others escaped injury last week when a truck on which two of them were working caught fire at the Truck Service Garage, 214 Neilston-st.

Andrew Clingman, 180 N. Hague-av, a co-owner of the garage with Earl A. Symes, 34 S. Roys-av, was removing a battery from a truck owned by the Standard Oil Co., when it suddenly flamed up as gasoline ignited. The fire spread rapidly, blocking the doors, and the four men had to leap through windows to escape.

Firemen responded to two alarms. Damage was unofficially estimated at $1500.

Legion Post Plans Service Program Here

With the installation of the new officers of Camp Chase No. 98, American Legion, the post is planning for the coming year. Service to the community, state and nation has always been an aim of the post and the problems of veterans and their families are not to be forgotten, a spokesman for the group said.

The return of the dead of this late war will be met by the sympathetic and understanding offer of assistance to the immediate families in planning the last rites by Joseph D. Thompson, post chaplain. When a military funeral is requested the post will either furnish or arrange for the necessary personnel to insure a fitting expression of the sympathy and gratitude of the government and the people of this nation.

The many other phases of service to the veterans and their families, as well as the community, are being planned for by Clark Finneran, post service officer. This will include assistance to veterans in filing of claims, the child welfare and the Americanism programs. Various committees are being appointed to expedite this work.

Scharf Passes Engineer's Exam

35 Scouts Are Advanced At Fall Court of Honor

Thirty-five Boy Scouts were advanced in rank and 40 merit badges were awarded when the Southwest District held its semi-annual Court of Honor at the State Office Building last Wednesday night.

The opening ceremonies featuring the colors and the Scout Oath were conducted by Troop 214, of St. Mary Magdalene Church, with Scoutmaster John Martin leading the assembly.

A song was led by Scoutmaster Martin and Gil Boland, district field executive, after which John Apel, advancement chairman of the district, welcomed the scouts and their parents.

Presentation of Second Class pins and the merit badges was made by Eagle Scout Don Eisele of Air Squadron 3. First Class and Star awards were made by Jim Cockfield of Explorer Post 1.

A skit, "What Price a Boy," was put on by Troop 212. It depicted an auctioneer "selling" an American boy on the open market. War, vice, and crime were presented as the destructive forces bidding for American youth. They were outbid, however, by constructive forces of the church, education and sports.

Jack Sensenbrenner, district commissioner of the Southwest District, spoke to the assembly, after which Scoutmaster Harry Crawford of Troop 212 led the group in singing "Troop of the Eagle." The Court closed with the scoutmaster's benediction.

Corn Borer Should Be Killed In Stalks

The battle against the corn borer that causes so much damage in the home garden is fought most effectively when the corn crop has been harvested and the stalks died.

Borers prefer sweet corn of all varieties, and since sweet corn is planted earlier than field corn it attains a more desirable stage of growth at the time the moths are laying their eggs.

Disposing of the corn stalks after the harvest will prevent reinfestation of later corn by the second generation of borers and will also reduce the number of the worms in the next year's crop.

Stalks can be fed to livestock, ensilaged or shredded, or plowed under to a depth of at least six inches.

The average gardener, however, has neither cattle nor a silo, nor does he usually have his garden plowed in the late summer or autumn. It is therefore recommended that the stalks be burned as soon as they are sufficiently dried.

The same treatment, incidentally, is recommended for vines of snap and lima beans after these crops have been gathered.

"Mammy" Yokum Could Stock Up On Shoes (Dogpatch Style) At Local Shop

Some of the many odd pairs of shoes Jim Beaver has at repair shop.

By Bob Wiener

If "Mammy" Yokum of the Little Abner comic strip ever decides she needs a new pair of high button shoes she can get them on the Hilltop. No, Dogpatch hasn't moved to Columbus, but Jim Beayer of Beaver's Shoe Repair, 2771 W. Broad-st, has a half-dozen pairs of the oldtime high button shoes in his window that were fashionable for women about 1910.

It's all because of the war when leather was hard to get. Jim bought 130 pairs of the oldtime shoes from a shoemaker in Mechanicsburg who was going out of business. He needed the tops for patching leather. Most of the shoes have been cut up and used already but he still has several pairs on display in the shop.

One pair is made of white canvas and buttons up the entire side. Another white pair laces up the front. The shoes are about eight inches high and have what is now regarded as an extremely pointed toe. The "Mammy" Yokum shoes are black and of the button variety with a "bulldog" or box toe. He's actually sold a few pairs of these memories of a by-gone day to women who wanted them for masquerade parties.

Jim operates what is reportedly the oldest shoe repair shop on the Hilltop. His father, Martin Beaver, founded the business in 1913 with a shop at the corner of Whitethorne-av and W. Broad-st, next to the old engine house. Shortly afterwards he moved to 2383 W. Broad-st where he stayed for four years, when he moved again to 2394 W. Broad-st, where he stayed until his death in 1933.

Grew Up In Repair Business

Jim literally grew up in the shoe repair business. But before entering it on a ful-time basis in 1928, he worked for the Jeffrey Manufacturing Co. and the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. In 1935 he moved the shop once more to 121 Highland-av, where he stayed until 1940, when he opened up at his present location, 2771 W. Broad-st.

In 1926 he married Betty Baldwin. They have two children, Peggy, 17, and Judy, 12, and now live at 222 N. Ogden-av.

A shoemaker is called on to repair all sorts of items and Jim Beaver has been no exception. He has fixed everything from leather corsets to automobile seat covers. But he says he doesn't have the time to do these things. He's too busy repairing and refinishing shoes.

Right now he is emphasizing shoe refinishing. A chemical cleaner is used which takes off all the old dirt and polish and then a refinisher is put on with a spray gun. This gives the shoes a shine and luster like new which lasts and won't crack. This refinishing can also be done on ladies' gold and silver evening slippers.

Karg Is Helper

Jim's chief helper, Harry Karg, is no novice in the business either. He has been a shoemaker and repairman for 39 years and has been with the Beaver Shoe Repair Shop for three years. Originally from Bucyrus, Harry has been a shoemaker all his life as were his grandfather and his three sons. Harry used to help his father make shoes in Bucyrus. Harry says leather today isn't what it used to be. In the old days tanning and curing was a slow process. Nowadays finished leather is turned out on a mass production basis. But he said they use the best leather that is available. Jim says that without a doubt Harry is the best shoe repairman in these United States.

The machinery used today in shoe repairing hasn't changed much, according to Jim. The new sewing machines look pretty much the same as they did 30 years ago. The Beaver Shoe Repair Shop has two sewing machines, a leather splitter, a stitcher, and the customary long axle filled with buffing and polishing wheels.

Former Naval Officer Starts First Dental Practice On The Hilltop

A new dentist has opened up an office on the Hilltop. He is Dr. Paul M. Pontious, 27, who was recently discharged from the navy and is now practicing dentistry at 2568 W. Broad-st, where Dr. John Cross, M. D., maintains his office.

Dr. Pontious has lived in Columbus since 1934. He is a graduate of North High School and the College of Dentistry at Ohio State University. He received his B. A. degree there in 1942 and his D. D. S. in 1945.

After graduation Dr. Pontious entered the navy as a lieutenant j. g. He was stationed at the Miami (Fla.) Naval Air Station for six months and later at the U. S. Naval Hospital, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

Dr. Pontious is married to Maribel Maxwell of Columbus and has a two-months-old son, Philip. He resides at 151 W. North Broadway.

He is a member of Delta Sigma Delta, dental fraternity, the Columbus Dental Society, Ohio State Dental Society, and the American Dental Association.

Former Governor Urges Passage Of Tax Amendment

John T. Brown, former lieutenant governor and former director of agriculture, who introduced Ohio's gasoline tax law in the general assembly 23 years ago, today urged Ohio voters to vote "Yes" on the proposed Better Roads and Streets constitutional amendment which will appear fourth on the ballot at the election Nov. 4.

His statement is as follows:

"As author of Ohio's first gasoline tax law, I am of the opinion now, as I was then, that these funds should not be diverted to other uses—that they should be spent on roads and streets.

"It is apparent that Ohio's road and street needs are greater now, due to their increased use. To make certain that those who use the highways pay their full share of the bill, the gasoline tax was enacted. By like token, it is only fair that those who pay a tax on their gasoline and pay for a license to operate an automobile or commercial vehicle may expect that these funds may all be used for what they were originally intended — for the construction, maintenance and repair of roads and streets, traffic signs, traffic safety and kindred needs.

"To those who object to regulation of the use of these funds by constitutional amendment, may I point out that for 22 years now, the legislature has had a free hand with the gasoline tax funds, and see what has happened.

"There has been a continued temptation, due to the clamor for them, to grant diversion of these funds. Therefore, the best remedy is to make certain they are not diverted by voting "YES" on the proposed Better Roads and Streets Constitutional Amendment Nov. 4."

If prices were as certain of coming down as are skirt lengths, homemakers could balance their budgets.

The fellow who said that "figures don't lie" hasn't seen any of the modern clothes milady wears.

Million Dollar Daydreams (EVER HAVE 'EM?)

Just about everybody has had daydreams about suddenly and unexpectedly getting a lot of dough.

Unfortunately, however, the chances are a million to one that they'll never come true.

If you want to get yourself a nice hunk of change, the only sure fire way to do it is by saving.

One of the best ways to save regularly is to become a careful reader of The Hilltop Record ads each week.

It's a well known fact that Hilltoppers are getting better values than many people in other sections of the city because local independent merchants are advertising real bargains each week.

That's why you can't afford to be without the Record. Of course in addition to all these weekly bargains and news from local business firms there is a wealth of interesting news and features about local Hilltoppers, organizations and affairs.

For $1.50 you receive The Hilltop Record each Thursday by mail. This is less than 3c per week and still the biggest bargain in the city of Columbus today.

Camp Fire Girls Receive Thanks For Clothing Sent To Holland Youths

The efforts of two Hilltop girls, who sent clothing to needy Europe, were greatly appreciated by the recipients, as evidenced by letters they received recently from Holland.

Kay Tracey, 2505 Ridge-av, and Patty Henry, 269 Eldon-av, members of the Tawanka Camp Fire Group, were the only girls receiving answers to the notes they had enclosed in clothing sent to Europe last fall. Mrs. C. B. Story, 208 N. Terrace-av, is leader of the group. They made arrangements through the Salvation Army to send the clothes and are planning another drive soon.

Patty's letter was written in Dutch and had to be translated by Ohio State University officials. Her letter read, in part: "First of all, Patricia, we thank you heartily for your kind attention in having sent that cake of soap. At the present time that comes in very handy, for we have been having here soap only every six weeks. Hence you can imagine how dirty we have been, and when the cake of soap arrived we were at once clean again."

The lady who sent Pat the letter has five persons in the household. They live near Utrecht, in a village called Maarsen. The soap was, in Patricia's mind, a minor item, but to the Dutch people it was so important that they entirely forgot to mention the clothing which was sent. However, a neighbor lady had enclosed a note in English saying that the family had been able to use every stitch of clothing and again thanking her.

A boy of 16 answered the note sent by Kay. He lives in the hamlet of Vlaardingen, near Rotterdam. His village is the largest "fisher port" in Holland. An excerpt from his letter reads: "Well, Kay, I am curious what you means in your letter, were you say: 'I am a campfire girl'. I think you are a girl scouth, but I don't know sure it.

"I am a sea scouth. Yesterday evening I burned my right foot, so that I can't walk from the blains. I got a pan with boiling water over my foot."

He went on to explain how it was cold there and the water wouldn't drain off the land. Their coal was all damp and their garden was completely under water.

The girls were quite pleased with their letters and are going to enclose longer notes in the next shipment of clothing they send.

Veterans' Bonus Opposed By Property Owners

The following statement was released for publication this week by George F. Ketterer, president, and C. O. Chapman, secretary, of the Franklin County Property Owners' Association in opposition to the veterans' bonus proposal to be voted on next Tuesday:

"Payment of the veterans' bonus through real estate taxation would mean that the veteran who owns real estate now, or in the future, would be paying for his own bonus plus that of the non-real estate owning veteran.

"We believe that the bonus should be financed by all the wealth of the state, other than real estate."

The Spectator
By C. C. Hartley

After Election Observations

With very few slight exceptions the election on Tuesday went about as most people had it figured.

The strong party support given the Republicans as against the absence of same for the Democrats was largely responsible for the election of a Republican mayor and city council.

That the bonus amendment would turn out as it did was to be anticipated. The large veteran vote plus the fact that the public in general felt pretty good about remembering the service men, gave this issue a large vote.

A possible surprise to some was the large vote for the 40 hour week for the firemen. This is proof that the people are back of the firemen and want them to get a square deal—BUT—it doesn't provide the money to hire the additional men that such a move will require. That is now the big $64 question.

We predict that one of the first moves of the new city council will be to provide a city income tax for Columbus, in this way bringing in necessary revenue to build up the city fire and police departments.

It will be interesting to note the make-up of the new city council. It is likely that Councilman Oestreicher will be elected president of council, thus becoming the successor to Mayor Rhodes if and when he runs for a state office and is elected in two years.

We are glad to see that Moe defeated is the common reference to the school board race. People of Columbus were considerably concerned about the prospects of having the schools controlled by a combination university and labor element that has been branded communistic.

It was interesting to see that Fred Dunn, Jr., son of the county auditor, led the ticket in the school board race. He is a good man for the job, had a good American name on the ballot, gained some strength through the wide popularity of his father and certainly was aided by the large veteran vote.

Now that the election is over is no time to sit back and relax. The public should daily become more concerned as to what goes on in government. We must interest ourselves in our public affairs to the extent that we make certain demands of our public officials for better operation of our municipality and schools.

We feel it is time to revive the plan to increase the salary of the mayor and councilmen and to provide the city with a finance director. The Columbus city charter can stand some radical changes.

Cowboys Have Won Only 6 Grid Titles In West's History

If the West High Cowboys, who already have the City Football League championship under their belts, can emerge victorious in their two remaining games with South tomorrow night and with Jackson next week, they will record the second undefeated and untied season in West's history.

The only other time the West gridders pulled a grand slam was in 1937 when, coached by Harold E. Wise, they rolled over nine opponents and won the city championship for the second year in succession.

This year's championship is the sixth that West has won in the history of the school.

Looking back over the past years' records of West football teams, it is seen that the Cowboys have won four City League championships in the past 12 years. Three times in that period they copped the second spot, one third place, one fourth place, and three times they were the cellar dwellers.

The football dynasty at West can be said to have started in 1936, when a team coached by Harold E. Wise beat North 7 to 6 in the final game of the season, to win their first city league championship since 1919. Prior to this time the West gridders had won only two city titles with teams coached by C. Lee Leahy, in 1915 and 1919. The victory in 1936 broke a four-year hold on the championship by East.

Won All Games In 1937

In 1937 the Cowboys repeated and won all nine of their games to give them their first undefeated and untied season in history. But the following year saw the West gridders emerge without one league victory. The North High Polar Bears won the championship that year when they defeated West 7 to 0.

In 1939 West again lost the championship but this time by losing only one game, again to the North team. The score was 21 to 0 and was the only loss by the Cowboys all season as against eight victories.

The North High team again copped the city championship in 1940 as West wound up in second place with five victories and four defeats in all contests. The following two years were low points in West's football history. In 1941 the team failed to get one league victory and in 1942 the Cowboys lost every one of their nine games to culminate their worst season in years.

In 1943 West bounced back to cop third place in the final standings behind North and East who were both victors over West. The following year under Coach Dale Rose the Cowboys were nosed out of the championship when the North High Polar Bears took their measure 14 to 6 at Magly Field. West had lost only one non-league game, to Louisville Male High, before the North contest. The Polar Bears went through an undefeated season.

West won a co-championship in the city league in 1945 as they defeated North 26 to 13 in a wild contest at the Polar Bear field. In 1946 after a mediocre season the team wound up in fourth place with only two league victories, three defeats and one tie. They also won two non-league contests with Cincinnati Hughes and Springfield.

Harold Wolfe Hurt In Auto Mishap

Harold Wolfe, 15 S. Eureka-av, suffered bruises of his ribs when he lost control of the auto he was driving at the corner of Midland-av and W. Broad-st last Thursday.

Wolfe said he suffered a coughing spell and lost control of his car. He was driving west on Broad-st at the time. His auto struck the rear of another car and then went over the edge of the property at the southwest corner of the intersection, across Midland-av, and came to rest against an embankment at the side of St. Aloysius Church. He was taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital for treatment by the emergency squad.

Kiwanis Speaker

A fellow Hilltopper will address members of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club at the luncheon meeting to be held at Schmelzer's Restaurant, 3178 W Broad-st, today.

Robinson

He is Art Robinson, 470 Hiltonia-av, former newspaper man and radio news commentator, now executive director of community health services. He will discuss some of the health needs of the city of Columbus.

Robinson was appointed to his present position last summer when it was reactivated as a Community Chest agency. He formerly spent 14 years on the Columbus Citizen and was a newscaster over WHKC for five years.

"This country is in no position to talk 'tough' at this time," Commander Thomas Langen, USN, told local Kiwanians last week in a Navy Day talk. He pointed to reduced naval strength and similar reductions in other branches of the armed services as being insufficient to back up "tough talk."

Religious Census To Be Taken

If you are at home Sunday afternoon, you can expect visitors at your door.

They will be the representatives of the local churches helping to conduct the city-wide religious census being conducted under the direction of the Franklin County Council of Churches. Eighteen local churches will take part in the work.

Census takers will visit every home in an effort to discover the religious preference of each family and whether or not any church affiliation is maintained. The over-all program will actually get under way this afternoon at 2 p. m. when "guest leaders" from each of the 130 participating churches in the city meet at a seminar at the Central YMCA to receive instructions from Dr. Harry Munro.

On Friday evening, meetings will be held in each of the participating churches to instruct workers and other church officials on the manner in which the census is to be taken. The entire Hilltop community has been divided up into territories assigned to the 18 participating churches.

Workers will record the name and address of the family; the ages of all members of the family, particularly the ages of children, whether they are members of a local church and if not, what denomination they prefer, if any.

Volunteer workers will start out about 1 p. m. and will attempt to make all calls assigned to them during the afternoon. In some cases churches are preparing a luncheon for the census takers.

Census cards are available at the office of the Franklin County Council of Churches, 40 W. Long-st.

Each local church will attempt to make all calls assigned on Sunday afternoon and captains of each census group are expected to sort the cards by denominations and take them to Hoge Memorial Presbyterian Church Sunday afternoon or evening. They will then be taken to the council office on Monday. Call backs on families who are not at home will be made Sunday evening or Monday.

Highland-av Will Not Be Included In List of Names To Be Changed

Residents of Highland-av wasted no time last week in protesting to City Engineer Paul W Maetzel the proposed change in th name of the street to Chardon av. As a result Mr. Maetzel told the Record he has written a letter to Mayor James A. Rhodes suggesting the name of Highland-av be kept.

Consideration was given to the fact that two institutions bear the name Highland-av in their titles. They are the Highland Avenue School and the Highland Avenue Friends Church. Residents of the street also pointed out the similarity between the proposed name of Chardon-av with Clarendon-av, located just one block east. Confusion of the two streets might easily result over the telephone or in hand written addresses on letters, they said.

Maetzel said he recommended to Mayor Rhodes that Highland-st, located between 11th-av and Second av, be changed instead to Thompson-av.

In any event, residents living on any street whose name it is proposed to change will have a chance to voice their objections at a public hearing which will be held before City Council acts, Mr. Maetzel said.

Only one other street name change is contemplated on the Hilltop. This is Westwood-dr, which will become Woodside-dr if City Council approves the change. Terrace-av will become that officially for its entire length. The city still lists it as Terracest north of Sullivant-av.

Altogether 70 changes in street names throughout the city have been proposed by the city engineer's department. They are being made to eliminate duplication of existing names before the new street signs are erected.

W. Broad-st Motorist Will Do Well To Obey 25 mph Speed Limit

Automobile drivers who like to speed on W. Broad-st had better heed the new 25-mile-per-hour signs that have been erected through the business sections or else be prepared to pay fines in traffic court.

Eight persons were fined Monday in traffic court as the police department began cracking down on violators of the new speed limits.

E. O. Melvin, a member of the city traffic commission, revealed this week that the signs have been erected through areas where 50 per cent or more of adjoining property is made up of business establishments.

He also said that two police officers are assigned to patrolling W. Broad-st from 7 a. m. to 11 p. m. every day in an attempt to catch speeders on the thoroughfare. In front of school buildings the 20 mph speed limit still applies, Melvin said.

The new speed limits are in line with recommendations of the city traffic commission to reduce the hazards of accidents to both pedestrians and autoists, Melvin reported.

Chest Drive Is Over Top In West Div.

A last minute push on the part of Community Chest workers on the Hilltop and West Side put the West Residential Division "over the top" with 100.1 per cent of the final Chest report made Monday night. On a county-wide basis the drive fell $41,009 short of the total goal of $1,206,014.

Mrs. Ray Cave, 2936 Olivest, chairman of the division, said that other money was turned in too late to be included in the report and that other territory was being canvassed this week. She expressed the belief that the local division would go considerably over the goal of $5,000 set for the West Side and Hilltop.

Commenting on the success of the drive, Mrs Cave said, "I wish to personally express my thanks to the two co-chairmen (Mrs. Charles Hull, 247 S Gift-st, and Mrs. E Walter Dillow, 710 S. Richardson-av), the colonels, the captains and all who worked on the drive."

Mrs. Cave also released the following standings by percentage of quota of the various majors who worked in the drive:

Mrs. C. H. Bogart, 104.8; Mrs. Earl Abram, 104; Mrs. Noble Allen, 107.2; Mrs. Jack Mitchell, 100.1; Mrs. C. C. Munro, 86.3; Mrs. Harriet Huff, 91.1; Mrs. David Caton, 90.1; Mrs. A. J. Druar, 100.

The following workers had not previously had their names listed in the group of workers on the drive: Mrs. C. A. Driscoll, Mrs. Misner, Mrs. O. H. Lousa, Mrs. H. M. Williams, Mrs. O. W. Crey, Mrs R. A. Kloff, Mrs Don Tracey, Mrs. W. R. Clark, Mrs. Dewey Stout, Mrs. Richard Baker, Mrs. Winifred Killian, Mrs. Ed Doran, Miss Irene Skipper, Miss Marilyn Morris, Miss Wanda Archer, Miss Phyllis Williams, Mrs. Robert Crisman, Mrs KK Mrs. Robert Crisman, Mrs. W. Major Roberts Is Cited For War Record

Major James O. Roberts, 386 S. Terrace-av, has recently been awarded the Oak Leaf Cluster to the Bronze Star Medal, for heroic action, Headquarters Ohio Military District announced last week. The presentation was made at Fort Hayes by Colonel John E. McMahon, Jr., district executive.

The citation read: "Major (then Captain) James O. Roberts, Company G, 304th Infantry Regiment, while a member of the Army of the United States, distinguished himself by heroic action in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States on 12 April 1945. During the attack on Bad Tennstedt, Germany, Major Roberts' company was subjected to heavy rifle and machine gun fire coming from dug-in positions approximately 200 yards in front of the town. Major Roberts immediately decided upon a swift assault, and, leading his men in the charge, quickly overran the positions and resumed the advance. Another strong enemy force was encountered at the outskirts of the town. Major Roberts called for machine gun, mortar and artillery support and despite the heavy enemy fire personally called for fire which completely demoralized the enemy positions. Major Roberts' quick decisions, bold initiative and fighting spirit were an inspiration to his comrades."

Roberts graduated from Ohio University in 1942 and immediately entered service as a second lieutenant in the infantry. He served with the famed 76th Infantry Division throughout the entire European campaign.

Major Roberts was separated from the service in April, 1946.

At present Roberts is enrolled in the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University. He is married to the former Juanita Alkire, also of Columbus. The young couple have one son and reside at 386 S. Terrace-av.

Hilltop Voters Endorse Bonus

Two Hilltoppers—one a Republican, the other a Democrat—were elected to office in Tuesday's voting that elected members of the GOP almost all the way down the line.

Re-elected to serve his third term on the Columbus Board of Education was Robert M. Draper, an attorney, who resides at 74 N. Roys-av. At present he is president of that board. He is a Democrat.

P. W. Spence, 559 Columbian-av, a Republican, was successful in his race against Republican Ted Hysell for the office of clerk of the municipal court. Filling the unexpired term of the late A. J. Blosser, he had never run for the office before.

Read the complete unofficial precinct tabulation for the 10th and 11th Wards as it appears on Page 8A of today's Hilltop Record.

George Tarbutton, 2917 Crescent-dr, Democratic candidate for city council, was unsuccessful in his first attempt at seeking public office. He is an attorney.

Draper polled 4,081 votes in his own 11th Ward to lead the slate of 10 candidates seeking the four places on the board. In Ward 10 he was slightly overshadowed by Republican Fred (Mike) Dunn, Jr., a World War II veteran, who pulled a surprisingly large vote throughout the city in being elected to one of the board seats. The vote in the 10th Ward was Draper, 2133, Dunn, 2150.

Republican Mayor James A. Rhodes piled up substantial leads in both local wards as he was elected over Democrat Herbert Dailey by approximately 14,000 votes in the city. In the 10th Ward, Rhodes pulled 2373 votes to 1773 for Dailey. In the Republican 11th Ward the vote was 3602 to 2160.

Both wards strongly supported the firemen's 40-hour week and the veterans' bonus. In the 10th Ward the voters favored the 40-hour week 2487 to 1477 and the bonus 3825 to 1069. Eleventh Ward residents voted 3054 to 2739 for the 40-hour week and 3581 to 2108 for the bonus.

Franklin Township had only two contests for office seekers. In the race for member of the trustee board, L. W. Hendershott, 1490 Arlington-av, defeated William J. Mook, 866 Whitethorne-av, 804 to 390. The race for school board saw both incumbents returned to office. The final tabulation showed Edward O. Clime, 4032 Clime-rd, 860; Robert A. Jahn, 701 Stimmel-rd, 527; Leslie R. Graham, 953 Midland-av, 455.

The township vote supported the veterans' bonus 1153 to 258. Residents of the Greenlawn Housing Project voted to be annexed by the city 340 to 27.

Unopposed candidates in Franklin Township were Paul Wichterman, 1640 Reaver-ln, 992 for township clerk; E. C. Miller, 3327 Clime-rd, 1013 for justice of the peace; and John L. Quelette, 1032 Harrisburg-pk, 1038 for constable.

She Is Mrs. Edward Price

Mrs. Edward Price

Lighted candles placed in two silver ornate seven branched candelabra stood on either side of the altar upon which was a white and gold altar cloth, two three branched gold candelabra and two bouquets of white roses in gold vases when Miss Jean Louise Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard Young, and Mr. Edward P. Price, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh D. Price, 375 Oakland, Park-av, exchanged marriage vows in a double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. C. T. Langholz, Sunday, Nov. 2, at 4:30 in the afternoon in the St. John Lutheran Church.

The bride approached the altar on the arm of her father. She was attired in a gown of heavy ivory slipper satin fashioned with a bandeu neckline, having a quilted flower motif, long sleeves which fitted to a point over the hand and a tight fitting bodice with a huge bow in the back giving a bustle effect from which hung a long court train. The veil if illusion fell from a halo hat having small clusters of orange blossoms on it. She wore as her wedding gift from the bridegroom a small miniature gold cross upon a chain about her neck and carried a white wedding prayer book, belonging to her sister, upon which was arranged a shower of white roses. The bride carried for "something old" an heirloom handkerchief of hand made lace that had belonged to her maternal grandmother.

Miss Betty J. Pursley, the only attendant, preceded the bride to the altar in a gown of lime green faille taffeta, also wearing a halo hat, both gown and hat being fashioned similar to those of the bride. She carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses placed on a foundation of American Beauty taffeta ribbon with silver streamers and wore silver accessories.

Mr. Robert McNeil, of Chicago, served as best man for Mr. Price and Mr. Roy Harding, Jr., and Mr. Dale Bessey seated the guests.

The bride's mother chose a gown of spruce green romaine crepe with burnt gold feather hat and gloves to match and wore a corsage of miniature gold chrysanthemums. The mother of the groom was attired in teal blue with a pink feather hat and black gloves with pink turned back facing. Her corsage was of pink roses.

Mrs. Clyde D. Moore, organist, presented a half hour of music preceding the ceremony.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's perents and hostesses were Mrs. Harry V. Doughty, who registered the guests, Mrs. C. H. Lose, who presided at the coffee service, Mrs. J. D. Taxter, who served the wedding cake, Miss Helene Huter and Miss Lillian Steffen who served the guests.

MARINE AUXILIARY TO MEET

Navy and Marine Unit No. 276, American Legion Auxiliary, will hold a business meeting at Memorial Hall, Wednesday, Nov. 12, at 8. The new president, Mrs. Harry Dill, 1242 E. Livingston-av, will give a report on the 12th District Conference which she attended. There will be an election of a delegate to the Franklin County Council at this meeting. All members are urged to be present for this election.

The maid of honor, two senior bridesmaids and two junior bridesmaids preceded Miss Eldora Jane Lane to the altar of the Gift Street Methodist Church where she was joined in marriage to Mr. Howard Warren Hawkins of Carolean, N. C., on Sunday, Sept. 28, at 3:30 in the afternoon. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Lane of 634 Mt. Calvary-av and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Hawkins of Carolean. Rev. Herbert Saxman officiated at the double ring ceremony which was performed before an altar decorated with palms, woodwardia fern and candelabra. A half hour of organ music preceded the ceremony.

The bride, attired in a heavy white satin gown with fitted bodice, a sweetheart neckline, long sleeves ending in a point over the hand, approached the altar on the arm of her father. The full skirt ended in a wide circular train. Her finger-tip veil fell from a tiara of orange blossoms. She carried a white prayer book upon which were white glamellias tied with white satin streamers. Her only jewelry, also her "something borrowed" was a single strand of pearls.

Miss Martha Woolsom, as maid of honor, wore a pale blue gown with satin bodice, sweetheart neckline, three-quarter length sleeves and full skirt of tulle. She wore matching head dress and carried a colonial bouquet of fuchsia glamellias. Miss Betty Smith and Miss Margaret Cotyk served as bridesmaids. Their gowns were of pale pink and were identical to that of the maid of honor. The two junior bridesmaids were Eleanor Fleming and Sharon Spangler and their gowns were also similar to that of the maid of honor with taffeta bodice and nylon skirt accentuated with a taffeta bow bustle.

Mr. James Powell served as best man and those seating the guests were Mr. Charles F. Lane, Mr. Eldon Spangler, Miss Patricia Grubb and Miss Marilyn Baird, who were attired in pink and blue, respectively, with corsages of fuchsia gladioli at their shoulders.

Mrs. Lane, mother of the bride, wore navy blue with matching accessories and wore a corsage of gardenias. The parents of the bridegroom were unable to attend the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Spangler, uncle and aunt of the bride, were hosts at a reception in their home at 80 N. Harris-av. Those assisting in welcoming the guests were Mrs. Lowell McNett, Mrs. Charles Jenkins, Mrs. Charles Lane, Mrs. Richard Fleming and Miss Patricia Boyd.

The young Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins are now "at home" at 86 E. Lakeview-av. Mr. Hawkins is attending Ohio State University.

Time For Play Important Part In Baby's Life

Playtime constitutes almost the entire waking life of our children from babyhood to school age and is an important part of adolescence. Children find their greatest spur to all-round development in play—if the equipment they have is of the right kind, selected to meet the needs of their particular development.

The choice of toys should take into consideration physical, social and crestive qualities but their adaptability to the particular type of home in which the child lives should also influence selection. Perhaps at some time you have lived in a small apartment and know how restricted a child's play is apt to be under those conditions. Perhaps you are now in a house where your child may have any amount of freedom inside but must be restricted outside. Possibly your number of rooms is very much limited but you have a large yard. Regardless of where you live, your child's play life is a fundamental need.

Each situation has its problems, possibilities and difficulties but if the child's toys and play equipment are adequate to his surroundings he will be happy. Parents who have large houses with big yards have just as much to consider as those who have homes with small back yards and the sidewalk. Each should supply a play space both indoors and out and toys which will satisfy the child. Many toys will fit both types of houses. In small houses a play space other than the child's room. However, if his room is large enough and he can have his own place for his toys, his playroom and bedroom can be combined. If you have no playroom, why not use the attic, or provide a basement play space?

Use Signals To Teach Good Habits To Child

If you have difficulty in teaching your children good habits without nagging, you may find your task simplified by the wise use of signals and automatic reminders. This is the way Bobbie's mother used them. Her three-year-old son was usually absorbed in play when bedtime came, and didn't want to stop. She realized that a young child needs time for adjusting to the idea of dropping his play, and starting for bed. Hence, she forestalled possible tears or temper tantrums by ringing a bell as a warning that bedtime was just around the corner. "I'll ring a bell again soon," she explained, "and then it will be time to stop playing and get ready for bed."

Thus prepared, Bobbie was ready on the second signal for the piggyback ride that took him to bed. This later touch can be gradually dropped. In the beginning it helps to ease the breaking away from play. Once the first difficult step is taken, each subsequent one tends to suggest the next, and the process of undressing proceeds with the mimimum of parental prodding.

Signals also helped Bobbie learn when he was expected to go to sleep. After he was tucked in with his wants attended to, his mother went toward the door, saying, "Goodnight, it's sleepy time." If he demurred, she continued, "Let's blow out the light. You blow, too. There it goes." The light went out, mother silently left and Bobbie accepted this as the wind-up of the day.

They Celebrate 50th Anniversary Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Baird

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Baird, 154 N. Burgess-av, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary on Sunday, Nov. 9, with open house during the afternoon and evening. Mr. Baird is 72 and Mrs. Baird is 74.

Leonard Earl Baird married Lillie V. Michaelis on Nov. 10, 1897, on his birthday. They have three sons, Earl W., 158 N. Burgess-av; Ray E., 248 S. Eureka-av; and Warren H., of Springfield. There are four grandchildren, Earl W. Jr., 64 King-av, and Mary Ruth, at home—son and daughter of Earl W. Baird, Sr., Robert E., 387½ S. Sandusky-st, and William C. at home—sons of Ray E. Baird; and one great grandson, Michael Lee, six-weeks-old son of Robert E. Baird.

Mr. Baird is still active as a maintenance man in the community. The couple are members of Hoge Memorial Presbyterian Church.

THEY CELEBRATED BIRTHDAYS

Those present for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith and son, Jack; Mr. and Mrs. Wyman Porter and son, Charles; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kimbal; Mr. and Mrs. George Gyszler and daughter, Karlyn; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Owen and daughter, Mary Lou; Mr. and Mrs. Plymale Smith and sons, Tommy and Jacky; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sanburn and children, Sharon and Bobby; and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Frownfelter and daughter, Eldora.

Women's Chorus Has Concerts Planned For Early Winter

The fall and winter activities of the Hilltop Women's Chorus are well under way at this time with the following engagements in view: On Sunday evening, Nov. 23, the chorus will present a program in the Avondale Evangelical United Brethren Church. This will be followed by an engagement the early part of December in Westgate Methodist Church. The first week in January they will broadcast over Station WHKC and the last week in January they will present a program at the R. T. King Chapter of the OES.

The first annual dinner which was held at the Grandview Inn on Oct. 22 was well attended, 32 of the 44 enrolled members being present.

On Wednesday evening, Nov. 19, Mrs. F. E. Raymond, 438 S. Richardson-av, will be hostess to the chorus at a social gathering.

Rehearsal is each Monday, 7:30 p. m., in the Westgate Methodist Church with the exception of the third Monday. This week is reserved for social contact in the homes of the various members.

Three Celebrate Birthdays Together

The annual birthday party for Robert Lee Calentine, Laurel Jean Lind and Martha Franz, was held on Oct. 19, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Calentine, 737 S. Eureka-av.

The three children occupied the same nursery at Mt. Carmel Hospital seven years ago and have celebrated their birthdays together since.

Laurel Jean is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lind, 402 S. Hague-av, and Martha Lou is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Franz, 628 Fairwood-av.

Other children at the birthday celebration were Johnny Lind, Ruth Lind, Billy Smith, 769 S. Eureka-av, and Sandra Blum, 609 S. Ogden-av.

"I tell you I won't have this," protested the old lady to the bellboy. "I'm not going to pay good money for a closet with a folding bed. If you think just because I'm from the country—"

"Get in, lady get in," the boy cut in wearily. "This isn't your room. This is the elevator."

An American was seated opposite a nice old lady in the compartment of an English railway car. For some minutes he chewed his gum in silence, then the old lady leaned forward and murmured, "It's so nice of you to try to make conversation but I must tell you that I'm terribly deaf."

China Shoes, Glass Shoes, Wooden Shoes Add Up To Make Interesting Hobby

Although collecting things for a hobby is not unusual, Mrs. Ethel Marshall, 305 N. Grener-rd, Rome, thinks she collects something a little different than most people. She has built up an assortment of miniature shoes. Most of these are made of china, glass or wood, and she has everything from Japanese balsa wood sandals to doll's shoes which pre-date the Civil War.

Mrs. Marshall has a collection of more than 100 pairs of shoes of every size and kind, shape and description. They come from 31 states and 12 countries. During the war she corresponded regularly with 20 service men stationed all over the world. Knowing that miniature shoe collecting was her hobby, they gratefully sent her additions to her collection from the countries where they were located.

"I started my collection in 1939," Mrs. Marshall says, "because my friends were all collecting such things as salt and pepper shakers, pitchers, and the like. I wanted something different and decided on miniature shoes."

The war gave a real boost to her hobby. She wrote to boys from the neighborhood who were in the armed forces. They sent her small pairs of shoes from wherever they went as well as letters and pictures which she has filed in a large scrapbook. She estimated that about half of her collection was received in this way.

Shoes From Kunming

From Kunming, China, came a pair of brilliant red cloth sandals, each with a dragon embroidered in green on the top. Her son, Richard E. Marshall, who was stationed with the finance section of the 20th Air Force in Guam, sent her a pair of bamboo sandals of the type worn by natives on the island. These have cloth soles of material resembling that used in overalls. The rest of the sandals are made of bamboo strands woven together and presenting a matted effect.

From the Philippines came another pair of green and purple sandals, entirely woven of rope, including the soles. A service man in Holland sent her a miniature pair of the familiar Dutch wooden shoes. She also has a pair of miniature Dutch shoes made of koa wood from Hawaii and still another pair from Belgium.

Mrs. Marshall keeps her shoe collection in a separate china closet in the living room. The shoes are neatly arranged on four shelves. Most of them are ornamental only. A few are really other articles such as a knife or pin cushion but have a shoe-like exterior and hence fit in with the collection.

About the oldest shoe she has is a dainty white slipper about three inches long. This is made of a fine grade china with gold trimming and dates back more than 100 years. This belonged at one time to the grandmother of Mrs. Estella Lott, 405 S. Central-av. Mrs. Lott gave it to Mrs. Marshall in 1940.

An old fashioned child's shoe having a light green color, with blue and yellow laces with red and yellow tassels, dates back to Civil War days. This shoe was found among the stock of a dry goods store that had once been operated in Williamsburg, Ohio. It came into the possession of Mrs. Catherine McLean of New Rome many years ago. Mrs. McLean, widow of Dr. Frank McLean, a dentist in New Rome for many years, gave this memento to Mrs. Marshall several years ago.

An interesting story lies behind two pairs of children's shoes that came from Norwich, England. One of the service men to whom Mrs. Marshall wrote during the war was John Richards of Marietta, who was stationed in England. When he married an English bride Mrs. Marshall began writing to her also while John went to Belgium. When Mrs. Richards came to the United States last fall she brought the two pairs of shoes for her collection. These and the Civil War shoes are the only ones Mrs. Marshall has that were actually made for footwear.

Because of her active correspondence with service men, some of them have suggested she put a real pair of G. I. shoes in with her collection, but Mrs. Marshall is rather hesitant about that as yet.

Collected Only 10 Herself

Mrs. Marshall says that she collected only about 10 pairs of the shoes herself from places outside Ohio. Last year she took a trip East and acquired shoes in Maryland, Washington, D. C., and Mt. Vernon, Va. This past August she and her husband motored to Mexico and she bought shoes in Mississippi, New Orleans, Arkansas, Alabama and Mexico. All the rest of her collection was given to her by friends and relatives or was bought in Ohio by herself.

At present she is trying to get one pair of shoes from every state, needing shoes from only 17 more states to complete her collection in this way. Then, she says, she may try to get a pair from every important American city.

In addition to the shoes she has collected since 1939, Mrs. Marshall has a pair of her own baby doll's shoes, which she received when she was 12 years old. Another doll's shoe she has once belonged to the late Mrs. Giehl, formerly of Fisher-rd, who died two years ago at 98 years of age. This shoe is made of brown leather and has three buttons up the side. It was given to her by Mrs. Giehl's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Edith J. Giehl.

The tiniest pair of shoes in the collection are two which are made of metal. They are attached together and are only about one-half inch long. They were once part of a charm bracelet which Mrs. Marshall bought several years ago in Indianapolis.

The largest shoe she has is made of china and is painted a robin's egg blue. It is about 10 inches long and has a replica of a small dog fastened on the instep in the position of sleeping at his master's feet. This was given to her on her silver wedding anniversary, Jan. 25, 1942, by her two small granddaughters, Donna Mae and Ruth Ellen Contizano of 138 N. Huron-av.

Mrs. Marshall has been a resident of Franklin County and the Hilltop all her life. She was born near Big Darby Creek and lived at various times at West Jefferson, at 709 Racine-av, and for 14 years at 477 S. Terrace. She has been living at 305 N. Grener-rd for 17 years. She attended Highland Avenue School and Central High School when that was located on E. Broad-st.

Her husband, Earl L. Marshall, is an electrician with Kirk's Electric Appliance Store, 2345 W. Broad-st. Besides a son, Richard, she has one daughter, Mrs. Helen Contizano.

She is a past officer of the Calanthe Temple of Pythian Sisters and is now drill captain of Glenwood Camp No. 7683, Royal Neighbors.

The Hilltop Record can be mailed to a friend. $1.50 per year anywhere in Franklin County.

Spirited Cowboy Eleven Wins City Grid Title By Defeating East Tigers Friday

To Meet Bulldogs In League Finale

There was joy on the Hilltop Friday night.

West High School had won another city football championship—won from arch rival East who shared the last Cowboy grid crown in 1945. A crowd of 9,200 persons watched the home team decisively down the East Tigers, 25 to 7, after being held on even terms through the first half.

Coach Mack Pemberton will be seeking to make it nine wins in a row as his team faces South High at Magly Field tomorrow night in a game beginning at 8 p. m. The outcome will have no bearing on the city title since the Cowboys are undefeated while every other city school has lost at least two games. The Bulldogs will be trying desperately to break their 27-game losing streak.

Coach Ralph Webster had his boys in excellent condition for the all-important clash. His team was fast and deceptive and at the half time with the score 7 to 7 it looked like anybody's ball game. But the Cowboy power began to spell defeat for the visitors in the third period. The biggest difference, however, was in the ability of the West line to solve the Bengal attack. All through the first half the fast-charging East line had been pulling the Cowboys out of position, permitting the fleet-footed Dick Thomas to scoot through for consistant gains.

The game had scarcely gotten under way when Quarterback Jim Slager passed to Jack Thrush on the East 29-yard stripe for what would have been a touchdown but the Cowboys drew a 15-yard penalty for holding and were set back on the 43. The Cowboys were not to be denied, however, when 11 plays later Walter Hicks went through tackle to score from the East 25. Thrush kicked the extra point and with four minutes left in the first period the score was West 7, East 0.

Tigers Score

Coach Webster's boys came right back to score six plays later. Thomas made 12 yards and a first down on the East 34. Fullback Dick Wallace picked up 15 yards and another first down at midfield. Two line plays gained five yards and Quarterback Norman Paske worked the screen pass for a 45-yard touchdown play. Thomas passed to Newton for the extra point.

East kicked off and took possession of the ball on the West 46 after it touched a West player. Several minutes later the Tigers took possession of the ball on downs and moved from their own 41 to the West 15-yard stripe, where the Cowboy line held seconds before the half ended.

Having figured out a way to stop the Bengal running attack the Pemberton-coached Cowboys held the visitors to a scant 17 yards on the ground during the two final cantos. The Tigers did complete two passes for 27 yards each but the rugged West line stopped further threats.

Bobbie Smith really set up the second Cowboy touchdown when he sliced through the line for 30 yards to the East 6-yard stripe after being hit by two East players. Jerry Chinn scored from the 2-yard line three plays later.

Exchange of Fumbles

An exchange of fumbles in the vicinity of the East 5-yard line give the Cowboys their third scoring opportunity. After a West fumble, Chuck Weeks, West tackle, recovered an East fumble on the 5. Miles went to the 1 and Slager scored on the next play. A poor pass from center resulted in Thrush's kick being blocked.

Trying desperately to come from behind, the Tigers began throwing long passes to try to gain ground quickly. Walter Hicks snagged one of these on his own 45 and, cutting to the east side of the playing field, flashed down the sideline for the final score of the game.

Jack Thrush turned in a beautiful piece of broken field running in the fourth period. First he intercepted the East pass on their own 37, returning it to the 39. Two plays later he took the ball on an end around from the 41, cut back towards the center of the field to pick up his interference and went to the 8-yard marker.

It would be difficult to point out all of the stars of the West team. It was definitely a team victory in spite of good individual performances. Chuck Weeks turned in a heads-up job all the way, recovering two East fumbles and pilfering the pigskin on one other play that had even the officials confused. Starling Hutt played one of his best games and Wilbur Ehlers did a fine job of line backing on the defense.

The principal difference in the two teams in the final analysis was the West line. It played hard football through the second half after it had solved the tricky East attack. Jerry Chinn, Jim Slager, Danny Miles and Bob Smith all gave good account of themselves in addition to Hick's speed demonstrations.

Coach Mack Pemberton and his two assistant coaches, Freo Heischman and Dave Randall, could well be proud of their squad as pandemonium reigned in the dressing room following the game. There was no prouder group in the stands than the Dads of the boys who were honored before the game started. They were mighty proud of their boys wo had just won an undisputed city championship.

The starting lineups were:

Shade To Captain Capital Gridders

Gene Shade

A former West High School grid star will captain the Capital University eleven when it clashes with Denison at Bernlohr Field Saturday.

He is Gene Shade, 175-pound left halfback, who played under Dale Rose when he was coaching the Cowboy team and then followed him to the Lutheran school after he took over there in 1946.

In addition to doing the place kicking, Shade is on the receiving end of many Cap passes.

Amvets Are Scoreless In Tie With W. Jeff.

West Jefferson held the Hilltop Amvets to a scoreless tie on the western gridiron Sunday afternoon as penalties plagued every effort of the Hilltoo boys. West Jefferson was kept deep in its own territory all through the game never getting beyond their own 30-yard line for three quarters.

The Hilltoopers were penalized a total of 350 yards and although they were inside the 10-yard marker several times the old penalty bugaboo or fumbleitis offset almost every strategic gain.

There's a sport at West High that brings the participants no glory. There are no cheering fans to urge them on and few headlines tell of their exploits. But it's brought a city championship to West three times in the past five years and a district championship this year.

The sport is cross country. It is regarded as a minor sport, engaged in primarily, from the school's viewpoint, to build up the spring track team.

Cross country is a form of "track," but it involves only one event, the cross country run. This is a run of exactly two miles over uneven terrain, normally consisting of fields and woods. West doesn't have its own cross country course, so holds its home meets on the practice field south of the stadium at Ohio State. For practice the West runners follow a course through the streets and alleys from the school to Westgate Park and then back again over a different route.

Coach of the West cross country squad, as well as of the track team, is R. C. (Rufe) Glass, who has been handling the team since 1943. Glass came to West in the fall of 1942 as assistant basketball and football coach. During the war he was varsity basketball coach for one year. Now he handles only the track and cross country teams. The latter won the championship in 1943 and 1944 and placed second in 1945 and 1946. He's mighty proud of this year's cross country outfit, however, which he says has "no stars" but "just a bunch of better-than-average runners."

"The boys run for only two reasons. They either like to run or they are interested in developing themselves for other sports. They are all interested in spring track, and in running cross country in the fall they condition themselves that much more for the track team," Glass says.

In the big meets where a number of schools take part, there is a limit of seven runners from each school. All the runners start out together over a two-mile course laid out with flags and arrows to mark the way.

OSU Course Flat

The course at Ohio State is relatively flat, so when the West runners are preparing for a meet over a hilly course such as the courses at Springfield or Mansfield, they train by running up and down the stadium steps at Magly Field.

The hilliest course the West runners have competed on is at Mansfield. This is located on the Snyder Golf Course and is the toughest one in the state, according to Glass. At Newark, the run is through Mound State Park, and at Springfield, site of the district meet which West won, it is over another golf course.

In cross country competition the team with the lowest number of points wins the meet. Points are awarded for the order of finish of each individual. A man finishing first scores only one point for his team, finishing second scores two points, etc.

West's cross country record this year includes finishing first twice and second twice, besides the city meet and the district meet which they won, and the state meet in which they placed ninth. The runners were nosed out by one point by Mansfield in a triangular meet at Newark. A second time they met Mansfield in a dual meet at Ohio State, the visitors beat them by only five points. In a quadrangular meet with Springfield, Osborn Bath and Dayton Fairview at Springfield, they won easily with 21 points. Springfield was second with 47 points. In another dual meet with South they made a "grand slam" by taking all first five places, making the score West 15, South 43.

In the Central District Meet at Springfield on Oct. 18, West beat out 13 other schools with a low total of 67 points. That's the meet which was held the day after the West-North football game. Because the boys really wanted to win it they stayed home voluntarily from the football game so they could get plenty of sleep. They felt they wouldn't be in the best of condition if they went to the game the night before and stayed out late. It was entirely voluntary, Glass pointed out.

As a gesture of support for the football team the cross country runners posted a note on the bulletin board the day of the game, telling the grid players they wished them luck and victory. Then they told why they wouldn't be at the game to cheer them on.

"It was one of the finest gestures of sportsmanship I have ever seen," said Glass, "and it indicated that the boys really wanted to win the district meet."

Eight Win Letters

Eight members of this year's squad will receive varsity letters. In order to win a letter a runner must have placed among the first five in at least one meet.

The eight letter winners are all track and cross country veterans. Jim Dennis, Kenneth Mahan and Kenneth Evans completed their third year on the squad, while Dick Ham, Dave Stethem, Don Eisele and Bill Van Atta finished their second year. Fred Harper, the team capain, has been a cross Country runner for only one year. Previously, he played football in the fall and ran the mile for the track team in the spring.

In addition to the varsity "W", West High awards the letter winners gold track shoes, but only if they win the city league championship and the district meet the same year.

Four members of this year's squad will receive reserve letters. They are Sheldon Conway, Bob Jones, Don Eitle and Robert Ford.

Altogether there are 18 men on West's cross country squad. There are no stars but all slightly better-than-average runners and there is good team balance, according to Coach Rufe Glass. The finish is always close. At the district meet West had seven men running in a field of 110. One man, Fred Harper, finished in second place and four others finished among the first 20.

Five West runners qualified for the state meet at Mansfield, where the team met the best cross country runners from 15 high schools in Ohio. West placed ninth in this meet with a total of 229 points.

100 Mile Club

Another award that cross country and track stars can get at West is membership in the 100 Mile Club. Competion for this starts in the fall and ends in June. Each runer turns in the number of miles he ran at the end of each daily practice session in the fall and spring. If the total at the end of the year equals 100 miles he is awarded a silver medal with "100 Mile Club" stamped on it. About six or eight men qualify for this award each year.

Perhaps the best indication of the spirit the West cross country runners have is exemplified in the two songs that three members of the squad wrote, and which the whole squad sings after a victory. Jim Dennis, Darrell Hall, and Jim McCarty were the lyric writers. It's sung to the tune of "Caledonia."

"I run with my buddies; got great big feet.
They're lean, long lanky-had nothing to eat.
But they're my buddies, love them just the same.
Crazy about that sport, cross country is its name.
Cross country, cross country.
What makes these two miles so far. Hai!
We run cross country on eighty pace.
Great big feet are no disgrace.
We learned this sport from R. C. Glass.
Cross country, cross country.
What makes us run so fast? Hai!"

The boys have another song which they sing to the tune of the Whiffenpoof Song. It goes like this:

"We are poor little boys who've just run two miles cross country.
We ran from here to eternity.
God have mercury on such as we, cross country (Repeat)

Across The HILLTOP ALLEYS

By Dick Ardle

One of the biggest advances in bowling has been made by Bill Wolfe, owner of Hilltop Recreation Alleys, and Paul Leighninger, co-owner of Seiller's Department Store. These two men, with the help of their businesses have provided the teen age boys and girls with two bowling leagues. Both leagues are sanctioned under the American Junior Bowling Congress at Chicago, and the officers are the fellows and girls themselves who keep the records, collect the money and manage all affairs connected with the organization. Seiller's has provided both leagues with blouses and shirts, with the name of the brand they represent on the back, as well as various prizes through the year for the high singles and series games. The biggest thrill of the year comes in March when the first and second place teams of both leagues roll in the national telegraphic tournament. Seiller's also enters a team from each league in the men's and women's city tournaments. Last year the girls took second place and the boys missed the prize list by only 18 pins.

Dick Ardle

Milton Raymer, executive secretary of the A. J. B. C., came to see Mr. Wolfe at the Hilltop alleys last Thursday morning. He praised highly Seiller's Department Store for its fine work and also the newspapers for their fine cooperation. Mr. Raymer was on his way to Indianapolis to a conference.

This week I would like to tell you a little about the boys' league and next week the girls' league.

The boys' league is run so that the first and second teams always roll against each other and the third and fourth teams, etc., do the same. This way the comparative strength of the teams is just about the same.

At present Tom Sawyer and Curlee are tied for first place with records of 10 wins and five losses. Arrow, Rainfair and McGregor are tied for third with six wins and nine losses. Stetson Hats is in last place, with five wins and 10 losses.

Eddie Harold and I are tied for first place in averages with 165.2 and Bob Horch is third with 156. Eddie Harold holds the high game, 208, and I hold the high total, 558. Rainfair has the high team game, 821, and McGregor the team series, 2308.

The teams, their won and lost records, are as follows:

Team	W	L
Tom Sawyer	10	5
Curlee	10	5
Arrow	9	6
Rainfair	9	6
McGregor	9	6
Stetson Hats	5	10

Bowling Bits

"Lefty" Seiple again came up with the bowling gem of the week while bowling with Seiller's Department Store on Wednesday night. "Lefty" started off with a spare, then missed the ten pin. He spared in the third and then rolled nine strikes in a row for a 258 game.

Honor Roll

Men 500 or better:
Stan Maxwell, Bluhm Beauty and Barbers—515.
Dick Knipper, Ben Brew—531.
Bill Hayes, Chubby's Market—508.
"Lefty" Seiple, Seiller's Department Store—500.
Women 500 or better:
Mary Herrity, Seiller's Department Store—538.
Edna Laischa, West Hill Furniture—538.
Dorothy Goain, Midland—527.
Ruth Ferry, Broadway Market—516.

Bowler of the Week

Eddie Harold, 16-year-old pin boy, is as well known around the Hilltop alleys as any of the bowlers. He has been bowling for around two years. This is Eddie's first year as a regular kegler and he is the youngest bowler to roll in the men's leagues. He bowls on Tuesday night carrying an average around 170. In the teen agers league he is secretary and also captain of the Curlee team which is tied for first place. In this league he has the highest average, 165. Nice going, Ed.

Warm Weather Favors Ducks

The Thunder Bird, demi-god of the Indians, who makes the weather, has been on the side of the ducks and geese since the opening of the waterfowl season, Oct. 11. Mild weather to the near arctic has delayed the flights from the North.

Manly Miner, director, famous Miner Waterfowl Sanctuary at Kingsville, Ontario, advises that there are only 1,000 geese at the refuge at present. Ordinarily there would be 5,000 at least. Miner says that until heavy snows blanket the Hudson's Bay area and the lakes in the North Country freeze over, ducks and geese will not start scuth in large numbers. It is still butterfly weather up there.

The warm weather has saved many ducks and has been helpful to the U. S. Wildlife Service's waterfowl conservation program. It has cut down the kill considerably and saved ducks to populate the nesting areas next year. Shorter bag limits, shorter season and stronger law enforcement in the South this year will also help the duck situation. A substantial increase in Canada geese is reported for the Mississippi fly way, from observations on the breeding areas of the far North.

Seen From The Sidelines As West Wins Grid Title

By Libby Downing

The West High team, sparked by no one in particular, but playing as a team, displayed its skill to play good hard football during the second half last week, taking a 7-7 tie at the half and turning it into a 25-7 win over East High.

It was Dads' night and the pops of the football players, wearing placards displaying their sons' numbers, were introduced to the crowd before game time. They were privileged to sit along the sidelines on the benches and watch the grid battle. You can imagine their feelings when their sons had won the game, insuring them of the City League Championship.

Starling (Poodie) Hutt was captain for West, who kicked off. Words cannot describe the see-sawing game, the ball changing and the tenseness of the first half. It was one for one during both quarters.

Arriving late (6:45), we stooped to sitting in the baseball bleachers. However, about 20 minutes later we were glad to have the seats, for our bleachers were packed to the cills, with people hanging on the sides. The fence along the south side of the school had no less than 10 deep behind it, and at the south end and the east side, people stood about five or six deep. This situation brought to mind a remark by a man who thought he might be late arriving at the stadium. He said, "Well, if this game even resembles the West-North game, who'd mind standing up?"

The East High band came onto the field first at the half. It could well be called, "Small But Mighty." After forming "Hi" to both stands (they didn't even look in our direction), they formed a W for the West fans. The cheerleaders helped out to form E-A-S-T for their fans. While in this formation the drum majorettes formed a chorus line, doing high kicks. Then they played the East Alma Mater.

The West High band came onto the field with colored lights on their hats, for which reason we found out later. They played "Hi, Neighbors," with the formation "Hi" to East, then West. Forming P-O-P, they gave forth with "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," followed by "Little Brown Jug," going into a jug formation. The field lights were turned off for the next number, a pumpkin outlined in orange, with red eyes, nose and mouth, and a green stem. They concluded the show with an "E" to East, a "W" and revolving "W" to West, and finally the "Alma Mater."

During the last half some confusion on the field had the crowd and evidently the referees, also, temporarily stumped. While we were trying to figure out what the deal was, the loud speaker system got a laugh from the fans by announcing, "We don't understand it either."

Some spectators played it smart by standing outside the south end of the stadium on the foundations of houses in the process of being built. With their binoculars they probably saw at least as much as we. It still amazes me that no one ever tried to get into the upper stories of the school building and watch from those windows!

Just for the sake of statistics, we find that during the current season West Hi has scored 202 points to its opponents' 39 points.

Next week its' South at West and the following week Jackson here. This last game, the homecoming contest, will be played in the afternoon, with the dance in the evening.

Earl Burton of Hillsboro, Ohio, who was visiting his cousin, Dick Wood, 218 N. Harris-av, reported he lost his wallet containing $60 and valuable papers at the game.

Sailor Loses Arm In Plane Propeller

A 20-year-old Jackson, Ohio, sailor was reported slightly improved but still in critical condition at Mt. Carmel Hospital last week after walking into the whirling propeller of an airplane, and suffering an amputated left arm.

The sailor, Radioman 1/c Evan E. Mapes, was helping a friend, Charles Bowman, Jr., 346 Stewart-av, fix his plane at Beaver's Flying Service, an airport located on Rt. 3 just northeast of Grove City.

Sheriff's deputies said Mapes stepped out of the plane to ask a nearby motorist to move his automobile which was parked near the plane. As he was coming back he walked around the edge of the plane and the propeller hit him.

Bowman said Mapes was thrown ten feet. Bowman turned off the motor and jumped out of the plane. Mapes' left arm was cut off and he was suffering from back injuries and severe body cuts. He remained conscious for about 20 minutes until arrival of an ambulance from the Norris Funeral Home which took him to Mt. Carmel Hospital.

Mapes is on leave from the USS Gyatt at Norfolk, Va. He had been visiting at Bowman's Stewart-av home.

Faulty Sidewalks

The attention of this office was directed recently by a subscriber to faulty and dangerous sidewalks throughout the Hilltop area. A walk up and down some of the streets of the community will show that this is not an exaggeration. Many walks even in the business districts are hazardous in view of poorly lighted streets at night and will become a menace to safety as the season for ice and snow approaches.

It goes without saying that the property owner has a two-fold responsibility to those who use his sidewalk. The first, and by far the most serious, is his legal responsibility in the event of a fall where an injury results. While every case stands on its own individual merits when it is tried in court, it is a well-known fact that property owners have paid out thousands of dollars in damage suits where neglect was established. Raised walks, where tree roots have elevated sections of cement to dangerous grades, broken and cracked walks all come under the category of neglect.

The second responsibility is a civic obligation. Most property owners take pride in keeping their buildings painted and lawns neatly trimmed during the summer. A defective walk in front of that home can be just as unsightly as a house in need of paint or a broken porch floor. The general value of the property is enhanced when needed repairs are made promptly.

The city does not maintain a regular sidewalk inspection service but all cases of defective sidewalks reported are investigated and where a hazardous condition is found to exist, the owner is warned to make needed repairs. Compulsion can and will follow where the owner fails to heed the warning.

A few dollars spent in sidewalk repairs today may result in a far greater savings to the owner later on to say nothing of personal injury that may also be averted.

To The Editor:

The Rea-Bow Improvement Association held a Halloween party for the children of the Rea and Rainbow communities last Friday. About 85 children attended. There was an apple bobbing, square dancing, peanut rolling and other games. Ice cream, cookies, candy and apples were given to all the children.

Leslie Graham headed a committee composed of Mrs. Graham, Paul Walters, Thelma Irvin, Hobart Kidd. Mrs. Robert Kidd, Miss Louise Richardson, and Mrs. George Wolfe.

Judging the contests were Mrs. Pearl Dixon, Mrs. William Richardson and Mrs. Frank Gray. The B & G Market donated a bushel of apples, the Kroger Grocery cookies and marshmallows. Members of the association contributed the ice cream, and Mrs. Frank Gray furnished the decorations for the hall. The Gallager brothers donated the music for the square dancing and George Wolfe did the calling.

On Saturday night the association held its regular social for the adults. Square dancing, singing and tap dancing by Miss Mark Baker (Miss Rea-Bow of '47) was enjoyed by all. The Gallagher Brothers again furnished the music, Norman Brokamp, Pearl Dixon and George Wolfe doing the calling. New residents of the community were introduced, and guests of the community were presented.

The association has filed for the third time, petitions for a drainage system in the Rainbow addition. The first time the courts held that the township trustees were in error in signing the petition as they held no property in this addition. The second time the court held that it was the county commissioners who were in error, as all three did not view the proposed improvement at the same time. The people of this community, who realize the need, and the danger to the health of the residents of this community, can not understand why it is so hard to get relief, when a vast majority of the people are willing to pay for it and all agree something should be done. The viewing of the site by the commissioners has been set for Nov. 19, at 10 a. m. The first hearing before the commissioners will be Dec. 2, at the court house at 10 a. m.

The board of trustees will meet at Rea-Bow Hall, tonight. The regular meeting is Tuesday, Nov. 11, when many changes in the Constitution and By-Laws will be voted on.

Turkey In Every Pot

Not so many years ago former president, Herbert Hoover, campaigned with the slogan: "A chicken in every pot." Local members of the GOP have raised the ante this year by replacing the chicken with a turkey, plus throwing in a couple of Ohio State-Michigan football tickets, electrical appliances, boxes of candy and various and sundry other merchandise. It brings the voters out too, as evidenced by the fact that approximately 1,000 persons attended the Republican rally held at West High School Auditorium Thursday night. Of course some of them went to hear Senator John Bricker, who, incidentally, gave a fine 30-minute talk, but all clutched their ticket stubs excitedly as the prize drawings were being made.

* * *

GOP High Notes

Local GOPites can boast another accomplishment (in addition to holding most of the city and county offices). They can sing "The Star Spangled Banner" three keys higher than any Democrat you ever heard. Hats off to George Sinclair, who stayed right in there singing even though the song went several notes above High C. It wasn't George's fault that the piano player who pitched the song was more adept at the "swing and sway" type of music than the dignified national anthem that few people can sing even in the proper key.

George very wisely set his own pitch for singing "God Bless America" at the close and all went well.

Quartet a Hit

That Spence-for-clerk Quartet (who next year will plug Paul-for-sheriff) was definitely the hit of the evening. Next to winning turkeys and football tickets the crowd pronounced it definitely "all right." Judge Cecil J. Randall, chief introducer, hit the nail on the head when he quipped: "A quartet like that ought to be able to elect anyone."

Also on the entertainment bill of fare were Jinx Witherspoon in one of those off-the-shoulder evening gowns singing the office seekers' theme song, "That's My Desire" and "I Can't Give You Anything But Love, Baby." (Republicans added to the latter by throwing the above mentioned prizes.) Likewise Frank Ongara contributed two popular accordion numbers, "Peg of My Heart" and "Whispering."

Mrs. Carl Glade, 136 Guernsey-av, won the coveted football tickets. Turkey winners were Jerry Tuttle, 209 N. Powell-av, I. T. McQueeney, 3033 Olive-st; Victor D. Phippin, 511 Wrexham-av; Mrs. Horace (Ducky) Swain, 153 S. Wayne-av; Ray Cave, 2936 Olive-st; Mrs. Joe Enright, 101 Heidy-av; Edna Campbell, 589 S. Terrace-av, booth worker in the 11th ward; and Josephine Brownlee, 524 Nashoba-av, booth worker in the 10th ward.

Albert Donahew, 883 Sullivant-av, won an electric folding iron while W. C. Kunzi, 32 N. Roys-av, went home with an electric toaster. Candy winners were Mrs. R. Narin, 123 S. Harris-av; Mrs. W. E. Flesher, 130 Eldon-av; and Raymond Major, 58 Algonquin-av.

* * *

The Candidates

I like the idea of permitting no candidate to speak. Many of them are not good public speakers anyway and will probably make a better impression by being introduced for a bow only. Mayor James A. Rhodes, arriving late, gave only a quick hand wave and then hastily departed to try to get in on all four city meetings being held that night.

Other candidates who put in their appearance at one time or another during the evening were P. W. Spence and Ted Hysell, for clerk; Judge Rodney Ross, former local coach; Walter Snider, Robert Oestreicher and Frank Kearns for council. The other council candidate, Dr. Daniel Whitacre, was performing an emergency operation and could not attend.

School board candidates introduced were Mrs. Mildred Bickel, Fred (Mike) Dunn, Mrs. Mary K. Jugel, Homer Trantham and Carl Tresemer. All except the last named were present.

Other office holders and GOP big-wigs present on the platform or in the audience were William Schneider, county GOP boss, Henry Koontz, Agnes Cain, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Uridil, L. M. Parkins, Carl Lucas, Joe Enright, Ralph Chandler, Elmer Keller, William Berkimer, Fred Dunn, George Matson and Joe Nailor.

* * *

Odds and Ends

Just as the meeting was getting well under way, some wag on the outside yelled "Yea Democrats." Senator Bricker looked around quickly to assure himself he was in the right meeting . . . Some one (probably a Democrat) ran into Elmer Keller with a bicycle as he arrived at the school building . . . Council Candidate Frank Kearns introduced Senator Bricker . . . Bill Schneider predicted a 100% Republican victory.

* * *

So, Democrats, there's your cue. If you want to start electing your candidates to office, give 'em a show. Throw in lots of pots and pans and a couple of new autos for prizes and the voters will come out and lend an ear. Maybe a quiz show, where all contestants are provided the answers in advance, would go over. May the best man win.

ON REMEMBERING AN AUTUMN AFTERNOON

My heart sings, remembering a gold afternoon
(All summer days are so pristinely blue)
Clouds stood sagging on hut-roofs, so low
It seemed the rinsing whiteness would seep through.

Brings days past visioning an autumn peace
That lends full placidness, and covers in
With winter-woven cloaks of a snow-fleece.

Juvenile Offenders Keep Police Busy On Hilltop And West Side

The activities of juveniles have kept city detectives busy on the Hilltop and West Side in recent weeks. Sgt. George Baker has been assigned to the West Side to work with Detective Del Wilkins. He takes the place of Sgt. John Redmond who retired a couple of weeks ago.

Det. Wilkins reported the following burglaries that took place on the West Side in the past three weeks:

An escapee from Boys' Industrial School, arrested a few days ago while attempting to rob the Seneca Hotel, confessed to no less than four "jobs" in one week's time. He stole a shirt, trousers and jacket, valued at $50, from the Wilson Dry Cleaning Co. after entering the place through a ventilator; entered the home of Helen Smith, 16 S. Burgess-av, and escaped with a suit coat containing only a little change after threatening to shoot Miss Smith when she surprised him in the apartment; stole a pocketbook from the home of William Layman, 743 W. Gay-st; stole a wallet containing $70 from Burnard Jones, 69 Jones-av. He had escaped on Oct. 20 and was at large only one week before being arrested again.

Other thefts included: laundry valued at $63 stolen from the home of Margaret Hammer, 2255 W. Broad-st; saw stolen from a tool shed belonging to the Ohio State Construction Co., 144 S. Sylvan-av; breaking and entering St. John Lutheran Church, nothing missing; tools stolen from McKinley Avenue Welding, 834 McKinley-av; $150 stolen from Tasty Barbecue Restaurant, 595 W. Broad-st; failed in attempt to open safe at Price Carry Out Store, 37 N. Sylvan-av; failed in attempt to force safe in the office of Cones Lumber Co., 450 W Broad-st; $20 stolen and damage to doors at G & W Motor Sales 3192 W. Broad-st; home of William Stokes, 2657 Sullivant-av, ransacked but nothing taken.

Faulty Sidewalks

The attention of this office was directed recently by a subscriber to faulty and dangerous sidewalks throughout the Hilltop area. A walk up and down some of the streets of the community will show that this is not an exaggeration. Many walks even in the business districts are hazardous in view of poorly lighted streets at night and will become a menace to safety as the season for ice and snow approaches.

A defective walk in front of that home can be just as unsightly as a house in need of paint or a broken porch floor. The general value of the property is enhanced when needed repairs are made promptly.

The city does not maintain a regular sidewalk inspection service but all cases of defective sidewalks reported are investigated and where a hazardous condition is found to exist, the owner is warned to make needed repairs. Compulsion can and will follow where the owner fails to heed the warning.

A few dollars spent in sidewalk repairs today may result in a far greater savings to the owner later on to say nothing of personal injury that may also be averted.

The Candidates

I like the idea of permitting no candidate to speak. Many of them are not good public speakers anyway and will probably make a better impression by being introduced for a bow only. Mayor James A. Rhodes, arriving late, gave only a quick hand wave and then hastily departed to try to get in on all four city meetings being held that night.

Other candidates who put in their appearance at one time or another during the evening were P. W. Spence and Ted Hysell, for clerk; Judge Rodney Ross, former local coach; Walter Snider, Robert Oestreicher and Frank Kearns for council. The other council candidate, Dr. Daniel Whitacre, was performing an emergency operation and could not attend.

School board candidates introduced were Mrs. Mildred Bickel, Fred (Mike) Dunn, Mrs. Mary K. Jugel, Homer Trantham and Carl Tresemer. All except the last named were present.

Other office holders and GOP big-wigs present on the platform or in the audience were William Schneider, county GOP boss, Henry Koontz, Agnes Cain, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Uridil, L. M. Parkins, Carl Lucas, Joe Enright, Ralph Chandler, Elmer Keller, William Berkimer, Fred Dunn, George Matson and Joe Nailor.

* * *

Odds and Ends

Just as the meeting was getting well under way, some wag on the outside yelled "Yea Democrats." Senator Bricker looked around quickly to assure himself he was in the right meeting . . . Some one (probably a Democrat) ran into Elmer Keller with a bicycle as he arrived at the school building . . . Council Candidate Frank Kearns introduced Senator Bricker . . . Bill Schneider predicted a 100% Republican victory.

* * *

So, Democrats, there's your cue. If you want to start electing your candidates to office, give 'em a show. Throw in lots of pots and pans and a couple of new autos for prizes and the voters will come out and lend an ear. Maybe a quiz show, where all contestants are provided the answers in advance, would go over. May the best man win.

ON REMEMBERING AN AUTUMN AFTERNOON

My heart sings, remembering a gold afternoon
(All summer days are so pristinely blue)
Clouds stood sagging on hut-roofs, so low
It seemed the rinsing whiteness would seep through.

This recollection of a fondled time
Brings days past visioning an autumn peace
That lends full placidness, and covers in
With winter-woven cloaks of a snow-fleece.

The activities of juveniles have kept city detectives busy on the Hilltop and West Side in recent weeks. Sgt. George Baker has been assigned to the West Side to work with Detective Del Wilkins. He takes the place of Sgt. John Redmond who retired a couple of weeks ago.

Det. Wilkins reported the following burglaries that took place on the West Side in the past three weeks:

An escapee from Boys' Industrial School, arrested a few days ago while attempting to rob the Seneca Hotel, confessed to no less than four "jobs" in one week's time. He stole a shirt, trousers and jacket, valued at $50, from the Wilson Dry Cleaning Co. after entering the place through a ventilator; entered the home of Helen Smith, 16 S. Burgess-av, and escaped with a suit coat containing only a little change after threatening to shoot Miss Smith when she surprised him in the apartment; stole a pocketbook from the home of William Layman, 743 W. Gay-st; stole a wallet containing $70 from Burnard Jones, 69 Jones-av. He had escaped on Oct. 20 and was at large only one week before being arrested again.

Other thefts included: laundry valued at $63 stolen from the home of Margaret Hammer, 2255 W. Broad-st; saw stolen from a tool shed belonging to the Ohio State Construction Co., 144 S. Sylvan-av; breaking and entering St. John Lutheran Church, nothing missing; tools stolen from McKinley Avenue Welding, 834 McKinley-av; $150 stolen from Tasty Barbecue Restaurant, 595 W. Broad-st; failed in attempt to open safe at Price Carry Out Store, 37 N. News of Rome

By Mrs. E. C. Sheets

It is a beautiful party, her many guests said
As with heavy heart and tears they walked away from her bed.
Now she had planned her own party in every way,
The party for their 49th Wedding Anniversary Day.

Mrs. T. M. Patterson, of whom the above lines were written, slipped away from this busy world, Sunday morning, at 7:30. She had not been well for the past few years and since the first of July had been bed-fast. It was her planning for this party and general conversation regarding the affair that gave her strength to be with us longer than we had expected. The Pattersons lived many years in the West, mostly in Montana, but in recent years have resided in their home, 274 Maple-dr. She is survived by her husband, Rev. T. M. Patterson, daughter, Mary, and sister, Mrs. E. C. Sheets.

The Monitor Class will have a pot-luck dinner at the home of Mrs. W. G. Lamb Friday. It will be the regular meeting of the class, getting ready for its Christmas bazaar. The class will be assisted at this meeting by other members of the WSCS of the church, as they are finishing a quilt, and think more experienced hands should handle the needle.

At the football games Friday night Hilliards won over Gahanna and Grove City lost to Reynoldsburg, thereby making Hilliards the county champs. Rome School beat Hilliards Grade School Sunday afternoon, 25 to 12.

The Roe Moore family, formerly of 4949 W. Broad-st, is now located in its new home, the former M. H. Stoner property, 772 Norton-rd.

Twenty-four eighth graders who represent the branch of the YMCA called the Gra-Y were entertained at the home of Jim Lamb Thursday night. They had a wonderful feed and a good time that goes with the Halloween season. Mr. Grooves is their teacher.

Mrs. R. M. Day, Hubbard-rd, Mrs. Joe Stormont, Mrs. Oscar Baker and Mary Patterson attended the 58th annual session of the Ohio Grand Chapter OES held in Columbus Coliseum Tuesday. Tuesday afternoon Mary Patterson attended the 10th annual reception and dinner held at the Fort Hayes Hotel in honor of Sister Marie Hamilton, past worthy grand matron OES of the state.

Junior High Fellowship has been organized in the Columbia Heights Church, with the following as officers: Darrel Armstrong, president; Marylyn Snyder, vice-president; Robert Thompson, secretary-treasurer. This Junior-Hi Youth Fellowship is an integral part of the majority of the Methodist churches and the local group will participate in many activities of junior high groups in the Columbus district. Sponsors for the local group are Mr. and Mrs. James Snyder and Rev. and Mrs. Rose.

Mrs. Marion Randall was hostess in her home for the Ladies' Class of the Methodist Church Thursday night. It was the first meeting in charge of the new president, Mrs. Russell Brooks. The members came in costume of the Halloween spirit and a good time was enjoyed by all. The highlight of the evening was when Judy Cox, daughter (in the arm age) of Mr. and Mrs. Junior Cox, made her appearance complete in Spanish costume, little hat with bobbing fringe and black face. There were two out-of-town guests, sister of Mrs. Lester Lane and Mrs. Mossman, of Dayton, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. Oscar Baker, Pasadena-av.

Mr. and Mrs. Shaner of Detroit spent the weekend with their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Shaner, Rome-Hilliards-rd.

Mrs. George Terry, Maple-dr, president of the WSCS, and Mrs. Shaner attended the good-will luncheon in Columbus last week.

Mrs. Floyd Armstrong, president of the Rome PTA Mrs. Eberhard, Mrs. Malcolm Pennell and Mrs. Melvin Kreiger attended the PTA convention in Cincinnati. Their plans were decidedly upset when Mrs. Armstrong became ill and it was necessary for Mrs. Eberhard to accompany her home.

The hay-ride that was planned by Hirrold Hart's class for last Monday night ended up by having a party in the basement of the church, on account of rain.

Mrs. French, 5467 W. Broad-st, who has a son in service overseas, reported the other day that she had just received her 600th letter from Bill in a little more than a year.

Rev. E. C. Anderson of the Brown Road Community Church will be the evangelist at the Asheville U. B. Church for two weeks. The pastor reports a steady increase in attendance at the Sunday School and church services the last two weeks due to the new bus service offered by the church. Rev. Anderson hopes to have about 150 new members in the near future.

SCRIPTURE: I Peter; Daniel 1.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalm 24.

A Call to Right Living

Lesson for November 9, 1947

SUNDAY'S lesson is based on the First Epistle of Peter and the first chapter of Daniel. It is a temperance lesson.

Dr. Newton

It is suggested that we read the 24th Psalm, in which we find this question, Who shall ascend into the hill of the Lord? And the answer, He that hath clean hands and a pure heart.

Peter gives us the spiritual basis of temperance. Daniel gives us a shining example of temperance. And the 24th Psalm gives us a dramatic concept of what it means to face God in the right attitude of life.

• • •

How to Grow Strong

OUR doctors tell us how to grow strong, sound bodies. We are to eat the right food, sleep regularly, breathe deeply, etc., etc. Daniel did all of these things, and something more—"Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the portion of the king's wine which he drank; therefore he requested of the prince of the eunuchs that he might not defile himself." Daniel 1:8.

Daniel was challenged by the prince of the eunuchs. He predicted that Daniel and his companions would become pale and weak if they refrained from eating the king's meat and drinking the king's wine.

Finally he agreed for them to refrain from meat and wine for ten days, and at the end of the ten days, behold, Daniel and his companions appeared fairer and fatter than those who had eaten intemperately.

• • •

Every Youth Must Choose

AS DANIEL chose to grow strong through temperate habits of eating and drinking, so must every youth choose between right living and lustful living. We have laws against drunkenness, for example, but legislation alone cannot produce a generation of temperate young men and women. Each boy and each girl must choose for himself and herself between temperance and intemperance.

And this lesson sets out the ways by which such choices can be made and sustained. I find a helpful word in I Corinthians 10: 31: "Whether, therefore, ye eat or drink or whatsoever you do, do all to the glory of God."

As we make the choice between drunkenness and sobriety, let us remember that we are choosing between God and Satan—between the example of honorable parents and the example of people who have desecrated every sanctity. This lesson is a call to right living.

• • •

Disciplined Lives

WHICH calls into mind a word that we have not always treated fairly. I am thinking of the word "discipline." Too often we have regarded this word as something very austere, when, as a matter of fact, it is one of the really fine words of our language. It means "one taught." It is the word which, with slight difference in spelling, gives us "disciple."

The immediate followers of Jesus were called disciples. They were young men, gathered up from the everyday pursuits of life. Most of them were fishermen—men who faced hardships every night as they confronted wind and wave. And yet these rough and tumble fishermen became "the taught" ones of Jesus. They yielded to his discipline. They were pupils in the school of Christ.

That is what this lesson is aiming at—to enlist many, many pupils in the school of Christ.

• • •

The Test of Time

MAKE this test in your community, whether you live in the city or in the country. Look at the lives of the men and women about you, and draw your own conclusions regarding the worth of temperate living. Study the lives of the drunkards against the lives of the men and women who have refrained from strong drink. Study the lives of the gamblers and see if they have really won.

I appeal to the verdict of history—the test of time. Not only in the case of Daniel, but in the lives of the men and women in every community in America is daily borne out the truth of Sunday's lesson—that God giveth us richly all things to enjoy, but we must use his gifts with disciplined minds.

PREPAID PROTECTION for hospital service was born in Dallas, Texas, December 20, 1929. It started when Baylor Hospital contracted with a group of city school teachers for such service. Acceptance of insurance against the costs of hospitalization was immediate.

At the end of 1945, according to the most authentic figures available, there were more than 40,000,000 persons in the United States insured against hospital costs, through plans sponsored by the American Hospital Association, Insurance Companies and employers. An additional 3,000,000 persons were insured against medical care costs, through various Medical Association sponsored plans. Other millions had all, or partial medical care coverage through Insurance Companies and private industry plans.

One national coverage Insurance Company executive estimates that at the end of 1945, more than 25% of the population of the United States was insured against the costs of hospitalization, surgical care or medical care.

Doctors, Hospitals, Industry and Insurance Companies are daily working toward the further extension of health care—the VOLUNTARY way.

SOMEBODY SAID

Somebody said, hold up your chin,
Meet the world with a smile.
One must be brave to run a race,
Or go the second mile.

Somebody said, one must be bold,
The victory to attain.
The winner does not reach the goal
Except to start again.

Somebody said, no cloud so dark,
But sunshine filters through.
No day so bright but rain will fall.
Somewhere, perhaps on you.

Integrity Of Local Government Essential, Senator Bricker Says

"Local municipal elections are of vital importance to the perpetuation of a strong democratic form of government," Senator John W. Bricker told a crowd of approximately 1,000 persons at the Republican Rally held at West High School Auditorium Thursday night.

"We must retain the integrity of local government if we expect to have good national government," the senator said.

Pointing out some of the dangers of too much government from above, he said, "When we exalt the position of the chief executive of our national government we must take away some of the personal liberty of the individual."

The 1944 vice-presidential GOP standard bearer lashed out at the "Hollywood farce" being enacted in the congressional hearing at Washington. He labeled it an attempt to "discredit the Congress of the United States," a part of the New Deal strategy.

Touching on the current grain-saving program in order to feed Europe, he pointed out some of the dangers of depleting our own limited natural resources. We can't go on doing that indefinitely, he warned.

"If we are to send food to Europe we must see that what we give goes to the needy and stop feeding the black markets over there," he shouted as most of those present applauded loudly.

Instructor — Your son does not seem interested during class hours. He wears a sleepy expression continually.

Father — Ah, but isn't it possible that it's the talent slumbering within?

Midriff bare, her toes a-peek,
Wind-tossed hair, and rosy cheek
Dressed in shorts, her legs exposed,
If love's contagious I'm exposed.

Teen Talk

By Virginia Jones

Sadie Hawkins Day Information

The party will be held Nov. 15, 1947.

DATES: No females will be admitted without a male captive!

PENALTIES: Any male who refuses to date the first female who asks him will be compelled to scrub the coke room floor with a TOOTHBRUSH. (The floor is oiled). Females will need one witness to this refusal. Anyone coming to the party in civilized garb will be compelled to recite the Gettysburg Address backwards.

ADMISSION: Two cents for each inch of your male's belt line.

GAMES: "Dogpatch Applesauce," "Fetchin' Mammy's Po'k Chops," "Marryin' Sam Jam."

EATS: Cider, doughnuts and salami.

PRIZES: For the best costume of any character. For the best original Dogpatch dance.

So you can see there will be dancing—fun—frolic for everyone. Some of the girls have already started out to get their man. Under such rules we know they will be successful!

The committee members for this party are Jake Jaques, Larry Betsch, Pat Horn, Bob Oldfield, Lucky Luckshaw and Lyle Huffman.

• • •

The Halloween party that was held Thursday, Oct. 30, turned out to be a great success. The crowd seemed to enjoy themselves thoroughly, particularly when the food was passed out.

• • •

The paper drive that was to be held Nov. 2 was postponed because of the paper drive held by the Booster Club last Sunday.

• • •

Click! Click! Click! What was that? Only the cameras that will be taking pictures at the Canteen next Sunday, Nov. 9. Models and all will be on hand for the Camera Club party to be held next Sunday. A lesson in make-up will be given by Mel Griggs, originator of the club. Anyone who really takes an interest in photography is asked to join in on the fun.

• • •

What song was Guy Celli playing on the piano? I don't know, because it was really a mixture of the record player and his playing, but everyone seemed to like it anyway.

• • •

Pat La Valle found it rather difficult to come to the party last Thursday night. Now see, Pat, we knew you shouldn't have pinned that horn.

• • •

Who was the prankster who tied the door shut at the Canteen? Well, that is the 64-dollar question.

• • •

The fireplaces at the Canteen are really getting a work-out until the furnace can be fixed. Good advice is to wear an extra coat until then.

• • •

Where did all the popcorn that was found in the photography room come from? Come now, Mel, speak up.

• • •

Bob Oldfield was trying to get in practice for his future job last Wednesday when we found him sweeping up the glass on Burgess-av. He should receive many thanks from drivers who would have had flat tires if it weren't for this good deed of the day. You want to know how the glass got there? Halloweeners, of course.

Well, guys and gals, that's all the small talk from a teen this week, but I'll be around next week just for you.

INDICTED BY GRAND JURY

A grand jury indictment was returned against David V. Wolf, 32, 39 Whitethorne-av, Monday. Wolf, an employee of the New York Central Railroad, was accused of taking 1410 pounds of rye valued at $62.94 from the railroad's cars.

Short, Short Stories

Paul Leighninger, wife Dorothy and M. W. Seiller went to the football game Saturday and Paul drove to the nearest entrance to the stadium to let his passengers out and then drove off to find a parking space.

Came the half and Paul still had not shown up in his seat at the stadium. But just before time for the kickoff following the half, and after going out to get a hot dog, he made his appearance and sat down beside his wife. Following an exchange of "Where have you been?"s, they learned that Paul had been sitting the first half in the wrong section of the stadium, all the time thinking it was MW and Dorothy who were lost.

It seems that the Jess Underwood cat over at Buckeye Lake had five kittens under the Jack Shank porch, they living next door. And Jack, being the fisherman he claims, always threw a small fish to the kitties as he came from the lake. The result was that the mama cat took a liking to Jack and now follows him down to the dock and sits there while Jack fishes.

One day recently Jack had two poles in the water and fell asleep. In short order a fish took the bait and the bobber went up and down. At this point the mama cat scratched Jack's leg to wake him up in time to pull the fish from the lake . . . That's Jack's story and he will stick with it!

Flowers of the Week

A big bouquet of flowers from Rosetud Floral Co., to be presented to Charles Bennett, West High Band director, at the Homecoming game Friday. Charley and his band have added a lot to the successful season at West by preparing a different show for each of the 10 games, and he is deserving of a big hand from the entire community.

Traffic Claims Another Life

City traffic claimed another Hilltop life last week.

William Clemings, 71, of 287 Midland-av, died in Mt. Carmel Hospital Friday night following injuries received when he was struck by a car as he crossed Sullivant-av Tuesday. The accident occurred near Townsend-av.

Funeral services were held Monday with interment in Green Lawn Cemetery by Floyd Bern.

At least three others were injured in traffic accidents in the community during the week.

John Weaver, 12, of 1722 Thomas-av, was treated at Mt. Carmel Hospital for face and scalp cuts Saturday when he was struck by an auto while riding his bicycle in the 1700 block of Sullivant-av, police reported.

John E. Reynolds, 55, of West Jefferson, was injured when his truck overturned in a collision with an auto at the corner of Haldy-av and W. Broad-st Monday morning. He was taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital by the emergency squad, where he was treated for shoulder injuries and bruises.

The driver of the car, Charles H. Brown, 1046 Mt. Vernon-av, was uninjured but both vehicles suffered extensive damage.

Rhoma Van De Mark, 19, of 79 N. Wayne-av, a student at Ohio State University and a former Record employee, escaped injury in an accident involving an auto and a fire truck on North High-st Monday night. The truck was answering what turned out to be a false alarm.

Mary Lou Mangold, 17, of 488 S. S. Hague-av, suffered cuts and bruises Tuesday morning in an accident in which a 81-year-old pedestrian was fatally injured when he was pinned beneath an auto and a building at Town and Fourth-sts. The victim was Donald Ward of 1385 Atcheson-st.

Broad-st, second vice-president; J. P. Merriman, 2404 W. Broad-st, and Dr. Fred Marsch, 2446 W. Broad-st, treasurer; Gus Johnson, 2578 Sullivant-av, Ira Claggett, 2630 W. Broad-st, Dr. C. O. Wayne-av, Lowell Sullivan, 2211 W. Broad-st, and Don Rice, 2655 W. Broad-st, members of the board of trustees. (Three trustees are to be elected.)

H. G. Deems, chairman of the nominating committee, pointed out that other nominations could be made from the floor on the night of election. Other members of the nominating committee are Edgar Planck and Joe Briggs.

The November meeting will be held at West High School on Nov. 25 and will be a banquet honoring players and coaches of the 1947 West football champions. A turkey dinner will be served in the school cafeteria with a limit being set at 300 plates, including guests and association members.

Rev. Lawrence Hall, associate pastor of the Christ Episcopal Church of Cincinnati, will be the speaker.

Heading the banquet committee is Phillip Stout. He is being assisted by O. H. Craft, William Southworth, Ed Witherspoon, Ralston Westlake and Charles Reichelderfer.

Kiwanis Speaker

Gen. Dargusch

Brig. Gen. Carlton S. Dargusch will be the speaker at today's meeting of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club in a program in observance of Armistice Day.

He served until recently as deputy of the national headquarters of Selective Service in Washington. He went on active duty with the U. S. Army on Oct. 15, 1940, and served in various capacities in the national operations of the Selective Service until he attained the No. 2 post of deputy director on Aug. 8, 1941.

Gen. Dargusch had wide experience as counsel of the Ohio Tax Commission and has served as trustee of Ohio State University since 1936.

At last Thursday's Kiwanis meeting Jim Miles presented H. G. Deems with an award from Kiwanis International for his successful year as president of the local club last year. A governor's award was made to Edgar Planck, president of the club for 1947.

Art Robinson, 470 Hilltonia-av, executive director of community health services for the city, outlined the program being instituted by his office. He pointed out that the primary problem of his office is that of adequate distribution of health information.

He cited the fact that in the absence of a sustained publicity program, patronage of stations for free immunization against diphtheria hardly warranted retaining a doctor and nurse at some locations. Since greater publicity has been given out, the eight stations set up throughout the city have been swamped with calls.

The constituency of the new Community Health Service Board was aimed at greater appreciation for the public relations angle, Robinson said. It is made up of five doctors, five public relations men, five laymen and representatives of the Cancer Clinic, the Tuberculosis Clinic and the Red Cross.

The speaker told local Kiwanians that a recent health survey showed that 86 per cent of the children in public schools are in need of some type of dental work.

The health director explained that a new venture in the Columbus health program is the establishment at Fort Hayes of a rapid treatment clinic for venereal disease. He explained that a complete cure of syphilis can be effected in 10 days.

The creation of health guilds in various parts of the city is another phase of the health program to be started soon, Robinson said. A Hilltop guild will be included in the program.

"Health is communicable just the same as disease," the former news man and radio news commentator, told his luncheon audience.

Camp Chase To Honor Officers With Banquet

The annual past commanders' and past presidents' banquet of Camp Chase Post, American Legion, and its auxiliary unit, is being planned by the committees of Chester W. Wagner and Mrs. Harriet Brown, each representing their respective organizations. The banquet will be held this year at the Virginia Hotel, Friday evening, Nov. 14, at 6:45 p. m., and will honor all past commanders and past presidents of the post and unit, especially Vernon C. Fiscus and Mrs. Esther Weidner, who headed their organizations during the past year.

As speaker of the evening, the committee selected Carl W. Smith, vice-commander, American Legion, Department of Ohio.

Entertainment will include solos by Allan Snoddy, 671 Wiltshire-rd, and the Singing Sheriffs, a male quartet made up of Harry Freeman, first tenor; Fred Hawkes, second tenor; Roy Hathaway, baritone; and Fred Washburn, bass.

Daylight Robbery Nets $235, Watch

Burglars were busy on the Hilltop again this week, using new entry techniques and staging one robbery in broad daylight.

Cash totaling $235 and a brand new lady's wristwatch valued at $40 were taken from the Marvin Southworth residence, 66 Powhatan-av, Tuesday forenoon. Mrs. Southworth said she had gone to a beauty shop at 9:30. Returning at 12 o'clock, she discovered a stepladder beside the back porch and a broken bedroom window on the second floor. Neighbors reported seeing a strange car parked in the Henry Jones driveway immediately to the north about that time. Neither Mr. Jones, Hilltop Record pressman, nor Mrs. Jones was at home during the morning.

Two night burglaries were staged at Schmelzer's Restaurant, 3178 W. Broad-st, and the G and W Motor Sales, immediately west of the restaurant, Thursday night or Friday morning.

Entrance was gained in both instances by boring holes in the door near the latch with a seven-eighths-inch auger. The motor sales room was ransacked but nothing of value was reported missing. At the restaurant a small amount of change was taken when the juke boxes at each booth were pried open. Other miscellaneous merchandise may have been removed.

Radios, Victrolas, Pianos Needed For Vet Hospital

That unused radio, victrola or piano in your home can be put to good use by making it available to the boys down at the Veterans' Hospital at Chillicothe this Christmas.

Florence Mulby, 466 Hilltonia-av, director of the Mulby Chorus, is looking for such items and records of all kinds to take to the patients when her group goes down to entertain them on Nov. 30. Mrs. Mulby points out that any instrument in reasonably good condition can be used. Minor repairs can be taken care of before taking them to the hospital, where they will be set up in private rooms where various types of music can be made available to the veterans.

Any one desiring to help is asked to call Mrs. Mulby at RA. 22961.

Survey Will Determine Sewer Area

County sanitary engineers were busy this week taking elevation surveys of the Josephine-av and Broadlawn areas as the first step toward making available sanitary sewers for that sector, according to George Matson, county commissioner, who lives at 87 N. Warren-av.

Matson said the survey should be completed in a few days. The object of the survey is to determine whether that area and areas north along U. S. Route 40 could be drained into the Sullivant-av trunk sewer.

Residents of Josephine-av presented a petition to the commissioners several days ago asking that a sanitary sewer be installed along that street. Matson pointed out that if there is sufficient fall from the area north, considerable more homes and business places could be taken care of by installing a lateral of sufficient size to handle the flow south. Installation of a larger sewer now would not cost Josephine-av residents any more and would drain a large area that is rapidly developing.

The Josephine-av sewer will put an end to pollution of the lake in Westgate Park, county officials point out. It will replace septic tanks and other methods of sewage disposal now being used in that vicinity.

Glenwood Park Brush Being Cleared Away

Glenwood Park is being cleaned this week!

That's the word from Ray Dietz, city superintendent of parks, who reported a general cleaning operation is under way at the W. Broad-st recreation area by laborers from the city workhouse.

Dietz also said that a parking area to accommodate 25 cars will be built at the east end of the park and from 12 to 15 picnic tables will be placed in the wooded area at the south side.

At present the laborers are busy cleaning out the underbrush and trash on the east slope of the park. Holes are being filled in and small trees will be planted to hold the new fill in place. Rough areas will be leveled off and grass seed will probably be sown this fall, Dietz said.

One or two small areas in what is now underbrush will be cleared and left open for play areas. The main wooded area will be left and picnic tables, to be built by the Parks Department, will be placed in that part of the park. Fire places will probably be built near the picnic tables, Dietz said.

Community Council Will Meet Tonight

The November meeting of the Hilltop Community Council will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at the Teen Club.

President Phillip Stout will name a nominating committee to draw up a slate of officers for the new year. The committee will report and the election will be held at the December meeting.

Also on the agenda for tonight are plans for the winter program for the Teen Club; a proposed membership drive and plans for the Christmas parties.

PROOF 'POSITIVE'

Here is the proof that Record Classified Ads do bring results. Mrs. Josephine Jackson of S. Wayne-av is sold on their effectiveness, after advertising miscellaneous clothing for sale last week and selling it to the first lady who called, besides receiving a number of calls later.

To place your ad, call RA. 1125 as early as possible the first of the week, as no ad can be taken after 9:00 A. M. Wednesday.

9,315 Calls Made Sunday In Census

Volunteers on the city-wide religious census conducted Sunday afternoon called on a total of 9,315 Hilltop and neighboring families. Numerous call backs were being made throughout the week where families were away from home while the census takers called.

A check with the Franklin County Council of Churches office this week revealed that 8,868 persons contacted are members of some Protestant church or indicated a preference for a Protestant denomination. Non-Protestants (largely Catholics) totaled 2,263.

A further breakdown showed that 1,469 persons are members of some Protestant church out of the city while 805 expressed no religious preference at all. Only 53 persons contacted declined to give the census takers desired information, the check revealed.

A total of 484 local ministers and church workers helped conduct the census Sunday. Eighteen local churches participated in the work. There was no way of determining immediately how many call backs would be required to complete the census 100 percent. Work was being continued by volunteers throughout the week and the above totals are expected to be revised upwards.

Dr. Donald Timerman, executive secretary of the council of churches, explained that the 9,315 figure represented the number of families contacted. Persons other than children under 21 years of age, living in a home in addition to the parents were considered as separate families in the census. However, there would seem to be some question as to whether the other totals represented all members in a family or just adults. Further study of the results of the census may clear up this point.

More than 132 churches in all took part in the religious survey with an estimated 12,000 volunteer workers.

Scouters' Dinner To Be Held Tuesday

An election of officers of the Southwest District Boy Scouts of America will be held Tuesday night in connection with the annual scouters' dinner to be held at the Westgate Methodist Church, 345 S. Brinker-av, starting at 6:30 o'clock.

Rev. L. E. Rush, pastor of the Mt. Gilead Methodist Church, will bring the principal adress. Rev. Rush received the 1947 award for distinguished service to boyhood as a result of his long interest and service to the scouting program. He is a member of the Harding Area Council, a member of the regional committee on advancement and a former member of the Ohio State Legislature.

Headlining the entertainment program will be songs by Allan Snoddy, well-known tenor, and selections by a male quartet from the Oakley Avenue Baptist Church.

District Commissioner M. E. (Jack) Sensenbrenner said that all reservations should be made immediately. The dinner is open to scouters, troop committee members, scout officials and their wives. The price is $1.50.

First units in the large shopping center being built on W. Broad-st, just west of the city, will be complete and ready for occupancy by early January, Leo Yasenoff, of the Y. and Y. Building Service, said this week.

The small store rooms will be the first portion of the development ready for use. The Old Trail Theater should be ready by March, he said.

The shopping center will have an 1100-foot frontage on W. Broad-st. Accommodations for parking 1,000 cars will be made at the rear of the center. Included in the new shopping center are a bowling alley, bank, department store, hardware store, restaurant and grill, men's haberdashery, dry cleaning plant, electric appliance store and a beauty salon. The National Auto Theater, in operation since late summer, is a part of the same project.

Mr. Yasenoff said that while negotiations were under way with a number of prospective business firms interested in leasing space in the project, no leases had been signed to date.

Housing Shortage Really Something In Japan, Capt. Clyde Good Reports

People who think there is a housing shortage in this country should see conditions in Japan.

That is the belief of Capt. Clyde Good, just home after serving two and one half years in that country with the occupying forces.

"You often find 15 or 20 people living in a house no larger than the average room in our homes," Capt. Good reports. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Good, 334 S. Roys-av, he arrived in Columbus by air Sunday afternoon. He plans on spending two weeks around Columbus before returning to California to join Mrs. Good at her home there. The couple landed in the United States on Nov. 2.

"One of the first things I did was to find myself some civilian clothes," the former Hilltopper said. "I had not worn them since entering the service in Dec. 1941."

Capt. Good will have approximately 60 days leave before reporting for duty with the 12th Air Force at March Field, Calif.

Praises Gen. McArthur

The Air Force captain has nothing but praise for the work of Gen. Douglas McArthur in Japan. He feels that the Japanese people have much respect for the American commander and that he has done much toward helping them get re-adjusted in the post-war period.

Capt. Good has been serving with the 5th Air Force at Itami, on the outskirts of Osaka, for 30 months. For several months he has served as post adjutant. Although assigned to office work he still found time to get in 30 or more hours of flying each month. His wife joined him in Japan just one year ago.

Notified to report for active duty two days after Pearl Harbor, Capt. Good served as basic flight instructor at Chico Army Air Base for more than a year after completing his own training. Later he was check pilot and training director at Oxnard, Calif.

Before going over seas he went through B-25 training school at Douglas, Ariz., and then the A-20 school at Charlotte, S. C.

He is a graduate of West High School and attended Otterbein College before enlisting in the Army Air Forces. He plans to make the service a career.

Following The Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Moore

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Allen Moore (Alice Jane Gibbon) are pictured above, smiling good-bye to their friends as they leave Glenwood Methodist Church, where their marriage took place on Oct. 12. The double ring ceremony was read by Rev. Joseph B. Shellhaas at 2:30 o'clock in the presence of the immediate families and close friends. The parlor was decorated with huckleberry trees, seven-branch candelabras and tall pedestal vases filled with gladioli, delphinium and pompons.

The bride was attired in a beige gabardine suit, styled with long jacket and padded pockets. Her hat was a halo of wine crushed velvet shirred to an open crown headband. A narrow band of the same material outlined the collar of her suit. She carried a cascade arm bouquet of white roses and stephanotis with an orchid center.

Miss Jean Williams served as her cousin's maid of honor and wore a wine gabardine cutaway suit with black accessories. The double row of gold disc buttons trimming her jacket were identical with those on the bride's suit. Her gold choker was a gift of the bride. She carried a cascade arm bouquet of pink bountiful roses, orchid pompons and fugi mums.

A half hour musical program which preceded the ceremony was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hopkins and Miss Alice Remington, vocalist, close friend of the bride.

Mr. Robert Colliton served as Mr. Moore's best man and ushers were Mr. Joseph Wheeler and Mr. Paul Miller.

A reception for 150 guests followed the ceremony and hostesses for the occasion were Miss Janelle Walker, Miss Betty Laird, Miss Arlene Shea and Mrs. Harry Anthony, Jr.

Mrs. Gibbon chose for her daughter's wedding a grey gabardine suit with which she combined orchid accessories. Mrs. Moore wore a navy triple sheer dress with black accessories. Both mothers wore orchid corsages.

Looking Ahead

with

Jean Worrel

"And just why," said Bill with a touch of irony, "Should a healthy young ruffian like Bill Jr. require assurance at the age of ten?"

"For a variety of reasons," I replied, "Most of which are conclusive in themselves. For one thing, life assurance premiums on children are very small, but what is more important is that they remain at the same low rate all through life. Even if, in the future, he becomes uninsurable through ill health, the protection which you secure for him will continue as long as the original low regular premiums are paid. Also, it encourages the habit of thrift and impresses a boy with a true sense of the value of money. Think of it this way too — in the future, when he begins life in earnest, it may be the means of establishing business credit and financial backing."

"I could certainly have done with something like that fifteen years ago when I started out, couldn't I, my dear?" said Bill, turning to his wife.

So Bill Jr. starts life with the great advantage of a Sun Life policy. It will stand him in good stead. If there is a Bill Jr. or a young Mary in your family, won't you give them this great helping hand? Call me about the Sun Life Junior Adjustable plan today.

Hicks Is City's Top Scorer

His last six-pointer came on the third play of the West-South game Friday night when he galloped 68 yards over the slippery turf to tally for his team.

His closest competitor in the scoring column was E. Clark of North who racked up 38 points.

Bill Buckingham with three touchdowns, and Jerry Chinn with the same number of points were tied for eighth place in the scoring column. Jack Thrush, triple threat man, was close behind with 15 points. Twelve of these were via the extra point route plus one three-pointer that won the North game this year.

Too Many Orders For Baby Pix

Due to the large backlog of orders now on file in The Hilltop Record office for baby pictures to be published, no further orders will be taken temporarily after Nov. 15.

Since space permits the use of only eight baby photographs each week, it will be several weeks until the Record is caught up with pictures already taken or on order. As soon as most of the present orders are taken care of, the Record will again accept orders for appointments.

There is no charge for taking or publishing the baby pictures. The only requirement is that the parents be subscribers to the paper.

City Grid Champs Finish League Play With Win Over South; To Meet Jackson

Hicks Runs 68 Yds. For First Tally

Coach Mack Pemberton's City League champions made it nine wins in a row Friday night as they chalked up a 20 to 0 victory over the downtrodden South Bulldogs, losers in the last 28 grid contests. The game marked the close of City League competition and the last night contest of the season.

West High rings down the curtain on a tough 10-game schedule Friday afternoon in the annual homecoming attraction, with Jackson High furnishing the opposition. Game time is scheduled for 3 o'clock. Gates will be open at 2:30 p. m. Special price of adults, 50c, and children, 25c, will be in effect with all West High Boosters and West Alumni members getting in free. Paid-up membership cards will be required for free admission.

Scarcely had the 2,200 rain-soaked, shivering customers settled back in their seats before Walter Hicks went over the right side of his own line on a cross buck and raced 68 yards for a touchdown. The play started on the Cowboy 32-yard stripe and came on the third offensive try of the game. Jack Thrush kicked the extra point and the score was 7 to 0.

The city champs soon found that the going would not be easy from there on as mud hampered their every movement. One blocked and one nearly blocked South punt set up the only other scores the Cowboys were destined to get. Final statistics show that first downs were evenly divided, 7 to 7, but three of the Bulldog first downs were the result of roughness penalties on West. The light South backfield was ineffective on the ground but did complete two passes with the slippery pigskin for 38 yards.

Only Two Fumbles

Despite the wet ball, only two fumbles were made all evening. One West fumble on their own 23-yard stripe was recovered by South but the Bulldogs lacked the scoring punch necessary to put it over. South fumbled only once and recovered.

The Cowboys scored again in the final minutes of the first quarter. Dave Levy, who, incidentally, carried the major offensive load for the Bulldogs, got a bad pass from center as he dropped back into the end zone to punt. The ball got out of his hands momentarily but he came back up from the ground with the ball and kicked out on his own 35. Jerry Chinn moved the ball to the 32 and then made it first down on the 24. Hicks went through to the 12 for another first down and Hutt ran to the 6. Chinn went over on the next play but West was offside. Again Hutt ran the ball to the 4 and then made it first and 10 on the 2. Jerry Chinn again hit pay dirt for the second touchdown. The kick was no good.

Bob Wolfe got through and blocked a Bulldog punt on the South 38 late in the second canto but the Cowboy attack bogged down and there was no further scoring until the final period.

Curt Westerman was largely responsible for setting up the third West touchdown when he charged through to block Levy's punt midway in the final period. The ball was down on the South 16. Hutt went to the 6 for a first down and Jim Slager carried the ball to the 1-yard marker. Hutt received credit for the touchdown and Thrush made the extra point to make the score stand, West, 20; South, 0.

Two Are Overcome By Coal Fumes

Mrs. Donna Hagerman, 37, of Hilliards, and her mother, Mrs. Edward McQuade, whom she was visiting at 764 S. Warren-av, were overcome by coal fumes Thursday night. A defective furnace flue was blamed by firemen for the condition.

Both were given first aid by emergency squad men who were summoned to the residence. Neither required hospital treatment.

The second Teen Agers League to be formed and sponsored by Seiller's Department Store is the Girls' Teen Age League which bowls on Monday afternoons at the Hilltop alleys. This league is composed of eight teams and is worked on the handicap basis. Each girl has her own individual handicap as compared with the highest averages in the league.

At the present Martha Maid is in first place, two games ahead of Kayser, with a 16 and 2 record. They have an average of 523. Barbara Vina is the leading bowler with 145. She is followed by J. Ammon with 120 and E. Ervin with 119. Barbara holds the high single game of 165, followed by Donna Springs, 147. She also has the high three game series of 458 and Viola Ritzman has 410.

Martha Maid has the high team game and series with 611 and 1778, Kayser has second high totals with 1572.

We think these girls are doing a wonderful job and know that some day they will be right along with their mothers in the regular leagues at the Hilltop alleys.

The teams, their won and lost records and averages at present are as follows:

	W	L	Av.
Martha Maid	16	2	523
Kayser	14	4	477
G. Gibson	9	9	484
Bobbie Brooks	9	9	449

Jo Dee Jr.	6	12	456
Junior Deb	5	13	410
Jean Allen	6	12	438

 * Bowler of the Week * ***

Our bowler this week is Barbara Vina, 17-year-old girl who has had a lot to do with the organizing and running of the Girls' Teen Age League. Barbara holds the high single and high totals of 165, 458. Her team, Martha Maid, is currently in first place with a 16 and 2 record. She is also the high averager of the league with 145. Keep up the good work, Barbara!

Bowling Bits

Our bowling gem goes to the Hilltop Van and Storage and Dun and Bradstreet, who had one of the toughest games of the season in the Suburban League, which bowls on Wednesday night. The two teams were tied going into the tenth frame. Each man matched his opponent pin for pin, leaving the game squarely up to the anchor men, John Hawk and Ralph Woerner. Woerner bowled first and came up with a strike. Hawk then did the same. Woerner threw his second ball for a strike and John matched this one. Woerner then came up with the 3-10 split, and—that's right—Hawk did the same. That left the game tied at 845 apiece. Hilltop Van and Storage went on to win the thriller, 96 to 76.

Westgate Leads In West Church Bowling Loop

Westgate Evangelical United Brethren Church, having assumed an early lead in the West Church Bowling League, continues to hold doggedly on to first place, despite a determined drive by the Burgess Avenue Evangelical United Brethren, currently the hottest team in the league. In contrast to Westgate, which started out in first place, and which, through steady bowling, has remained there, Burgess opened the season slowly, dropping four of its first six games, and after two weeks was mired near the bottom of the standings. Then the rush began, starting with two of the three games over Westgate, Burgess has met and defeated every team in the league except Eighth Avenue EUB, the only team to hold an edge over them. The current streak finds Burgess in second place, with 14 of the last 18 games on the right side of the ledger.

Last Saturday night's results found Cranston Williams of Burgess as the night's individual leader, piloting his team to a three-game win over Avondale EUB, in which he had 221-563, his team coming up with 940-2611. The latter was high for the season. Henry Ruegg anchored Westgate to three wins over Eighth Avenue with 193-539, and is the league's individual leader with an average of 166. Jim Rubadue of Hillcrest Baptist showed his team-mates the way with a nice 172-496 as his team also took three, Avondale Church of the Air being the victim.

The league's activities to date find the season's individual highs being held by Ray Billingsley's 256-603. "Bing" is Eighth Avenue's rugged captain and anchor man. Single game team high is held by Eighth Avenue, a fine 962, in which Billingsley's 256 was the big noise.

This league bowls each Saturday at the Central YMCA at 7 p. m. The night of Nov. 22 will find the two foremost exponents of the strike and the spare, Westgate and Burgess, meeting in friendly combat in what may determine who will be the league leader.

Team standings are as follows:

	W	L
Westgate EUB	16	6
Burgess Avenue EUB	16	8
Eighth Ave. EUB	14	10
Hillcrest Baptist	13	11
Avondale Church of the Air	8	16
Avondale EUB	3	21

"What is executive ability, father?" inquired the curious lad.

"Executive ability, my boy, is the art of getting the credit for all the hard work that someone else does."

W. Basketball Team To Have New Uniforms

The West High School basketball team will open the 1947-48 season in brand new uniforms, Coach George Williams announced this week.

Home uniforms will be all white; road suits will be scarlet and white, replacing buff and brown of former years. A 25-game schedule has been completed with the principal teams in central and southern Ohio scheduled for at least one game in addition to regular city-league opponents.

This week a game was scheduled with Huntington, W. Va., to round out a post-holiday trip to the Ohio River. The opening game of the season is set for the local hardwood court when Grandview comes to the Hilltop.

Williams is losing no time in getting his team in shape. The first regular practice for all candidates is scheduled for Saturday morning immediately following the close of the football season on Friday afternoon. Non-football candidates have been having informal workouts for several days.

"What made you postpone your wedding by two days after you'd already set the date?"

"Well, you see, I figured out that my silver wedding anniversary would fall on a Saturday, and I always play golf on Saturdays."

Your Doctor and Pharmacist are members of two of the oldest and most mutually dependent professions. They are both required by law, and rigid principles within their own organizations, to spend many years of preparation before receiving their degrees of "M. D." (Doctor of Medicine) and "R. Ph." (Registered Pharmacist).
All 48 states require standards of qualification before licensing Doctors and Pharmacists to practice. Like the Doctor, the Pharmacist has his definite responsibilities to the community.
Both Doctor and Pharmacist must understand the preparation and preservation of drugs, and be well qualified in prescribing and dispensing important and often dangerous drugs. Their mutual reliance is founded on realization of responsibility to each patient.
Hand in hand with the Medical profession, Pharmacy has helped in the development of new, life-giving drugs. Truly, throughout life, your Doctor and Pharmacist are important to the well-being of your loved ones. Keep the hands of politicians off these two guardians of your health.

A Lesson In Sportsmanship

Followers of the championship West High School football team would do well to observe public reaction to the unfortunate season experienced at Ohio State University this fall. To the credit of Columbus grid enthusiasts it should be noted that criticism of Coach Wes Fesler has been less sharp each time an additional defeat has been suffered by his team.

West High has had an abundant season in football this fall—both from the standpoint of games won and cash customers at the turnstiles. (The two frequently go hand in hand.) It's easy to get enthusiastic over a winner but many of the fans become unduly critical when a few reverses are suffered.

The West football squad will suffer one of its worst shocks from graduation in years at mid-year and in the spring. Chuck Weeks, a tackle, will be the only regular starter this year who will be on hand for practice next fall. Many of the line replacements now on the squad are also seniors and will not be around for the 1948 team. We're not predicting it, but next year could be a very lean year as far as football goes on the Hilltop.

We hope that football fans will be considerate of the fact that there is not always an ample quantity of top material on hand. Coaches in the schools of Columbus are handicapped by the fact that the program does not provide for any preliminary training in the grid sport in its junior high schools such as is the case in many other cities throughout the state. The coach has only three years to work with a new boy. Most followers of the sport will agree that it takes almost that long to develop a player to the point where he can do everything in the manner the coach wants him to. In basketball, track and baseball, candidates have the opportunity of having had three years coaching before they come up to varsity status. They should be and are more finished preformers by the time they reach high school.

This year's Cowboy eleven is not the product of this year alone but represents patient training last year and the year before that. If next year is less spectacular than this, let's not desert the boys or criticize the coaches for failing to win them all. The boy who is going down in defeat is trying just as hard as the boy who is winning. That's when he needs to know that the fans are with him.

Columbus, Ohio
Nov. 8, 1947

Dear Editor

The return of the first war dead from both the Pacific and European war theaters, together with the approach of Armistice Day, brings memories of gallant youth, who, without hesitation or question, went forth to battle and gave their lives to preserve peace and freedom for all mankind.

The following prayer was composed and read by Mrs. William E. Brannan, 667 Chestershire Rd., chaplain of the West Unit, Blue Star Mothers, at the memorial service held for our sons and daughters, and is a public expression of the deep and sincere sympathy of this unit to their families.

"Dear Heavenly Father, we are again reminded of the grim reality of war by the returning of our soldier dead, to their bereaved families and friends, all over our nation.

"Oh God, help us all to relieve their burden of sorrow by some kind word or deed.

"We bow in deep gratitude before Thee, dear Father, knowing that Thou art the Great Comforter and Healer of our deepest wounds.

"We are grateful that we are able to come before Thee, to an understanding and loving Father, who knowest the pains and the heartaches of our mothers and families, whose wounds are revived anew by their loved ones' return.

"Oh Father, 'lest we forget,' let it ever be made anew in our minds and hearts of the devotion and love of country and home, of our war dead, of their pain, their longing for home and loved ones and finally paying the last full measure of sacrifice.

"Oh God, may we consecrate our lives to the furthering of peace that their outpouring of suffering shall not have been made in vain.

"Dear Father, be with each family in their bereavement, give them strength to carry their burden, ever knowing that if we but 'Lift up our eyes unto the hills from whence cometh our help, Thou art ever ready to help'.

"We dedicate to Thee this memorial service, and we pledge our lives to Thee in more useful, unselfish and significant living, in the name of Him, the Prince of Peace."

C. C. Hartley
Hilltop Record
Dear Mr. Hartley:

This is an open letter to you, members of your staff and all persons responsible for the great honor bestowed on me last week. A big thank you, also, to the Rosebud Floral Company for the lovely flowers presented to me.

I certainly appreciate the honor of being chosen Man of the Week. However, I feel I must accept only on behalf of the Booster Club, whose entire membership is responsible for the athletic boost on the Hilltop. To see the school I attended and graduated from become a leading school in the State of Ohio is enough payment for any amount of work it has cost. My one ambition is to see a bigger and better Booster Association grow here in our community. I sincerely believe that the school is the heart of the community, and by working together through the school, we will be able to bring about a closer feeling of unity not only between the parents of the boys and girls attending West High School, but among the children themselves; thus bringing juvenile delinquency to a minimum.

Again let me express my appreciation for your kindness.

Sincerely yours,
Richard Francis

Reminiscing

Seems like only yesterday that the "luncheon club" used to meet at Tom Davis' Restaurant on W. Broad-st, just around the corner from Oakley-av. That was before The Hilltop Record had moved away from 14 S. Oakley-av—the late '30's.

The approach of Thanksgiving recalls the annual turkey dinner served up by Tom when he would arrange the long table in the front room for the various and sundry guests—mostly business and professional men from W. Broad-st and Sullivant-av. Mrs. H. G. Deems would make up a special batch of her butter creams to top off an all too ample meal of turkey and all the trimmin's for the sum of 75c.

Several of that group are gone now and a few have moved away from the Hilltop. Among the "regulars" who have died are Dr. Willard Breeze, Dr. Fred Sulzberger, the optician, C. J. Kohn, the undertaker, and Wallace Donley, a retired NYC engineer. Dr. John Czatt moved to California several years ago.

A Boy's Friend

It does a fellow good to see the unselfish work that is being done among the boys of the city with no thought of monetary reward. While there are any number of such individuals on the Hilltop, I have recently had occasion to get acquainted with one such person who is seemingly a friend of every boy around North High School.

The boys all call him "Pop." His last name is Olmstead. I never learned his first name.

"Pop" Olmstead is portal chief at the Ohio Stadium up on C deck and never a Saturday goes by without a dozen or more North Side boys coming by to talk or see if there are any empty seats in his section. He knows them all and from other parts of town too since he coaches an American Legion baseball team during the summer and gets acquainted with most of the fellows who play ball.

At North High School he is an unofficial member of the faculty, doing everything for the school, including taking tickets at the gate and cleaning out the dressing rooms and rubbing down the tired and aching athletes after the games. He knows all of their good points and their weaknesses.

"Pop" first won my friendship at the Missouri-Ohio State game when he let a couple of dirty little urchins stand at the opening of the tunnel long enough to watch the famous OSU marching band come out onto the field. The two little boys had climbed over the iron fence or entered in some other way (known only to boys of that age) without the benefit of tickets. They told "Pop" they only wanted to stay long enough to see the band.

"Now run along, boys," "Pop" told them after they had seen the awe-inspiring spectacle. The boys departed without argument, the staunch friends of a man who already numbers his youthful friends in the hundreds.

A Lesson In Sportsmanship

Followers of the championship West High School football team would do well to observe public reaction to the unfortunate season experienced at Ohio State University this fall. To the credit of Columbus grid enthusiasts it should be noted that criticism of Coach Wes Fesler has been less sharp each time an additional defeat has been suffered by his team.

West High has had an abundant season in football this fall—both from the standpoint of games won and cash customers at the turnstiles. (The two frequently go hand in hand.) It's easy to get enthusiastic over a winner but many of the fans become unduly critical when a few reverses are suffered.

The West football squad will suffer one of its worst shocks from graduation in years at mid-year and in the spring. Chuck Weeks, a tackle, will be the only regular starter this year who will be on hand for practice next fall. Many of the line replacements now on the squad are also seniors and will not be around for the 1948 team. We're not predicting it, but next year could be a very lean year as far as football goes on the Hilltop.

We hope that football fans will be considerate of the fact that there is not always an ample quantity of top material on hand. Coaches in the schools of Columbus are handicapped by the fact that the program does not provide for any preliminary training in the grid sport in its junior high schools such as is the case in many other cities throughout the state. The coach has only three years to work with a new boy. Most followers of the sport will agree that it takes almost that long to develop a player to the point where he can do everything in the manner the coach wants him to. In basketball, track and baseball, candidates have the opportunity of having had three years coaching before they come up to varsity status. They should be and are more finished preformers by the time they reach high school.

This year's Cowboy eleven is not the product of this year alone but represents patient training last year and the year before that. If next year is less spectacular than this, let's not desert the boys or criticize the coaches for failing to win them all. The boy who is going down in defeat is trying just as hard as the boy who is winning. That's when he needs to know that the fans are with him.

Columbus, Ohio

Dear Editor

The return of the first war dead from both the Pacific and European war theaters, together with the approach of Armistice Day, brings memories of gallant youth, who, without hesitation or question, went forth to battle and gave their lives to preserve peace and freedom for all mankind.

The following prayer was composed and read by Mrs. William E. Brannan, 667 Chestershire-Rd., chaplain of the West Unit, Blue Star Mothers, at the memorial service held for our sons and daughters, and is a public expression of the deep and sincere sympathy of this unit to their families.

"Dear Heavenly Father, we are again reminded of the grim reality of war by the returning of our soldier dead, to their bereaved families and friends, all over our nation.

"Oh God, help us all to relieve their burden of sorrow by some kind word or deed.

"We bow in deep gratitude before Thee, dear Father, knowing that Thou art the Great Comforter and Healer of our deepest wounds.

"We are grateful that we are able to come before Thee, to an understanding and loving Father, who knowest the pains and the heartaches of our mothers and families, whose wounds are revived anew by their loved ones' return.

"Oh Father, 'lest we forget,' let it ever be made anew in our minds and hearts of the devotion and love of country and home, of our war dead, of their pain, their longing for home and loved ones and finally paying the last full measure of sacrifice.

"Oh God, may we consecrate our lives to the furthering of peace that their outpouring of suffering shall not have been made in vain.

"Dear Father, be with each family in their bereavement, give them strength to carry their burden, ever knowing that if we but 'Lift up our eyes unto the hills from whence cometh our help. Thou art ever ready to help'.

"We dedicate to Thee this memorial service, and we pledge our lives to Thee in more useful, unselfish and significant living, in the name of Him, the Prince of Peace."

C. C. Hartley
Hilltop Record
Dear Mr. Hartley:

This is an open letter to you, members of your staff and all persons responsible for the great honor bestowed on me last week. A big thank you, also, to the Rosebud Floral Company for the lovely flowers presented to me.

I certainly appreciate the honor of being chosen Man of the Week. However, I feel I must accept only on behalf of the Booster Club, whose entire membership is responsible for the athletic boost on the Hilltop. To see the school I attended and graduated from become a leading school in the State of Ohio is enough payment for any amount of work it has cost. My one ambition is to see a bigger and better Booster Association grow here in our community. I sincerely believe that the school is the heart of the community, and by working together through the school, we will be able to bring about a closer feeling of unity not only between the parents of the boys and girls attending West High School, but among the children themselves; thus bringing juvenile delinquency to a minimum.

Again let me express my appreciation for your kindness.

Sincerely yours,
Richard Francis

Cowboy Capers

By Jean Williams and Edith Wilkins

Well here we are again with the news and notes from around the school.

The 12B party was held on Nov. 10, at West High School at 8:30 p. m. Those in charge of the committees were BARBARA CLARKIN, VIRGINIA CASEY, JANIE PRIOR, TOM GREENE. A good time was enjoyed by all.

On Thursday, Nov. 20, the 12A class will have their "Hard Times Party." Those in charge of the committees are PAT PERRY, BEVERLY CRAMER, BOB SMITH, JIM VICKERS. We'll let you know later if we have a good time.

It seems that CONNIE CASEY had troubles Friday night. Her shoes got stuck in the mud, nice going my way, Connie.

How did WILLIE KINMAN keep dry at the game. Did any one see that sharp umbrella he had?

CAROL MIELKE had everything to keep her dry, but nothing to keep her warm. Why didn't you compromise Carol?

Was VIOLET WARD having hallucinations, or was it really ROSEMARY McDOWELL modeling in the window at Penny's Dept. Store. From all reports you really looked fine, Rosie.

Was it a rain drop or was it DITTY BECK selling programs in the rain at the game Friday night?

From what we hear of BILL HAWES in the 7th period dramatics class he should be a sports announcer.

We have a new Rita Hayward and Gene Kelly in our midst as far as dancing goes. The honor goes to GINNEY CASEY and PAT BERRY. If you want any pointers just watch them some time.

Seen in dramatics: CAROL WISE and PAT MIFFORD eating caramel apples. How do you do it without being caught?

ROY ZEIGLER seemed very much absorbed in his playing in the band. Everybody noticed it by the look on his face.

Why is CARL NAUMOFF so anxious to recite in P. O. D.? What's your secret, Carl?

We'll see you all at the final game of the year, Friday, with Jackson, and at the homecoming dance Friday night in the gym.

Let's everyone be there and back up our queen and her court.

Children Of Church To Have Festival

On Saturday afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock, the Children of the Church group of Hilltop Evangelical Lutheran Church will present a festival.

The program will be entirely conducted by the children. A short worship service will precede a pageant entitled "The Greatest of These." Those taking part in this program are as follows:

Carol Echols and Patty Curl, readers; Marilyn Cosgray, Celia Ann Campbell, Douglas Griggs, David Williams, James Kruckeberg, Thomas Ricker, Donald Johnson, Ned McMillen, Charles Price, Billy Buell, Judy Harvey, Betty Schmidt, Ronald Ranney, Richard Conrad, Jean Caton, June Caton, Judy Schultz, Audrey Eddy, Rowena Zimerman, Billy Cons, Alan Coons, Paul Deyo, and Donald Jhensen.

Organ music will be presented before the program by Mrs. Thomas Plummer. The children are requested to arrive at 1:30 and to bring their festival offering boxes, which will be dedicated during the program.

Parents and friends are cordially invited to come and see what the children have accomplished. Handwork will be displayed, and light refreshments will be served.

Members of the Children of the Church range in age from two to 11 years. The faculty this year is as follows:

Mrs. Leonard Echols, leader; Mrs. Mary Price, Mrs. Charles Ranney, Mrs. Thomas Plummer, Patty Curl, Mrs. Thomas Figley, Mrs. Rodman Johnson, Herbert Pfaltzgraf, Mrs. Carl Lucas, Mrs. Karl Kruckeberg, B. L. Emrich, Rev. Russell Olson, Carol Echols and Mrs. John Ricker.

Elementary School Happenings

John Burroughs

John Burroughs School sold 3,000 dozen cookies for the PTA in the recent drive. The building had 98% attendance for the month of October.

The children who moved away from the John Burroughs district are James Barfield who went to Hawaii, Keith Brown to Westerville, O., and Shirley Abbey to Arlington, O.

Diana Huffman from the Dana Avenue School entered the fifth grade this week.

John Burroughs had a voting booth set up in school on Tuesday.

Mr. Graham, John Burroughs principal, attended a Halloween party at the Hilltop Community Council. There were about 13 rooms that had Halloween parties. Most of them played games, sang songs, had refreshments, and dressed in different kinds of costumes.

The school had an 18 piece orchestra made up of three drums, two trumpets, four clarinets, five violins, one sax, two trombones, and a piano. The music section has two chorus groups. One is seventh grade, the other is the sixth grade.

James Kriner, a sixth grade pupil, was injured by a car when crossing the street Sunday. He is now in the Children's Hospital, but is improving rapidly.

John Burroughs School has had the use of the audimeter for a few days.

Highland

The fifth and sixth grade boys have organized a basketball team and hope to play some of the other elementary schools. The members of the team are, Ralph McGuinnis, Charles Cook, Herbert Commeons, Douglas Cole, Sherrel Singer, William Thompson, Jim Stone, Wayne Foster, Lee Biddison, and Bill Dunmire.

Mrs. Price's 2B class is studying about Indians. They are making Indian pictures, learning Indians songs and hope to go to the Ohio State Museum in the near future to view the Indian relics and specimens there.

Wilson

The Community Fund drive at Wilson School went over its quota by 30 per cent.

Each room held a costumed Halloween party last Friday. The pupils had a grand march from room to room, besides bobbing for apples and playing various other games. Prizes were awarded to Herb Chittum, Martha Falter, Joyce Douthitt, Keith Morris and Dick Omahundro in the apple bobbing contest. The twisted word contest winners were Virginia Seeger and Joyce Douthitt. Cider, doughnuts and candy were served.

Wilson is planning to open a class room in the basement of the school soon, due to overcrowded conditions. Mrs. Snyder will teach in the room which will house the fourth and fifth grades. It should be ready for use next week.

EUB Churches Join In Observing 2nd Anniversary

The second annual Evangelical United Brethren Day will be observed by four local churches as part of a nation-wide celebration that marks the start of the second year of the former Evangelical and United Brethren churches.

A youth rally will be held Saturday night at the Westgate Evangelical United Brethren Church, 61 S. Powell-av, with young people from all over Franklin County attending. Dr. Harold R. Heininger, president of the Evangelical Theological Seminary, Naperville, Ill., will be the speaker. Special music will be provided by Orla and Luella Bradford of Westerville and a quartet of Otterbein College students.

The anniversary service will be held on Sunday night at the Fifth Avenue Church, 25 W. Fifth-av, with Rev. P. W. Sharp, president of the Franklin County EUB Ministerium and pastor of the host church, presiding. Dr. Heininger will again be the speaker. The song service will be directed by Rev. L. E. Dietzel.

This service is being held one year, to the day, after the union of the two former denominations at Johnstown, Pa. Services will not be held in local EUB churches that evening so that members can attend the anniversary service.

Local EUB churches include Avondale, Hilltonia, Burgess and Westgate.

A chili supper will be served in the basement of the Burgess Avenue Evangelical United Brethren Church Friday evening from 5 to 7:30 o'clock. Proceeds from the supper will go to the fund to install a pipe organ in the church.

Members of the Men's Class, the Alpha Class and the Gleaners' Class are working together on the project.

Tickets are 60c for adults and 40c for children under 10 years

Troop 18 Will Have Social On Nov. 17

Scout Troop 18 of Glenwood Methodist Church will sponsor a Thanksgiving social in the church dining room, Nov. 17, from 7 to 9 o'clock. Homemade cake and ice cream with hot drinks will be served for 25c.

This project is to sponsor camping equipment for the troop. Tickets may be secured from any of the troop members or the church office.

EXTERIOR VIEW OF THE ESQUIRE MEN'S SHOP

The store front of modernistic glass brick, with two large show-windows, forms an attractive front which is in keeping with the very attractive interior, and the character shown throughout the store.

The Neon sign, designed by Milton Eanning, captain on one of the bowling teams sponsored by the Esquire, lends to the modern design of the front. The interior is lighted by fluorescent ceiling and sidewall lights. Display cases of the latest design enable all merchandise to be clearly displayed. Three or more additional lights in each case supplement the overhead lights. Oak paneling has just been installed, which adds to the general attractiveness of the store, and at the same time gives additional space for the display of leisure coats, HESSLER 100% wool sport shirts, LUSTCOAT raincoats, DENNIS corduroy sport jackets, GLOVER and SHANHOUSE heavy outerwear.

"Bud," who is an artist of no small ability, is painting a mural on the front interior wall, which adds further to the beauty of the store. ('Tis said "Bud" lost his hair "scratching" for new ideas on how to make the store even more attractive.)

Meet the Four "Hilltoppers" At The Esquire

Elmer "Bud" Worley is pictured at the right, displaying a very smart GLOVER leather coat which is featured in the Esquire Magazine (no relation to the Esquire Shop). In the background is the 1" line chart on the wall of the fitting room. After complete tape measurements are made for the customers new Esquire custom tailored suit, slacks or overcoat, four pictures are taken of the customer in front of the chart; front and back views and right and left profile. The pictures in addition to giving the tailor considerable additional information concerning the ordinary measurements needed show him within a quarter of an inch the slope of the shoulders, posture, and the extent of any front or rear protrusion. (We'll be polite and not say bay window or bucket). This added finesse in customing service is an exclusive feature of the Esquire Men's Shop. Conceived and designed by "Bud" it will be found in no other store in Columbus, or anywhere else to our knowledge.

With the combination of good looking, long wearing, many difficult to obtain materials (over 400 samples) and impecable tailoring, you can't help but look like a million in clothing made just for you.

"Bud" is the one most likely to greet you at the Esquire Shop as he is there every day from 10 A. M. till 9 P. M. (with an occasional night off for bowling).

OPEN EVENINGS

Just one year ago, we four "Hilltoppers" opened THE ESQUIRE MEN'S SHOP in the belief that the men of the community would welcome an exclusive men's store, featuring high quality popular priced men's clothing and accessories. The large number of men . . . and women, too . . . whom we have been privileged to serve during our first year, has more than justified this belief, and has enabled us to expand our stock considerably until it now includes a complete variety of all articles of clothing and accessories with the exception of shoes. We take this opportunity to thank our friends and customers for their response. May we serve you for many years to come?

Elmer "Bud" Worley, Bob Wilgus, Guy and Mary Boots.

ELMER "BUD" WORLEY—WEST HIGH SCHOOL—CLASS OF 1930

The portly, beaming gentleman at the left is Bob Wilgus, trying on a pair of ARROW gloves. The Esquire carries one of the most complete lines of leather and wool gloves you'll find anywhere. Notice the display of hats in the picture. One of the latest additions to our line of nationally known men's wear is the TEMPLEFORM HAT by STYLEPARK . . . the hat that fits better and looks better because it's made to slope in at the temples, the way your head actually does. It's an exclusive new design in hats that puts your head at ease and does wonders for your appearance . . . Ties? We dare say you've never seen a more complete display. Note the McCURRACH wool ties on the counter. BEAU BRUMMEL and SMOOTHIE rayon and silks, in panels, vertical stripes and patterns are also featured at the Esquire. If it's a conservative tie for business, a snappy butterfly bow tie, or one that fairly screams with color, you'll find it here.

In the background is the display of GLOVER and SHANHOUSE sport jackets, LION OF TROY and GREYLEIGH leisure coats, a variety of robes, windbreakers, etc.

GUY BOOTS—HILLIARDS HIGH SCHOOL—CLASS OF 1930

He also takes a bow for the attractive oak paneling and the overhanging canopy from which those very smart SHANHOUSE heavy jackets are displayed. Guy and a friend of his, Karol Whitlatch did the necessary carpenter work. Guy works evenings in the store after his regular day with the Brinks Express Company.

The neon lighting by Frank Heath (a commercial plug so he will keep up his 197 average on the Esquire Thursday nite, 1st place bowling team)

. . . The Esquire also has a 1st place team in the late league Monday night at the Hilltop Bowling Alley in addition to a team in the All Star League at Riverview composed of Hilltop men.

The Esquire has the best deal in town on BOWLING SLACKS and SHIRTS, having recently added this line of men's wear. It will pay bowlers and team captains to check into the superior quality and moderate prices offered by the Esquire.

Last, but far from least, is Mrs. Guy Boots, pictured admiring, (and who wouldn't) a pair of WILSON BROTHERS hosiery. WILSON BROTHERS, a name famous everywhere, is one of the brands featured by the Esquire. Shown too is the display of SWANK jewelry and KING'S MEN toiletries, which add that extra touch of being well groomed.

In the background at the top of the picture is the mural which "Bud" is painting (says he may finish it by next swimming season). It's only about one-half finished (so don't be too harsh with it) and shows a dance on an outdoor paved terrace on the left, a swimming pool in the center and a picnic or something on the right.

Mrs. Mary E. Boots ("Bud's" sister) is the one who sends those pleasant reminders to Esquire customers (ask about this service) of approaching birthdays, anniversaries and other dates that are sometimes forgotten (she has saved many a fellow from getting his neck wrung by a displeased spouse). P. S. She is really a very pleasant person even if she does look somewhat snooty in the picture.

Our display of dress and sport shirts by WILSON BROTHERS, DONEGAL and LION OF TROY, BRIAN MacNEIL corduroy shirts, BERKRAY gabardine shirts, TEXTAN and PARIS belts and SPUR garters and suspenders are also shown in the picture.

Charity Newsies Preparing For Drive

Members of the Charity Newsies were in session Monday evening to discuss plans for their annual newspaper sale, to be held this year on Saturday, Dec. 13.

This year a limited number of Newsie buttons will be given out to the early donors. I have a few of them and will be glad to see that any Hilltopper gets one when he contributes. In view of the fact that it is almost impossible to get around to see everyone on Newsie sale day, your early contribution will be greatly appreciated. Just call Ra. 1125 and I'll be glad to stop around and pick up your contribution.

Jack Sensenbrenner has the distinction of being the first Hilltopper to make a contribution in 1947. And Shank & Saunders was the first business firm to sign up. Who'll be the next one?

I'll Do My Shopping On The Hilltop

If you have been a regular attendant at the Ohio State football games this fall you may be in condition to buck the downtown crowds when you do your Christmas shopping.

But not for me! Monday night my wife and I started out at 6:30 to take a little look at what is available this year in downtown stores. After being pushed and shoved around for a half hour we gave it up as something we shouldn't become too excited about and are now more firmly convinced than ever that we will do our Christmas shopping right here on the Hilltop! If you are smart you will agree.

Frank Waller is getting caught up on his reading these days since being confined to his bed for the past three weeks with a heart ailment . . . Dr. R. J. Miller, preky of the Hilltop Business Assn., got a call from an irate Hilltop housewife this past week advising that she would like to have her garbage collected and telling him, "I'm a taxpayer and I help pay your salary." Sensenbrenner Is Chairman Of Southwest Scout District

M. E. Sensenbrenner

M. E. (Jack) Sensenbrenner, 335 Guernsey-av, was named chairman of the Southwest District at a meeting of Boy Scout officials that followed the annual dinner at Westgate Methodist Church Tuesday night.

The dinner was attended by 160 scout officials, scouters and their wives. Rev. L. E. Rush, pastor of the Mt. Gilead Methodist Church, gave the principal address of the evening.

Other officers and committee heads named at the business meeting were James McCready, dist. commissioner; Floyd Badgley, Herman Eisele, Harry Crawford, assistant district commissioners; Harry Drake, organization and extension; Sam Alford and William Ewald, camping; Robert Miller, health and safety; Ray Eyerman, finance; Paul Wichterman, publicity; John Apel, advancement; and Dr. R. J. Miller, leadership and training.

Gifts were presented to Ken Dickerson, the retiring chairman, and Gil Bolin, field executive, who was recently promoted to the Northwest District.

Franklin Township Board Considers Start Of School Building Program

Sewage and water facilities are now a number one consideration of the Franklin Township Board of Education in launching a building and remodeling program for the rural schools.

At a meeting Tuesday night members of the board agreed to try to arrange for a joint meeting with county commissioners at an early date to discuss the matter.

Under consideration at the present time are construction of a new grade school building on Frank-rd and the modernizing of Skidmore, Briggadale and Wilson Schools. Just what part or parts of this improvement program will be undertaken during the coming year will depend partly on whether or not sewage and water facilities are to become available in the near future.

A representative of the architect's firm told board members that the outlook for labor and materials was not encouraging and that building may be even more difficult in another year's time. Consideration is being given to building one unit of the new building on Frank-rd since funds available would not make possible the complete building as planned in view of greatly increased building costs. Also closely related to this building project is the erection of the new children's home on Frank-rd, near the proposed school site.

Harley Grid Trophy Now Rests At West

The Harley Trophy emblematic of the City Gridiron Championship was brought to West High School this year.

In a special student assembly Bob Fisher, captain of the Linden McKinley team, champions in 1946, presented the trophy to Jerry Chinn, captain of the 1947 undefeated Cowboys.

The large trophy, named after the immortal grid great, Chic Harley, was presented to Columbus schools by Ohio State University at a cost of $5,000.

Judge Rodney Ross, a former coach at West High School, addressed the assembly.

Basketball Loops Plan For Winter Activities Here

The first organizational meeting for Hilltop basketball teams that will play in the City Recreational Department leagues this fall and winter will be held at the city hall at 7 p. m., Monday, Nov. 24.

At that time representatives of the West Church Senior and Intermediate Leagues will meet with city recreation department officials to draw up schedules and rules for the coming season.

Walter Gerber, organizer of the leagues, said this week that the West Senior League would again play at the Glenwood shelter house on Monday nights, while the intermediate league teams will play on Tuesday evenings.

Organization of the Glenwood Independent League will take place Dec. 5 at city hall, Mr. Gerber said. This league will also play at the Glenwood shelter house on Friday evenings.

The Intermediate league will again be limited to teams whose players are under 18 years of age. It is expected that each league will include eight teams. A meeting for officials will take place at city hall Dec. 15 or 16, Mr. Gerber said.

The first organizational meeting of Lutheran Church basketball teams will take place tonight, at 7:30, at the Lutheran Center, 106 S. Gift-st.

Rev. Chester A. Holmquist, publicity chairman for the Lutheran Athletic Association, said that there will be five leagues this year and that they will be organized with a view to each team's strength and not its geographical location. The Lutheran leagues will also have two classes of competition, senior and intermediate.

Lutheran teams will play at the John Burroughs School, 2585 Sullivant-av, on Monday nights, as well as at four other schools throughout the city. West Side Lutheran churches that will be represented in the leagues include the following: Hilltop, St. John, Bethlehem, St. Matthew's, and St. Paul at Rome.

3 Are Held In Hardware Burglaries

Three young Hilltop men, two of them 18 and one 22 years of age, were arrested at their homes Tuesday morning and are being held at the county jail for investigation of a series of hardware store burglaries in Franklin County.

The names of the men could not be learned but the sheriff's office reported that a large amount of hardware goods reportedly stolen in recent burglaries had been confiscated at their homes.

Officer Frank Martin of the sheriff's office is in charge of the investigation.

Book Displays Are At Local Library

The Hilltop Branch Library, 21 N. Hague-av, has children's new books on display this week, in observance of National Book Week.

Mrs. Frances Emrick, library staff member, has prepared several "peep shows" for the occasion, in addition to several displays of hobby collections by children of the Hilltop Community.

Doll collections are on exhibition by Beverly Wilson, West Broad School; Charlotte Martens and Carol Koenig, John Burroughs; and Jane Ellen Jones, West High School. A stamp collection was loaned by Joseph Yonk, St. Aloysius; post card collection by James Lytle of St. Aloysius, and Beverly Wilson, West Broad; glass horse collection by Mary Holmes of John Burroughs; soap collection by Janet Hill, Highland Avenue; and a collection of "critters," made by Karlene Spohn of John Burroughs.

Parents are invited to stop at the library to inspect the new books and to see the children's displays.

Hunting Accidents Injure Two Men

Two persons from the Hilltop suffered injuries from guns on opening day of the hunting season last Saturday.

Ralph Beeson, Jr., 18, 382 S. Roys-av, received wounds on the third and fourth fingers of his right hand when he stumbled and accidently discharged his gun. He was hunting with his father near Darbydale.

Robert B. Goodyear, 15, of Rome, was struck in the legs and hands by pellets from a shotgun fired by Harry Riffle, 35, also of Rome. The two men were hunting together in a cornfield near Magnetic Springs. Riffle fired at a rabbit as it jumped out of the weeds and accidently hit Goodyear.

Both men were treated at Mt. Carmel Hospital.

Record Reporter Meets President

By Bob Wiener

This reporter was privileged to be among a group that was received by President Truman at the White House last week. The occasion was a press conference for delegates to the national convention of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, held at the Hotel Statler in Washington, Nov. 11 to 14.

About 50 delegates were received by the President in the executive office of the White House where all his press conferences are held. The President shook hands with every one of the visitors and then proceeded to offer some advice to the group, made up largely of student journalists.

He said that if he were going to start a newspaper he would hire "a flock of good police reporters," because, as he put it, "they recognize a fact when they see one." The President said he didn't know whether he'd hire any columnists because, in his estimation, they don't have an appreciation of the facts.

We were also privileged to be at an initiation ceremony at which Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, Michigan Republican and a former newspaperman, was made a member of the fraternity.

Others who spoke to the delegates at various times included W. W. Weymack, vice-chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission and a former editor of the Des Moines Register and Tribune; Stuart Symington, Secretary for Air; and James V. Forrestal, Secretary of Defense.

Auto Accidents Take Their Toll

Traffic accidents continued to take their toll on the streets of the city this past week. Even before last week's Hilltop Record was off the press, three more persons from the West Side had been hurt in auto accidents.

To Address Kiwanis Club

Harry Spyker

Some of the plans for the Hilltop Branch YMCA, to be started in the community in the near future, will likely be discussed by Harry Spyker, executive secretary of the Metropolitan YMCA in Columbus when he addresses the Hilltop Kiwanis Club at its luncheon meeting today.

Mr. Spyker has been instrumental in helping get approval for the Hilltop "Y" through his work with a local committee named several months ago to study recreational needs of the community.

Last Thursday's meeting featured an Armistice Day talk by Brig. Gen. Carlton S. Dargusch, former deputy in the national headquarters of the Selective Service in Washington.

General Dargusch stressed the need for a concentrated effort toward preparedness for any future war, even though we are now busy trying to work out a plan for lasting peace.

"Never again will we have the opportunity to prepare for war while another country fights off the forces of aggression," said the general as he emphasized a dire need for some form of military training program to supplement the recruiting services of the army and navy.

He stated that the army and navy personnel had been demobilized down from 12,300,000 to below 1½ million, and that one of two means is necessary to maintain strength of our fighting forces: (1) Peacetime draft such as was conducted during the past war or (2) the universal military training plan which will come before congress in the near future.

Gen. Dargusch said that it had been necessary for 20,000,000 men to be examined during World War II in order to raise the 12,300,000 strength at V-J Day.

"In justice to those who gave their lives in this costliest of all wars, there must not be any compromise in principal or action which may jeopardize a lasting peace," he said in closing.

Fellowship Groups To Hear Rev. Hill

Many Persons Are Undecided

By Bob Wiener

Although a proposal is currently before City Council to levy a one per cent tax on incomes to help pay for anticipated costs of of city government, The Hilltop Record found this week that many persons on the Hilltop still have no opinion on the matter.

In a telephone poll, in which numbers from the RAndolph and JOrdan exchanges were called at random, the following question was asked:

To help pay for the cost of city government the city proposes to levy an income tax. Do you feel a city income tax would be the money required to meet the cost of city government?

Seventy-five numbers were called. The results were as follows:

Yes — 14
No — 32
No opinion — 29

Most of the calls were made during the daytime and most of the answers were given by housewives. Many of the persons called said they didn't know enough about the issue and hence couldn't express an opinion. One woman said it was the first time she had heard of the proposed income tax.

Objections Voiced

Objection to the tax was strongest on the grounds that there is enough tax on incomes now by the state and federal governments. Several persons said that if more money is needed by the city additional taxes should be levied on luxuries and amusements. One man said he is paying about one-fourth of his income in taxes now.

One woman expressed a strong opinion that, "if we had a city manager we'd have enough money now to pay for all the cost of city government."

The proposal for a city income tax is not new in Columbus. It has been under consideration for some time but only came out in the open after the recent election in which the voters approved a 40-hour week for firemen. This, however, is only one of the items for which the tax would be used. Others include giving other city employes promised salary raises, extensions of city services, and retirement of bonded indebtedness.

The proposed tax would be modeled after an income tax plan adopted in Toledo. Under it everyone either living in Columbus and working in or outside the city would pay the tax. In addition, anyone living outside Columbus but working in the city would also be required to pay the city an income tax. This would include all those persons living in such suburbs as Bexley, Upper Arlington, Grandview, etc., who work in Columbus.

1% On Each Dollar

The proposal calls for a one per cent levy on every dollar earned with no exemptions or deductions allowable. However, such things as dividends or interest received from stocks and bonds and income from royalties or copyrights are not taxable.

Also, if the city follows the Toledo plan such things as proceeds from insurance, workmen's compensation, annuities, Social Security benefits, pensions and payments under the GI Bill of Rights, etc. will not be subject to the tax.

Individuals, partnerships, and corporations doing business in Columbus would be subject to a tax of one per cent of their gross.

Out of town concerns would be taxed on a "business allocation percentage" formula which would figure how much of the firm's business is done in Columbus. The firm would then be required to pay the tax only on that portion of their business.

Under federal income tax laws deductions may be made on federal income tax returns for any income or net profits tax that may be paid to the city.

O'Toole, 253 Algonquin-av, and Mr. Robert T. Williams, son of Mrs. Thomas C. Williams, 2104 Tuller-st, formerly of Oak Hill, O. The double ring ceremony was read by Rev. A. J. Wold in the Hoge Memorial Presbyterian Church at 7:30 o'clock.

Accompanied to the altar by her father, the bride wore a gown of white slipper satin, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms. Her bridal bouquet was of white roses and mum petals, centered with gardenias.

Mrs. Thomas Stringfellow, as matron of honor, wore a gold taffeta gown with matching mitts. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Jack Muir and Miss Patty Ann Hunt, wore turquoise and cerise taffeta gowns, identical to that of the matron of honor, with matching mitts. They carried cascade bouquets of red roses and Chinese eculiptis.

Mr. Lowell Thomas of Oak Hill served as best man, and seating the guests were Mr. Jack Muir and Mr. Arthur Ferber of Columbus.

The bride's mother chose a dress of black crepe with pink accessories and wore a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Williams' dress of wine velvet was accented by a yellow rose corsage. She wore black accessories.

Preceding the ceremony, a half-hour of music was furnished by Miss Edith Pedrick and Mrs. James Cooke.

New Equipment Makes Possible Rapid Long Distance Telephone Calls

With equipment already in operation, now being installed or scheduled to be installed next year and later, the entire nation at the finger-tip of every long distance telephone operator is no idle dream.

This is part of a nation-wide program that some day will enable any long distance operator anywhere to dial long distance calls, directly and unassisted, straight through to the called telephone, even though it be on the other side of the continent, according to Homer E. Smart, district commercial manager for the Ohio Bell Telephone Co.

"The Ohio Bell was one of the pioneers in long distance dialing or, as we refer to it, toll dialing," said Mr. Smart.

"As early as 1938 calls were dialed by operators between Columbus, Dayton and Springfield in central Ohio; between Akron, Canton, Alliance and Youngstown in northern Ohio and from Cleveland to each of those northern Ohio cities. Later, other nearby towns were added to the two networks and in 1940 dialing trunk lines were established between Columbus and Akron, thereby connecting the two networks.

One step in the growing Ohio long distance dialing network to be taken early next year will be the cutting into service of equipment in Cambridge, O., which will connect initially with Columbus, Akron, Canton, Marietta and Barnesville. Other points will be picked up early in 1948.

A similar step will be taken early next year when equipment to go into service in Toledo will give that city two-way long distance dialing to Columbus, Dayton, Springfield, Canton, Akron and several other points. Equipment is now being installed in Cleveland to enable direct dialing from other points into that city.

PROPERTY OWNERS TO MEET

The Property Owners' Association of Franklin County will meet Friday night at the Nell House, at 8 o'clock. Election of officers for the coming year will take place at this meeting.

"You say your sister makes up jokes? Then she's a humorist, isn't she?"

"No, she works in a beauty parlor."

Her Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Kembitsky, 628 S. Ogden-av, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Mary Frances, to Mr. John Worth Hickey, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Hickey, 569 Wiltshire-rd.

The bride-elect is a graduate of West High School and of the College of Pharmacy at Ohio State University. She now is associated with the Wendt Bristol Co. Mr. Hickey graduated from St. Charles High School and is now attending the College of Commerce at Ohio State University.

Children Learn Many Things By Suggestion

When a little child shrinks away from caterpillars or spiders because his mother does, or dislikes cereal or spinach because his father does, the grown-up has "suggested" this dislike for him, and he imitates the grown-up's feelings. Most children are very easily influenced by suggestion or imitation of another's feeling. Suggestion is thus an important way in which a child learns. Take for granted—suggest to him—that he will not cry when he tumbles, that he will do as he is told, eat what is set before him, take his bath without a fuss.

A mother who expects trouble usually gets it. When Willie is told, "Come in this minute; you've got to get your bath, and there's no use arguing," he feels tension in the air and disobedience is suggested to him. But "Willie as soon as you've run your train around once more we are going to get all cleaned up before supper" suggests something pleasant and is much more likely to bring obedience. Children will often follow such suggestions willingly, when a command might be disobeyed.

The thing that keeps a lot of men broke is not the wolf at the door, but the silver fox in the window.

Barber—Your hair is terribly thin on top. Have you tried our great Russian tonic?
Victim—No. It wasn't that.

There are two reasons why people don't mind their own business: They either haven't a mind or a business.

It Takes Lots Of Work To Prepare The Band Part Of The Grid Show

Tooting a horn or beating a drum in the West High School Band may not carry with it the glory that comes with making the winning touchdown on the gridiron but it entails almost as much work—much of it physical, too.

That five or six minutes between halves in which the band has to do its stuff represents literally hundreds of accumulated hours of work on the part of band members, director, baton twirlers, drum major and majorette. It's a big job to get a new show ready every week during the 10-game football season but it helps to liven up the atmosphere no little and has come to be expected as part of the evening's entertainment.

Before any formation work can be started there must first of all be a group of musicians who can play reasonably well, being able to memorize their scores in short order and who are well versed in the fundamentals of marching. The West band at present is made up of 56 players, not counting the fancy steppers out in front. There are two reserves who play much the same role as the reserves on the football team. They step in to fill the position of some member who may become suddenly ill or for any other reason cannot go on the field. Usually there are seven or eight reserves who must know every formation in detail. If suddenly pressed into service he, or she, must know how to go through every formation without the benefit of last minute coaching. If the reserve happens to play the same instrument as that whose place he is filling, he of course plays as well as marches. If the instrument is foreign to him he may be permitted to carry the dummy instrument without playing so that the instrumental balance will still appear the same.

Charles W. Bennett, the director, spent five years with the famed Ohio State Marching Band and much of the snap and precision shown by his West band reflects that experience. A fast marching tempo, absence of whistle or gun signals, formations quickly made and just as quickly dissolved, are a few of the capabilities of the Cowboy band that make it outstanding.

Program Planned

Let's look at a typical week in the life of the band during football season. During the weekend, the director figures out what formations are to be done at the following week's game. These may be suggested by special events, holidays or some particular hit of the moment that is much in the public mind. The length of the show will be determined by whether or not time is to be shared with another band or if some other special event is to take place at half time.

Having determined what the formations will be, Bennett next sketches the ideas roughly on paper, figuring out just how the 56 musicians can fit into each formation and how they move into and out of each figure to be outlined on the gridiron. Each player is assigned a number at the start of the season. This number never changes and identifies him in any formation. Having determined letters or figures to be made and how the changes are to be accomplished, he next figures out scores of music to fit the changes. The band makes its changes by musical scores rather than outward signals such as a whistle or the firing of a gun. This makes for fewer delays and smoother operation all down the line.

Next the director sketches the formations accurately, writing in the number of every player, and prepares the music to be used. From 8:15 to 9:30 a. m. Monday the formations are explained and the band walks through them without music except for the tempo set by the drums. The musical score, previously worked out, is timed to see that each player can get to and from his assigned position while the music is being played. The musical score is not issued, however, until Tuesday when most of the time is spent memorizing it.

Music Added

By Wednesday the music is added to the show and the entire performance is polished up to perfection. By Thursday the show should be ready to go on although most of the games are played on Friday. The one day of grace is thrown in so that in the event of a rainy day the band will not be caught unprepared because of lack of time. One of the games was played on a Thursday night this year so that week there was no time to spare.

The use of hat lights for the blackout numbers this year has added to the problems of preparing the show. One 20-minute practice after dark has been held on Thursday night so that players can find their places in the dark. These night practices have been attracting so many spectators that it almost became necessary to close the gates to keep them out.

Blackout formations require closer grouping for best effect. Each set of batteries is good for about 40 minutes so that the lights must be used sparingly during rehearsal.

Just how long does it take to plan and prepare instructions for one week's show? Director Bennett spends a minimum of 10 to 16 hours before the band ever sees the formation on paper.

The drum major may or may not be a member of the band. Tryouts are held each year as is the case for twirlers and drum majorette. The girls are usually not band members but have taken up twirling on their own. Many of them take lessons from dance studios where they specialize in twirling.

Members of the senior band get credit for a five-hour elective. They also get service credits for public appearances. Two years' consecutive service with an average of "B" or better entitles the player to a band letter similar to those worn by athletes. Seniors get a band pin for meritorius service.

Each student pays a 75c music fee each semester that helps to pay for music purchased. He also pays a $1 fee each year for maintenance of uniform. That helps pay for cleaning and any repairs needed. Students using school-owned instruments pay an additional $1 fee per semester for use of the instrument. However, most students own their own instruments.

Uniforms, plumes, lights, gloves, megaphones, etc., are provided by the Band Parents' Club. It is a little known fact, nevertheless true, that were it not for an active and enthusiastic parents' group, such as has been the case at West in recent years, there could be no band capable of putting on the kind of show seen each week by West fans. The cost of outfitting upwards of 70 players and other band personnel is not small change. The present uniforms with the various trappings cost more than $3,000 at pre-war standards. Between 1940 and 1946, the Band Parents spent nearly $5,000 on equipment and upkeep for the band.

The junior high band serves as a training ground for senior band members. Members of this group provide their own uniforms as well as instruments. They appear in a secondary role at two or three games each year in their red sweaters with white trousers

Drunks Are Guilty

We have never been able to see why drunkenness should be taken as an excuse or palliation of an offense. If a drunk fractures someone's skull or smashes his teeth, they are just as badly broken as by a sober man. People who know from experience that they cannot restrain themselves after drinking should not indulge in alcoholics.

Payroll Tax

If the city council follows its present plans the income tax will go into effect Jan. 1, 1948. The Columbus Chamber of Commerce estimates the tax would bring in about $6,000,000 annually. The tax would be collected by the city auditor and the cost of administering it has been estimated at about $200,000 a year.

Cowboys End Undefeated, Untied Season By 52-0 Romp Over Jackson Ironmen

2nd Undefeated Grid Season At West High School

For the second time in the history of football at West High School a team has gone through an undefeated and untied season.

Mack Pemberton's 1947 eleven pulled that trick by swamping the Jackson Ironmen Friday by a score of 52 to 0 before approximately 4500 homecoming fans who yelled as hard every time the Cowboys added a six-pointer as if the game depended on it. Playing a rough 10-game schedule, the Cowboys not only annexed their sixth City League championship but were rated as high as fifth in the state by sports writers from all over Ohio.

There was little doubt about the outcome of the Jackson game after the first four and one-half minutes of play which saw the Cowboys rack up the first of eight touchdowns. From then on it was just a matter of how high the score would go. Coach Pemberton had no idea of "pouring it on" the hapless Ironmen and used 29 boys in addition to his starting eleven to try to keep the score down but you can't hold a good team down.

With only three minutes to play in the final period the West coach let his first eleven boys go back to play the traditional closing moments of the season. The score was then 39 to 0 with the ball on the West 13-yard line. But lots happened in that 180 seconds.

Dropping back to his own 10-yard line, Jack Thrush whipped a pass to Starling Hutt on his own 35 to go all the way for touchdown number seven. Thrush's kick hit the upright and spiraled over the crossbar for the extra point.

Hicks Goes 50 Yards

Chuck Weeks' kickoff was downed on the Jackson 41. On the very next play, Walter Hicks intercepted a pass on the 50 and raced for his second touchdown of the day. With less than five seconds to play Jim Slager tossed to Jerry Chinn, who ran from midfield to approximately the 10 as the gun sounded.

It was Slager who started the fireworks early in the first period by scoring from the one-yard line after Hicks had romped around his own left end for 26 yards. Thrush made the extra point. Eight plays later Hicks skirted the end on a beautiful 32-yard jaunt to score. Again Thrush made his kick good.

Still in the first period Starling Hutt ran from his own 36 to the Jackson 34. At that point Bob Smith staged a beautiful exhibition of broken field running to score. Thrush's third try for point was good and the score stood at 21 to 0 as the quarter ended.

Slager passed to Young on the 2-yard stripe midway in the second canto and Chinn scored the six-pointer. Thrush's kick was wide. That was all of the scoring in the first half.

Hutt Scores

Hutt and Chinn alternated at carrying the ball from their own 40 to the one-yard marker. It was Hutt who scored the fifth touchdown. The kick was no good. Stout recovered a Jackson fumble and three plays later Bob Smith again took to the open field and ran 40 yards for his second tally. Chuck Weeks' kick was blocked.

Fourth string boys were playing in part of the second half and still the best the visitors could do was to penetrate to the Cowboy 5-yard line where the determined home team held on downs.

Jackson had some good passers in the Clay boys and Jack Priest. They completed seven aerials for a total of 81 yards but were badly outplayed on the line, showing a net gain of only 26 yards by rushing.

The game was unique in that only one penalty was invoked, that a 15-yard holding charge against West. Three or four offside penalties were refused.

The starting lineups were as follows:

Jackson	Pos.	West
G. Martin	LE	Thrush
McGhee	LT	Weeks
Phillips	LG	Thumberg

Riegel	RG	Westerman
Gray	RT	Hostetter

"They Just Wanted To Win," Coach Pemberton Says Of 1947 West High Grid Champions

By Paul Wichterman

I've followed the undefeated and untied West High football champions through all 10 of their games this fall and I'm still looking for an answer to the question, "What makes 'em click?"

Most grid fans I've talked to agree that the team as a whole is not a "great" team in spite of the fact that it defeated all comers this year and has been rated the fifth best in the state by the sports writers.

In the dressing room following the 52-0 romp over the Jackson Ironmen, I asked Coach Mack Pemberton that question. With a knowing grin, Mack replied, "They just wanted to win."

"Individually they are not a great team," he went on, "but they like to play football and they were determined to win."

As a team they played well together. There was a minimum of friction between the players. I've never seen a squad of 50-odd boys that didn't have some differences of opinion during a season but the Cowboys didn't let that interfere with their will to win as a team.

The 1947 team did not produce individual stars of the calibre of some of West's grid "greats," of whom there have been a score or more. There were many good ball players but each had his limitations in some department of play. Without detracting from any of the others it should be noted that Curt Westerman, a guard, was the nearest thing to a standout player all season. The seven City League coaches made him their only unanimous selection for the mythical "all city" selection. You have to be good to rate that honor.

7 All-City Players

At least seven West players rated "all city" honors on one or more of the three or four selections made by one means or another.

There are a few things that do stand out in my mind as we close the books on a season that has brought many pleasant surprises and an unprecedented interest in football at West.

In the first place the Cowboys were well grounded in the fundamentals of the game. Tackling and blocking were often rocking in their effect on the opposing players. It's hard to defeat any 11 boys who know how to hit hard and for keeps in spite of size and speed advantages. On the size side of the ledger, the Cowboys were heavier than many of their opponents. The line particularly was big and rugged.

Another factor that has stood out all season is the smooth execution of the T-formation employed in the Pemberton system. Jim Slager has been the spark plug that's kept them rolling all year. Jim had a lot to learn when he took over the quarterback spot as a junior last year. In the first place he had two strikes on him because he followed his brother, Dick, one of the "greats" produced at West in recent years. He's come a long way, both in handling of the ball and as a passer. His defensive play has been outstanding.

Improved Line

Perhaps the biggest improvement in the team as a whole since the start of the season has been in the line. Coach Pemberton knew at the start that his backs were ready to go. He had a speed merchant in Walter Hicks, hard-hitting fullback in Starling Hutt and a good blocker and effective ball toter in Jerry Chinn but the line was untested.

Before the season ended, that line had outcharged and outplayed just about every team encountered. The eagerness of some of the boys cost plenty of yards in penalties but fortunately they were at times when the team could afford them. The improvement in that department can be seen in the fact that in the last game played, only one penalty was called on the Cowboys in the contest. That, a holding penalty, was anything but deliberate and might have been overlooked by many officials. It was, incidentally, the only penalty invoked in the entire game.

Little has been said this year about the work of Mack's two assistants, Fred Heischman, backfield coach, and Dave Randall, in charge of the line. The addition of the latter has been a big help all down the line. In addition to his work with the line, his enthusiasm has been good for the boys' morale. Above all it has given Mack a chance to work on the finer points of the game without devoting his time to working on fundamentals all the time.

Coach Pemberton always qualifies any remarks he may make about the team by saying "We were a lucky team."

That statement is of course true but nevertheless most football teams make their own breaks. If they were lucky it was because the boys didn't miss an opportunity to take advantage of any breaks that came their way. Luck alone doesn't win a championship for any team—especially with a 10-game schedule such as West played this year.

It's been a great year at West. There's been no let down since the spectacular win in that opening game with Springfield. Something of that spirit ought to carry over into next year's team when only one of this season's regulars returns. You can't beat a bunch of boys who won't be beaten.

By Dick Ardle

Esquire vs. Olentangy

One of the best match games of the season was put on at the Hilltop Recreation Alleys last Sunday. The match was between Esquire Men's Shop of the Hilltop and the Olentangy Five (five bowlers from the Olentangy Alleys), with Olentangy winning the match 2669 to Esquire's 2631. Individual honors were shared by Carl Breckenridge of Esquire Men's Shop and Bill Cline of the Olentangy Five. Carl had the high single game, 237, while Cline had the three-game series of 603.

Dick Ardle

All the games were fairly close, as Olentangy took the first 918 to 859. Esquire came back to take the second game, 868 to 839. Olentangy took the "rubber game" 917 to 904.

With the exceptions of Dick Berry of Olentangy and George Kanavel of Esquire, all the bowlers had over 500 series.

A complete box score of the two teams follows:

 * Bowler of the Week * ***

In place of the bowler of the week I have been asked to make two very important announcements.

Any boy or girl who would like to bowl in the Seiller's Teen Agers Leagues is asked to contact the Hilltop Bowling Alley since there are openings on several of the teams in both leagues. The girls bowl Monday afternoons at 4 o'clock and the boys roll Saturday mornings at 11.

The second announcement is that the entry blanks for teams going to the ABC tournament in Detroit will reach Blain Holloway Tuesday. In order to hold the reservations from Columbus, the entry fees must be paid in full prior to Dec. 1.

 * Bowling Bits * ***

Our bowling gem goes to Joe Swisher, who, while subbing for Carl Breckenridge last Wednesday night on the Wilson Floors team rolled a 651 series. His series consisted of games of 237,209 and 211. This series is the second highest to be rolled at the Hilltop alleys this year. Leon Hesselenton holds the highest with 658. Nice going, Joe!

Tom Wolfe rolled a "water ball" the other night as he took out the 3-5-7-9 and left the rest standing. How did he do it? Well, believe it or not, he went between the 1-6, taking out the "3 pin" and causing it to knock the "5 pin", which in turn took the "7" with it. In the meantime the ball glanced off the five and in between the 8-10 to get the "9 pin". Some shot, eh what?

Cowboys Monopolize Places On All-City Grid Selections

Undefeated and untied in 10 games this fall, West High School placed players in a lion's share of the positions on mythical all-city teams selected by coaches and sports writers. By virtue of his being coach of the 1947 City League champs, Mack Pemberton was named coach of one such team.

The Cowboys were rated fifth among all high school teams in the state this year, an honor seldom accorded a greater Columbus eleven.

Frank Colley, veteran sports writer for the Columbus Citizen, placed seven West players on a 12-man team named by the coaches themselves. Only Curt Westerman, a guard, was a unanimous choice.

Other Cowboys named by Colley were Jack Thrush and Bill Buckingham, ends, Chuck Weeks, tackle, Jim Slager, quarterback, Walter Hicks, halfback and the city's leading scorer, and Starling Hutt at fullback. Hutt was tied with Bob Logan of Central for that position.

On the second team were Joe Hostetter, tackle, and Fred Thumberg, a guard.

Emerson Davis, State Journal sports scribe, placed five Cowboys on his first string and two on the second squad. Thrush, Westerman and Slager were among five unanimous choices of the Journal sports writers. Other Cowboys rating the first team were Buckingham and Thumberg.

Second team selections included Weeks and Hicks. Honorable mention went to Hutt, Jerry Chinn, halfback, Hostetter, Al Andrews, center, and Wilbur Ehlers, who alternated at the center and fullback spots all season.

Davis named Coach Pemberton to pilot his mythical all-star eleven.

Homecoming Lends Festive Air To Grid Finale At West High School

West High School students and faculty members were working like beavers all day Friday in preparation for the annual homecoming festivities, highlighted by the West-Jackson football game at 2 p. m. George Williams was here, there and everywhere, lining up details for the parade and other pre-game activities. A holiday air prevailed as old grads mingled with students in the annual get-together.

Pat Perry, homecoming queen, and her court put in their appearance in the stadium at exactly 2:30, riding in shiny new automobiles and escorted by the West High Band, the Junior High Band, the Jackson Band and seven horses and riders.

Both teams had their warm-up sessions early and returned to the dressing rooms. An impressive pre-game sight was the mass formation of the three bands in a huge "USA" across the gridiron as the flag was raised. The Jackson band director led in the playing of "The Star Spangled Banner."

Paul Theisen, second team quarterback, was not in uniform, having suffered an ankle injury in the last practice of the season.

The Jackson team won the toss and elected to receive, West defending the North goal.

Visiting Band Entertains

At the half time the Jackson Band was first on the field. Forming a large "W" while playing "Home On The Range," Bundasmen then went into a bell-shaped formation with a moving clapper as they played "Bells Of St. Mary's." Next came a large revolving "J" as they played the school song. This was followed by one of the most colorful stunts of the year. The band formed large pipe. Wending their way through the stem of the pipe and emerging from the bowl were the drum major, majorettes and twirlers, carrying a colorful assortment of balloons. While the band played "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles" the balloons were released one at a time. A strong wind coming almost directly out of the east picked up the balloons and wafted them away over the stadium and into the west.

The West musicians then took the field, doing their familiar "Hi Neighbor" number, followed by a repeat performance of the locomotive with wheels turning while they played "The Little Red Caboose." Junior bandsmen made up the revolving wheels while smoke poured from the smokestack. Next a large boot was formed as the band struck up "I've Got Spurs." Then came a large "MAC" honoring Coach Mack Pemberton, as they played "He's a Jolly Good Fellow." To the tune of "A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody," the bandsmen then formed "PAT" in honor of the queen. Then came a large "J" to the tune of "The W and L Swing."

The band next formed the face of a large clock with moving hands. Letters replaced the numerals as the hands went round to the tune of "Auld Lang Syne," spelling out "WELCOME GRADS."

Don Hutchison then took over as master of ceremonies and introduced the homecoming queen, Miss Perry, and members of her court, Teddi Hill, Donna Beck, Jeannine George, Ann Guido and their escorts, Bob Smith, John Langton and Bob Janes.

He then introduced the principal of Jackson High School and Irvin F. Young, principal at West. A bouquet of mums was then presented to Charles Bennett, West band director.

George Hardy, president of the West Alumni Association, bid the old grads welcome and Otto H. Magly, first principal of the school, extended his greetings to the crowd.

No sooner had the final gun sounded, ending the game (West won 52 to 0) than jubilant West players hoisted their principal and coaches to their shoulders and made for the dressing rooms. There they proceeded unceremoniously to give them a cold shower, clothes and all. Principal Young and Coaches Pemberton, Fred Heischman and Dave Randall emerged from the shower rooms minutes later dripping wet but beaming smiles from ear to ear over the conclusion of an unbeaten and untied season, the second in the history of the school.

Pandemonium reigned in the dressing rooms as the champions gave vent to their feelings in bursts of song amid the congratulations of fathers and West grads.

The celebration carried over into the Homecoming Dance in the gym the same evening as former students and their friends packed the dance floor. A former student, "Ziggy" Coyle, and his orchestra, played for the dancing. The coaches and the team members were introduced during an intermission.

Wilbur Ehlers In Utility Role Contributed Much To Championship

One of the unsung heroes of the 1947 West High School championship eleven is Wilbur Ehlers.

Listed on the programs as a fullback, he also served as line backer for Al Andrews, the regular center, when the team was on defense. Actually Wilbur played in more quarters this fall than any other member of the team since he alternated from center to the fullback spot.

A better than average offensive fullback in his own right, Ehlers played an outstanding defensive game all season. He was a member of the starting eleven when West kicked off to the opposing team but because of the last minute switch, his name seldom even got into the published starting lineup.

Coach Mack Pemberton made the remark recently that with a less spectacular fullback than Starling Hutt, Ehlers would have played all year at that spot.

His ability to play both positions almost equally well made him invaluable as a utility man. While Hutt nursed a touchy ankle, Ehlers took his turn at lugging the pigskin. On defensive play, Andrews could catch his breath and know that his position as line backer was being capably filled.

Wilbur just missed getting his varsity letter in 1946 but he has more than earned the numeral and the gold football, symbolizing the championship eleven, this year. It was the type of team spirit demonstrated by all of the boys that made them the champions that they were this year.

Carelessness Is Cause Of Most Hunting Mishaps

One of the most comprehensive reports on causes of hunting accidents has just been released by the Pennsylvania Game Commission covering the 1946 season that deserves some attention of every hunter who plans to go afield in search of game.

Ohio hunters who will pursue the popular rabbit and pheasant beginning at 9 a. m. Saturday, Nov. 29, should heed the warning carried in the report that hunting accidents just don't happen—they are caused—and usually through carelessness. Figures compiled show that out of a total of 386 accidents, 39 were fatal, 15 from self-inflicted wounds and 14 were killed by others. Of the total accidents, 22.1% were self-inflicted and 77.9 by others.

Contrary to popular belief, most accidents, according to this report, were caused by people over 21 years of age since only 23.2% were charged to persons under 21 while 55.8% were caused by those over that age who, because of years of hunting experience consider themselves safe hunters. Shotguns caued 80.1% of the total number of accidents while rifles were responsible for 19.4%.

The open field claimed 31.3% of the locations of accidents and 30.9% occurred in brush.

Marion Harding To Open 1948 Grid Season For Cowboys

Marion Harding will be the first opponent on the West High School 1948 grid schedule, it was announced this week by Coach Mack Pemberton. The game will be played at Marion with Upper Arlington coming to the Hilltop for the first home game.

At present one date, Oct. 22, remains to be filled to complete another 10-game schedule. The final game of the season will be played against Cincinnati Hughes at Cincinnati. City League teams will make up the balance of the games.

The Marion opener replaces Springfield, on the schedule for the past four years. Springfield would have been glad to continue the series but West faculty members and coaches frowned on the guarantee and were not too happy over the poor sportsmanship demonstrated in the game this year. Marion will be played on a home and home basis.

Coach Pemberton will start next year with only three varsity letter men. They are Chuck Weeks, an outstanding tackle this year, and Danny Miles, a plunging back, who has looked good in substitute roles this season, and Paul Theisen, second string quarterback.

Twenty-one of the 23 varsity letters to be given out this year will go to seniors. Each letter man will receive a gold football symbolizing the city championship.

Only Fair Hunting For Ohio Nimrods

"Hunters who took to the fields and woodlands of Ohio Nov. 15 at 9 a. m. found only a fair amount of shooting this year," so stated Conservation Commissioner H. A. Rider today after hearing reports from the seven Conservation District Supervisors meeting in Columbus in a regular monthly meeting to discuss program plans and policy as set by the conservation commission.

Rider told the supervisors, "The hunters of Ohio are undoubtedly tired of hearing the same report just before the opening of the season for the past several years that the wildlife population is dangerously low and that hunters should prepare themselves for empty or very light game bags, but here in Ohio we have no reason whatever to exploit our hunting sports by telling other than the absolute truth about the supply of game estimated in the field. Although Ohio welcomes out-of-state hunters to our fields and woodlands, we certainly do not have the surplus of game to warrant our bidding for out-of-state patronage," he said.

The Ohio season this year has been cut to one of the shortest hunting periods Ohio has experienced due to conservation commission action following recommendations received at the public hearing in June together with a careful review of spring propagation conditions and the game kill survey following the 1946 shooting season. The shorter season is due not only to the lack of an abundance of surplus game but also to the unusual increase in the number of hunters as indicated by increased hunting license sales.

The Religious Census

Churches of the Hilltop have taken an important step forward in conducting the religious census as part of a county-wide movement. The response of the 18 participating churches has been gratifying as evidenced by the fact that on the one Sunday afternoon more than 9,000 calls were made in the community. Other follow up calls are being made on families who were not at home when the census was taken.

The cooperation of almost all families called on was even more gratifying. Only 53 persons contacted refused to answer question posed by the census takers. In by far the majority of calls made the cooperation was 100 percent with a religious preference being given in many unchurched homes.

To realize the ultimate results from this, the first phase of the Church Enlargement program, however, much remains to be done by local pastors and laymen. Every unchurched home discovered in the census should now become the object of careful and prayerful attention of church people. These census cards are being returned to some local church so that every family becomes the responsibility of some church. The door has been opened for a friendly call by pastor or layman in many cases.

The churches of the Hilltop have always been an important factor in the life of the community. This fact is recognized by many unchurched individuals as well as local church members. The churches now have a real opportunity to add to their stature by doing a thorough job of following up this census with an aggressive program of visitation. Many families are new in the community and may not have been invited to visit any church. A friendly call now should result in increased attendance in worship services as well as many additions to local church rolls.

A church that is fulfilling its obligation to the community needs to have an aggressive program of advancement at all times. The opportunity for every local church was never greater than it is today. May the churches of every faith and denomination move forward together to make a better Hilltop.

Looking Ahead For Spiritual Growth

It was quite a treat to be present Wednesday night at Glenwood Methodist Church, where the quarterly conference came right on with prayer meeting. Pot luck supper served at 6:30 p. m. made it convenient for a regular family night, and the conference followed a brief season of prayer.

Reports were made by the secretary and treasurer and the heads of the various committees, whose work showed an unusually fine condition in the handling of all their responsibilities. All current bills save a few recent items had been "paid on the dot," and a balance in their treasuries.

On my return home, I mentioned this to my son-in-law, a member of St. Aloysius Catholic Church on the Hilltop, and he remarked that the Glenwood condition was about the same as all the churches on the West Hill, that quite a few were enlarging and some building new church buildings and all have the cash in the bank to go ahead with their improvements.

Now from my observations and what I hear around Columbus, I am very much inclined to believe that this condition is typical of Columbus in general, but the Hilltop, being well up in the lead, has reason to be grateful for its location and its future prospects. The West Hills are the best hills where one can look over the city and see the sun rise in the early morning, bringing light and warmth to us, and at this time of the year most of the early mornings bring the beautiful tins and changing colors as the leaden colored clouds of the night are by the approach of the sun driven back over the western horizon. There is inspiration enough to make one cheerful the day through.

It is significant that the evident spiritual tone of our good city should be at its best when we are just coming out of the demoralizing effects of a world war. Note, too, that along with that fact is the unusual interest in our health and moral and comfort conditions that seem to be on the way to a higher standard than ever before.

We are fortunate indeed that we have such a fine body of men in our Post War Planning Commission in both city and county, and we will all do well to watch from time to time the great works they are planning and getting under way. Watch and see how they will coordinate the good works of city, county, state and federal government in complete cooperation for control of flood waters so that we will no longer suffer great loss by floods nor will we have serious drouths at any season of the year. Then, too, we will see the same sort of coordinated cooperation in the improvement in sanitation with the result that every part of the city and county will be so well sewered that our streams and our rivers will be fit to bathe in, and the health of the entire county will be protected as it never has been heretofore.

The youth of our schools should become well versed in the public works of our city, county, state and nation, and there should be a way provided for them to make tours of inspection under the guidance of persons who are well qualified to advise them about the history, the operation and the benefit of those works. As the student body from time to time advances in learning to the upper grades and colleges they should acquire considerable technical and practical knowledge concerning the operation of the administrative sections of our city, county, state and nation. When this is done in a proper way it ought to impress all that the form of our government can scarcely be equalled, let alone improved upon.

Great works in engineering, agriculture, the sciences and in music and literature are going on constantly all about us, and are scarcely noticed by the rank and file of our citizens. And yet there is more interest being shown in all these things than ever before, but this age in which we are living seems to be dominated by a mania for speed in all walks of life.

It is therefore absolutely necessary that we keep our spiritual life well grounded and see to it that in our material welfare we are not drifted into crass materialism for that drags us down to bestiality and oblivion. This is one privilege handed down to us by those who builded well and have passed on, and with it comes the duty that we carry on the work in appreciation of our heritage that they who follow us have all that we can leave them in the way of improvements.

The Hilltop Record:

Such a surprise I received in reading the Record that the "Flowers of the Week" were to come to me for the West Division reaching its quota in the Community Chest. A beautiful bouquet did come from the Rosebud Floral Co. last evening.

I wish all the workers in the West Division could share in these lovely flowers for they all did a grand job. I am sure each one feels it was well worth their effort in helping to reach the goal. Again thanking you and also Paul Wichterman for his fine cooperation.

Sincerely,

Gypsy Horse Traders

Readers of this column (if any) who hail from the rural areas of this or neighboring states may recall the annual visit of the Gypsies with their string of trading stock back in years gone by.

I can barely remember as a kid the visit of the wandering horse traders and the stir they always caused in the community, to say nothing of the frequent decline of stock from nearby poultry houses. They usually traveled in a group of 15 or 20 humans and a smaller number of horses — a motley crew as they traveled along the bumpy country roads.

Our part of the country always had two or three horse traders who thought themselves pretty sharp but they usually came out second best to the Gypsies. A fairly sleek looking animal that would be taken in trade one day would look anything but a blue ribbon winner a few days later. They usually showed up some major defect about the first time they were put in the harness and sooner or later became a candidate for the glue factory.

The coming of good roads changed the habits of these wanderers. The last Gypsies to visit in Monroe County to my recollection came in large (albeit not new) touring cars. I often wondered if they ever became as proficient in the art of swapping tin lizzies as they were with horse flesh.

Signs of Winter

The approach of Thanksgiving brings many pleasant things. Now that Soapman Luckman (the Leghorns' friend) has changed his mind, we can all eat poultry on Thursdays, including turkey on Thanksgiving, if you can afford the turkey. It's the time of year when you start being extra friendly again with your rural acquaintances in hope that they will send in a mess of fresh sausage or spare ribs. It's the time, too, when Grandma starts making up batches of mince pies for the Sunday dinner. Yes, Thanksgiving is a wonderful time of year.

Not Funny For George

George Williams, basketball coach at West High School, watched one of his star cage performers get an injury on the football practice field last week and never batted an eye. You see he thought it was all a joke. But to his dismay he found out later that it was the real thing.

George had overheard some of the football coaches plotting among themselves to have Jack Thrush, the city's leading cage star last year, fake an injury in the Jackson game and be carried off the field just to see how fast the basketball mentor could come down out of the stadium. (George controls the clock and scoreboard for the football games at Magly Field.)

So George had gone out to watch the grid practice Wednesday afternoon. He was sitting in the stadium and saw Paul Theisen, junior basketball star, let out a howl when he tore some of the ligaments in his ankle.

"They've changed their plans and are faking an injury on Theisen," George thought as he looked on calmly. "I won't fall into their trap that lightly."

Coaches and managers gathered around the injured player and presently carried him from the field to the dressing room. Word was sent to the basketball coach that one of his stars was seriously hurt. George paid no attention. Mack Pemberton, head football coach, came over and tried to convince him that the injury was genuine. Still George was not convinced.

Minutes later he watched Dr. C. O. Cramer examine the injured ankle. "No basketball for at least three or four weeks," was the verdict. It wasn't until then that Williams realized it wasn't a prank.

Basketball practice started Saturday.

Modern Poetry

By Esther Weakley

OUT OF PLENTY

Let us be thankful. Let us not deplore
The lack of some small substance from our store.
Of all the peoples sitting down to eat
We are the ones who still are most replete.
And yet the very ones who have the least
Thank God for their poor fare as for a feast.
For they have learned by whip and scourge and flail
The inner meaning of the Holy Grail,
Have found the truth of all—integrity—
That bounty of God-given things is free:
The air to breathe, the fertile land to till,
Water to drink—and life are with them still.
Can we, from out of plenty, be no less
Grateful for our much greater happiness?
As with the resolution of our race,
We humbly kneel, give thanks and ask for grace.

Dorothy Quick,

NOW FAITH

Faith is the shining, gossamer fabric
Woven by Hope on God's own loom;
Faith is the evidence, clear and singing,
Wintry earth will burgeon and bloom.

Work and prayer are a magic leaven,
Lift your heart as you turn the sod;
Sow in faith and reap the harvest,
Increase lies in the hand of God.

GOURD VINE

In the shadow of this vine
Loveliness and use combine.
Here are bloom and shade, and here
Hangs a row of household gear.
Dippers that will later bring
Cold iron water from a spring.
Here grow houses just the size
For a brown wren's lullabies.
With such offerings as these
Gourd vines are necessities.

Beneath a pokeweed full of ripened fruit
You hold your measured pace and gaze about.
Bright pigment is at hand, a ginseng root;
Scarce anything is absent save the shout

Of Shawnees or Ojibways to create
Again an ancient colorful estate
Of savage dance and war. Can it be pride
In totem ancestors that slows your stride?

Stop Unnecessary Fires, Chief Urges

With the advent of the 40-hour week for city firefighters and the necessity of closing several of the engine houses, Chief Brophy of the Fire Prevention Bureau today issued the following warning.

The people of Columbus must become "fire conscious" and help stop unnecessary fire runs by eliminating those conditions in their homes that may cause fire or add to the spread of fire. About 75 per cent of our fires occur in the homes and the majority of these fires are caused by carelessness. Chief Brophy asked that the public check their homes for fire hazards, and take the following precautionary measures;

Remove all accumulations of rubbish.

Keep ashes in metal containers with tight fitting metal lids.

Make certain that the electric fuse box contains only 15 ampere, underwriter approved, fuses.

Have your heating plant cleaned and checked to make sure that it is in good condition. Remove the clean out cap in the chimney flue and remove the soot at least once every month during the winter season. Check the smoke pipe to see that it fits snugly and that rust has not eaten through the pipe. Make sure that the chimney itself has not developed a crack that will allow the hot sparks to drop out. Pay special attention to the chimney at the point where it passes through the attic.

Don't run extension cords under rugs or hang them on nails or metal pipes.

Keep matches out of the reach of children.

Don't use a match or any open flame to look in dark places. Keep a flashlight handy.

Never look for a suspected gas leak with an open flame. You might find it.

Don't use an open flame to thaw out frozen water pipes.

Don't allow inflammable liquids to be brought into the home.

Learn the location of the fire alarm box nearest your home and read the directions on the box showing how to operate it. Wait at the box until the firemen arrive and then direct them to the fire.

Post the fire department telephone number, MA. 3132, near your telephone. If you do have a fire, get the fire department on the way before you attempt to extinguish the fire yourself.

No Wonder He Was Cold

A grave digger, absorbed in his thoughts, dug the grave so deep he couldn't get out.

Came nightfall and the evening chill, his predicament became more and more uncomfortable. He shouted for help and at last attracted the attention of a drunk.

Grave Digger (shouting) — Get me out of here. I'm cold.

The drunk looked into the grave, and finally distinguished the form of the uncomfortable grave digger:

Drunk—No wonder you're cold. You haven't dirt over you.

Parents Group Seeks 600 Members

The Hilltop Parents' Association is working hard to meet its quota of 600 members by Nov. 20, at 8 p. m. A large number of volunteer workers are calling from door to door to get memberships. Thus far the response has been fine and it is the belief of the membership chairman, Rev. M. E. Nelson, that every person approached will be happy to give to this community project. Others who are not contacted by one of the workers are asked to call the chairman at RA. 7533 and he will be glad to accept such memberships.

Come—Bring A Friend

Teen Talk

By Virginia Jones

"Don't shoot! Please don't shoot!" Where did I overhear these remarks? You guessed it—Nov. 15, at the Canteen. Every girl got her man, and the boys are now going to stay away from yellow balloons.

Marilyn Bonnet was in charge of the games, which really kept everyone busy or at least it kept boys busy trying to stay away from the girls.

Janie Pior looked stunning. She was decked out with plaids, checks, and poke-a-dots, also some beautiful colored socks.

Ask Mel Griggs to show you the trick with the coin. It thrills some people and chills others. For the person with experience and one who knows, ask Vancil Johnston how it feels.

For Ruth Platt Armistice Day was a double celebration. It happened she also had a 17th birthday.

Jerry Jewel looked like a rag picker, and I really wonder where he ever got such beat up clothes.

Lyle Huffman seemed pleased with the doings of the evening. That shotgun wedding to Norma Canter may have helped things greatly.

Don Woodland and Ann Herbert came in overalls and red sweaters. They must have planned it ahead of time, and we must admit they really looked fine together.

The girls making sandwiches wondered what they were going to do with all of them. They found the kids can eat more than you think.

Thanks go to Joe Peters for playing records most of the evening for the dancing.

Marilyn Grier was all smiles and we're trying to find out why.

Marryin' Sam did a fine job and was he kept busy! He made quite a bit of money too. Those rings he was selling looked beautiful on the girls' fingers.

Pat Horn was selected Daisy Mae and her partner for the evening, Johnny Fauth, was selected L'il Abner. They really looked quite at ease in the portrayal of those characters.

Now you see what you missed if you didn't take part in the Sadie Hawkins Day Party.

The plans for next week at the Canteen are: Tuesday, a board meeting: Wednesday, Scout meeting and dancing lessons. The rest of the week the Canteen is open evenings with such things as pool, ping-pong, dancing, photography and library for the entertainment of members.

Township Teachers Hold Dinner Meet

The Franklin Township Teachers' Association held its annual banquet at the Hilltonia Evangelical United Brethren Church Thursday night with 47 teachers and guests present.

County Superintendent George Beery and E. R. Beck, assistant county superintendent, were present and talked briefly to the group. Robert Jahn and Mr. Wells of the township board were among the guests. The group included 30 teachers.

Included on the program of entertainment were two vocal solos by Elzie Radcliffe, principal of Wilson School; a piano selection by Mrs. Helen Fields, township music instructor, and accordion numbers by Keith Miller.

D. H. Blake is the president of the association.

Teacher Is Added At Wilson School

One teacher has been added and 18 children transported from Walton to the Wilson School in an effort to eliminate the overcrowded condition in both Franklin Township schools.

Mrs. Lucille Snyder took over the fourth grade at Wilson School last week. A new class room is being used in the school auditorium. The floor of the basement room has been covered with asphalt tile and a moveable partition will divide the auditorium into two sections.

Pupils brought from the Walton School are fourth and fifth graders. The new arrangement now provides a teacher for each of the eight grades being taught at Wilson.

Cowboy Capers

By Edith Wilkins and Jean Wilkins

Once again football season is past history. With the closing of the season we want to thank each boy on the team for the fine play which they exhibited. We want to bid farewell to the seniors who won't be with the team next year. They are JIM SLAGER, JACK THRUSH, WALTER HICKS, STARLING HUTT, BILL BUCKINGHAM, BOB HORCH, ROBIN SCHMIDT, NOONIE BOOTH, BOB SMITH, JOHN YOUNG, CARL NAUMOFF, JERRY CHINN, WILUR EHLER, CURT WESTERMAN, FREDDIE THUMBERG, JOE HOSTETTER, DICK HERSHBERGER, TOM GREENE, AL ANDREWS.

"It's been two years and it seems awful long—we've all been writing for this," says "SLOUP-HOUSE" NAUMOFF, a member of the team.

Having fun at the game we find "LOUISE" WEAVER, MARY ALYCE EDWARDS, and LOIS BOWER trying to keep themselves warm under one little blanket. The only trouble was they didn't all stand up to cheer at the same time. Better luck, girls.

NANCY GILL couldn't figure out how she was going to eat her candy apple at the game. She didn't want to take her mittens off and freeze her hands and neither did she want the job of having to wash her mittens.

At the sixth period dance Monday we find those two "pro's", NANCY MERRICK and GORDON WELKER dancing. We hope the fall didn't hurt too much, Nancy.

We find people not only dancing but finding time to read their Newsweek. JOHN GLASS was so absorbed in his reading that he forgot all about what was going on about him.

Was there a basketball game in P. O. D. the fourth period Monday? No, it was JOHN LANGTON throwing his long chewed gum away. But it sure made a racket when he hit the basket.

PAT HOLYCROSS won't tell us why she likes to collect the absent slips from the third floor but we can guess.

MARCELLA TAYLOR seems very anxious for the Christmas parade. We think she wants to see Santa Claus.

The 12A class party is being held tonight at 8:30. Everyone is assured of having a fine time, so let's see all the seniors there.

Senior Scouts To Have Conference Here On Saturday

Plans have been completed for the Senior Scout Conference to be held at Columbus, sponsored by the Senior Scout planning board. The conference has been set for Nov. 22, 9:30 to 4:30, at the St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

The Senior Scouts of Columbus, Franklin County and central Ohio are invited to attend. The invitation is also extended to girls of Columbus who are in the eighth grade. The main speakers of the morning are Dr. F. Faust, who will talk on "You and the United Nations," and Charlotte Meredith, representative to the international encampment at Camp Barrec.

The chairmen are as follows: Donna Worthen, general program; Janis Powell, hospitality chairman; Dorothy Rigney, decoration; Marilyn Kropp, luncheon chairman; Micky McCullough, publicity. Kay Kauffman and Helen Lowery are advising the activities of the day.

House wrens feed their young as often as 1,200 times a day. One naturalist reports he found a pair of house wrens already at work at 4 o'clock in the morning, and that they were still going strong at 8 o'clock that night—averaging 30 trips with food for their young every hour.

News of Rome

By Mrs. E. C. Sheets

Mrs. Frank Calland, Pasadena-av, entertained Sunday with a birthday dinner for her mother, Mrs. C. W. Barrell, 83 N. Burgess-av, and a few of her friends.

The Rome Study Club met at the home of Mrs. J. L. Coulter Monday night. After the regular business session the meeting was turned over to the program committee. The speaker of the evening was Mrs. Draper of Upper Arlington. To use her words, she talked with her hand, giving a "chalk-talk." Mrs. James Whalen and Mrs. Marshall Hall sang the songs, "The Ninety and Nine" and "That Lost Sheep," with Mrs. W. G. Lamb at the piano. The chalk board was only the horizon as far as the picture was concerned When the song was finished Mrs Draper had also finished the picture, which was made more beautiful by colored lights. Refreshments were served by assisting hostesses, Mrs. Coulter, Mrs. Warner, Mrs. Breckenridge and Mrs. Howell. Mrs. English, who is now living in her new home on Pasadena-av, and Mary Laird of Dayton, and sister of Mrs. I. A. Thompson were guests at this meeting.

Reva Nichols and Irene Breckler of W. Broad-st are the two representatives of this community on the Lazarus high school sewing board. They had the first style show and demonstration of their ability last Monday night on Lazarus' fifth floor. Twenty-one high schools are represented in this class. The class was under a new leader, as Kay Allen is now in New York. Reva Nichols represented Hilliards High and Irene Breckler, Holy Family.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Ely (Martha Admas, formerly of 93 Ogden-av), now of 4805 Drexel-blvd, Chicago, Ill., announce the birth of a baby daughter Nov. 9 at Wesley Memorial Hospital.

A progressive supper was enjoyed by the 35 members of Harold Hart's class Thursday evening. The several hostesses to the young folks were Mrs. Garretson Maple-dr; Mrs. Heinzman, W. Broad-st; Mrs. George Terry, Maple-dr; Mrs. Joe Stormon, Pasadena-av, and then to the home of Rev. and Mrs. Elwood Rose, where a very enjoyable evening was spent.

Rev. T. M. Patterson and daughter, Mary, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Porter in Bexley Sunday afternoon. Both families lived in Crestline several years ago and are now located in this locality.

Mrs. Henry Warner and Mrs. M. A. Howell, Pasadena-av, were hostesses to four members of the company of 250 musicians who were brought here by the convention of the National Grange. These musicians, called the Good Road Musical, are from all over the world and were on the program of the Moral Re-armament number, in which Rev. Mrs. Carolton Curry was very much interested. The Currys were formerly at the Columbia Heights Church, and their children, Bruce and Carol, are among the members of the musical. The two young men who were at the Howell home were from Ottawa, Canada, and the two young ladies who were at the Warner home were from California.

Mrs. R. G. Barnecut of Maple-dr entertained Mrs. Jesse Woolard and Mary McKenna of Avondale-av, with a supper Friday night. Sunday night Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jones and son, Bobby, of Canal Winchester, had supper with the Barnecuts.

The first reunion of the Hilliards High School Class of '35 was held at the home of Mrs. Charles Spindler, Clintonville. There were 10 members of this class with their respective families, which made quite a party. Such a good time was had that it was decided to make the reunion an annual affair.

Jack Johnson and family, formerly of Rome, now of Cleveland, were guests at the home of his sister, Mrs. Floyd Armstrong, Lennox-av, during the recent death of his uncle, Purl Johnson, who lived in this community for several years. He was the brother of L. W. Johnson, Lawrence-av.

Don't forget the annual firemen's ball to be held in the community hall, Galloway, tonight.

Work on the Prairie Township fire station was at a standstill for several weeks because of a shortage of steel. The material has arrived and the girders are being placed for the roof.

Approximately 75 football enthusiasts from this community attended the Cleveland Browns game Sunday. The entire football team from Hilliards, several teachers and a few others from Hilliards were in the group who went up in two chartered busses. They all report a wonderful time.

The Men's Forum supper was heartily enjoyed Saturday night by about 40 men. It was held in the basement of the Columbia Heights Church. Senator Walcut was the speaker of the evening.

Mrs. Edward Busby (Betty Miller, who lived several months with Mrs. E. C. Sheets) and young son, Ronald Dean, of Rhodes Place, Columbus, spent Sunday afternoon at the Sheets home.

MEET "MISS INSPIRATION" — Of America!

IN AMERICA, 75,000 BABIES LIVE this year, because of the quality of American medical service—who would have died under one year of age, had they been born twenty years ago.

In the United States, 3,000,000 babies were born in 1945, about 3,500,000 in 1944, and probably the same number in 1945. Therefore, there are some 10,000,000 "under threes" constantly inspiring greater effort by all forces of Medical science.

It is highly important to the strength of America, to keep inspiration for achievement high in every family.

It is also of prime importance to the health of our nation, to keep every Doctor, every pharmacist, every medical scientist, every nurse and technician keyed to greater achievement in saving lives. Keep all health forces "inspired" and unregimented.

Remember, too, that your full cooperation is necessary. See your Doctor regularly, and follow instructions.

Planes Without Engines Provide Pleasant Pastime For Glider Enthusiasts Here

By Bob Weiner

Although the emphasis in today's airplane construction seems to be on rocket ships, jet propelled airplanes and huge flying boats, there is still a group of enthusiasts who prefer to fly in motorless planes. They are the adherents of gliding and soaring, a phase of aviation that has not passed away with the development of power aircraft.

At the Sullivant Avenue Airport is to be found the only commercial glider center in central Ohio. It is run by the Jones Flying Service, Inc., operators of the field. Al Pindell, holder of a commercial glider rating, is in charge of glider operations.

Here prospective students may learn to fly motorless planes and receive private or commercial certificates, or holders of glider ratings already may rent soaring craft for their own pleasures.

Instruction in flying gliders at the airport has been given since the summer of 1945. At present the Jones Flying Service owns two gliders, a two place Schweizer SGU2-23, and a one place Cessna SGU-119.

You don't need a power plane pilot's license to get a glider rating. The requirements for a private glider rating include a written examination of the Civil Air Regulations and 100 gliding flights or 10 hours of gliding flights including at least 50 flights. A flight test must also be passed before an examiner of the Civil Aeronautics Authority.

For a commercial glider pilot rating the applicant must have completed 250 gliding flights, or 25 hours of flight time including at least 125 glider flights.

Pindell In Charge Of Training

Pindell has been actively in charge of glider instruction at the field since last spring. He has logged 250 flights and 12 hours aloft and holds a commercial rating. He also has a private license on a power aircraft, having logged 150 hours of flying time.

At present Pendell has four regular glider students at the airport. Altogether there are about 25 pilots with glider ratings who use the facilities at the field regularly and a number of others who fly only occasionally.

Glider operations usually slow down when cold weather comes but Pindell says he doesn't see any reason why they should. The owners of small planes based at the airport keep flying all year round despite the cold winter weather and Pindell thinks the wintry air can provide some good flying weather for the soaring craft as well.

Although most people probably don't realize it, there is a difference between soaring and gliding. Gliding is the art of flying a motorless plane in a steady downward flight or glide. Soaring, an advanced form of gliding, is the utilization of the wind, heat currents, thermals and any energy of the atmosphere to prolong the glider's flight and gain altitude above the starting point.

There are three common methods used to get gliders into the air. The simplest method is the use of a tow rope attached at one end to a hook in the nose of the glider and to the rear of an automobile or truck at the other end. The vehicle then starts a long, straight run, constantly gaining speed, until the glider pilot cuts loose the tow rope.

Another method is quite similar to this but involves use of a fixed stake in the ground and a fixed pulley on the vehicle. It is known as the auto pulley tow and is the method used most at the Sullivant Avenue Airport. The tow rope is attached to the glider at one end. It then passes through the fixed pulley on the side of the tow ground anchors to a fixed stake and the tow car moves forward the tow rope slips through the pulley and the glider is moved forward rapidly. This method permits the tow car to launch the glider while traveling at speed of about 30 m. p. h. because of the increased mechanical advantage of the pulley.

Plane Tow

The other method of getting a glider aloft is by the use of an airplane for the tow. The airplane pulls the glider aloft from a stopped position on the ground. The glider pilot then will release the tow rope only when he reaches the desired altitude from which to begin his motorless flight.

The length of any glider flight depends on the atmospheric condition prevailing on that day. The more "thermals" or rising wind currents that are present, the easier it will be to stay aloft. The best days for gliding are those when there is a clear blue sky about one-third covered with fleecy cumulous clouds. But sometimes an overcast sky can provide good conditions for gliding, too.

About 35 m. p. h. is the most efficient speed to maintain in gliders. Any increase in speed will result in the plane descending into a glide and a decrease will make the plane float down in a vertical movement while the nose remains level. This is sometimes desired when landing.

One of the devices that gliders have that most power planes don't have is a "spoiler" on each wing. This is a flap on top of the wing which "spoils" the lift of the wing. It is frequently used when coming over the field to land. If the plane is at too high an altitude for the landing the spoiler brake is applied and the spoilers raise up on each wing. The result is a faster descent in a vertical and not in a horizontal direction and prevents overshooting the field. Without spoilers, descent could only be controlled by use of the elevators. Use of these to descend at a steeper angle results in increasing the airspeed. This is not always desired when landing unless there is plenty of runway ahead of the point where the wheel and skid will touch the ground.

Over Six Hours Aloft

About the longest flight thus aloft ever recorded from the Sullivant Avenue Airport occured last July 3, when Paul W. Souder, service manager at the airport and a long time glider pilot, remained aloft over Columbus for six hours and 19 minutes. At one time he was 7,200 feet above the Lincoln-LeVeque tower. Souder made this flight in the single place Cessna 120 he holds the local record for a cross country flight to Patterson Field, near Dayton, which he made last summer.

The center of glider flying in the United States is at Elmira, N. Y. Here is held each year the National Glider Contest, which brings together the best gliders and glider pilots from all over the country. It is also headquarters for the Soaring Society of America, a non-profit organization formed to advance gliding and soaring. The Society issues a series of gliding and soaring pins and certificates to any applicant who can comply with the requirements. These awards are given for making glider flights for certain specified distances, length of times aloft, and altitudes. They are much desired awards among glider enthusiests.

On Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 30, Souder and Pinell plan to be at a Snowbird meet which the Society is sponsoring at Elmira but plans for their entry in the glider competition are still indefinite.

"Unfinished Dance" Opens Here Sunday

M-G-M takes you behind the scenes of the ballet in "The Unfinished Dance," gripping story of a little ballerina who worships the star of her company and whose hatred for a rival dancing queen is so intense that she brings about a near-tragedy. Filmed in technicolor, with spectacular dancing scenes, and with little Margaret O'Brien in her most arresting role, "The Unfinished Dance" opens Sunday at the Westmont Theater for a three-day run. Co-feature with "The Unfinished Dance" will be "The Arnelo Affair," fast-paced mystery romance starring John Hodiak and Frances Gifford.

"Mr. Swigys — er, ah, that is, can—er I—will you—?"

"Why, yes, my boy; you may have her."

"How's that? Have whom?"

"My daughter, o' course. You want to marry her, don't you?"

"No, sir; I just wanted to find out if you would endorse my note for $100."

"Certainly not. Why, I hardly know you."

Heads Seal Sale

The appointment of Irwin A. Johnson, director of public relations for Radio Station WBNS, as chairman of the 1947 Christmas Seal Sale, was announced this week by Mrs. George T. Johnson president of the Columbus Tuberculosis Society.

The society has set a goal of $50,000 for this year's sale, according to Mrs. Johnson.

"The funds are needed to carry forward the mass X-ray survey through which thousands of Franklin County residents are X-rayed free, to pay for the health education work of the society, to supplement the rehabilitation program of the tuberculosis hospital, to assist in maintaining the free tuberculosis clinic at 503 Oak-st, and to demonstrate needed services which are not being otherwise provided," Mrs. Johnson said.

The Seal Sale will open Nov. 24 and continue until Christmas.

58% GM Workers Enter Contest

General Motors announced this week that 174,854 GM men and women had written letters to the company about why they like their jobs, among them being thousands who also made suggestions regarding their jobs.

The letters were written as part of an employe-contest, "My Job and Why I Like It." The contest started Sept. 15 and ended Oct. 31. Judging will continue throughout November and winners will be announced early in December.

Total entries were more than 58 per cent of the 297,000 GM employes in the United States who were eligible.

In Columbus 1,372 employes of the Fisher Body-Ternstedt Division of GM entered the contest.

More than 5,000 prizes, all GM products, will go to the winners. They include a Cadillac convertible as the grand prize, three Buicks, six Oldsmobiles, 10 Pontiacs and 20 Chevrolets, as well as 65 refrigerators, 65 electric ranges, 50 automatic washers, 50 electric ironers, 25 home freezers and hundreds of others.

As soon as the 40 top winners have been determined by the impartial board of judges, they will be invited to Detroit as guests of C. E. Wilson, General Motors president. They will visit points of interest in the motor city and be feted at a banquet in the Statler Hotel, during which the grand prize winner will be named and each of the other 39 will learn which kind of automobile he has won.

100% Enrollment In Red Cross Is Goal Of Columbus School System

"One hundred per cent enrollment for service in the American Junior Red Cross is the goal set for the schools of the Franklin County Chapter," George E. Roudebush, Junior Red Cross chairman, announced this week. "From Nov. 15 to 30, schools in the area will be campaigning for membership. This will give boys and girls an opportunity to pledge themselves to aid in meeting the needs of their community, their country, and the children of other nations."

Fifty-two thousand children in public, private and parochial schools in Franklin County enrolled in the Junior Red Cross last year. Their motto, "Service for Others," is being fully met by students in elementary and secondary schools.

Education rehabilitation last year included shipment of thousands of textbooks to the Philippine Junior Red Cross. Their program also includes providing special printing equipment for rapid and inexpensive reproduction of educational literature for the schools of Czechoslovakia, Greece and Italy. Already a complete unit has been sent to Norway.

The American Junior Red Cross continues to serve in military and civilian hospitals, providing entertainment programs, holiday favors, articles of clothing and furniture, and art made in their school classes.

Locally, members of the Junior Red Cross in the elementary schools are packing 1500 gift boxes with health and educational items for children overseas. Also albums depicting their American School life are being made to exchange with children in foreign countries, which are followed by writing letters to these children. Many letters of thanks are being received in return for the gift boxes and albums. Holiday decorations are now being made for the veterans at the Chillicothe hospital.

"Sunshine" magazine tells the automobile driver: "At 45 miles per hour, sing 'Highways are Happy Ways'; at 55 miles, 'I'm But a Stranger Here, Heaven Is My Home'; at 65 miles, 'Nearer, My God, to Thee', and at 75 miles, 'When the Roll Is Called Up Yonder, I'll Be There'."

A Lovely October Wedding Scene

Vases of white chrysanthemums against a background of greenery were the theme for the Oct. 19 wedding of Miss Phyllis Anne Dean to Mr. Frederick G. Rucker. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Dean, 2499 Steele-av, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Rucker, 110 Whitethorne-av. Rev. Joseph B. Shellhaas officiated at the 4:30 o'clock double ring ceremony in Glenwood Methodist Church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white slipper satin gown, styled with a sweetheart neckline, long sleeves ending in points over the hands, and a fitted bodice featuring satin buttons down the back. The full skirt ended in a cathedral train and her fingertip veil was held in place by a seed pearl tiara. She carried a bouquet of orchids and white baby mums. Her only jewelry was a rhinestone necklace, a gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Douglas Myers, sister of the bridegrcom and matron of honor, wore a gown of rose satin and carried red roses with white baby mums. Miss Jo Anne Hane, as maid of honor, chose gold satin, with an arm bouquet of red roses and white baby mums. The bridesmaids, Miss Barbara Bing and Miss Audrey Brink, wore gowns of aqua satin and carried pink roses and white mums. All the attendants wore rhinestone necklaces, a gift of the bride.

Mr. Douglas Myers was best man for Mr. Rucker and seating the guests were Mr. Gene Jewell, Mr. Dave Ely and Mr. Ray Patridge.

A reception for 200 was held at the church immediately following the ceremony. Mrs. Dean received her guests in a brown crepe dress and wore a corsage of bronze baby orchids. Mrs. Rucker chose black crepe with white accessories and a white rosebud corsage.

The new Mrs. Rucker changed to a mink brown suit with brown accessories and pinned an orchid corsage at her shoulder before leaving for their trip through the Smokies.

No Hurry Here

Two stories have come to our attention this week illustrating the deplorable condition of the police department these days.

A Binns-blvd lady noticed a drunk in her garage recently and called the police. She was told they couldn't come right then but to keep the man there and should he leave she should call the department again. He left and she heard nothing more from the police.

Another family reports a prowler late at night who tried their door. Police department told them the cruiser was in another part of town and couldn't come just then, and they would get to the case as soon as they could.

So if you have prowlers or need the police for some other reason, just don't be impatient. Your turn will come.

Phone Co. To Add 1200 Terminals

The Ohio Bell Telephone Co. plans to install 1200 new terminals in the JOrdan exchange next February, Homer E. Smart, the company's district commercial manager, said today.

At present the RAndolph exchange is handling 2300 telephones and the JOrdan exchange about 1100, Mr. Smart said. The new facilities will be added to take care of the expected increase in the number of telephones in the near future. At present the terminal equipment in the exchange office is adequate for present needs, Mr. Smart said.

The RAndolph exchange is now handling as many telephones as it can and any new phones on the Hilltop will be added to the JOrdan exchange. No new additions to the building at W. Broad-st and Ogden-av., which houses both exchanges, are contemplated. The building has ample room for several thousand more terminals, Mr. Smart said.

The tremendous increase in demand for telephone service has resulted in the largest expansion and improvement program in the history of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., according to Mr. Smart.

This program has resulted in spending 75 million dollars throughout the state since August, 1945, and more than 60 million will be expended during the coming year. Mr. Smart said that the company now has nearly 300 million dollars of telephone plant devoted solely to serving the needs of its customers throughout the state.

Columbus is receiving its share in this big expansion program, according to Manager Smart.

The company has spent more than a million dollars on expansion and improvement in Columbus so far this year and a program totaling nearly two million is scheduled for the coming year, making a total of three million dollars for the two-year period.

Cantata To Open Christmas Season At West High

By Ruth Paul

The West High music department, under the direction of Mrs Colleen Welde will open the Christmas season Thursday evening, Dec. 11, with the presentation of the cantata "Childe Jesus," by Joseph Clokey, and Kirk and Fred Waring's choral arrangement of "The Night Before Christmas."

The program has been planned to present Christmas music in a new and original form. The cantata will open the program with a cathedral scene, a large rose window, altar and choir loft, accented by white tapers and robes. This number has many familiar carols which tell of the promise, annunciation and adoration of the Childe Jesus. The organ music will be provided through the courtesy of Summers & Sons. Charles W. Bennett, West High music advisor, will be at the console.

Waring's "Night Before Christmas" will be preceded by a scene, with grandfather telling the children, gathered about the fireplace, the story of Santa Claus and his reindeer.

Soon a group of carolers will be heard singing "White Christmas," "Carol of the Bells," "Lullaby on Christmas Eve," "Christmas Lullaby" and "Let It Snow." With the arrival of Santa and his deer, the Senior Choir, clad in white night shirts and caps, will present their rendition of "The Night Before Christmas."

The leading roles will be taken by Dick Bowles, Mary Lou Mangold, Jeanette Chackeres, Ruth Paul, Donna Beck, Jim Hill and John Glass.

Admission will be 40c, with tickets going on sale Dec. 5.

Pvt. Linderman Among War Dead Coming Home

Pvt. George O. Linderman will be among 11 Columbus war dead to be returned to the United States this week. The USAT Robert Burns was scheduled to dock in New York Monday or Tuesday.

Members of his family said they had no definite word as to when the remains will arrive in Columbus or just when services would be held.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Hope Harris Linderman, Westerville, Rt. 3, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George D. Linderman, 924 Hart-rd.

Pvt. Linderman entered the Army on Oct. 18, 1942, and went overseas in January 1945. He had been in combat less than three weeks when he was killed. Burial was in Henri Chapelle Cemetery.

COLDER WEATHER AHEAD

The prospects pointed to a cold Thanksgiving holiday this week as rain was expected to turn to snow Monday night or Tuesday.

Cowboy Eleven Gets Coveted Harley Trophy

The saying "To the victor belongs the spoils" holds true in athletics as well as military combat.

The "spoils" in this case is the Harley Trophy, symbolizing the city gridiron championship for 1947. The coveted trophy came back to West High School last week as a result of the undefeated and untied record for the Cowboy eleven.

Local Pastor To Address Hilltop Kiwanis

Rev. Ashburn

Rev. Jacob Ashburn, dean of the Hilltop pastors, will bring a special Thanksgiving message to the members of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club at their luncheon meeting to be held at Schmelzer's Restaurant, 3178 W. Broad-st, tomorrow. The meeting has been moved up to Wednesday because of the holiday on Thursday.

Rev. Ashburn has selected as his subject, "Remembering God's Benefits." He has been pastor of the Oakley Avenue Baptist Church for the past 30 years.

At last Thursday's meeting Harry Spyker, executive secretary of the Central YMCA, discussed some of the objectives of the "Y" program and explained the status of the branch "Y" now being planned for the Hilltop.

"The YMCA cuts across all lines of social and racial differences," the speaker told Kiwanians. "Its responsibility is to the church, the home, the school and all community agencies that help build a better place to live."

Mr. Spyker pointed out that the formation of the Hilltop branch was the beginning of the fulfillment of plans he has had in mind for a long time. That plan is to extend the influence of the YMCA into more areas of city life so that it can reach out and serve more people.

Explaining the status of the proposed Hilltop Branch "Y", the official said that the proposal had been approved by the Metropolitan YMCA Board and had been discussed with members of the Council of Social Agencies. Official action of that board is needed before the matter can be referred to the Community Chest for budgetary consideration.

Payroll Tax Plan To Face Referendum Vote; Labor Groups Spearhead Drive

If and when the proposed ordinance creating a city income tax is finally adopted by City Council, it appeared certain this week that at least one group would force the measure to a referendum vote of the electorate.

Organized opposition to the measure was disclosed several days ago when William Spratley, 106 N. Ogden-av, president of the Franklin County Industrial Union Council (CIO), announced that Attorney David Clayman had been retained for "future action in the event the City Council goes through with its payroll tax program."

Meanwhile, Paul J. McCarthy, Sr., president of the Columbus Federation of Labor, reiterated the AFL's 18-month-old stand against a pay roll income tax. That organization, however, is waiting upon final passage of the measure before taking further action, Mr. McCarthy said.

If either of these labor groups should decide to force a referendum on the new tax measure they would have to go through the following procedure:

Petition Required

Secure a petition, within 30 days of the final passage of the ordinance, that has been signed by not less than five per cent of the total vote cast at the last general municipal election. This petition must be filed with the city clerk.

Under the terms of the city charter, City Council would then have to repeal the ordinance within 30 days or call for a special election within 60 days of the filing of the petition. A majority vote of those voting on the issue would then be required to approve the income tax ordinance.

The Toledo income tax plan, upon which the Columbus ordinance is based, was forced to a referendum by the CIO in 1946, but the tax was approved by a 57 per cent vote.

Opposition to the proposed income tax of one per cent on salaries and business' net profits was widespread on the Hilltop last week. A Record telephone poll of 75 numbers showed only 14 favoring the tax, 32 opposed, and 29 with no opinion.

In the statement issued by Mr Spratley an opinion was stated that "the present council has failed to appeal to the State Legislature for a fair division of state taxes. Likewise, the present council and its predecessors have failed to plug the many obvious tax loopholes in our own community."

Final details of the income tax ordinance were being worked out by City Attorney Richard W. Gordon, five members of City Council, City Auditor R. P. Barthalow and Earl N. Goodyear, deputy commissioner of taxation at Toledo. The measure was scheduled for presentation to council at its meeting last night. Present plans call for the pay roll tax to go into effect Jan. 1, 1948.

Storm Sewer Hearing Is Set For Dec. 2

A public hearing on the storm sewer proposal for the Rea-Bow Addition will be held in the office of the county commissioners at 10 o'clock, Dec. 2. The commissioners viewed the area last Wednesday in preperation for the hearing that is to determine whether or not to proceed with the project.

The proposed improvement has been up before the county officials two times previously. The hearing next week is expected to determine the final outcome.

A spokesman in the office of the county engineer said that the cost to the property owners would run approximately $140 to $150 per lot.

A similar request for storm sewers in the Moneyback Addition was turned down Nov. 18 when opposition to the proposal far outnumbered the five persons in favor of the plan, George Matson, a member of the board of commissioners, said. The cost would run approximately $193 per lot, Matson said.

"We Thank With Brief Thanksgiving"

We thank Thee, we, the thankless breed,
For many broken chains and locks;
Whence those amazing bursts of speed;
Whereby man's nimble spirit mocks
The threat of Fate to let him bleed,
Forsaken on his chosen rocks.

For yields of more than vine and seed,
For Beauty's golden sheaves and stalks
On which the starving soul may feed;
For spirit's increase more than flock's,
And all the time for love we need
Beyond the ticking of the clocks.

For mercy far beyond our need
We thank Thee, Lord. We do indeed.

Small Christmas Presents Will Bring Cheer to 1,000 Local Patients

Christmas is usually a time of year when men show the love in their hearts for their fellow men; when "peace on earth, good will to all men" is the prevailing theme.

It is the time when families get together and the feelings of love and brotherhood are expressed, among other ways, by the exchange of presents and gifts.

But there are some persons who have no families.

There are some persons who would receive no gifts except through the kindness of persons who are total strangers to them.

The Hilltop can take note of persons in this category by once again showing their generosity in giving Christmas gifts to patients State Hospital.

This year Mrs. J. B. Bateman, wife of the hospital superintendent, is again heading the drive to provide 1,000 small gifts for patients who will not be remembered by friends or relatives.

It need not be a large gift. Men appreciate such items as tobacco, writing materials, shaving cream, handkerchiefs, ties, candy, and combs. Useful gifts for women include cosmetics, costume jewelry, handkerchiefs, head scarfs, and other similar items.

To make it easy for you to contribute and thereby help others less fortunate to enjoy Christmas, your gifts may be left at the Westgate Pharmacy, 3089 W. Broad-st; Goodwin's Pharmacy, 2772 Sullivant-av; The Hilltop Record, 2465 W. Broad-st; or Seiller's, 3404 W. Broad-st.

Anyone having any questions about what the patients may use can call RA. 1171.

Elementary School Happenings

John Burroughs

Miss Patterson, one of the fifth grade teachers, recently visited a special school for handicapped children in Wheeling, W. Va. She heard one small boy talk who had never been able to speak before going to the school. In the building there was a large gymnasium and workshop, extravagantly equipped. The pupils are given their noon meals free of charge.

The seventh grade had a one hour movie on the story of wheat to correlate their recent study and in preparation for a field trip to a bakery in the city. The first reel traced the story of wheat, down through the ages to the present day. It explained the growing, harvesting and milling of the grain. The second reel was in technicolor. This was the story of two marionettes who hunted for the perfect bread in ancient Egypt and Greece, and didn't find it until they visited a modern bakery and saw the bread that we eat today.

The P.-T.A. study group had a regular meeting on Wednesday, followed by a tea.

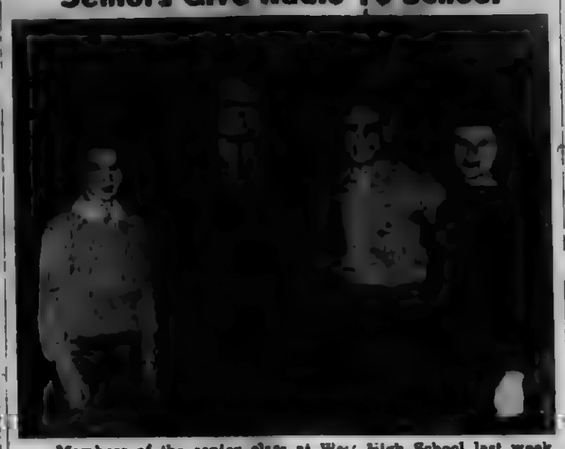
A lot of plastering is being done around the school building, even the shower rooms needed new ceilings.

New courts and bases have been painted on the gymnasium floor during the past week.

West Broad

The Thanksgiving assembly will be held tomorrow morning at 9 a. m. The program will consist of "We Gather Together", the 100th Psalm, "Father We Thank Thee", "Over the River", by grade three; The Pilgrims Came, by rooms 104 and 106; Three Hundred Years Ago, by the first, second and third grades; Living Picture — "Going to Church"; Swing The Shining Sickle, by the entire school; Thanksgiving Day Poem, "Come Ye Thankful People Come", sung by entire school; and the doxology, ending with the singing of "Amen".

Highland



The children in the 3B at Highland have constructed a pilgrim village, showing the pilgrims and Indians at a large table celebrating "The First Thanksgiving". On another table they have a large box which they have painted and papered making a modern home furnished with modern dining room furniture and showing the typical "Modern Thanksgiving". Other children have made a large colored chalk mural of a pilgrim village.

Mrs. Tait's 2A room has made a turkey farm on the bulletin board in their room. Tommy Cooper, Leroy King and Michael Roberts made the picture and their classmates made the turkeys.

Miss Ross' room has also made Thanksgiving pictures and is using turkeys as the favorite subject.

Christmas Seals Help Fight Against Tuberculosis Here

The residents of Franklin County are again being asked to purchase Christmas Seals to help the Columbus Tuberculosis Society continue its fight against tuberculosis.

"Tuberculosis still causes almost as many deaths as all other communicable diseases combined," according to Irwin A. Johnson, director of public relations for WBNS and chairman for the Christmas Seal Sale.

"By our purchase of Christmas Seals we will be putting our seal of approval on the work of the Tuberculosis Society and will make possible the continuance of such work as the mass X-ray survey which has provided thousands of free X-rays to our residents, the health education programs which teach the true facts about tuberculosis and which helps to provide the life-saving work of the free tuberculosis clinic at 503 Oak-st," Mr. Johnson said.

P.-T. A. ENJOYS VARIETY PLAY

All members of the dramatics classes, Glee Club and Boys' Chorus participated in making the production possible. Miss King and the art department furnished the posters and stage setting, Mrs. Woodin directed the vocal music, Mr. Rockey directed the band, Miss Krumn the barn dance, Mr. Bruis supervised the staging and lighting, Mrs. Bauer, and Mrs. Woodin and Miss Gaughran the costumes. Mrs. Rothenbush directed the dramatic classes.

Some of the acts were baton twirling by Geraldine Ashley, an accordian solo by Billy Weese, guitar playing by Kenny Chamberland and Bob Sells, a tumbling act by Joanne and Juanita Sells, a Spanish dance by Nancy Kock and Delores Dennis, a tap dance act by Johnny Jones, Patricia Munson, Florence Ramey and Patti Winer, a skating act by Don Tucker, Dot Dailey, Elizabeth Roesch, Patricia Hawley and Don Huber, a barn dance by Kenny Jones, Barbara Baumgardner, Harold Doust, Pat Allen, Ralph Bruckman, Barbara Emmitt, Rush Duty and Pat Blair, a precision dance by Ruth Wright, Rita Kettell, Eldona Sherman, Shirley Huntsberry, Ralph VanAtta, Vernon Feen, Orrin Buckley and Keith Johnston, a monologue by Gene VanNoy and one by George Middaugh, a dialogue by Carol Thrush and Arthur Groves, a song by Shirley Huntsberry and the School Band played two numbers.

This play was held after the P.-T. A. meeting. Dr. Fred Slager, principal of Central High School, spoke on the subject of guidance.

A committee of P.-T. A. mothers had a candy sale in the hall. The candy was made by mothers and teachers.

Junior High Play Is Presented Here Friday

By Libby Downing

"Seventeen Is Terrific." It was terrific and true-to-life! That was the three-act comedy presented Friday evening at West High by the Junior High dramatics class.

The play centered around a family of four children who lived with their father and grandmother. The mother had died, leaving the responsibility of raising four active (if that is a strong enough word) children, to the father.

The cast carried the play though very well. Only once was there a slight hitch in the dialogue. The students who played the parts of teen agers were exceptionally convincing. They were, of course, right at home in their roles. Dick Briggs, as the father, Dr. Allenby, and Dorothy Nichols, as the grandmother, Mrs. Wakner, headed the cast both on the program and in their acting ability. They carried the difficult roles of portraying older persons.

The rest of the cast included Carol Feistl, as a hired girl from the country who had three marriage proposals at the same time; Dick Wray, the older son who was forever getting into a scrape; Doris Thomas, as his teen-age sister; Nancy Bailey, the younger sister, who was determined to make the cheer-leading team; Russell Friend, the younger brother and an amateur sleuth; Virginia Veil, a neighbor girl; Clara Cassell, Doris' friend; Jerry Fry, a sophisticated youth; Ronald McElwee, a cohort of Dick's; and Dolores Shrum, Dick's girl friend.

L. L. Copley, the senior dramatics teacher, directed the show. Mrs. Velma Millhone, junior dramatics director, was called from Columbus by illness in the family.

Jobs Daughters To Sing Sunday

Hilltonia Evangelical United Brethren Church, 522 Columbian-av, will have as guest choir Sunday evening, the choir of Bethel No. 3, International Order of Job's Daughters, with Mrs. George Roberts as director. This choir is comprised of approximately 18 teen-age girls who give volunteer service to the Bethel and in addition to this have furnished music for the Fort Hayes Hospital and Columbus State Hospital. All choir members are residents of the Hilltop and sing in various church choirs on the Hilltop.

Preceding the regular Sunday evening service, the choir members have invited their parents, Bethel officers and the council members of the Bethel to join them in a pot-luck supper and social hour in the basement of the church at 5 P. M. Rev. R. S. Parr, pastor of Hilltonia Church, and his wife will also be guests.

This group of girls have as their adult leaders, Mrs. Edith Lambert, guardian; George Roberts, associate guardian; Mrs. Viola Cramer, Bethel treasurer; Mrs. Helen Sieen, Bethel secretary; and Mrs. Ursula Roberts, director of music.

The members of the choir are Joanne Olpp, Barbara Pierce, Nancy Billingsley, Betty Lou Jaycox, Nancy Nichols, Winona Andrews, Charlene Lowry, Cherie Kingsolver, Sandra Ross, Lois Jennings, Beverly Rawlings, Marlene Raber, Carol Echols, Sue Ann Hardy, Evelyn Wharton, Dolores Pierce, Merillyn Downer, Shirley Shroyer and Barbara Wheaton.

DEVOTIONAL READING: Romans 8:1-11.

Proof of a Christian

Lesson for November 30, 1947

OPEN your Bible to I John 4—5; Second John; and Acts 4:1-12, and you will have the Scripture background for Sunday's lesson. Add to the above passages Romans 8; 1-11, as devotional reading, and you will be thinking in the unimpeachable proofs of a Christian.

Two men are brought before us as examples of Christian discipleship.

Dr. Newton

Peter and John had been preaching Christ to the people in Jerusalem, and they were arrested and brought before the Sanhedrin. The rulers and priests scolded them, asking by what power or name they had done this. Peter, filled with the Holy Ghost, answered them:

"Be it known unto you all, and to all the people of Israel, that by the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, whom ye crucified, whom God raised from the dead, even by him doth this man stand here before you whole. . . . Neither is there salvation in any other; for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved."

And then follows the verse that reveals the proof that these humble fishermen were really Christians:

"Now when they saw the boldness of Peter and John, and perceived that they were unlearned and ignorant men, they marvelled; and they took knowledge of them, that they had been with Jesus."

• • •

The Lord Is My Helper

IN HEBREWS 13:6, we find this revealing statement: "The Lord is my helper; I will not fear."

The more we study the words of John in Sunday's lesson—words that remind us again and again that God is love, that we love him because he first loved us, that when we love him we are made strong in serving him, the clearer we come to understand the meaning in Acts 4:13, when Peter and John stood boldly before the Sanhedrin, impressing the court with the fact that they had been with Jesus.

They were not afraid because they were conscious of the presence and power of God. The Psalmist put it sublimely when he said, "The Lord is my Shepherd, I shall not want."

• • •

When We Walk With God

THE incontestable proof of a Christian is the manner of life he reveals when he walks with God "And this is love, that we walk after his commandments. This is the commandment, that, as ye have heard from the beginning, ye should walk in it." II John 6. When we walk with God, in the light of his word, what a glory he sheds on our way!

A group of men sat in the University Club in Boston, discussing religion. Someone asked Professor William James to define Christianity.

"I will not attempt a definition of Christianity, but I can give you an illustration."

And he pointed to Phillips Brooks. There was no argument. Phillips Brooks was proof positive that Christianity is something vital and practical and real and effective in everyday life.

• • •

Who Is a Christian?

WE COME now to the question which always emerges when we think along this line: Who is a Christian? Look now at I John 4; 15-21. I quote some of these revealing words:

"Whosoever shall confess that Jesus is the Son of God, God dwelleth in him, and he in God. And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love, dwelleth in God, and God in him."

We are not certified as Christians by any man-made creed, nor by any ritual or ceremony. We are certified as Christians by the direct access which every soul may have with God, through Jesus Christ our Great High Priest forever.

Church membership does not make us Christians. Baptism does not make us Christians.

Anyone may become a Christian, provided he or she is willing to confess their utter lost estate and, repenting of sin, believe on the Lord Jesus Christ as Saviour and Redeemer. Christ is the Author and the Finisher of our salvation. There is none other name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved.

"Whosoever will may come."

WRITING QUEEN

MENOMONIE, WIS.—The art of personal letter writing will never be lost if young people away from home write to their parents once a day says Lydia Prok, above, as she invites everybody to take pen in hand and observe letter writing week. Beginning with this event in October and continuing through the holidays if every person wrote only 10 letters to friends and relatives, more than a billion and a half letters would be mailed. Lydia, visiting the Parker Pen Company ink plant in Menomonie sees the ink start to flow to meet the huge holiday demand, which will run into thousands of gallons.

Court Denies Claim For Personal Injury

A Comon Pleas Court jury last week refused to award damages to Richard Ewing, 21, of 816 S. Eureka-av, for injuries he said he suffered June 13, 1942, in an auto-bus collision in Route 16, east of the New Albany-Reynoldsburg Pike.

Two of the plaintiff's sisters, Joan and Judy Karshner of Grandview Heights, riding with him at the time, were killed. Young Ewing sued the Capitol Stages, Inc., 209 S. Third-st, for $26,942.

It Takes Plenty Of Hard Work To Operate A Florist Business

Seemingly endowed with enough energy for two ordinary men is Curtis (Red) Roberts, who with his wife, Hazel, operates Yost Florist, 303 Belvidere-av.

"Curt" or "Red" as he is known by most people can always be depended upon to handle tickets for a Hilltop Minstrel or take on some other "gratis" job that requires a lot of "leg work" around the Hilltop. Seldom does he refuse to take such a job (and he gets lots of 'em) but he has become acquainted with hundreds of people that way. He is an active member of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club and the Hilltop Business Association and holds one or more offices or committee posts in each of them.

Hazel Roberts

"Curt" Roberts

"Curt" started to work for Emil Yost 22 years ago. Hazel Nippert (later to become Mrs. Roberts) came to work there four years later. The two were married in 1931. Both took a keen interest in the floral business so that when Mr. Yost decided to retire in 1938, there was no question in his mind who should be given the first opportunity to buy the business. "Curt" and Hazel bought out their former employer and have built the business to one of the best in the city. They operate as a partnership. Mrs. Roberts runs the sales room and makes up all of the floral arrangements. "Curt" manages the greenhouse and supervises the growing of all the floral stock.

The road to becoming a successful business operator was not always an easy one, however. There was the time back in 1931 (about the time of their marriage) when business was plenty tough in the flower business. "Curt" got together a portable feed grinder, corn sheller, etc., and started out through the country to do custom work for the farmers in order to supplement his income. This he continued until things began to get better some time in 1934.

Not An Easy Life

The life of a greenhouse operator is never an easy one. Every summer thunder shower, every sudden change in temperature during the winter requires attention to the ventilators or heating plant. Cut flowers for the most part are delicate plants. The sudden drop in temperature of more than two or three degrees can seriously damage a crop of flowers that may require as long as 18 months to bring to maturity.

The Roberts' have a bell in their bedroom connected to a thermostat to serve as a weather alarm. A drop of two degrees causes the bell to ring. Attention is then given to closing ventilators or making necessary adjustments of the heating system. Thunder provides the only warning of a sudden summer shower at night. You have to learn to be alert and get up promptly if a shower comes up. Ventilators must be closed before the rain starts or certain areas of the greenhouse will be overwatered with plant rot following. The entire house is watered systematically at regular intervals and the addition of an extra shower on the delicate stock could cause much damage.

The Yost Florist greenhouse that adjoins the sales room is made up of three sections. Two of these houses are kept at night temperatures of 45 to 52 degrees. In the third, a 60-degree temperature is maintained.

Chrysanthemums, carnations, snapdragons and sweet peas are the principal cut flowers grown. Potted plants include pompons, hydrangeas, poinsettias and geraniums. Bedding stock of many varieties is also produced.

Concrete Benches

The greenhouses are laid out in benches where the stock is grown. No sooner is one crop sold off than something new is planted for another crop in new soil. Most of the benches are built of concrete and provide a seed bed of four or more inches in depth depending on the type of flowers to be grown. Each bench is underlaid with a steam pipe to control temperatures around the roots.

The Roberts' do most of their own work both in the sales room and in the green house. The hours they put in before holidays that make use of flowers are really something, often working all night to make up the floral arrangements and continuing right through the following day on deliveries. Burl Duff, 447 Townsend, is their only regular full-time employee although James Irwin, 280 S. Eureka-av, a floraculture student at Ohio State University, puts in all the time he has available. Paul Stanley and Ralph Miesse, two West High School students, work after school and on Saturdays.

"Curt" is an enthusiastic hunter and fisherman. Expeditions into the outdoors are his favorite hobby. Locally he hunts rabbits, squirrels or pheasant. In far Pennsylvania or Michigan he makes annual trips for deer. He's fished in waters as far away as the back woods of Maine. Mrs. Roberts often accompanies him on the fishing trips. Last summer they pulled a trailer (built by "Curt") more than 2,900 miles on a vacation-fishing trip. They have a daughter, Joyce Ann, 12, a student at West High School.

5 Hilltoppers Get Letters At Cap

Hilltop residents Noble Allen, Clarence Baker, Jack Buckingham, Gene Shade and Tom Vincent were included in the 26 varsity gridders awarded the varsity C at Capital University this fall. The presentations were made at a special chapel service attended by the entire student body on Nov. 19. Dr. H. L. Yochum, president of the university, and Prof. William Bernlohr spoke, after which head football coach, Dale Rose, made the awards. Previously, on Nov. 17, the team was honored at a banquet sponsored by the "Varsity C."

Only three lettermen will be graduated this year, giving Coach Rose a large nucleus of experienced talent on which to build next year's eleven. The three seniors are Arnold Bunge, Toledo; Albert Young, Massillon; and Bill Timm, honorary captain, Michigan City, Ind.

Suburban League

One of the older leagues to roll at the Hilltop Recreation alleys is the Suburban League, which bowls Wednesday nights. This league, together with the Recreation League, is believed to be the oldest league at the Hilltop alleys.

At the present time Ohio State Construction is way out in front of the league with 28 wins and 8 losses, and holds the high team average of 848. There is a "mad scramble" for second place as Hilltop Van & Storage, Wilson Floors and First National are nose to nose, each one having won 22 games and lost 14. Scellit's is only two games behind them with a 20 and 16 record.

Dick Ardle

Floyd McCoy has the high singles game with 266 and Joe Swisher, who subbed for Carl Breckenridge, on the Wilson Floors team last week, has the high three-game total of 652. Ohio State Construction holds the high team game of 1037.

The three top averagers in the league are Floyd McCoy, 182, Carl Breckenridge, 180, and Kenny Morris, 180.

The standings this year are as follows:

Ohio State	28	8	848
Hilltop Van	22	14	816
Wilson Floors	22	14	842
First National	22	14	828
Scellit's	20	16	817

Theisen Nurses Ankle Injury

Coach George Williams has been working his basketball squad overtime this past week in preparation for the opening of the season next Tuesday, Dec. 2. The Grandview Bobcats will furnish the first opposition when they come to the West High Gym.

With Paul Theisen still nursing an ankle injury suffered in football practice the closing week of the season, Coach Williams has switched Chuck Weeks to the pivot position for the workouts this week. Working at the guard positions have been Jack Thrush and Wally Watkins.

At the forward posts, Walter Hicks is the only sure starter. The other spot is still a wide-open race with Don Speakman, Dick Culbertson, Don Hutchison and Chuck Frasher all possibilities.

Last Wednesday the varsity squad was cut down to 13 boys with 15 assigned to the reserve squad under the direction of Fred Heischman.

On the varsity squad are Duffy Burton, Hutchison, Bob Layman, Connie Potts, Bob Wolfe, Frasher, Weeks, Hicks, Thrush, Culbertson, Speakman, Watkins and Theisen.

Thrush, Weeks, Theisen and Hicks are regulars from last year although Thrush will graduate at mid-year and will not be available for the last half of the season.

Reserve Squad

Now working on the reserve squad are Jim Rudolph, Cliff Voss, Fred Adams, LeRoy Hood, Bill Thrush, Phil Young, Larry Frazier, Kit Carlon, Bob Ochs, Bob Wilson, Wade Williams, Bob Epps, Bob Tewell, Gene Brown and Jack Winnestaffer.

Student managers are Richard Lamprecht, Richard Husch, Howard Spring, Harry Nairn and Don Trimmer. Bobbie Smith is the trainer.

Coach Williams has taken on an ambitious 25-game schedule that includes games with such out-of-town opponents as Springfield, Portsmouth, Logan, Newark, Marion, Marysville, Chillicothe and Huntington, W. Va.

The program calls for two or three games per week from next Tuesday until the close of the season with Bexley here on Feb. 27. The Christmas holidays allow only a one-week layoff, followed by a tough out-of-town series.

The team will be all decked out in new red and white uniforms for the opening game next week. Basketball fans will find a change in the entrance rules this year. All fans will enter the building through the Junior High door on the east side of the building or through the girls' playground door on the west side of the building. The athletic gates will be kept locked during the basketball season, Harry Zulauf, faculty business manager, said this week.

A large crowd turned out for the Prairie Township Volunteer Firemen's Ball Nov. 20 at the Galloway Community Hall. Mr. Boyd of Lawrence-av received one of the prize turkeys.

Sixteen members of the home extension group were entertained at the home of Mrs. Waldo Ison. It was a pot-luck dinner and Miss Shook, county representative, attended.

Tom and Jim Lamb went hunting the first day of the hunting season with their uncles, Joe and Don Lamb. It was a great day for Jim, although, to use his uncles words, he "can't tote a gun." They went up near Waterford, the Lamb family home.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Gould and son, David, of Dayton spent the week-end with the Warners, Pasadena-av. Esther Kinsey accompanied Priscilla Warner home from college last week-end. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kinsey of near Dayton, spent Sunday afternoon visiting with their daughter at the Warner home.

Georgianna Emerson of New York City is visiting her sister, Mrs. Ella McKendree, at the Whalen home, Buena Vista-av.

Boy Scout Troop No. 131 can now boast of a regular bugler. He is Jim Lamb.

Mrs. Ella McKendree attended the regular monthly meeting of the DAR, held in the Gallery of Fine Arts. Her sister was her guest. The social hour was spent in the Sessions Room.

Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Miller spent their vacation recently with her parents in Washington C. H.

E. C. Sheets, Jr., has been confined at his home the past week with a sprained back. He is getting along alright and hopes to be able to go to work next week.

Mrs. Shaner, Mrs. English and Mrs. Sheets, attended the Goodwill Tea held in the Goodwill Building Tuesday afternoon. A tour of the building was taken.

The regular meeting of the WSCS held Wednesday at the Columbia Heights Church was well attended. After the regular business meeting, the program committee had charge. There was a duet by Mrs. Whalen and Mrs. Marshall Hall, with Rev. Rose at the piano. Rev. Rose also gave a book review on the book, "Screwtape Letters." Plans were made to put on the annual banquet for the Galloway Boosters Club.

Jeep Hunters

Of the many hunting stories making the rounds this week none is more unusual than the one being told by Larry Schroeck, co-owner of the Sinclair Station at Eldon-av and W. Broad-st.

Larry and a friend went hunting one day last week in a Jeep. Arriving at their hunting grounds, the two proceeded to their hunting from the versatile vehicle—crossing ditches, crossing railroad tracks, etc., with the greatest of ease.

Finally arriving at a place where fences did not permit further progress with the Jeep, the two parked it beside a railroad track and proceeded to hunt on foot for a while. After they had completed their hunt they got back in the Jeep to return home and for the first time that day they found a railroad embankment that had them stymied. After several attempts to pull the grade, they pulled the clutch out of the Jeep. Returning for the abandoned vehicle with a truck a short while later the pair was confronted with a perturbed railroad section gang.

"What had a Jeep been doing running up and down their right-of-way?" they wanted to know. The thing all ended up in the court of a justice of the peace, where Larry finally got the matter straightened out for approximately $18, not to mention the cost of a new clutch.

Quipped Larry, "It was an expensive trip but it sure was a lot of fun."

Football's A Crazy Game

I'm glad basketball season is about to open. That's a game I can understand. With only 10 men on the floor at one time a fellow has a chance to see who has the ball and what he's doing with it. Football is a crazy game. I never have really understood it although I've been reporting it for half a dozen years.

In the first place I never did understand why there had to be 11 men on a football team. With 22 men all running in different directions a spectator doesn't have a chance to see all that happens. Handling the ball up close to the line as most teams do any more on the T-formation, you're lucky if you even know who has the ball half of the time.

No wonder most football players want to play in the backfield. A fellow on the line seldom gets his name in the papers unless he recovers a fumble at a crucial point in the game or intercepts a pass and runs 95 yards for a touchdown. The sports writers are busy trying to keep up with the fellow who carries the ball and miss most of the brutal stuff that goes on elsewhere on the field. My hat's off to the fellows who take the beating all through the season with little recognition.

Now if they would cut down the team to maybe six or seven players to a side, I could keep track of what's going on. While I'm recommending changes for the rule makers' consideration, here are a few others. Why not simplify the complicated series of different rule infractions and merely place them in two categories of technical and personal fouls with penalties of five or 15 yards as the seriousness of the infraction might dictate? That would eliminate the spectators trying to figure out all of the gyrations the referee goes through when he attempts to signal the particular penalty. Very few spectators know what they mean anyway. I saw one girl this year who thought one of the officials was leading a cheer when he was signaling frantically to enlighten (?) the crowd on the penalty called.

They might even let the offended team try for an extra point as compensation for the more serious rule infractions as they do in basketball. It would give the underdog team a chance to even things up a bit.

I could think up some other constructive (?) changes to simplify the game to the point where the spectators would better understand it, but so far I haven't been invited to the athletic committee meeting where rule changes are made so I will just keep them to myself. I can always figure out the band formations anyway.

Round Ball

At West High School they refer to basketball as "roundball" to distinguish it from football or "crookedball."

Our Readers Say

The Hilltop Record

Since I did not get to properly thank you and the Rosebud Floral Company for the lovely flowers presented to me at the game last Friday I would like to do so in this manner. Time would not have permitted me to have adequately expressed my appreciation for the "mums" and the accompanying honor.

I would like to share all honors with the 127 members of the Junior and Senior Bands who have come out for practice every morning in all kinds of weather and on 10 consecutive Fridays have attempted to present music and marching shows comparable to a City Championship football team.

In behalf of the bands, the Band Parents' Club and myself, I would like to thank you and The Hilltop Record for the splendid boosts you have always given our bands.

Sincerely,
Charles W. Bennett

CHRISTMAS

As we approach the yuletide season and reflect on what it means to our nation, our community, and to each individual, and as we think of the real meaning of Christmas Day, and what it stands for, and look around us and see the advertisings and the time and money spent in making a grand attractive display with all the glare and glitter, so long before Christmas Day, it causes one to stop and ponder and ask the question, whither are we drifting? While thinking of the trend of things, I have composed the following lines in the hope that they will cause a few, perhaps, to pause and consider.

Soon the joyful bells will be ringing
Throughout our vast domain;
The story they will be telling,
It is Christmas time again!

In far off Bethlehem,
With no place to lay His head,
Was Christ, the Savior, born,
A manger for His bed.

Born of the Virgin Mary,
Conceived by the Holy Ghost,
In the fields the Shepherds watched,
Songs by angelic hosts.

The Christ-child grew in stature
And in favor with God and man.
His was a holy mission
According to His Father's plan.

He went into the temple
Corrupt with sin and vice;
Drove out the money changers
And vendors of merchandise.

Their consciences had been seared

One hundred members of the Camp Chase Post 98 of the American Legion will start an extensive relief program on Thanksgiving Day, under the leadership of M. P. Hain, 113 Whitethorne-av, chairman of the post relief committee. These workers will canvass the community for contributions of food and clothing which will be distributed to Hilltop people in need throughout the winter.

The West High cagers will play 17 games this season, it was announced by Coach Wise this week. He has three returning lettermen on his team.

The Hilltop Church of Christ, Burgess-av at Olive-st, will be the scene of the Hilltop's annual Thanksgiving services Wednesday evening at 7:30. Rev. E. L. Matter, pastor of the Glenwood M. E. Church, will give the sermon.

10 Years Ago

Rev. and Mrs. George McDonald and daughter, Joyce, were guests of honor of the board of deacons and deaconesses of the Hillcrest Baptist Church last Wednesday evening. Rev. McDonald is the new pastor at Hillcrest.

Marvin Clark has been the drum major at West High for three years. He will graduate in June and his job will be taken over by someone else (possibly a girl) next year. It will be the first time girls have been permitted to try out for the position.

The West High basketball team has been city champs for two years now and is out to cop the title for the third time. The boys are coached by Harold Wise. George Collins and George Williams.

Mrs. Lena Ferrell, 351 Eldon-av, was elected president of the Eleventh Ward Democratic Club at a meeting Thursday evening.

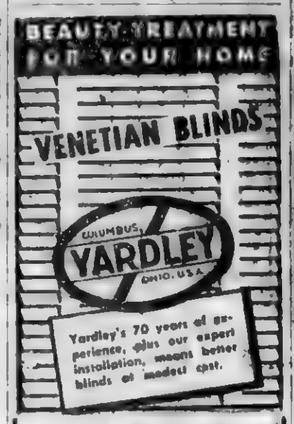
THANKSGIVING NIGHT



Whatever else, I have tonight the rain
That drums upon the roof with homely sound
And flows by eaves and gutters to the ground
With intermittent rhythm. Were I fain
For rarer gifts, I should seek long in vain
To find content more sweet than I have found
Prevailing in this dwelling's narrow bound
While rushing raindrops pelt against the pane.

For I have more — I have my books and you,
And yonder dream-wrapped, sleep-enfolded child.
Upon the roof the raindrops' drowsy din
Intensifies our peace — creates anew
Love's ancient loneliness. How child and wild
The night without! How good to be within!

Before you sit down to your Thanksgiving dinner this year stop a moment to count your blessings. In spite of high prices, shortages and a world still troubled by strife, thank Him for your health, your home and its warmth, for family and friends and for the food which graces your table on this day. PUBLIC NOTICE

Probate Court, Franklin County, Ohio, No. 123211 Victor Voeller, Administrator, with Will Annexed of the Estate of Barbara Gray, deceased, 358 Wilson Avenue, Columbus, Ohio, Plaintiff, vs. Margaret Voeller, 358 Wilson Avenue, Columbus, Ohio; Victor L. Voeller, 358 Wilson Avenue, Columbus, Ohio; Raymond Ayres, William Ayres, Glenna Ayres, James Courtney, Barbara Courtney, Mrs. John Coleman, 2648 Tremont Road, Columbus, Ohio, Mrs. Sadie Young, 257 East Mound Street, Columbus, Ohio; Mrs. Anna Buell, 458 High Street, Worthington, Ohio; Mrs. Margaret Russell, Cleveland, Ohio; Frank Snable, Lima, Ohio; Will Snable, Lima, Ohio, Defendants.

James Courtney and Barbara Courtney, whose last known place of residence is Los Angeles, California, and Frank Snable, whose last known address is Columbus, Ohio, are hereby notified that on Feb. 10, 1947, Victor Voeller, administrator with will annexed of the estate of Barbara Gray, deceased, 358 Wilson Ave., Columbus, Ohio, filed his petition in Cause No. 123211 in the Probate Court, Franklin County, Ohio; that they have been made parties defendant in said cause.

Plaintiff further says that on or about the 17th day of January, 1947, Barbara Gray died a resident of Franklin County, Ohio, leaving a Will which was admitted to probate by the Probate Court of said County and State on or about the 20th day of February, 1947, that thereafter administration proceedings were had as to the Estate of the said Barbara Gray, deceased, as more particularly set forth in the proceedings and the records of said Probate Court and that the Inventory and Appraisement has been filed in said Estate. Said Will is attached hereto, and made a part hereof.

Plaintiff says that the home mentioned in said Will on Linwood Avenue was sold in 1946.

Plaintiff further says that Ida Courtney and Howard Courtney died after the execution of said Will.

Plaintiff further says there was in the safety deposit box in the Ohio National Bank, Town and High Branch, Four Thousand One Hundred Forty Dollars ($4,140.00). Five (5) One Thousand Dollar ($1000.00) United States Series G Bonds and a Postal Savings of Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00). That there was in the Ohio National Bank, City and High Branch, the sum of Two Hundred One Dollars and fifty-nine cents ($201.59), that Barbara Gray died seized in fee simple of the property located at 1070 City Park Avenue; that the insurance amounted to the sum of Three Hundred Fifty-six Dollars ($356.00) and has been paid to the Administrator herein.

That the said Barbara Gray died, leaving no heirs closer than first cousins; that Margaret Voeller, mentioned in said Will is a first cousin of said Barbara Gray, deceased, and that said Mrs. John Coleman, Mrs. Sadie Young, Mrs. Anna Buell, Mr. Margaret Russell, Frank Snable and Will Snable are first cousins of the said Barbara Gray, deceased, that Raymond Ayres, William Ayres, Glenna Ayres, James Courtney, Barbara Courtney and Victor Voeller are second cousins of said Barbara Gray, deceased.

That besides the property mentioned in said petition there is a diamond ring and household furnishings.

That there are important, difficult and doubtful questions respecting said Will and the disposition of said property under said Will and that plaintiff is in doubt as to the construction of said Will and as to the rights of parties in the distribution of the property under said Will, that plaintiff is in doubt about the following:

(1) As to whether the insurance is to go to Raymond Ayres, under the provisions of said Will?
(2) That plaintiff is in doubt, since the property on Linwood Avenue was sold prior to the death of said Barbara Gray, whether said devisee mentioned as to receive said property, or entitled to anything under said Will
(3) That plaintiff is in doubt as to whether the $4140.00 in cash, which was in the safety deposit box of the Ohio National Bank, Town and High Branch; the five (5) One Thousand Series G United States Bonds, also in said safety deposit box, the $500.00 Postal Savings, also in said safety deposit box, and the $201.59 in the Ohio National Bank, City and High Branch, after the payment of debts pass to said Victor Voeller.
That if the Court should decide that the five $1000.00 Bonds do not go to Victor Voeller or any other part contained in said safety deposit box out of which the debts of the estate are to be paid first, and to whom is the balance to go.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays that judgment and direction of the Court in regard to the true construction of said Will and the disposition of the property under said Will and as to the duties in the premises and especially to the five questions raised in the petition herein and an order as to the duties of the plaintiff in regard to them.

Said defendants are further notified that they are required to answer said petition on or before Jan. 3 or judgment may be rendered as prayed for therein.

Freezing cold and crop failures . . . hunger and fear from unfriendly Indians . . . insecurity and an uncertain future. There were the difficulties they, the first Americans, had still to face when they sat down to the first Thanksgiving dinner with their families and friends. From these unsteady beginnings developed the America of which we are now a part.

We of today have so much more for which to be thankful . . . for our comfortable homes, for the abundance of food, for the rights that belong to all . . . for the hope that the future may be filled with the peace for which we fought a war.
